BRITAIN CALLS RED AIR ATTACHES SPIES

Seek Coalition to Rock Reds In Asia

'Suitable Basis' For Sending Troops Is Needed--Dulles

U.S. Studying Commitments Which May Involve Force

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is considering defence commitments for Southeast Asia which "may involve the use of armed force" to block Communist conquest of that rich, strategic area.

But under "present conditions" the administration has no intention of asserting United States forces to fight in the war in Indo-China. A "suitable basis" for such action is lacking.

This approach to the Indo-China crisis was laid down by State Secretary Dulles Friday night in a broadcast only hours after news of the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

President Eisenhower summoned a special meeting of the national security council today for a purpose not announced, but virtually certain to include discussion of Indo-China.

Dulles expressed confidence that discussions now under way with 10 friendly nations, British and France among them, on the defence of Southeast Asia will result in a Free World coalition that will rock Communist aggression there. But he cautioned:

SERIOUS COMMITMENTS

"This common defence may involve serious commitments and all. But free people will never remain free unless they are willing to fight for their vital interests."

So far as the United States is concerned, Dulles said that entering into such commitment is possible only on two conditions:

1. Congressional approval: Congress, he said, "is a full partner" with the administration in any such enterprise.

2. Other nations would have to join the pledge and share the burden. In Dulles' words, there would have to be "united action, collective effort based on genuine community of purpose in defending vital interests."

MAKES DISTINCTION

Dulles made a distinction between the long - range problem of securing Southeast Asia generally against Red conquest and dealing now with the war which is raging in Indo-China in the Red China state of Viet Nam.

He said the effort to work out an armistice at the Geneva conference could produce an acceptable settlement of the fighting. But he acknowledged the possibility that the Communist government, from the U.S. point of view, might be made.

If there is that unacceptable armistice or a failure to agree on ending the fighting, he said, the need for an anti-Communist coalition would be "even more urgent."

Will Install Sir Winston as Knight Of Order of Garter in June Ceremony

By FERN RICH

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill will be installed as a knight of the Order of the Garter June 14 in a solemn and brilliant ceremony more than 600 years old.

It will be a day due him for more than a year and one brimming with appropriate pomp, and ceremonial.

On the day after St. George's Day (patron saint of England and the Order) on April 24, Queen Elizabeth called Churchill to Windsor Castle and in a brief ceremony bestowed upon him the most exalted honor his country can offer.

He knelt before her and she, taking a sword, touched him first on the right shoulder and then on the left. Then he rose he was no longer just "Mister Churchill" but Sir Winston Churchill, K.G.

The Queen handed him the insignia of the order—a collar of 24 gold pieces each in the shape of a garter; the George, an enameled figure of St. George on horseback encountering the dragon, and the Lesser George or Badge which bears the same figure; the blue velvet garter on which is inscribed the motto "Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense (Shame to Him who Thinks Evil of It), and the broad blue ribbon.

He wore them proudly for the first time at the Coronation service. In June, however, he will be the star in his own show.

The ancient words which the Queen will read from first time to last in the Elizabethan reign have come down six centuries from the days of Edward III, founder of the order.

One of the admonitions seems predestined for Churchill's ears. The Queen will tell the ruddy-cheeked statesman and soldier who has served his country in three wars "to be courageous and having under-taken a just war in which thou shalt be engaged, thou shalt behave thyself firm and valiantly fight courageously and successfully conquer."

WHALERS MAY BE HARPOONING FROM 'COPTERS

Fisheries Minister Gives Full Review of Dept.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian fishermen soon may be harpooning whales from the air.

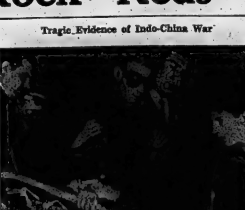
Fisheries Minister Sinclair said Friday in the Commons that the possibility of harpooning whales from helicopters will be discussed at the annual meeting of the I? - country international whaling convention.

He said during discussion of his departmental estimates that helicopters now are used to spot whales but international regulations prevent their use by the Canadian whaling operations at the Cold Harbor, B.C., station.

Mr. Sinclair also installed 50-minute review of his department's operations in the House. His speech ranged from conservation of fishery resources to efforts to increase consumption of Canadian fish at home and abroad.

Members of all parties representing east and west coast constituencies commended the minister on his speech and said it eliminated the necessity of them asking many questions. Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver Kingsway), among others, said it was the best speech he had heard by a minister in a long time.

Mr. Sinclair said the government is trying to promote new markets for Canadian fish in Southeast Asiatic areas. A likelihood also existed, through the Commonwealth country, he did not mention which, would buy British Columbia salmon.



He said that at present there is no financial backing in B.C. West coast fishermen had eliminated last year's carryover of 1,000,000 cases largely through the Mediterranean area. A likelihood also existed that through the Mediterranean area would result in further improvement.

Mr. Sinclair, who represents the B.C. riding of Coast-Capilano, expressed hope there would be a Canadian-U.S. agreement soon concerning pink salmon. U.S. fishermen have been using boats in Puget sound before they arrived in the middle of the Fraser river.

However, Canadian fishermen last year took action to catch the fish before moving their boats to the west coast of Vancouver island.

He also expressed hope for an agreement on Canada-U.S. treaty on conservation for the Great Lakes fishery. There was an alarming decline in the fishery because of the blood-sucking lamprey and noncommercial species ate up most of the food in the lakes.

Tragic Evidence of Indo-China War

Several French Union soldiers, wounded in the defence of besieged Dien Bien Phu, Indo-China, arrived in Paris in an ambulance plane. These two men, being guided down the plane's gangway, were blinded on a patrol into enemy territory. — Central Press Canadian.

'Fight Continues' Says Navarre But Laniel's Regime May Fall

PARIS (AP) — France was plunged into gloom today by her shattering defeat at Dien Bien Phu but the military vowed to keep battling the Communist-led foe in Indo-China.

The fate of the bastion and its thousands of defenders on the eve of Indo-China negotiations in Geneva raised speculation that Premier Joseph Laniel's government might fall.

In Saigon, Gen. Henri Navarre, commander of French forces in Indo-China, issued a terse order of the day saying "the fight continues" despite the serious setback.

The Red leaders of the Vietminh were a crowing military and political victory in the savage 20-hour battle that engulfed the fortress.

A rebel broadcast monitored in Hong Kong claimed the "supreme commander of Dien Bien Phu" and about 17 companies of French Union men fell into Vietminh hands when the last defences caved in.

The radio did not name Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries, but the reference to "commander" indicated that he had survived.

NO WORD OF NURSE

The broadcast gave no word as to the fate of Colonel-ed Genevieve de Galard Terraube, French air force nurse who had been trapped in Dien Bien Phu since March.

The Communist radio in Peiping claimed the attacking masses annihilated almost 2,000 French Union troops who tried to break out of "isaolie," an outpost two miles south of de Castries' headquarters bunkers.

Isabelle went on fighting after the heart of the fortress had been overrun.

An Associated Press dispatch from Hanoi said that before the rebels swarmed over Isabelle the outpost turned its guns on main French ammunition stores in the main bastion, killing hundreds of rebels. The order to fire was given by Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries before Dien Bien Phu fell, the dispatch said.

It was not known what happened to the hundreds of wounded lying in dugouts in the heart of the fortress. The Communists had counted a deat ear to all French pleas for a temporary truce to evacuate the casualties by air.

SAY REDS STALLED TALKS

"The French delegation in Geneva formally accused the Communists of stalling on Indo-China negotiations until Dien Bien Phu could be seized.

In Paris, Premier Laniel and Defence Minister Rene Pleven were booed and hissed when they appeared at ceremonies celebrating the German defeat in the Second World War.

Professor Claims Canada Should Hike Production

TORONTO (CP) — Prof. N. R. Richards, with the soils department at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, said Friday Canada should increase agricultural production because by 1980 the country may have twice the present population.

Speaking to the Ontario Conservation Association, Prof. Richards said last year Canada produced only five per cent more beef and four per cent more dairy products than its population consumed.

Much of the increased agricultural production that Canada will need in the next 25 years must come from the eastern provinces because agriculture is limited by the western climate, he said.

The demand could be met if the soil is used efficiently.

T. A. Wilson of Packenham was elected president of the association. Harley McBeth of Salford was chosen vice-president.

CZECH ECONOMY SUFFERS.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's economy last year suffered losses totalling more than one billion Czech crowns, about $15,000,000 at factory rejects, a Czech trade union official reports. Most rejects occurred in machinery and foundry industries.

GAY WELCOME BEING PLANNED FOR ROYAL COUPLE

Think That Homecoming Will Rival Coronation

LONDON (Reuters)—Homecoming celebrations to please the Queen when she ends her round-the-world tour next Saturday are rapidly assuming the proportions of the Coronation itself.

The work ministry, which stage-managed the Coronation pageantry, is devoting almost as much attention to the public reception for the Royal Family. The crowds on the Purple Heart approach to throngs of last June 2 and may exceed them if the weather is good.

No official public holiday has been proclaimed but few Britons are chained to office desks or factory benches on a Monday afternoon.

Works Minister Sir David Eccles is supervising the Mall, the broad tree-lined avenue which stretch from Buckingham Palace to Ingham Palace, will be even more spectacular by night with eighteen lamps lit was on that cold and rainy June day last year.

The Mall, however, the big show will be on London's River Thames. Along the embankment thousands will vie for the best places to get a glimpse of the young Queen as she sets foot in her homeland after a six-month absence.

With the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, she will step from a royal barge onto Westminster pier.

There, a distinguished company will greet her officially. Among them will be members of the Royal Family, Sir Winston Churchill, and the high commissioners for Australia, New Zealand and Ceylon. The diplomatic corps will be represented by the French ambassador Rene de Massigli.

Even these cheers will have to compete with the musical din of a gaff which will peal from every church; the roar of Royal Air Force escort jet planes zooming overhead; the thunder of a cannon salute; the playing of the queen's men's bands.

Four carriages, with a sovereign's escort of brilliancy - uniformed bouckguards, will form a procession which will wind past the Houses of Parliament and Big Ben, past Whitehall and the government buildings, under Admiralty Arch and into Trafalgar Square and down the Mall to Buckingham Palace.

Charge Artist Bound, Attacked 5 Young Models

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A 24-year-old commercial artist was alleged here today to have bound and gagged five shapely models and attempted to rape and assulted them.

He appeared in court that Leonard Keith Lawson took the girls in a car Friday to a lonely spot in the Forest where he left them. His first bound their hands and feet and put adhesive tape over their mouths.

He assaulted each girl in the presence of the others—"the whole time brandishing a pistol," Police prosecutor said.

The girls, aged between 15 and 18, were from a Sydney model agency.

Lawson was held in custody until May 20 on five charges of indecent assault, two of rape and two of carnal knowledge.

Orders Russia To Withdraw Men Within 10 Days

Britain Not Bound to Make Any Details of Case Known

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has accused two assistant military air attaches of the Soviet embassy here of attempted espionage and has demanded their expulsion from Britain within 10 days, the foreign office announced today.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told Russian ambassador Jacob Malik Friday that the two assistant military air attaches had "abused their diplomatic status in the United Kingdom by attempting to engage in espionage."

The two were identified as Major Yuri Pugyshev, born 1918, arrived in Britain in 1951, married with one child, and Major Andrei Gudkov, born 1917, arrived in Britain in 1951, married, with two children.

NO ATOMIC SECRETS

A spokesman told reporters that atomic secrets were not involved. He emphasized, however, that Britain is not bound to make any further details of the case known if she chained to office desks or factory benches on a Monday afternoon.

The spokesman declined that information from either Vladimir Petrov or Mrs. Ninah Vasilieva, Russian citizens who recently fled to the West, had led to the present charges.

The charge marks the second time in two years that Britain has called for the removal of a member of the Soviet embassy staff on charges of espionage.

The other case was that of Pavel Kuznetsov, second secretary, implicated for receiving secret information from a foreign office official.

The operator, William Marshall, was sentenced to five years imprisonment for passing the information.

Police and Dogs Still on Cold Trail of Man

MINTO, N.B. (CP)—Police and dogs were still on a cold trail in the bushlands near here today in their search for an armed man wanted in connection with a murder, a wounding and the abduction of a 16-year-old girl.

Police said their hunt for Floyd E. Brown, a 25-year-old miner, is concentrated in dense country a few miles from Minto. Sixteen RCMP and two dogs have been hunting the area since Wednesday when Erie Thompson, 54, was shot to death in his home and a neighbor, Rene Parisi, was wounded by a shot in the neck.

Officers said Brown is believed to be "armed and dangerous." Residents in this town, 30 miles northeast of Fredericton, have been told not to expose themselves to danger and not leave cars unlocked.

The alleged abduction of the high school girl was disclosed Friday night when relatives informants said she was taken for a ride in a stolen truck by Brown shortly after Thompson was shot in the head. These informants said the girl, who was not identified, was released about eight hours after she was forced into the truck.

Police declined comment.

No authoritative source said the girl has been prostrate with shock since the abduction.

FISHERMEN RECOVER.

TOKYO (AP) — Eight Japanese fishermen—now radio-active only in their toe nails—will be allowed to leave hospital in a month to 10 days, their doctor said today. The eight were members of the crew of the "Lucky Dragon" fishing boat, showered with radio-active ash by the March 1 H-bomb blast at Bikini.

Report Vietminh Wipe Out 2,000 From Outpost

TOKYO (AP) — Feiping radio, the voice of Red China, said tonight Communist Vietminh troops annihilated almost 2,000 French Union soldiers who tried to break out of the southern outpost at Dien Bien Phu.

The broadcast quoted the Red Vietminh radio as saying the main Indo-China bastion fell at 5 p.m. ($ a.m. EST).

"At 1900 (two hours later) almost 2,000 colonial soldiers stationed at the southern outpost tried to break out, trying to flee to people's army began their pursuit. At 2200 (9 p.m.) all the cowpy troops who attempted to break out were annihilated," Feiping declared.

The southern outpost, called Isabelle, was in contact with French headquarters for some time after the fall of the main fortress.

The Feiping broadcast made no mention of the French commander, Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries, who, a Viet Nam broadcast heard in Hong Kong said, was taken prisoner.

U.S. Papers Laud Passing of Seaway Bill

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Herald Tribune today says passage by Congress of the Seaway legislation means the United States and Canada can create a new highway for peaceful commerce and a new safeguard for trade routes in case of war.

A Herald Tribune editorial notes an obstacle remaining before work on the project can begin—litigation by private power companies against authorization of the New York state power authority as the U.S. agent for construction of power projects.

"Canadian reception of construction action was tempered by rather strong desire to build all-Canadian seaway," the editorial adds.

The Herald Tribune says the benefits to Canada outweigh the advantages of doing the job single-handed.

FRIENDLY TASK

"It is the kind of task which meets the needs and fits into the long traditions of friendship of the United States and Canada.

The New York Times says the proposal to link lake ports with the Atlantic and with the rest of the world fires the imagination.

Reviewing the history of the long controversy over the building of the seaway, the Times editorial concludes:

"Now that the seaway is likely to be a reality it is our clear duty to construct it with the enthusiasm and confidence in the future that we displayed when Theodore Roosevelt made the dirt fly in Panama."

He said during discussion of his department's estimates that helicopters now are used to spot whales but international regulations prohibit aircraft from the Colorado Kingsway), among others said it was the best speech he had heard by a minister in a long time.

Mr. Sinclair said the government is trying to promote new markets for Canadian cod in the Mediterranean area. A likelihood also existed that Communist-bloc wealth country, he did not mention which, would buy British Columbia salmon.

He said that at present there is an salmon backlog in B.C. West coast fishermen had eliminated last year's carryover of 10,000,000 pounds through their own efforts and had netted about 847,000,000 pounds.

The fishing industry on the east coast was in a fine economic state in last year but business had picked up. The market for salt cod had been opened by increased sales to Korea and Greece and it was hoped that sales in the Mediterranean area would result in further improvement.

Dr. Davidson, who represents the B.C. riding of Coast-Capilano, expressed hope Ottawa would be a Canadian-U.S. agreement soon concerning pink salmon. Efforts to settle the long-standing most of the pinks in Puget sound before they arrived in the Fraser river to spawn.

However, Canadian fishermen now catch 60 per cent of the catch by moving their boats to the west coast of Vancouver island.

He also expressed hope for an early Canadian - U.S. treaty on conservation for the Great Lakes fishery. There was a fishery because of the blood-sucking lamprey and noted Canada has developed up most of the food in the lakes.

Will Install Sir Winston as Knight Of Order of Garter in June Ceremony

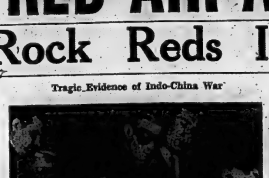
By FERN RICH

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill will be installed as a knight of the Order of the Garter June 14 in a solemn and brilliant ceremony more than 600 years old.

It will be a day due him for more than a year and one brimming with appropriate pomp and circumstance.

On the day after St. George's Day (patron saint of England and of the Order of the Garter) April 23 last year Queen Elizabeth called Churchill to Windsor castle and in a brief ceremony bestowed upon him the most exalted honor his country can offer.

He knelt before her and she, taking a sword, touched him first on the right shoulder and then on the left. When he rose he was no longer "Mister" Churchill but Sir Winston Churchill, K.G.



The Queen handed him the insignia of the order—a collar of 24 gold pieces each in the shape of a garter; the George, an enameled figure of St. George on horseback encountering the dragon, the Garter Star, a gold badge on which bears the same figure; the mantle and the hood. It is described the motto "Honi Soit Qui Mal y Pense (Shame to Him who Evil Thinks)" in gold on a dark blue ribbon.

He wore them proudly for the first time at the Coronation service. In June, however, he will be the star in his own right.

The ancient words which the Queen will read for the first time in the new Elizabethan reign have come down six centuries from the days of Edward III, founder and the order.

One of the admonitions seems predestined for Churchill's ears. The Queen will tell the ruddy-cheeked statesman and soldier who has served his country in three wars "to be courageous and having under-taken a just war into which thou shalt be engaged, thou shalt prosecute it firm and valiantly fight courageously and successfully conquer."

Tragic Evidence of Indo-China War

Several French Union soldiers, wounded in the defence of beleaguered Dien Bien Phu, Indo-China, arrived in Paris in an ambulance plane. These two men, being guided down the plane's gangway, were blinded on a patrol into enemy territory. — Central Press Canadian.

'Fight Continues' Says Navarre But Laniel's Regime May Fall

PARIS (AP) — France was plunged into gloom today by her shattering defeat at Dien Bien Phu but the military vowed to keep battling the Communistled foe in Indo-China.

The fate of the bastion and its thousands of defenders on the eve of Indo-China negotiations in Geneva raised speculation that Premier Joseph Laniel's government might fall.

In Saigon, Gen. Henri Navarre, commander of French forces in Indo-China, issued a terse order of the day saying "the fight continues" despite the serious setback.

The Red leaders of the Vietminh rebellion hailed military and political victory in the savage 56-hour battle that smashed the fortress. A rebel broadcast monitored in Hong Kong claimed the "commander of Dien Bien Phu" and about 17 companies of French Union troops fell into Vietminh hands when the last defences caved in.

The radio did not name Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries, but the reference to "commander" indicated the leader had survived.

NO WORD OF NURSE

The broadcast gave no word on the fate of 30-year-old Genevieve de Galard Terraube, French air force nurse who had been trapped in Dien Bien Phu since March. The Communist radio in Peiping claimed the attacking nations annihilated almost 2,000 French Union troops who tried to break out of "Isabelle," an outpost three miles south of de Castries' headquarters bunker.

Isabelle went on fighting after the heart of the fortress had been overrun.

An Associated Press dispatch from Hanoi said that before the rebels swarmed over Isabelle the outpost turned its guns on main French ammunition stores in the main bastion, killing hundreds of rebels. The order to fire was given by Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries before Dien Bien Phu fell, the dispatch said.

It was not known what happened to the hundreds of wounded lying in dugouts in the heart of the fortress. The Communists had issued a deaf ear to all French pleas for a temporary truce to evacuate the casualties by air.

SAY REDS STALLED TALKS

The French delegation to Geneva formally accused the Communists of stalling on Indo-China negotiations until Dien Bien Phu could be seized.

In Paris, Premier Laniel and Foreign Minister Rene Pleven were booed and hissed when they showed up at ceremonies celebrating the German defeat in the Second World War.

Professor Claims Canada Should Hike Production

TORONTO (CP) — Prof. N. R. Richards, with the soils department at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, said Friday Canada should increase agricultural production because by 1980 the country may have twice the present population.

Speaking to the Ontario Conservation Association, Prof. Richards said last year Canada produced only five per cent more beef and four per cent more dairy products than its population consumed.

Much of the increased agricultural production that would be will needed in the next 25 years must come from the eastern provinces because agriculture is limited by the western climate, he said.

The demand would be met if the soil is used efficiently.

T. A. Wilson of Packenham was elected president of the association. Harley McBeth of Salford was chosen vice-president.

CZECH ECONOMY SUFFERS.

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's economy last year suffered losses totalling more than one billion Czech crowns (1,230,000,000, in factory rejects, a Czech trade union official reports. Most rejects occurred in machinery and foundry industries.

Head-On Crash Near Gravenhurst Kills Two

GRAVENHURST (CP) — Two persons were killed early today in a head-on collision police said occurred while an automobile was passing a transport truck on Highway 11 three miles north of here. The car crashed into an oncoming pickup truck, police said.

Slightly injured was George Mallory of North Bay, who was driving the car which hit the truck.

Police said the pickup truck, southbound, was in collision with a northbound car driven by Andre Legault of Toronto, formerly of Sturgeon Falls. Neither driver nor Jack L. Mallette, a former Sturgeon Falls resident also living in Toronto, was hurt.

Mortimer and the woman were thrown 50 feet out of the truck. The impact tore off their shoes.

MINE TO SHUT DOWN

GAY WELCOME BEING PLANNED FOR ROYAL COUPLE

Think That Homecoming Will Rival Coronation

LONDON (Reuters)—Homecoming celebrations for the Queen when she ends her round-the-world tour next Saturday are rapidly assuming the proportions of the Coronation itself.

The Sovereign's which staged-managed the Coronation pageantry, is devoting almost as much attention to the public reception for the Royal Family. The crowds are expected to approach the throngs of last June 2 and may exceed them if the weather is good.

No official public holiday has been proclaimed but few Britons are chained to office desks or factory benches on a working afternoon.

Parks Minister Sir David Eccles is confident that the Mall, the broad tree-lined avenue which serves as a majestic path to Buckingham Palace, will be even more highly packed with sightseers than it was on that cold and rainy June day last year.

The Mall, however, the big show will be on London's River Thames. Along the embankments thousands will vie for the best places to get a glimpse of the Queen as she sets foot in her homeland after a six-month absence.

With the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, she will step from a royal barge onto Westminster pier.

Following a distinguished company will greet her officially. Among them will be Winston Churchill, Royal Family, Sir Winston Churchill, and the high commissioners for Australia, New Zealand and Canada. The diplomatic corps will be represented by the French ambassador Rene de Masigli.

Even these cheers will have to compete with the musical din of bells which will peal from every church; the roar of Royal Air Force escort jet planes zooming overhead; the thunder of a cannon salute; the playing of the guards-men's bands.

Four carriages, with a sovereign's escort of brilliantly - uniformed Household Cavalry, will form a procession which will wind past the Houses of Parliament and Big Ben, past Whitehall, with government buildings, under Admiralty Arch, Trafalgar Square and down the Mall to Buckingham Palace.

Charge Artist Bound, Attacked 5 Young Models

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A 24-year-old commercial artist was alleged here today to have bound five ragged five shaggy young models at gunpoint and assaulted them.

He was said in court that Leonard Keith Lawson took the girls from Friday to a lonely hut in the Terry hills near here. He first bound their hands and feet then his admitted acts over their mouths.

Then he assaulted each girl in the presence of the others—"the whole time brandishing a pistol," a police constable said.

The girls, aged between 15 and 18, were found by a passing agency.

Lawson was held in custody until Monday on five charges of indecent assault, two of rape and two of carnal knowledge.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has accused two assistant military air attaches of the Soviet embassy here of attempted espionage and has demanded their expulsion from Britain within 10 days, the foreign office announced today.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told Russian ambassador Jacob Malik Friday that the two assistant military air attaches had "abused their diplomatic status in the United Kingdom by attempting to engage in espionage."

The two were identified as Major Ivan Pupyshev, born 1918, arrived in Britain in 1951, married with one child, and Major Andrei Gudkov, born 1917, arrived in Britain in 1951, married, with two children.

NO ATOMIC SECRETS

A spokesman told reporters that atomic secrets were not involved. He emphasized, however, that Britain is not bound to make any details known whatsoever about the case, either publicly or, to the Russian who did say, however, that Pupyshev and Gudkov attempted to pay on certain unspecified military activities in this country.

The spokesman denied that information from either Vladimir Petrov or Capt. Vignial Khakhlov, Soviet citizens who recently fled to the West, had led to the present charges.

The charge marks the second time in two years that Britain has called for the removal of a member of the Soviet embassy staff on a charge of spying.

The operator, William Marshall, was sentenced to five years imprisonment for passing the information.

Police and Dogs Still on Cold Trail of Man

MINTO, N.B. (CP)—Police and dogs were still on a cold trail in the bushlands near here today in their search for an armed man wanted in connection with a murder, a wounding and the abduction of a 16-year-old girl.

Police said their hunt for Floyd E. Brown, a 25-year-old miner, is concentrated in dense country a few miles from Minto, Sixteen RCMP and two dogs have been searching the area since Wednesday when Erle Thompson, 54, was shot to death in his home and a neighbor, Rene Patrie, 42, was wounded by gunshot in the neck.

Officers said Brown is believed to be "armed and dangerous." Residents in this town, 30 miles northeast of Fredericton, have been told not to expose themselves to danger and not leave cars unlocked.

The alleged abduction of the high school girl was disclosed Friday night when reliable informants said she was taken by a ride in a stolen truck by Brown shortly after Thompson was shot in the face. These informants said the girl, who was not identified, was released about eight hours after she was forced into the truck.

Police declined comment.

An authoritative source said the girl has been prostrate with shock since the abduction.

American-Bred Rose Named Lilibet Banned by British Floral Society

LONDON (Reuters)—An American-bred rose named Lilibet has been banned by a British floral society.

"Lilibet" is the family name by which Queen Elizabeth was known as a child. The National Rose Society has warned its 40,000 members the Lilibet rose cannot be displayed at any of the society's exhibitions and has advised them not to grow it.

The name, the society explained, is "unsuitable." Their indignation was aroused by reports the Lilibet rose was being offered in the United States as having all "the charm and loveliness of England's beautiful young queen."

A highway transport truck that sheared off a hydro pole somewhere between Odessa and Cater-apul on No. 3 Highway blacked out Belleville, Stirling, Deseronto, Napanee and Odessa last evening for varying periods of time.

The power interruption in Belleville came at 10.05 p.m. and lasted 21 minutes. The other areas served by the Belleville station including Stirling, the rural areas as far west as Bayside, the Canada Cement Company plant at Point Anne and the Bakelite plant were without power.

Deseronto and Napanee were without power for 45 minutes while Odessa was blacked out for one hour and 13 minutes.

E. G. Gurnett, regional superintendent of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario said that line trouble created by the short circuit on the 44,000 volt line east of Odessa was reflected along the line causing trouble in switching in the Belleville station.

Difficulties caused more extended interruptions east of Belleville, Odessa, as the station closest to the seat of the trouble had no switching difficulties as well.

The Belleville General Hospital was without power during the interruption and nurses carried on their duties with the aid of flashlights, fortunately there were no operations or deliveries in progress at the time of the interruption.

The pall telephone switchboard was deluged with queries during the blackout. The number of calls temporarily overwhelmed the operators on duty, delaying outgoing calls from the public station as well as from residential phones.

Civil Defence Serious Concern Of All Citizens

GUELPH. (CP) — Civil defence requires the serious concern of all citizens, R. B. Currie, civil defence official with the federal health department, said Friday in addressed more than 800 delegates at the sixth annual conference of the Ontario Women's Institutes.

Mr. Currie said women will have to play an important part in civil defence work. If war should come the rural people would receive the impact, since they would have to take the burden of the homeless in the urban devastated areas, the food-less, the wounded and those needing clothes.

The only Canadian cities contacted to be doing much about civil defence now are Vancouver, Edmonton and Winnipeg, he said.

Tweed Apiarist Shoots 200-Pound Bear Near Hives

A bee-crunching hive-wrecking bear said to weigh 200 pounds met its just deserts at the hands of Staff Sergeant Tweed apiarist the other day.

Meraw said prior to catching the brute in a trap, he had had nearly eighty hives wrecked or ruined. Others were turned over at his apiary near Foster's ranch on the Crookston road.

The bear apparently had a yen for live bees, with a "chaser" of honey. Following dissection, its stomach was found to contain plenty of the sting-armed insects.

Meraw said he found hives as far as a mile from his lot, and has been picking up smashed hives on all parts of his property.

He has a suspicion that all is not over yet. He thinks there are other honey-loving bears in the vicinity and he has prepared the proper reception for them.

Stories of Famous Hymns

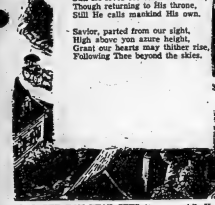
by HORACE B. POWELL

Hail The Day That Sees Him Rise



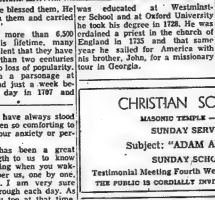
Hail the day that sees Him rise,
Ravished from our wistful eyes!
Christ, awhile to mortals given,
Reascends His native heaven.

There the pompous triumph waits;
Lift your heads, eternal gates;
Wide unfold the radiant scene;
Take the King of Glory in!

Circled round with angel powers,
Their triumphant Lord and ours,
Conqueror over death and sin,
Take the King of Glory in!

Him through highest heaven receives,
Still He loves the earth He leaves;
Though returning to His throne,
Still He calls mankind His own.

Savior, parted from our sight,
High above you azure height,
Grant our hearts may thither rise,
Following Thee beyond the skies.



"HAIL THE DAY THAT SEES HIM RISE"

The hymn tells poetically the story of Christ's ascension into Heaven, not long after His resurrection, as told in the Scriptures, in Luke 24:51—"and it came to pass, while He blessed them, He was parted from them and carried up into Heaven."

Wesley wrote more than 6,500 hymns during his lifetime, many of them so excellent that they have lived for more than two centuries and still show no loss of popularity. He was born in a parsonage at Epworth, England just a week before Christmas day in 1707 and was educated at Westminster School and at Oxford University. He took his degree in 1728. He was ordained a priest in the church of England in 1735 and that same year he sailed for America with his brother, John, for a missionary tour in Georgia.

rich farmer who was engaged in building bigger barns for his bountiful crops when suddenly death called him.

Jesus ended the parable with these words: "Whose then shall not rich toward God."

These things be? So is he who lays up treasures for himself and is

FOLLY OF MEN

Jesus saw the folly of the fellow who is always looking out for number One. Such a person does not fully see the real Number One. A man can see certain features of himself by looking in a mirror, but photographs do not get best results by taking pictures of persons studying themselves in mirrors. The most revealing photographs are those taken when the subject's mind is devoted to something outside himself.

No doubt you have heard the old Persian legend of the nobleman who went away on a long journey leaving his son with a mirror. When he returned, he found the lad son starved to death.

We can spend so much time studying ourselves that we starve our souls. That can happen even under the guise of religion. We can center our prayers and sermons around ourselves rather than God, using pious words while our purpose is primarily to advance ourselves.

Jesus sought to keep us from doing this. Our Lord's Prayer does not begin with the petition, "Give us this day our daily bread." It begins with adoration. "Our Father with art in heaven, hallowed be Thy name."

LAW OF LIFE

We see ourselves by looking up and away from ourselves. We find ourselves by forgetting ourselves. We save ourselves by spending ourselves. It sounds contradictory, doesn't it? But it is the law of life as laid down by the Master of Life.

In October, 1842, Emerson entered in his journal this sentence: "Henry Thoreau made last night the fine remark that as long as a man stands in his own way, everything seems to be in his way." Too many of us blame others for blocking our paths when in reality we are standing in our own way.

The self-centered person always feels that someone is crowding him. Too often we call on the government to change our situations before we consider whether we need to change ourselves. We are hoping and praying that our diplomats can remove the barriers which block the free world. But the first task for each of us is to get out of our own way.

See Larger Grant

OTTAWA (CP) — The government was asked Thursday night to increase its annual $5,000 grant to the Jack Miner Foundation, which operates the Kingsville, Ont., bird sanctuary founded by the late Jack Miner.

Both James McBain (PC—Elgin) and C. W. Hodgson (PC—Victoria, Ont.) asked for a larger grant. Mr. Hodgson suggested $6,000.

Mr. McBain said the foundation has faced rising costs and had a $5,000 deficit last year. The grant had been unchanged since 1946.

Condition Not Serious

HALIFAX (CP)—Victoria General Hospital described Thursday night as "not serious" the condition of a U.S. Air Force sergeant's pregnant wife who was rushed ashore by high-speed launch from an American transport at sea.

Mrs. Mary Sonner, 26, of Omaha Neb., was taken ill aboard the transport Goethals early Tuesday as it neared New York on a trip from Germany. The Goethals was Alexander, active members, who hurried to a rendezvous off Halifax with the Canadian navy launch.

A Lift for Living

Looking Out for Number 1

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

It is reported that one of America's richest men was once asked, "How much wealth does it take to satisfy a man?" He answered with a twinkle in his eye, "Just a little more."

His answer recalls the advice given me by a professor when I left the seminary as a student to take my first parish—the one I still hold. He said, "Just make sure that they give you enough salary so that you don't have to think about money."

I may add that my church has not yet reached that salary level. And perhaps it never can, for when do we reach the point where we do not think something about money?

While desire for possessions is normal and need not become tragic, there is a danger point. Tolstoi tells the pathetic story of a man who allowed his hunger for land to possess him.

He was promised all the land he could walk around between sunrise and sunset. He started out at his ordinary pace. Then the lure of the black earth stirred his greed and he quickened his steps in order to encircle more land. The farther he went, the more he speeded up. He became feverish. He began to pant.

LAND GOT HIM

As the sun descended toward the horizon, his legs began to fail him. He threw off his coat and his boots, forcing his heart and nerve to drive him forward. Then just as the sun went down he hurled himself forward until his fingers touched the goal. And he dropped dead. He tried so hard to get more land that his land got him. He was killed in it.

I often wonder if the leaders in the Kremlin read the stories of Russia's great literary figures like Tolstoi and Dostoevski. Tolstoi had read the parables of Jesus. His story parallels that of the Letter To Mother

By NANCY CLEAVER

Dear Mother:

How are you? How I wish I could see you this Mother's Day! But as that is impossible, here is second best—a visit by letter. I'll be phoning long distance around noon, if my call can get through.

It is always such a comfort to hear your voice—but three minutes goes so quickly! I never quite get time to ask you all the things I want to know—and I usually realize after I have hung up, that in the excitement of talking to you, I had forgotten something I wanted to say.

As I struggle with the varied activities of three children, I often marvel at the patience you had with all the projects we four youngsters carried out! What fun we had with the neighborhood "gang" in our back yard! I remember one Spring and Summer, following a visit of a circus to town, we had a series of circuses.

WILD ANIMALS

We collected pets from everyone in the block and put them into improvised wooden crates for cages as our "Wild Animals". They were wildly indignant at such strange treatment! Do you recall our tumbling acts, the mouth organ numbers, choruses and recitations on our Entertainment Program? Pauline Johnson's "Flint and Feather" was much used as suitable poetry for a circus!

Do you remember the hot Saturday afternoon when the borrowed tent collapsed on the indignant audience, each of whom had paid a 5c admission fee (including a weak luke-warm lemonade drink!) No one was hurt. But to pacify the spectators, you gave us a plate of fresh-baked cookies to pass around.

Another thing I'm always grateful to you as I remember my childhood is your allowing us to have pets. When our inky seems to be cracking into the house more than her share of mud, I recall the very special place Togo had in our home, Bruce's stubby black tail wriggled with joy whenever we paid him any attention! How eagerly he would bound brisk to us, drop it at our feet, and beg us to play with him!

WELCOMED FRIENDS

You welcomed our friends and our pets, but most of all, Mother, you never were too occupied or too weary to welcome us when we came home from school. On blustery wintry days it was so good to come bursting in the door to the warm house and call, "Mother are you there?"

When we went away to complete our education and to work, and then when we were all in homes of our own you have always stood by us. It has been so comforting to turn to you in our anxiety or perplexity.

Then too, it has been a great source of strength to us to know that each morning when you waken you remember us, one by one, in your prayers. I am very sure they help us through each day. As we think of you too at that time, the miles, between us seem to vanish.

SPECIAL DAY

The French have a saying, "A mother's love is ever in its Spring" and the Scottish folk "The Mother's breath is aye so sweet". In the Springtime of the year, when the world out of doors is so full of loveliness, it is good to have this special day, Mother's Day. We are thankful through and through that in all the days in all the seasons, we can call eagerly with confidence of a quick response, "Mother are you there?" just like we did when we were small. . . We hope you will be with us for a long, long time, . . and be just as swift to ask us for anything we can do for you. . . .

With love,
. . from your "middle" child.

UNEMPLOYMENT'S EFFECTS ARE CUMULATIVE.

"We are certainly past the unemployment peak for this year," said Hon. Milton F. Gregg, Federal Minister of Labor, at a meeting in Montreal.

One's first reaction to such an observation is to remark that water is certainly wet and birds certainly have feathers, too.

But there was probably more behind Mr. Gregg's statement than the statistical fact that unemployment is now declining in Canada, a situation no more unusual in May than the budding of the trees.

Mr. Gregg also said that, though there would be seasonal unemployment next fall, it would not be "on the scale we experienced last fall." If Mr. Gregg is a true prophet, that is good news.

It would be, by all odds, to overlook an important point. The effect of unemployment is cumulative. Even if unemployment next winter is lower than during the past few months, the effect on the nation's economy might be just as serious.

Before the institution of unemployment insurance, this fact would have been self-evident to most. The jobless man who was forced to draw up his savings this winter to feed and clothe his family would not have this nest-egg to tide him over rainy days next winter.

Unemployment insurance, far from eliminating the cumulative nature of the effect of unemployment, has probably enhanced it. For the benefits which insured workers draw from the fund when they are unemployed can be regarded as a form of savings — and like individually accumulated bank accounts these savings are exhaustible.

To draw unemployment insurance benefits a worker must have been employed for either 46 days in the preceding six months or 60 days in the preceding 12 months. He must also have in his book stamps for 180 days of employment in the past two years. He may draw benefits for one-fifth of the days for which he has made contributions in the five years immediately preceding the filing of his claim. Or, in other words, he may draw benefits for a maximum period of one year.

Many of those who were unemployed during the early winter exhausted their benefits. They found, during spring, they will easily qualify for more benefits next winter, should they again become unemployed—but the periods for which they will be entitled to receive benefits are likely to be shorter. If seasonal unemployment were to continue, even the man who, through years of steady employment, had built up a right to receive benefits for the maximum period of one year would eventually find his "savings" had dwindled away. If, for example, he was unemployed for four months during the past winter, he would, if he became unemployed again next winter, be entitled to receive benefits but not for a full year. His benefits would not be exhausted next winter — nor probably even the winter after — but eventually he would himself jobless every winter, he would find himself with no money in the unemployment insurance "bank".

That is why, just because the employment situation improves with the coming of spring, we cannot afford to be complacent about the factors which left men without work during the winter.

Unemployment insurance, like a savings account, is a great friend in need, but it is no adequate substitute for steady employment.

THE BANK EMPLOYS A PHILOSOPHER

The Royal Bank of Canada has a philosopher on its payroll.

He is the man who is responsible for writing the Bank's "Monthly Letter."

Every month, it turns out, a treatise which is a treat. But the identity—if indeed these monthly articles are all the work of one man or woman—remains cloaked in anonymity.

For May 1954's selected subject is "The Search for Happiness." To attempt to give a synopsis of this four-page letter would be unfair to the importance of the subject and the skilful way in which it is handled.

But perhaps we may be permitted to lift one paragraph out of its context.

"Many people—perhaps the majority of people—would say that the greatest happiness they could achieve would be freedom and ability to do what they want to do," observes the author. "That is not a very good description of happiness, because it is difficult to say just what one wants today, let alone next year and twenty years from now."

The is difficult to be sure just what one wants." What an insight into human nature that single statement reveals. Here is a simple fact, of which we are all vaguely aware, and yet one which the majority of us have studiously avoided recognizing.

Perhaps this recognition, which the writer does not seem to realize is unusual, is itself one of the keys to happiness. For of one unconsciously assumes that any normal person knows what he wants, and if one is dimly aware that this knowledge is lacking in one's own case, then one is almost inevitably burdened with a sense of inadequacy. And our banker-philosopher includes in his essay another striking sentence. "Only the man who has experienced it knows the wonderful sense of power that comes from the simple assurance that he is equal to his tasks." Perhaps these tasks do not include an irrevocable decision as to what we want to do, or get, or be.

THE RED GERANIUM

I like the red geranium
Because it seems to be
The bit of bloom that lights the room
Of cruel poverty.

Its window bleak as I go by
It shows a woman's care,
And always am I glad to spy
Its flash of splendor there.

It is a sturdy plant that thrives
And seems to be content
To light with grace the window space
Of shack and tenement.

The red geranium gladly shares
What humble folks endure,
And seems to me well pleased to be
The orchid of the poor.

The Belleville Old Boys' Association in Toronto held a social gathering in St. George's Hall in that city last evening with Mr. W. S. Morden, K.C., is president of the association. The annual excursion to Belleville, the old home town, will be held on July 18th.

The Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker, principal of Alma College, will be the special speaker at the anniversary services in the Methodist Church in Port Hope next Sunday.

A Kingston diver found an iron bar in the vicinity of Dead Man's Bay which bore the date 1800. It is thought that the piece of iron was dropped from one of the ships which sailed up the river after the British took possession of Canada.

NEW LIFE

There are processes today by which old daguerreotypes can be restored almost to their original beauty. Not long ago, I have such a picture of one of the members of my family taken over a hundred years ago, and it looks as if it had been taken and developed yesterday.

Look at an old daguerreotype. Apparently nothing can be done with it. It is cloudy, indistinct and covered, probably, with decades of dust. But there is life in it, for which it can be made new. It can be restored again to it original beauty.

All this is a parable on the possible regeneration of the human soul. More derelicts now shuffling along Skid Row will perish miserably. But they do not need to. There are divine processes which can bring out these lives in glory. The person whose life has become a mere round of drudgery often feels this sort of thing must go on until death. But this is not so. There are processes by which the old, neglected life which has been dull and beaten out of it through hard routine may be made fresh and new.

Jesus Christ came into the world that men might have life and have it more abundantly. If any man is in Christ, he is a new creature. Sometimes one does not just improve people—it makes them over, transforms them.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

BOOK MEALS

It is very necessary that we feed this mind of ours in much the same way as we feed our bodies —by an interesting and balanced diet.

In my home library and at my office are a variety of books ever about one. I feel friendly toward each one. Perhaps one is in the mood for a story, a historical sketch, or a bit of philosophical writing, or poetry. Each has its place in nourishing the mind and giving it pleasure.

I do not admire that one who says he has no time in which to read or that he has never read a book in his life. The outside newspaper is doing a great service to the world by giving to its readers a book in its columns, daily its news reports. But books should form a part of the furniture in every home.

Not everyone has the time to devote to much reading, but anyone can give at least 15 minutes a day to some sort of reading. Preferably, this should be done just before retiring. To go to one's rest with fine thoughts in mind is a stimulant that will give better sleep than any sedative! Try it and be convinced!

We can only hope to gain a handful of substantial and noncapitalizing friends in a lifetime, but we can gather hundreds of friends together in the form of books which are able to give us infinite pleasure and joy as the years ripen about us.

With books we do not have to say "Good-bye" to day—we can have as many as we wish! And there is no danger of over-indulgence.

Letter to the Editor

Deplores Criticism Of Dulles' Policies

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Recent news headlines have featured Miss Jenny Lee Obra, Amherst Normal reference to the elephantine diplomacy of Mr. Dulles. And at the same time they have featured Mr. Pearson's statement that Canada does not always see eye to eye with the U.S.A.

The timing of these releases, while the Geneva Conference is in progress, is most unfortunate and it may seem that there is deliberate intention to embarrass Mr. Dulles. Miss Lee appears to insinuate that the present emergency, is the result of Mr. Dulles' diplomatic errors. Mr. Pearson is more cautious, but states that Canada stands for a united Korea, for free Korean elections, for some form of international guarantee to Korea who-ever beyond this admirable generalization he would leave Mr. Canada does not support U.S. foreign policies.

The present difficulties represent the culmination of ten years of weak foreign policies on the part of the free nations of the world. France in particular deserves full blame in Indo-China for refusing to provides any measure of colonial freedom. The Truman-Acheson policies represent the only firm attempt to provide necessary resistance at the point of aggression to strain Communistic encroachment. It is improbable that Mr. Dulles talks the only language that Communists understand and respect. Mr. Pearson's efforts, on the opposite, Mr. Dulles' firm stand has not endeared any country in war with the Communists.

The Miss Lees and the Mr. Pearsons of this world are doing nothing that is destructive only and they must take full credit for the sabotaging, that is planned or unintentional of the Eisenhower-Dulles policies.

"Citizen"

Boredom Final Defeat

(Hamilton Spectator)

The bore has probably promoted more bad jokes (and more good ones) than any human type we can label. He is harder to shake than consistently to define. Ambrose Bierce, in his Devil's Dictionary, fingerprints him as "a person who talks when you wish him to listen." Voltaire, naturally, was more cutting. He called the bore a "worm" and this famous Frenchman, "is to tell his acquaintance a story who simply can't discipline his self-importance, he inflicts it on the most durable listener he can find.

But boredom is not funny; nor is it merely that "awful yawn time" between meals. As a disease it is ridiculous, a synthetic mask for one who having no interest in things finds no interest in any one, or anything, else. It passes for sophistication—which is the most distorted of all common places—then it fools only those who have not evolved; no one should ever confuse dullness with wit.

It is usually a far more insidious ailment than any skilled practitioner. It has indeed a malignant disease and a most contagious one. It is the result of peculiar idea of what is boring and what is interesting and stimulating. It is the result of a false and so-called amusement or entertainment which destroys the initiative of individuality. No bores are more boring than the bored.

Medical and psychological research may be focusing closer on some blind avenues, but at one critical point it reaches a definite and unmistakable dead end. Greeks, so is a stimulating mind in a wordly mind in a healthy body. Greeks, so is a stimulating mind in a vigorous body a natural alliance. Even the process of the process of ageing, medical science has found that those who retain a lively interest in life around them resist deterioration more than those who become listless and bored. An old and lazy mind produces an old body at its home. Nor does it know true relaxation. "It is hard to rest," said the Romans, "when you are doing nothing."

Boredom is too fascinating, even in our own immediate environment, to leave us indifferent. The cagerly to wonder, the will to help, the satisfaction of work, the great horizons of good reading—they are certain beacons through life. To scoff at them, write them off as a waste of time, boredom and a pose of mental weariness, is a recipe for boredom. It is also defeat. It is to become—to our fellows as much as to ourselves—a bore.

Square Part

The square frying pan is advertised as more efficient. Now it's time engineers for Nature to produce the square egg.

Brazilians Forsake Coffee

(Fort Arthur News' Chronicle)

Brazil, producer of more than half the world's entire coffee supply and No. 1 target of United States bounteousness lectured by incessantly rising coffee prices, also is faced by a consumer strike at home.

Many Brazilian households, where coffee has been the traditional mealtime drink, have turned instead to tea and to Latin America's indigenous hot beverage, yerba de mate.

In addition, the Cariocas of Rio de Janeiro, the Paulistas of Sao Paulo and the inhabitants of the other major cities, who were accustomed to drink 15 to 20 cafezinhos—little cups which hold about half as much as demitasse—during the human day, are trying to develop a taste for soft drinks and beer.

The boycott in recent weeks each cafezinho has risen from .5 to 5 cruzeiros (2c to 1.2c) at the innumerable coffee stalls and shops —and is expected to go a good deal higher. The price per pound for home use is mounting in comparable fashion.

Meanwhile, the harassed Brazilian government keeps insisting to consumers both at home and abroad that the price increase is only temporary, promises action is forthcoming, but of an "act of God," a killing frost last winter—last summer in the United States—and the rest of the northern hemisphere—which blighted much of the 1953 crop.

Government spokesmen said that all United States delegations seeking to investigate the situation in Brazil would be welcome. Also the "our typical American housewife" now visiting there at Brazilian expense.

They added that every effort is being made to increase production and, meanwhile, to provide more coffee for export to meet the emergency.

Napkin Use Neglected

(Ottawa Journal)

In a recent etiquette column the question was raised: What is the purpose of the napkin at the dinner table? Is it merely to wipe the lips before drinking from the water glass; also to wipe the fingers.

The countryman is always happy to have recourse to the napkin for investigating friends and neighbors. It seemed logical to start out into the Esquimalt grown-up boys and girls and it is most disappointing to find them observing the foddering operations of 74 adults in private homes and restaurants where the napkin suppers not one single feeder which confronts before taking a drink of water.

Something should be done about this. Naturally, the council of the etiquette authorities down. They tell us how to line up articles beside the dinner plates, what color notepaper to use in thanking Aunt Minerva for her birthday present and how to hold the little finger artistically when drinking a demi-tasse.

Perhaps napkin etiquette is something that we have omitted, but perhaps now that we are in the second half of the century, our fellow-citizens are at last more amenable to cultural improvement.

No One Nation Has Everything

(Washington Post)

Imagine an intrepid colonial from Mars looking this planet over. He would be ready for the best country in which to settle. What would he choose? The recently published United Nations statistical yearbook offers some interesting data that would help in his decision.

If he is a hearty eater, Ireland, with its 3,480 calories per person daily, would be his best bet. Ireland's figure for his children to survive would be Sweden, where infant mortality is lowest.

For medical care he might choose Israel, which has the highest number of physicians per thousand. For a real free movie going he would also choose that country, and especially avoid Australia.

If an avid newspaper reader, the United Kingdom would be most satisfactory, and Afghanistan the place to shun.

Residents of this planet also would be interested in learning from this yearbook—the most important being that no nation has all the advantages as a place to live.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

QUIET, PLEASE, OL' DOC'S IN A BROWN STUDY.

A prominent author and a newspaper editor told me they do their best writing while taking walks.

Dr. Brady

That is to say, they receive the ideas for stories or editorial articles as they (if you will excuse the) peripatetically cogitate.

I tried this myself. Thought it would be a fine way to get a raise in pay, or at least get the same pay for shorter hours. Unfortunately I chose the wrong place to try it, the crossroads of traffic from 48 states. I had just captured what I thought was an idea as I arrived at the curb. There was a momentary break in traffic and I took advantage of it. But out in the middle of the street I found a big traffic cop and I were all alone. He's odd how lonely you can feel sometimes, with a million people all around, right in the show. "Come, now, little man", said the fine representative of his office, "you can't do that here. Just what are your plans?" I would have flattered him right there, but for my respect for age. After the officer saluted me and begged me to take care of myself I realized that his treatment could not have been more effective if he had given me a ticket or taken me before the magistrate. I believe the big fellow knew I wasn't all there. I was far off somewhere in what is usually called a brown study.

What brown I have never been able to understand. Blue or green would suit better, I should say. Anyway when you drift into it you become less conscious or almost unconscious of what you are or should be doing. You are for the moment lost in the subconscious, and if you do not suffer some great embarrassment or accident while you are drifting your absent-mindedness may prove a boon rather than a detriment. I'm sure mine has been a boon, except on such occasions as my encounter with the saddening cop.

I'm impressed, if nobody else is, with one line of creation—that of the subconscious—and I wasn't indulging in a pipe dream. The idea is that the great majority of cases chronic rheumatic — or call it "arthritic" if you prefer — is physical degeneration. And I do know that by now some readers understand that when you have degeneration, not spiritual, mental or moral deformation.

From many years of experience with the preventive medicine study I conclude that the usual cause of physical degeneration is nutritional deficiency, chiefly childhood up to breakfast this morning.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Those of us who do not live by the sea can have no conception of the overpowering charm of life in the salt water. In Victoria, B.C., recently I visited an old friend, Commander Fairfull, who is in charge of the Esquimalt Graving Docks, gigantic dry-docks of the department of Public Works of Canada into which ships of the Queen Elizabeth has been accommodated.

To handle a ship in the graving docks, she is run in by her own power, pumped out, leaving her high and dry for the work to be done on her hull. Recently, when the pumps had reduced the water level, Commander Fairfull noticed that the lock was full of herring. He took a quick run in a small boat out into the Esquimalt harbor and saw that the bay was filled with a great run of herring.

He immediately called the radio stations and had a message broadcast that anyone wanting herring could come to the graving dock with baskets, buckets, bags, bathtubs—he would handle them their requirements. By the time the lock was emptied to within a couple of feet or dry, the dry-dock was a seething mass of herring. For two days and nights, people came from far and near, some to obtain a few pounds to feed to the pickle, others to supply truckloads to fish farms, or to obtain fertilizer. It would have been hopeless for the lowly children to be allowed to bring their own buckets and hoop up to breakfast this morning.

Conservation Briefs

A series of little known facts about conservation, under the heading of "Conservation Briefs" will occupy this space weekly. These briefs are being written by Moira River Conservation Authority to let you, the people, know what your Conservation Authority stands for.

DID YOU KNOW that reforestation aids our Moira River Conservation program in many ways.

(1) It provides a source of revenue from lands not suited for agriculture and presently lying idle.

(2) It provides slow-run-off of water from rain and snow by allowing water time to percolate into the soil. Therefore reforestation is significant in reducing floods, in maintaining higher fertility of surrounding agricultural areas, and in keeping our water levels higher all year round.

(3) Reforestation could act as a shelter belt for a farm to prevent wind erosion and to lessen frost damage.

(4) Through the reforestation of lands unsuitable for agriculture within our watershed many of our streams, which presently flood in the spring and dry up in the summer, would be flowing all year round with little or no flooding in the spring.

1,294,615 Campaign Stars, Medals Still Not Applied For

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine years after victory in Europe, the army affairs department is holding 1,294,615 campaign stars and medals still not applied for by second world war veterans.

And it still has between 20,000 and 30,000 medals for First World War veterans. Incidentally, the official title of the First World War is "The Great War of 1914-19."

Lt.-Col. H. M. Jackson, director of the department's war service records division, says the majority of Second World War veterans who have not written in for their medals are those entitled to only one or two. There are also some who just don't care about medals, even if they are entitled to seven or eight.

ISSUED BY MINT

The Royal Canadian Mint turned out 3,139,850 stars and medals for the 1,081,000 persons who served in the Second World War, as well as 25,870 clasps to stars and 250,000 bars to the Canadian Volunteer Service Medal.

The mint issued 11 different medals: 288,000 of the 1939-45 Star; 40,000 of the Atlantic Star; 18,000 of the Air-Crew Europe Star; 12,000 of the Africa Star; 250,000 of the France-Germany Star; 102,500 of the Italy Star; 10,250 of the Pacific Star; 5,200 of the Burma Star; 460,000 of the Defence Medal; 900,000 of the CVSM; and 1,060,000 of the War Medal, 1939-45.

Since the issuance of medals started in 1945, the division has sent out 1,845,355 medals, 34,210 in the year ending last March 31. It estimates there are about 430,000 veterans who have not applied for theirs.

SIGNATURES NECESSARY

A veteran has to write in for medals and that the division has a signature which tallies with one on its records. But Col. Jackson says cases of persons applying for medals to which they are not entitled are rare. Medals could not be issued to veterans because in many cases they moved after the war and the division has no addresses for them.

First World War veterans also had to write in for their medals. These medals were minted in Britain and were engraved with the veteran's name and regimental number. Second World War medals, made in Canada, were not engraved. For this reason, the veterans affairs department has issued 29,870 engraved memorial plaques since 1931 to next-of-kin of fatal casualties. There are still 4,631 bars to be issued and the department carries on a ceaseless hunt for the next-of-kin. It could find, only six last year.

Long before the medals now in the vaults are cleaned out the records division will be issuing the United Nations Service Medal and the Korea Medal to some 28,000 servicemen who participated in the Korean War. The Korea Medal for Commonwealth forces probably will be made in Britain and it will be engraved.

Bonding of Cars, Aircraft, Boats, Mistake in Claim

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Commissioner Ralph Kelly of the U.S. bureau of customs says a change in the tariff laws requiring Canadian racing cars, planes and boats to be bonded before entry into the United States was a "mistake."

Kelly told a reporter during an inspection trip here Friday the law was being re-written for reconsideration by Congress.

The Customs Simplification Act, which went into effect last September, Kelly said, requires nonresident owners of cars, aircraft, boats and racing shells to post a bond before the objects can be admitted to the United States for racing purposes.

The bond must be 1½ times the duty on the object, which is usually 15 per cent of value.

Kelly said the law was "purely unintentional" and resulted from a mistake by a congressional clerk assigned to work on the act. That part of the act was designed primarily to expedite the flow of cars across Canadian-American bridges, Kelly said. Meanwhile he said an attempt would be made to make the required bonds as nominal as possible.

Four Aboard Clamber to Safety As Plane Crashes

TORONTO- (CP)—A twin-engined RCAF Beechcraft crash-landed in a field near Malton airport during a drizzling rain Friday night. All four persons aboard scrambled to safety before the plane burst into flames.

Air force officials identified the pilot as P.O. John Gordon, stationed at Winnipeg RCAF base. Also aboard were Cpl. David Walker and LAC. Jack Florence, both of Winnipeg, and Cpl. Ken Heslop of Ottawa.

They suffered slight burns and bruises and were brought to Sunnybrook Hospital here for examination.

Cause of the accident was not known. The Beechcraft left Ottawa's Rockcliffe airport earlier Friday night and was heading for its home base in Winnipeg.

Stevens Says McCarthy's Aides Made 'Exceedingly Serious' Threats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Secretary Robert Stevens said yesterday Senator Joseph McCarthy's aides made "exceedingly serious" threats in demanding favored treatment for Pte. David Schine.

Testifying for the 12th day before the Senate sub-committee investigating the McCarthy-army row, Stevens said he had a distinct impression from McCarthy that the more the army did for Schine the less "hammering" the army would be subjected to from the McCarthy sub-committee.

Schine, a member of a multi-millionaire New York family, was an unpaid consultant to the McCarthy sub-committee until he was drafted last fall.

The McCarthy-army row revolves about army contentions that the senator and his aides made improper efforts to get preferential treatment for Schine, and McCarthy's counter-charge that the army used Schine as a "hostage" in trying to halt the senator's investigations of alleged subversives in the army.

STEVENS SHOWS SHARPNESS

Pressed by McCarthy to say whether Roy M. Cohn, the McCarthy subcommittee chief counsel, and Francis P. Carr, its staff director, had ever "threatened" him, Stevens maintained they had.

Stevens cited what he called Cohn's "declaration of war" against the army after Cohn was denied admittance to a secret radar laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., on Oct. 20.

Stevens will be back in the witness chair on Monday.

There was a bit of hassle when McCarthy denounced one of the original army charges as "this lie" and was ordered to withdraw the word.

MCCARTHY REBUKED

Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate investigations subcommittee, reportedly told the senator his language was improper. It was made in a question to Stevens.

The charge was to the effect that Cohn was so "upset" by army handling of Pte. Schine he could not attend a luncheon on Dec. 10.

McCarthy said Cohn had "exploded that lie" in telling about the matter on a TV program. He asked Stevens whether it was not true that Cohn did not attend the luncheon because Cohn's father was ill.

Stevens testified the charge was not "false." He insisted Carr had told him at the luncheon that Cohn was very upset about Schine.

A point of possible explosion appeared after McCarthy asserted "I don't intend to" keep secret purported FBI data on security risks at Ft. Monmouth, unless FBI director J. Edgar Hoover adds his voice to that of Attorney-General Herbert Brownell.

What to do...

WHEN ONE SWALLOWS POISON

Quick work is necessary to save the life of a person who has swallowed poison, says St. John Ambulance.

Every moment's delay means that more of the poison is being absorbed into the system. Call doctor immediately, tell him briefly what is wrong, and then take steps to get rid of the poison.

First of all, don't waste time trying to find out what poison was taken—chances are you wouldn't have the right antidote handy anyway. Try to induce vomiting by tickling the back of the patient's throat with a spoon or two fingers. If this doesn't work give him a tumbler of water containing two tablespoons of salt.

Vomiting, however, should not be induced when the patient is unconscious or when the lips and mouth are burned.

An antidote—one pint of milk is the simplest—should be given next, except when the patient is unconscious. If milk is not available, then a pint of water may be given. Water won't neutralize the poison but it does dilute it.

BEST GENERAL ANTIDOTE

Although each type of poison has its own antidote, milk or water, is the best antidote for an untrained person to remember for general use.

1. Place an unconscious patient in the prone position with the face turned to one side and not resting on a pillow. The prone position also facilitates the start of artificial respiration.

2. Start artificial respiration instantly if the breathing is feeble or suddenly slow. Keep it up until a doctor takes charge.

3. Preserve for the doctor any remaining poison and any vomited matter.

4. Do not give any laxatives such as castor oil.

Remember, the most important thing to do when someone swallows poison is to summon a doctor as quickly as possible.

Two Fires Cause $25,000 Loss In P.E. County

PICTON—Two fires here yesterday caused loss in the neighborhood of $25,000.

Buildings destroyed were the home of John B. Haggerty at Cherry Valley and the Junior Non-Commissioned Officers' Mess at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery (AA).

It was just before noon that Mrs. Haggerty smelled smoke in the home and investigation revealed the attic to be on fire. With Mr. Haggerty she alerted the neighborhood. Trucks were backed up to the doors and contents of downstairs rooms were carried out. Those upstairs were lost. The house was constructed of brick and wood and most of the walls caved in.

A driveshed is located very close by but did not ignite as the breeze was blowing away from it. Cause of the fire is not known. Loss is estimated at $10,000.

SPECTACULAR BLAZE

About one o'clock, the RCSA station was the scene of a spectacular blaze which destroyed the N.C.O.'s mess.

This frame building built in 1938 was reduced to ashes in fifteen minutes. It contained a well furnished lounge with chesterfields, chairs, television set, also a billiard room with a new table recently purchased and the modern bar. The attendant had left the building a short time before the blaze was discovered and it spread so rapidly that it was possible only to save part of the refreshments served at the bar. The RCSA fire brigade kept the blaze from spreading. Loss is unofficially set at $15,000.

TOKYO (AP) — Two Japanese scientists today said the United States apparently exploded a fourth hydrogen bomb at Bikini between April 25 and 27.

They said their estimate was based on geiger counter tests of rain which fell this week on widely separated areas of Japan.

Miss Marcia Blatherwick, of St. Catharines, Ontario, was maid of honor, wearing a floor-length gown of aqua nylon net over vertical taffeta godets of pastel shades of rose diminishing to pale yellow.

Miss Janet Robertson, of Belleville, and Marie McGaughey, of Kingston, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids, wearing gowns fashioned in similar lines; the former in pale yellow nylon net over variegated taffeta godets of blue and rose, and the latter in blue nylon net over taffeta godets from yellow to rose. All were made with molded, strapless bodices, matching capes, and bouffant skirts. They wore matching half halo headdresses and carried nosegays of spring flowers.

Mr. William Koski, of Kingston, attended the bridegroom, and Mr. Keilar Scouten, of Kingston, and Mr. Douglas Walmsley, of Belleville, brother of the bride, were ushers.

The reception was held at the Masonic Temple, Foster Avenue, where the bride's mother, attired in dusty rose crepe with lace inserts, white accessories and corsage of pale yellow roses, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore beige crêpe, pink and navy accessories, and corsage of pink roses.

For travelling to Victoria, B.C., the bride chose a pale green and grey check suit with white accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. McGaughey will reside in Victoria for the summer.

Guests were present from Kingston, Toronto, St. Catharines, Ottawa, and Galt, Ontario.

CHILDREN'S PARTIES

This week, we attended a Baby Band party at the church, sponsored by the Women's Missionary Society for children up to five years and their mothers. It is certainly good to see that organizations like missionary societies are still doing something for mothers and children right here at home. And they are doing something for all the mothers and their children, regardless of their income group, either. It is the youngsters of well-to-do parents who needs kindness from others quite as much as the child whose parents have nothing.

This afternoon party entertained about 100 pre-school children. After the children played games arranged by the Women's Missionary teachers, plain food was provided by W.M.S. members. To the delight of all youngsters, no candy or cake was served. The CGIT girls passed the food.

Long, low tables were set up with small chairs. Colored serviettes brightened the tables. CGIT girls had made paper hats of bright crepe paper with fancy trimmings for the kiddies. The night before, members of the Men's Group blew up 150 balloons and hung them from the ceiling of the hall. Each child got one of these to take home.

LEAVING BAND

The five-year-olds were lined up and as they passed under an arch of golden bell (dryrayhis) held up by the CGIT girls, each received a yellow daffodil. This marked their leaving the Baby Band for the more senior Mission Band.

After the flower presentation, one four-year-old girl, Daughter of Queen's University Padre A. M. Lavertz, looked at her flower and said, "I didn't graduate yet, did I?"

It is this kind of party which, together with the religious work of any church, helps to mould good character and good living among our own youngsters.

SCOTCH CONCERT

Here's a friend's cookie recipe which is easy to make. Ingredients are: ½ cup brown sugar, 1 cup butter, 2 egg, 2 cups flour, 1 small teaspoon baking soda, 2 teaspoons cream of tartar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Mix in order given. Roll into small balls. Press with fork like peanut butter cookies and bake on greased sheet in moderate oven 12 minutes, Makes about 5 dozen.

DOLLS

Something new in doll-dressing competitions is going on at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Both individuals and groups are invited to dress dolls in a contest for cash prizes of from $25 to $100.

Groups like CGIT, Girl Guides, St. John Ambulance, Sea Scouts, Junior League and the like, have begun designing dolls for the big show. They say that a 76-year-old woman, Mundi Johnson of Gimli, Manitoba, is the champion doll dressed in Icelandic costume. Another entry is considered to be a year-old woman in England.

First doll received by Elsa Jenkins, director of CNE's Women's activities, is an authentic cowgirl dressed like Dale Evans, wife of Roy Rogers. A swimming doll has come in from the Belleville Girls' Dramatical Swimming Club.

GIVEN NEEDY GIRLS

Best thing about this contest is that all the dolls will be distributed to needy children next Christmas. The C.N.E. will turn the dolls over to the Canadian Save the Fare Council, Salvation Army and Canadian Save the Children Fund to help Santa.

This is a chance for individuals and clubs to do something for youngsters. It is an opportunity for organizations to combine their work and to win some cash. Entry blanks and details will be sent on request to the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. Deadline for entries is July 1.

Staff, Personnel Honor Bride-Elect

Dan Cupid has become quite expert with his darts, of late years, at the Ontario Intelligencer. Yesterday afternoon, the staff and personnel gathered in the editorial room to extend their good wishes for future happiness to one of their number, Miss Dorothy Jamieson, bride of today.

Following a brief, impromptu address, sprinkled with humor, and tinged with regret, by the sports editor, Mr. George Carver, Mr. M. Foster presented to her a gift of a square Wedgwood dish in cornflower pattern, and matching cornflower plate, which Dorothy chose gracious enough to honor her appreciation both for the gift and for the good wishes which accompanied it.

Your Hospital

In a very short space of time, actually between the end of World War I and the end of World War II, this Canada of ours was transformed from an agricultural into an industrial nation.

Today in almost every city, town and village from coast to coast there is one or more industrial or manufacturing firms, producing a wide variety of articles for use in homes, farms, offices, schools, hospitals and even playgrounds.

Many of these firms were started by local citizens; others are subsidiary plants of firms whose head offices are in other centres of Canada, the United States, England and other parts of the world.

Today, when a company or business, domestic or foreign, is contemplating the erection of a new plant or the expansion of a new district, the hospital facilities in that city or community are among the main considerations.

Businessmen know that a hospital is a safeguard to the general health and well-being of their employees and to the public in general. They are aware that many builders of new plants will not reside or work in a community where they do not have the assurance of hospitalization should they or any member of their family become seriously injured. Businessmen know, too, that a modern efficient hospital helps to ensure quality production because it can considerably decrease production losses through illness.

GREAT BENEFIT.

A hospital, then, is of great benefit to a community in attracting new business and industry, resulting in increased employment and a greater degree of prosperity.

Through all its many specialized activities, in its diagnostic and consultative services, its public health clinics, its rehabilitation units, the modern hospital has wider opportunities than ever before to bring medical research, care of the sick and for the protection of health.

Here, more than ever before, the hospital has an essential place in every community, as here there are some destructive forces at work in the world, and institution that seeks to heal rather than to harm, to give health and strength instead of pain and infirmity, merits the respect and encouragement of everyone, regardless of race, color or creed. Canada's hospitals, including the one, or more, in the community, are monuments to our belief in the goodness of human personality and the sanctity of human life.

The Belleville General Hospital, which serves the Quinte district 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, invites you to visit the new hospital in action on Hospital Day, Wednesday, May 12th.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Herrington Happily Wed for 50 Years

It was the 50th wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Sam P. Herrington and all of their nine children were home to honor their parents. In addition the Herringtons were "at home" to about 50 close friends and neighbors.

Although Belleville has been their home for the past 20 years, Mr. and Mrs. Herrington are natives of the Brighton area, where the groom of half a century ago started work at the age of nine, quit out of school. He declines to give his age but admits he started painting "over 40 years ago." Mrs. Herrington is the former Florence Storms.

Painting and interior decorating is a family business for the Herringtons. One son and the two sons-in-law up on the staff of the crew, when Mr. Herrington takes on a job.

He says there is little new in painting. "Paint still goes on the same way. New paints have been introduced, but we still have to put it on," he said.

BUSY YEAR ROUND

About the only difference he sees is that now he is busy all year round while years ago painting and decorating was more of a seasonal job.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Herrington are Mrs. Wesley (Ena) Gerow, Belleville; Mrs. Ross (Stella) Robertson, Toronto; Mrs. Tom (Pearl) Bell, Belleville; Mrs. Robert (Clara) Vieau, Trenton; Mrs. Herb (Ruby) Poliner, Belleville; Mrs. Jack (Gladyse) Hamlin, Belleville, and Mrs. Peter (Mabel) Pruss, Toronto and two sons, Herbert of Wellington and Douglas of Belleville.

A brother of Mr. Herrington, Clinton Herrington of Rochester, N.Y., his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Galblack, also attended the anniversary. A sister Mrs. Fred McNally of Georgetown was unable to be present. A sister of Mrs. Herrington, Mrs. Ina McKenna of Belleville attended.

Mr. Herrington has 21 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MAYBE MOTHER'S PARTLY RIGHT ON THIS

Miss Fairfax:

My mother is very much against the chap I have been going out with because, while she admits he is a very nice boy, she points out that he has no money, no college education, no trade and his family has no position in life. She says she married that kind of man—my father — and that she doesn't want to see me make the same kind of mistake because when there is no money "love flies out of the window."

I know my mother has always felt she married beneath her, but my father is a good, kind man, and I think we have all been happy together even though he was never able to give us many luxuries or advantages. I haven't had a college education, either, or any of the other things my mother insists the man I marry should have. I tell her that when I marry, it will be for love and not for money.

Which of us do you think is right — I am 20, and for my friend — H.C.T.T.

Dear H.C.T.T.:

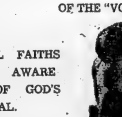
I certainly agree with you that love is the only logical basis for marriage, and that, without it, neither money, nor a college education, nor a so-called "position" in life can hold a man and wife together. But there's one item you mention on your list which I would say was almost equally as important as the others, and that's a "trade," or its equivalent for the husband. It's all very well to talk about marrying "for love and not money," but it would be very foolish indeed to marry any man who is not prepared to earn a living.

It may well be that if you stopped talking about marriage with this young man until he has equipped himself to maintain a home and take care of you, your mother would have more sympathy with your romance. Make it clear to her that you have no idea of getting married until he reaches that point, and she will probably be willing to have you go on seeing him in the meantime.

WHY LET YOUR BOY FRIEND BE A DICTATOR?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am going steady with a boy who is 16 while I am 15. Another boy, who lives next door, asked me to go a dance so I asked my boy friend if he would let me go. He said it's up to me but that if I went to the dance he would break with me. I would like to go to the dance very much and it's not because I am interested in the boy who asked me, because I'm not. I'd just like to go.



Please help me decide whether I should go or not — T.C.

Dear T.C.: I'm afraid I'm not going to be much help to you in making this decision, and the reason is that you and I don't look on the business of "going steady" from the same viewpoint.

My idea is that it's a mistake for teen-agers to devote themselves exclusively to one other person. I believe that young people of your age should have just as many friends as possible, because that's the best way to learn to make sound judgments about other people and so be prepared to make a good choice of a husband when the right time comes. Therefore, my advice would be that you not only go to this dance with the boy you like, but accept dates from any boys you like. Why should your boy friend dictate to you?

The trouble is that this isn't the kind of boy you want from me, and I doubt if you take the advice. What you want me to do is to tell you how to get to the dance and yet hold on to your "steady," and that would be something I'm not equipped to do.

For what it may be worth, however, I will give it as my opinion that, while your steady boy friend may go through the motions of breaking up with you if you go to the dance, you'll eventually make up and get back to where you were before the quarrel. So there you are!

There should be a cross-ch sewn at leavers when sewing nylon material to allow for stretch. French seams are recommended, although flat-felled seams, seam stitching can be used.

Readers' Saturday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

First I want to thank you for helping me out from time to time . . . I especially enjoy the news about your family. Our son joined the R.C.A.F. recently and suddenly there is less noise, less work and less cooking and we miss all that and him. . . can you help me out with these puzzles? I bought 14-oz. box ——— Wheat Germ for 50 cents and then a cellophane bag of wheat germ (16 oz.) for 11 cents. Why is there such a difference in price? Just what is raw bulk wheat germ? I saw two bags of flour. One was marked 100 per cent whole wheat flour, the other just enriched flour. Both had in small letters "Bleached and maturing agents added." What are these and why are they added? Can whole wheat flour be used for ordinary baking. Where can one buy millet meal?

May I tell you how I make "Borsch" (beet soup)? I put a nice soup bone with meat on, or a piece of brisket or some soup meat in my pressure cooker with 1-2 teaspoon salt, and cook at 15 lbs. pressure for 20 minutes. In the meantime I prepare, clean and dice 1 or 2 potatoes, 1 carrot, 1 stalk celery, 1 onion, 1 bay leaf or 2 or 3 whole spices or both. When meat has pressure-cooked 20 minutes, I add the vegetables and cook at 15 lbs. pressure for 5 or 10 minutes. Then I remove from fire and cool, before removing the indicator. I open a small can tomatoes which I add, and small can of diced beets. This way the soup becomes a beautiful red in color. Now if I have any bits of vegetables left over in my frig, such as peas, pork and beans, string beans or corn, I add these to the soup too. I take out meat, cut it into small bits and return to soup. Season to taste. When in bowls on table add a heaping tablespoon sour cream and see everyone's eyes pop at the lovely color it makes. Plenty of rye bread, a green salad and a fruit dessert make this a good meal which does not take much time to prepare. . . If the soup is made a day ahead it is twice as delicious.—Mary H.

ANSWER:

A low bow to you Mary and thanks for such a delicious dish made so economically and described in good detail. Let me help you out some time. The wheat germ packages you mention are one and the same thing. Wheat germ deteriorates quickly so buy the 11 cent packages once a week. Regarding your question on wheat flours I now quote from the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture bulletin: "Vitamin B Whole Wheat Flour (Canada Approved) contains not less than 95 per cent by weight of the whole wheat from which it is milled. One pound of dry flour must contain 625 International Units of Vitamin B1."

You must learn to substitute whole wheat flour for white by experimenting. You cannot arbitrarily switch from white to whole wheat because it is not as fine, and baked products are heavier. By enriched what is usually meant is the addition of Vitamin B. By improper use what is usually meant is bleach and stabilizers to prevent spoilage. These are not injurious—however unbleached flour and whole wheat flour are much better. Tell me what whole wheat flour recipes you want and I will give them to you. I have written to you about millet.

QUESTION:

I think your column is simply wonderful and you must be equally so. It is the first thing I look for in the paper (not the coming and going of populations). You seem to eventually reach everyone's needs. In your recipe for wheat germ tea bread was the 1-4 cup flour correct? It seems to me it should have been 1 1-4 cups. Please don't ever stop talking about your Pete, Marianne and now Herbie. Fam-

'PRIVATE MAILING CARDS'

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My cousin has just sent me a birthday present of a supply of "private mailing cards." These are printed on the message side with my address only; that is, street-address, city, zone number, state. Not with my name. At Christmas time she sent me a large box of single-sheet letter-paper and envelopes, and these were printed with my name as well as my address. Now I'm wondering if her printer made a mistake in omitting the name. What do you think about this?

Rosa M.

I am fairly sure that your cousin ordered the cards printed this way private mailing cards are most convenient, it is desirable to keep them a bit more "private" by not having the name printed on them. And usually the address is all that is needed to make them accomplish their convenience.

TREATMENT OF DRY HAIR

When hair growth is excessively dry, it indicates that the sebaceous glands are "on strike." They are not exuding the natural oil which is necessary to keep the scalp in normal condition and to provide lustre for the silky shafts. Specialists believe that this condition may be due to a diet deficiency—not enough fat to balance the amount of protein and carbohydrates consumed. They observe that when a woman starts a reducing campaign, cutting out fats entirely, her hair may undergo a decided change, becoming crisp and harsh.

Feed oil to the dry scalp, however, and it will lap it up. The appearance of the hair will improve and become more manageable.

Mineral oil is a good medium although there are other products available for this purpose.

The longer the oil remains on the hair the better, so this should be an evening treatment. Start with a vigorous brushing, grooming a strand at a time, holding it away from the head, brushing with a rolling motion. Stroke from the crown toward front and sides, from the nape line to the crown.

Part the hair at various places, apply hot oil to the partings This can be done with a small brush, a cotton ball or a medicine dropper. When the oil has been distributed over the entire scalp and the ends of the hair have been lubricated, spread fingers and thumbs over the scalp and massage vigorously.

Start the next-morning shampoo with a hot water rinsing, using a bath spray to remove as much of the oil as possible. If you use a

BELLEVILLE INDUSTRIAL, HOME AND

Estimating Construction Costs

By "Home Builder"

Estimating the cost of a new home and the correct method of obtaining a contract price are problems confronting a prospective home builder that require thoughtful consideration.

Let us suppose you have selected a house plan that with a few alterations would meet your requirements. Then you want a rough idea of the cost of such a house. An approximate estimate will suffice until the final plan is completed at which time an exact price must be obtained.

Let us deal with the method of calculating the approximate price. Most plan books print a cubic foot content for each of the houses they illustrate. It has been found by architects and contractors in the Quinte area that the cost of erecting a house, whether of brick or frame construction, runs about 65 to 70 cents per cubic foot. (Veterans Land Act officials quote a price for their homes of 46 cents per cubic foot).

All you have to do is multiply the cubic content shown on the plan by 75 cents and the resultant figure is a fairly close estimate of the cost of the proposed home.

APPROXIMATE ESTIMATE.

This 75 cent factor includes the cost of excavation, concrete work, lumber, millwork, plaster, electrical wiring, plumbing, heating, painting, rough grading and all the labor that goes into the construction of a house. It must be emphasized that this is an approximate estimate only. However, it is close enough for estimating the cost of different house plans and is definitely much quicker than figuring the cost of the building item for item as is done when obtaining a contract price. The rough estimate should be within $1,000 of the accurate price depending on the size of the home.

The cubic foot figure shown in different plan books assists the prospective house builder in another way. It affords a fairly accurate means of comparing house designs when browsing through a plan book.

FANCY ILLUSTRATIONS.

Don't be fooled by fancy illustrations of homes which sometimes mislead you into thinking the house is larger or smaller than is actually the case.

Another method of making an approximate estimate of your home is by comparing the square footage area with the area of a house of similar size and design already built. Obtain the cost per square foot of this house and use the unit price to ascertain the complete cost of your proposed house. Unless a house built under similar circumstances is used for this comparison your estimate may not be accurate.

When estimating the cost of a home many factors must be taken into account. For example, homes built by day labor will differ in price from those built on a contract basis. Such considerations as soil conditions, labor variations, weather, ready access to economical building materials and countless other items will make your estimate somewhat of a guess until you reach the stage where you can ask a contractor for a fixed price to build your house.

OBTAIN DRAWINGS.

Having finally settled on a definite plan the next step is to obtain a good set of working drawings prepared by an architect.

If your house is a plan book design then send to the publisher for plans. Make sure the plans are well drawn and that any changes are minor. Otherwise have your own architect draw plans to your specifications. When the blueprints are complete you can then call for tenders on your proposed home.

Most people prefer to invite a number of contractors to estimate the cost of the job. In this way the home builder is more certain of a true cost appraisal. A builder estimating the cost of a house can quite easily omit items which will make his price lower than the prices submitted by other who have included all the items in the plans.

For your own safety from legal entanglements, don't accept a price that looks dangerously low in comparison with other prices quoted to you.

DAY LABOR CONSTRUCTION.

Should you prefer to obtain the overall price yourself and let the contract on a day labor basis, you will be required to take your blueprints to the different subcontractors—the plumber, electrician, lumber merchant—for estimates. Using this method you will incur the risk of exceeding your original estimate when the job is finally completed, because different subcontractors are not bound by any mutual agreement and before the house is finished you may be faced with unexpected expenses from increasing material and labor costs.

On the other hand building your house by day labor may save you a contracting charge as well as other amounts the builder may have included in his tender to protect himself against advancing prices of materials and labor.

The risk element from uncertainties in the building trade is quite important and must be assumed by the customer or by the contractor. The contractor is a business man and if only stands to reason that he will take the precautions necessary to protect himself.

BETTER EQUIPPED.

However, the contractor is probably better equipped to judge prevailing conditions than the prospective home builder and if contract with a reliable contractor is a good guarantee of a satisfactory job. Beware, however, of dangerously low prices, unskilled labor and contractors with poor financial background.

Unless you have had considerable experience in the building trade your safest procedure is to deal with those who have that experience. When you are contemplating the construction of a home the wisest course is to employ a reliable contractor and a reputable architect. They have the skill and knowledge to assure you of a satisfactory job.

Denies Loss Heavy

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton Thursday denied that loss by fire of defence property is out of proportion.

Mr. Claxton made the statement in the Commons in reply to questions by Gordon Fraser (PC—Peterborough). Mr. Fraser asked whether new defence buildings will be fireproof in view of recent fires in defence establishments.

Mr. Claxton said "the loss (in defence property) is much lower than is the loss in respect of corresponding civilian properties in Canada."

For Whom Does the Siren Wail? Brother, It May Be You

"Hear that siren wailing? . . . hear that bell clanging? There must be a fire somewhere. But let's not get too excited about it. Fire is bound to break out occasionally."

That's Mr. Typical Canadian speaking. And, because he doesn't hear the fire siren too often, he's inclined to shrug off as "something that can't happen to me." But if the sirens wailed down his street every time a fire broke out anywhere in Canada he'd soon quit shrugging. He'd hear that wail over 52,000 times in 1954 . . . that's over 1,000 times a week . . . more than 140 times a day.

Serious? Sure it's serious. Everytime a fire breaks out anywhere it's a loss to everyone in Canada. Fire burns up millions of dollars' worth of Canada's wealth every year.

The pity of it is, most of those fires are preventable.

Take fires in dwellings, for instance. Dwellings constitute more than one third of all fires, and most of them, according to the Institute, are due to faults originating in domestic heating systems. Fires break out in Canadian homes every day. Here are a few suggestions from the Institute to householders who don't want theirs to be next.

One of the most common causes of domestic fires is the chimney. Where coal is used for fuel, it builds up a layer of soot in the chimney. Sometimes this catches fire, and when it does, up goes a shower of sparks and burning embers that fall on the roof. If the roof is of a material that can burn, a flash fire may result.

So rule number one is; clean the chimney periodically to get rid of that layer of dangerous soot.

Fires often start, too, as a result of cracks in the chimney wall, which allow fire or heat to penetrate to combustible parts of the building next to the chimney. Smoke pipes leading to the chimney can also become fire hazards if they are allowed to corrode and become pitted with holes.

Many fires start because of poor housekeeping. Very often the area around the heating plant becomes cluttered up with all sorts of rubbish . . . waste paper, oily rags, cardboard boxes . . . all of which are potential fire starters.

Of all the hazards that fire fighters have to contend with, perhaps the greatest is that of over-heating. Sometimes the fault is carelessness. Rather than stoke the furnace little and often, there is a temptation to shovel in plenty of fuel and then take a rest.

What happens? First of all the fire itself is smothered. There is no "red spot" left to ignite the gases as they are formed. This in itself can cause fire through a minor explosion of the gases. But even if this is avoided, the fire eventually becomes over-hot, and the heating plant itself and all the pipes leading from it can become hot enough to set fire to surrounding woodwork or other combustible material with which they come into contact.

The same situation can arise where the heating plant is inadequate for the job it has to do. Perhaps the house itself is poorly insulated and requires more than it should to keep it comfortable. Once again, the heating plant becomes overtaxed and the possibility of fire is increased.

Kerosene or gasoline as an aid to lighting a fire is, of course, the fire-bug's greatest friend. These two highly inflammable commodities should be forbidden anywhere near the heating plant and, for that matter, anywhere in the house at all.

Be sure that damper doors, draft doors, chains and pulleys work smoothly. These are the instruments by which you control the fire in your heating plant, and unless they work efficiently, you lose control and overheating can result.

Generally speaking, the best fire preventatives are cleanliness and control. Modern heating systems, which are automatically controlled right from the self-stoking heating plant in the basement to wall thermostat which keeps the home at a constant temperature, make an outbreak of fire almost an impossibility. Add to this reasonable precautions such as keeping the heating plant room clean and tidy, and the system itself under good maintenance, and most of the fear of fire is banished from the modern home.

Cut Gas Price

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Service stations of three major gasoline companies Thursday cut their prices of standard gasoline to 37½ cents a gallon and motor dealers predicted a drawn-out gas-price war.

Sun Oil Company Wednesday dropped its one-grade, premium price two cents to 37½ cents. Thursday most Shell and Texaco stations and some White Rose dealers cut their standard gasoline to the same price.

FARM BUILDING TIPS AND NEWS

Who's Who In The Building Trade

HOUSTON CO. LTD.

Since 1866 the Houston Company has been supplying the Bay of Quinte district with quality building materials.

The firm, founded in Tweed by Robert Findley Houston and E. Van Dusen as a logging operation and saw mill, has grown steadily into a modern, efficient retail outlet for all kinds of building materials.

The business, originally known as Houston and Van Dusen was renamed the R. F. Houston Co. when Van Dusen's interest was purchased by his partner and subsequently was known as R. F. Houston and Son when J. F. Houston entered the firm. In 1910 the name of the firm was changed again to the Houston Co.

Robert Findlay Houston, who founded the firm and acted as its president until he died in 1918, was a carpenter and a building contractor. In the latter capacity he built a great part of Madoc.

J. F. Houston became president of the company in 1918 and served in that capacity until his death in 1936 when Fred K. Houston became president. Fred K. Houston died in 1939 and was succeeded as president by R. E. Houston who serves in the same capacity today.

Other officers of the company are Harry Rollins, treasurer, and Dorland Houston, secretary.

MOVED TO BELLEVILLE.

The firm moved to Belleville in 1927 into the premises on St. Paul St. formerly occupied by the Steel Co. of Canada's plant which was vacated following Stelco's move to Swansea. At that time the firm gave up its contracting business to concentrate exclusively on building materials.

Today, the Houston Co. Ltd., with a staff of 40, operates a complete building materials supply business on its 11 acre property at 75 St. Paul St. It has the only double sash and door plant in this area, a machine shop complete with saws, planers, drill presses, jointers, resaw planers, sanders and a matcher sticker for tongue and grooving, as well as a complete cabinet making shop, a custom frame department, and a new Moore dry kiln capable of quick drying 15,000 feet of lumber at a time, in its 60,000 square feet of enclosed buildings.

The company's motto, "specialists in all types of building materials and will work" accurately describes the company's experience and capabilities. Plumbing and heating supplies are the only lines of building supplies not carried by the company.

VARIETY OF MATERIALS.

Houston's sells cement as well as everything in lumber. The company handles such a varied stock of lumber that it can meet almost any customer's needs, and is in a quantity sufficient to supply contractors engaged in heavy construction.

The sash and door plant, established in 1937, is the only one of its kind in this area. The cabinet shop makes all types of fireplace mantels, kitchen cabinets, and custom built door and window frames for schools and institutions.

In 1953 the company established its Belleh division and from it sells prefabricated houses, summer cottages, horse stables, chicken coops, and any type of building that can be prefabricated.

Retail lines include a complete selection of plaster boards, ceiling tiles, insulations, plywoods, interior and exterior mouldings, bricks, cement, window glass and everything in builders' hardware.

Flue tile for chimneys, sewer tile, asphalt shingles, floor tiles, linoleums, hardwood flooring, all lines of glass, and rough and dressed lumber in any quantity are available at Houstons.

Houstons also carry a complete line of dry kiln hardwoods including oak, maple, ash and basswood in addition to all west coast woods, firs, pine, etc.

All kinds of plaster and cement products including stucco are handled. Roofing felts, roll roofing and shingles are available.

Houstons also has in stock water proofing materials, and a complete line of paints from cement finish to furniture paint.

All kinds of doors, interior and exterior, are carried or can be custom made. Houstons has a large stock of ready-made doors in a variety of styles. This service allows the customer to walk in, select the door he needs, and leave with a guarantee of prompt delivery.

A complete line of Alumatic aluminum storm doors, sash and screening has been added recently to the company's line of goods.

For all builders' supplies from the smallest repair project to the biggest construction job, the Houston Co. Ltd. is equipped to meet your requirements. For experienced, helpful, efficient service in the building materials line, Houstons is the place to do business.

NHA SMALL HOUSE DESIGNS

—Here is a new design by architect S. Lloyd, of Victoria, for a two-bedroom, basementless bungalow which features a spacious living dining room and a combination kitchen and utility room.

The exterior appearance is enhanced by the wide eave overhang which has its practical value in that it shades the large living room window from the sun's rays in summer. Bookshelves are used in front one side of the hallway from the front entrance. The fireplace with its hearth is the center of attraction in the living room and faces the series of full-length windows which ensure a bright and cheerful atmosphere.

Both bedrooms are of ample size and are well separated from the living area of the house. Storage space, an important consideration in a basementless design, has been well provided.

The floor area of this house is 1,187 square feet and the cubic measurement is 16,172 cubic feet. The exterior dimensions are 45 feet, six inches, by 37 feet. Working drawings for this house, known as Design 131, are available at minimum cost from NHA.

Garden Notes

A Long RangePainting Program

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

My city's Park's Board has a LONG RANGE PLANTING long range planting program. This year they have planted many Norway maples, and a block of flowering plum and cherry trees. They plan calls for the planting several hundred trees a year.

In the various parks they plan to make plantings of shrubs and roses. A rash of ball diamonds has caused the clearing of ornamental plantings in several parks. Carpet beds and the replacements for the bulb beds are planned many months ahead.

The home owner should also have a long range planting program. And, we may well copy the parks department in the choice of material. The department has on its staff trained and experienced help. Local nurserymen and commercial plant growers can also advise the board from a wide knowledge of local soil, atmospheric and weather conditions.

All of these factors are important in making a good choice. Certain plants do well in sandy soil, but lag in clay. Dust and smoke of the city will stunt and kill some evergreens while others are not affected. Many vines, perennials and shrubs are killed by low winter temperatures.

In all plants, other than annuals we expect years of satisfaction, and if we choose wisely, and meet their particular requirements with reasonable care we have a right to expect this.

LIMIT CHOICE

Then, too, we must, limit our choice of material to the size of our lot. A Norway maple grows to a height of 50 to 60 feet. This would be too large for a small city lot. One might choose an ornamental tree to add distinction to one's property as well as shade. The choice is wide. European mountain ash, Japanese lilac, Chinese chestnut, cutleaf birch, Western catalpa, or laurel leaf willow have proved satisfactory for the small city lot.

Choose perennials and shrubs with an eye to their future use, not because you have admired it in someone else's garden. They should form part of a planned picture. Fill in the temporary vacancies with annuals until you can complete your permanent plantings. But, do make a long range planting program and work towards its completion.

Many families mark special events by planting a tree, a shrub, or long lasting perennials. Thus, the day and the plant attain special significance, which in turn strengthens the family ties and pride of ownership.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

HOUSE HUNTING

In a very short time our returning migrants will require thousands of dwellings. A few kinds of birds, as Nighthawks and Guillemots, use no actual home; they do not even put down flooring. Others construct their own, the heights (or depths) ranging from a Cuckoo's flat platform to an Oriole's long, hanging pocket. But many prefer prefabricated, ready-built, ready furnishings.

Woodpeckers are their own carpenters. Nevertheless, they have to go house hunting, because they must find a tree suitable to work on. With their strong beaks they chisel out cavities in old trunks. These are used not only for nesting, but often prove handy for sleeping quarters on a night. If they are not on the watch, strangers with no tools for round holes move in for themselves may move in. The home of Downy Woodpeckers has been known to be taken over by saucy little Wrens that toss out the sawdust and fill the cavity with fluffy twigs for beds.

In like manner the hole made by a Flicker is often used by Screech Owls. However, if no such vacant house is available, they make their headquarters in one of nature's holes, but when a dead branch has fallen from an old tree trunk.

HOME JUST RIGHT HOLE

Bluebirds also want cavities in wood, but are usually satisfied with just a knot hole in a fence post. Their house hunting has become more and more tedious of late years, because if Wrens have not seized the small cavities Starlings are almost sure to have. Fence posts are becoming scarce. Old farmyards are favored by both bluebirds and Crested Flycatchers, the holes either natural or carved out by Woodpeckers. Chickadees can excavate a cavity for themselves if the wood is very old; otherwise they also depend on someone else's workmanship.

As civilization encroaches on nature in our great country, man-made homes are more and more in demand. Chimney Swifts, Tree Swallows, and Martins used to nest in tree trunks. Now most of these birds depend on us for housing. The Swifts have been attracted to our brick chimneys, Tree Swallows much prefer little wooden, one-room houses made by us on purpose for them.

House Wrens, Bluebirds, several other song birds, and even some Owls, and Wood Ducks are getting accustomed to houses which we make to definite specifications for each species. Martins need an entire little apartment house, mounted on a pole, where many pairs live on friendly terms summer after summer.

CRAVING FOR SUNDAES

There are still a few rugged old Spartans around who sneer at obstetrics on the grounds that what was good enough for great grandma is good enough for anybody. They are perhaps at least partly responsible for the fact that only 70,000 Canadian mothers who gave births to live babies in 1951, there were 107 who died.

An obstetrician must be a disciplinarian. Ill-informed Spartanism or over-sophistication may tempt expectant mothers or their advisers to shrug off the regimen imposed by obstetricians as pedantic or unnatural "fiddle faddle," or to go into childbirth without any obstetrical consultation whatever. Fortunately this attitude is on the wane. (In advanced countries such as Canada, pre-natal maternal deaths per 100,000 live births is certainly better than the 1949 rate of 143.

Nevertheless it should be pointed out, perhaps rather sternly, that in 1952 Canada ranked only 12th among the nations in its infant mortality, rate, with 38 infant deaths for every 1,000 births. This again may be attributed in part to a certain amount of lackadaisicalness or ignorance regarding the importance of pre-natal care, the Health League technical section on Child and Maternal Health was formed to meet this challenge. Here is a typical question from an expectant mother who has apparently been exposed to some bad advice about obstetrical "fiddle faddle."

Question: "Every time I visit my obstetrician he bawls me out for gaining weight. I'll admit I've been a little lackadaisical about the diet he gave me. I have a weakness for ice cream sundaes. But I can't see what difference it makes. They say the average weight of babies born in well-fed areas of Canada; so why worry about diet?"

Answer: Your obstetrician is perfectly right. Undue gain in weight is often the first indication of a toxic condition of an expectant mother or that dreadful and worry condition known as eclampsia.

FATING EXPERT

When you are paying an expert to take good care of you during the period you certainly should be prepared to take his advice. If you don't it is unfair to him and what is vastly more important unfair to yourself.

Diet has certainly reduced the size of babies. I never see a baby of 1, 12 or 13 pounds any more, and years ago that was not an uncommon occurrence. Those were the days when mothers died during or shortly after childbirth all too frequently.

As for the size of babies born of starving mothers of India, old Mother Nature sternly protects the newcomer into this world to continue the species even at the expense of the parent.

Some of my patients are put on such rigid diets when they gain enormously that they wish they had even the diet of the Indian mothers.

As there any justification for the emphasis on "hot" meals? What does the temperature have to do with the nutritive value of a food? Next week's "Question Box" answers a query on this subject from a puzzled mother. Another quesment of alcoholism.

Shipping Officials, Operating Under Business Slump, Look For Silver Lining in Seaway

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Great Lakes shipping officials, currently operating under a dark cloud of a business slump, look for the silver lining in the St. Lawrence seaway.

The constructor, the carrier, the distributor all see in the distance a prosperous revival of an industry as old as Canada itself.

But until the seaway is actually completed it will be a "marking time" period for an industry forced by shrinking export markets and soaring labor and construction costs.

SEES BUSY TRADE

Capt. Scott Misener, president of Colonial Steamships Ltd., one of the Great Lakes largest carrier companies, foresees a busy trade between the Lakehead and the south shore of the St. Lawrence.

"Three of his carriers, the largest on the lakes, have been built to lower St. Lawrence specifications.

From...Port Arthur and Fort William they will carry grain to the south shore ocean terminals, then cross the gulf to Seven Islands to pick up Labrador iron ore for steel mills in the lakes basin.

His new ship Misener, to be launched at Port Weller around May 30, will be capable of carrying 25,000 tons of grain, or 28,000 tons of iron ore.

"By the time the seaway opens we hope to have ships capable of carrying 27,000 tons" said Capt. Misener. "The ships will be longer (the Scott Misener is 685 feet long) and stronger."

The seaway will bring ocean vessels to the lakes. Canada's new 27-foot depth would accommodate ocean-going vessels up to 10,000 tons carrying capacity. Such vessels goes are smaller than lake boats due to differences in design.

Since the end of the Second World War Great Lakes ports have already experienced the wedge of overseas shipping. This year, 16 foreign lines are operating package freight ships on the lakes—from Norway, France, Britain, Greece, Yugoslavia, The Netherlands and Germany.

Under federal government policy, foreign ships are not allowed to trade on the lakes but may bring in goods from overseas to any Canadian port and return with a foreign port with a Canadian goods.

SPECIALLY BUILT

Most of the foreign ships were built specifically for operation on the high seas and through the lake canal system as well. The SS Vesterfjell of the Fjell Line of Oslo is an example.

A 14-member ship of 2,552 gross tons, her length and beam were cut to fit the present St. Lawrence canals. Her draft is 18 feet six inches but she gets over the present maximum depth of 14 feet in the canals by unloading part of her cargo at the harbor of Quebec City.

Her mast and booms are those of a much larger ship and her bow is sheered sharply to meet the worst north Atlantic storm.

She brings autos, their accessories and other products from Britain to Canada and returns with a similar load to the Canadian flour. She calls at Toronto, Cleveland, Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago. Overseas she plies at Glasgow, London, Antwerp and Rotterdam.

F. Ambler, manager of the Toronto office of the Furness Withy and Co. line of Manchester, England, said the three company ships currently in operation on the lakes "fit the locks like a glove."

"But it is doubtful these ships will be used when the seaway is opened," he said. "My guess is that the big fellows which now run to Montreal will be used."

BIGGER SHIPS

Furness Withy operates 10,000-ton freighters to Montreal. They are 450 feet long and have a 56 foot draft.

Anticipating the seaway, Great Lakes ports are already laying plans, and in some cases, implementing plans for increased shipping.

Charles Ansell, president of the Port Weller Dry Docks Ltd., who doesn't see the seaway in existence for at least another 10 years, said that although the project itself is a major undertaking, nearly all the harbor on the lake will have to be dredged and its facilities improved to handle the deep-sea vessels.

Toronto harbor is planning accommodation for between 30 and 40 ships at one time. Its present capacity is 18. Under construction now is a $1,000,000 transit shed, the largest on the lakes, to be completed by October. Twenty sheds are currently available to handle general cargo.

Additional docking facilities were completed in 1952. Under construction is a new docking area, covering five 1,000-foot docks.

"In any event, when they start to build the seaway we'll be ahead of them," said William Dryde, property manager of the Toronto harbor commission.

Bevan Loses Driving Licence After Accident

BEACONSFIELD, Eng. (Reuters)—Aneurin Bevan, leader of the Labor party's left-wing faction in Parliament, today was fined £20 for dangerous driving. His driving licence was suspended for three months. He had pleaded not guilty.

Prosecution witnesses said that on April 3 Bevan's car, travelling at reserved across a road near here, mounted the sidewalk and collided with a bus coming in the opposite direction. Nobody was hurt.

The car drove on, they testified. The prosecutor said Bevan made a statement in London later, declaring he had had to turn sharply to the right to avoid a head-on collision.

Bevan added: "I admit I should have stopped, but I was anxious to avoid the publicity which is inevitably attendant on such incidents."

SEES EXPANSION

At Hamilton, Canada's third busiest port and site of one of the finest harbors on the lakes, harbor commission manager Stanley Lemon says expansion is the keynote.

Hamilton, which has eight commercial docks, plans two more terminals plus extension to existing facilities. The sum of $1,000,000 has been voted for a new naval terminal.

Last season, Hamilton harbor handled a record 1,000,000 tons, an increase of 1,025,890 over 1952. Its major shipments are coal and iron ore for heavy industry.

The federal government assumed last month that construction will start this summer on a $3,653,000 deepwater harbor at Port Credit, seven miles west of Toronto, to handle the overflow of commercial traffic from Toronto and Hamilton when the seaway is completed.

BROTHERHOOD AWARD

TORONTO (CP) — The 1954 Brotherhood Award of Beth Sholom synagogue goes this year to Joseph S. Atkinson, president of the Atkinson Charitable Foundation. Mr. Atkinson is the fourth person to receive the award, presented annually to the Ontario resident considered to have contributed the most to brotherhood promotion in the province among all classes, races and creeds.

Neptune Bomber Crashes Into Sea, Ten Are Killed

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A navy Neptune bomber crashed into the sea early Friday about 200 yards from shore and the crew of 10 men perished.

Six bodies had been recovered from the water and others were sighted trapped in the submerged wreckage. Diving crews, flown here from Key West, worked throughout the night in an attempt to recover the remaining bodies.

The two-engine plane apparently crashed shortly after taking off from Windsor field, headquarters for anti-submarine exercises being conducted in the Bahamas.

Third Owner, Editor Dismissed 'Without Cause'

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP) — Dorothy G. Taylor, editor of the British Columbian announced Friday she has been dismissed "without notice" from the post she has held for 10 years. She is one-third owner of the family-controlled daily.

She said she was voted out of her post by the two other major shareholders, her sister, Mrs. M.L. Jones, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Goodwin of Spokane, Wash.

Information committee chairman, said Miss Taylor, developed over a news contract she signed with the Canadian Press. She said she had worked for 12 years to gain a CP connection and recently succeeded.

"The business manager and other directors asked me to break the contract and I refused. The directors refused even to discuss the editorial policies of this paper."

SAYS FRICTION

Miss Taylor said she will consider court action.

"There has been friction for some years in the family. I will try to make the directors show cause why I was dismissed."

She said she will seek employment as a feature writer on another newspaper.

Principal shareholders in the Columbian are Miss Taylor, 69 shares; Mrs. Eames, 70 shares; a nephew, R.D. Taylor, Spokane, 22 shares; and Mrs. Goodwin, 22 shares. Four members of the staff, including co-manager R. W. Ballantyne and M. E. Stevenson own three shares each.

No successor as editor has been named.

PLEADED GUILTY

TORONTO (CP) — Julius Rusonik 40-year-old president of two Toronto cleaning and dyeing establishments, Friday pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to remit to the federal government $27,000 in income tax deducted from the pay of his employees. He was remanded to May 20 for sentence and for trial on another two similar charges against him and one against his company.

At Geneva

Chester A. Ronning, 59, Canadian minister to Poland and Ireland, will take over as head of the Canadian delegation to the Geneva conference when External Affairs Minister Pearson leaves. Mr. Ronning, a native of Fanchenq, Hupeh, China, received his ministerial appointment last Dec. 21. (CP from National Film Board.)

Delegates Want More Say In Development

MORRISBURG (CP)—Delegates to the Eastern Ontario Development Conference, representing communities to be affected by the St. Lawrence seaway development, Friday night charged that the Ontario government is making plans without calling in representatives of the communities concerned.

The meeting decided to prepare a brief outlining grievances and suggestions from St. Lawrence river communities between Cornwall, and Iroquois, to be presented later this month to Premier Frost.

About 30 delegates attended the conference which met the day after the United States house approved U.S. participation in the St. Lawrence seaway project.

Albert Yates of the Cornwall and suburban planning board said the Ontario St. Lawrence planning board has no representation "from the conservation group except the people who live down here."

WANT REPRESENTATIVE

"We should have a representative appointed to that board. How do those people in Toronto know what is going on around here?"

William Legault, chairman of the Seaway Committee for Farmers in the Moose Creek area, said he does not like "the unsatisfactory manner in which property is being picked up. The people in our area are unsatisfied with the price being offered for their land."

John Pace, representing Osnabruck township, said the proposed railway and highway routes to be followed in the St. Lawrence development "are definitely known to someone in Toronto and I can see no earthly reason why we haven't had the information."

Writer Refuses To Tell Hearing Source of Story

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Reston of the New York Times has refused to tell the Army-McCarthy hearings committee the source of a story he wrote Feb. 25 about a Pentagon meeting concerning army Secretary Robert Stevens' troubles with Senator McCarthy.

Reston, Washington correspondent for The Times, confirmed that he was asked Wednesday night to discuss his story with Chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) and others connected with the hearing.

The story chronicled Stevens' progress from being "surprised" to "bitter" to "furious" about the outcome of his now-famous Feb. 24 meeting with McCarthy and other Republicans on how the McCarthy investigation sub-committee would treat army witnesses.)

"They wanted to know about the source of my story," Reston said. "I told them under oath it was true to the full extent of my knowledge."

"They asked my source. I refused to tell them.

"They asked whether I would be willing to appear to testify. I said I did not think it proper for a newspaper man to get into the circus. I told them that if they wanted to subpoena me, they could and I would appear."

Reston said in the article who was present in the meeting and what was said." Reston added, "and suggested it would be better to get first-hand answers instead."

Government Not Planning to Step Into Fight

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is hoping to get over the next week the railways' reaction to the Kellock conciliation board's report on their "deadlocked" contract disputes with non-operating employees.

Meanwhile, informants said Friday the government will not plan ning to step into the fight.

The unions representing 145,000 men—Canada's largest labor organizing group—have turned down the recommendations filed by the three members of the board headed by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The union group — essentially the same as that called a crippling rail strike in 1950—indicated it is considering taking a strike vote among members of its national and international bodies across the country.

TO INSPECT CADETS

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Lt. Gen Guy Simonds, army chief of staff, will inspect Ridley College cadet corps at the annual inspection May 19. The annual old boys' week-end will be held May 15-16.

How Fall of Dien Bien Phu Will Affect Geneva Parley Is Proving Difficult to Assay

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP) — Western delegates feel that the effect of the fall of Dien Bien Phu is difficult to assay. Its military significance has tended to be discounted in recent weeks. Psychologically, its impact may be incalculable.

As the conference here enters its Indo-China phase, indications are that a clue as to what effect the fall of the stronghold will have on the attitude of the Communist delegations will not become apparent before Monday.

Today's curtain-raiser was expected to be brief. All procedural matters have been straightened out. The chair will alternate between the British delegation and Soviet delegation chief Molotov.

DELEGATES IMPATIENT

Meanwhile, some Commonwealth delegates are expressing impatience with delay in getting to grips with the realities of Korea. Western delegations are eager to get going on secret sessions which will determine whether there is agreement is possible between the rival sides.

Also, the Palais des Nations, the public debate on Korea droned on Friday, with speeches by delegates from Colombia, The Philippines and New Zealand. This discussion is being held in public largely because the private talks cannot start until Communist officials fought under the United Nations banner agree on the proposals they will put to the Communists.

The stumbling block still is South Korea. The representatives of President Syngman Rhee are understood to be under strict and pecked resistance to some of the Western provisions for a free, unified Korea.

Some Commonwealth delegates are worried that Western difficulties in relation to South Korea were not resolved before the conference began.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, heading the Canadian delegation, took a trip out of Geneva today to visit Lt.-Gen. Maxwell Taylor, U.S. ambassador to Switzerland, at Bern, the Swiss capital. He is expected to return later for him to leave Wednesday for London to attend a meeting on atomic energy of representatives of the Big Four powers and Canada. But Pearson, it is believed, likely will stay in Geneva if he feels his presence at the conference is necessary.

The Canadian diplomat is keeping a running diary of the events at Geneva. He works on it during the evening and speech he has already heard in English.

COSTLY ACCIDENT

DARTFORD, England (CP) — Slides and swings in four playgrounds are to be dismantled following a report by a coroner's jury into the parish council of Stone, Kent, for a boy blinded in a playground fall.

$150,000 PAINT JOB

NEW YORK (AP) — A crew of 50 painters, skilled at climbing, has begun a two-year job of painting the George Washington bridge, one of the world's highest suspension bridges. The estimated cost is $150,000, including $35,000 for 11,000 gallons of paint.

Harry S. Truman 70 on Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman reached his 70th birthday today, chipper as ever and busy with preparations for building a library to house his personal papers.

The former U.S. president was the centre of attraction Friday night at a fund-raising reception sponsored by the District of Columbia committee for the Harry S. Truman Library, Inc.

Hospital for Epileptics

This three-storey stone hospital at St. Hilaire, Que., 20 miles from Montreal, a memorial to Maj. Paul Savoy and other Canadians killed during the raid on Dieppe in 1942, is said to be the only hospital in North America specially designed and with occupational therapy aimed at solely for the care of epileptics. Maj. Savoy was second in command of the Montreal Fusiliers in the Dieppe attack. Dieppe House was build largely through the efforts of the late George A. Savoy, Paul's father, who intended it as a memorial to the Dieppe dead. The hospital at present is caring for 23 patients and has opened a drive for funds to build a new wing to take care of a long waiting list. Dieppe House, Near Montreal, Devoted to Cure of Epileptics

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. HILAIRE, Que. (CP)—Death of Maj. Paul Savoy during the wartime Canadian raid on Dieppe was the beginning of an unusual episode in the memory of those who die that others may live.

In this case, a fatal burst from a German machine-gun Aug. 19, 1942, was to result in a new lease on life for many victims of epilepsy. A three-storey stone hospital, a memorial to Maj. Savoy, second-in-command of Les Fusiliers Montreal, and all Canadians lost at Dieppe, was erected here, 20 miles from Montreal.

The sponsors say it is the only hospital in North America specially designed and with occupational therapy aimed solely for the care of epileptics. They say it may be the only one of its type in the world.

EXPANSION PROGRAM

Built largely through the efforts of the late George A. Savoy, Paul's father, the hospital has opened a drive for $75,000 to build a new wing. Currently caring for 23 patients, it has a long waiting list.

Compassion and guidance for the victims of an ailment cloaked since ancient times in superstition is the credo of the non-denominational institution.

Learning that no haven existed for epileptics, Mr. Savoy, a manufacturer, began a drive for funds among his business friends and the hospital, Dieppe House, was opened in 1946.

Mr. Savoy's three sons, Haroldc, president of Dieppe House, John and Drew are assisted by a group of Montreal business men in carrying out the wishes of their father, who died two years ago.

Maj. Guy Bonhomme, hospital superintendent, said the institution is self-supporting with the aid of normal grants from the federal and provincial governments and private subscriptions.

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS

Ramps take the place of stairways and there are no inside doors. These are safety precautions to protect patients from injury during epileptic attacks.

A native of Cartierville, Que., Victor first came to Dieppe House in 1948, left for a brief period and then returned because "I was lonesome for the place."

"My attacks began when I was three years old," he said. "Each lasted about 10 minutes, and they came about once a month. But now I haven't had any for three months."

Victor now is office assistant to Dr. Bonhomme, and like the other patients earns an incentive wage, ranging up to $40 a month. Last year, the hospital paid $10,000 to patients, few of whom can afford to pay for their treatment.

"I hope publicity regarding Dieppe House will help to cure what I can only call superstition that has lingered since ancient times," said Maj. Bonhomme.

"These people are better described as handicapped, rather than sick. Yet industry doesn't want to hire an epileptic—ignoring that perhaps all other employees lose more than average of five millinies a month through illness of various kinds."

LEARN TRADES

The Dieppe patients learn leather working, shoemaking and repairing, weaving, carpentering and painting. The hospital has 170 acres of grounds, including an orchard, worked by the patients. A "gift house"—to sell the handicrafts—and a greenhouse has been erected. The patients make everything from babies' bibs to model squareriggers. They share in the profits of the sale.

"Our accountants long most to be needed and useful, not outcasts from human society," Maj. Bonhomme said. Thus, there are three patients in each room—if one has an attack, the other two will help protect the afflicted from injury, and the like."

"In all, we've treated 280 men, and the proportion of repeaters is only about five per cent."

No "definite" cure for epilepsy is known, but control of the seizures is possible. By far the majority of epileptics in Quebec province, estimated at 16,000, are working in a normal manner, Maj. Bonhomme said.

Dieppe House now is an all-male hospital, but Maj. Bonhomme said "we have by no means given up the dream of George Savoy for a separate building for women.

County Council Called to Hear Report on Home

OWEN SOUND (CP) — A special one-day session of Grey county council opened Friday to hear a report on the affairs at the Grey county home at Markdale.

The report will be made by the Grey county home board of management, which suspended the manager and matron, Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Gould, following a special meeting in Owen Sound April 27. The suspensions followed charges by girls on the staff of the home that there had been drinking and "wild parties" and other irregularities there.

At the April meeting, the board of management also forwarded a request to Ontario Welfare Minister Goodfellow to have his department conduct a full investigation. However, the minister refused to grant the request, expressing confidence that the Grey county council and the Owen Sound city council "are capable of dealing with these problems to the satisfaction of all."

MINTO, N. B. (CP) — Police posses poked through surrounding woods today for a rifle-toting murder suspect whose will-o'-the-wisp movements kept jittery citizens in their homes Thursday night behind locked doors and rug-draped windows.

RCMP patrols reinforced by units recruited from other districts in central New Brunswick roamed the highways and the streets of this coal-mining town in search of Floyd Edgar Brown, 35, whom they described as "armed and dangerous."

They said Brown is wanted in connection with the slaying of Earl Thompson, 54, and the serious wounding of Rene Patrie, 50.

Thompson was shot and killed in his isolated cabin. District residents told police Thursday they saw Brown in the neighborhood and a quantity of canned goods and blankets later was discovered to have been taken from a dilapidated shack near Thompson's cabin.

SHOT THROUGH NECK

Both attacks occurred Wednesday evening.

A man was known to have sped away from the Patrie farm in a stolen truck and the vehicle was found later abandoned in a ditch. Police said two unexplained bullet holes in the windshield came from a weapon fired from inside the cab.

Two More Quakes Hit Greek Towns

ATHENS (AP) — Two strong earth tremors rocked quake-stricken central Greece early Tuesday.

Lamia and Domokos were reported badly hit.

The tremors were less violent in other parts of the disaster area, in which 28 people were reported killed and thousands made homeless last week.

WINDS CARRY FREEDOM'S MESSAGE

Workers near Munich, Germany, are shown releasing high-altitude balloons to be taken by the prevailing winds over the Iron Curtain. The balloons are filled with leaflets in the Czech and Slovak languages, symbolizing the 16 demands of the Czechoslovak people's opposition. This is part of the work of the Crusade for Freedom and is co-ordinated with Radio Free Europe's broadcasts beamed behind the Iron Curtain. The fence surrounds radio free Europe's new 50,000-watt medium-wave transmitter. (Central Press Canadian).

Senators Suggest Way to Add Value To Citizenship

OTTAWA (CP) — Two senators Thursday suggested different methods to enhance the value of Canadian citizenship in the eyes of new citizens.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the upper chamber, said that one way would be for the government to encourage more than it now does the practice of holding a formal ceremony at which citizenship papers are given.

Solicitor - General Macdonald, government leader, said he will bring this to the attention of Citizenship Minister Harris.

The second suggestion came from Senator Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia) who said that Canada mustn't go too far and issue citizenship certificates too lightly. It didn't add to the pride of the new citizen to make it too easy to obtain citizenship.

The ideas were advanced during Senate debate on a government measure which Senator Macdonald said drops the requirement that police must be given at least one year in advance by persons planning to take out citizenship papers.

The measure was given second reading—approval in principle. It still must receive third reading before being sent to the Commons for study.

Husky Montreal Athlete to Coach Wrestling Team

MONTREAL (CP) — A husky Montreal athlete who once taught Commonwealth soldiers the art of unarmed killing will coach Canada's eight-man wrestling team in the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer.

Alan Turnbull was an instructor in unarmed combat at Aldershot, England, while he served with the Black Watch Regiment during the Second World War.

At war's end, Turnbull returned to Montreal and for five years taught milder techniques to the McGill University wrestling squad. He now is serving his third year as chairman and supervisor of the Province of Quebec Wrestling Association.

Fair-haired and blue-eyed, Turnbull is five feet nine inches tall and weighs 180 pounds. He remembers the days—more than 15 years ago—when he wrestled in the 135-pound class.

He never did win an important wrestling championship. In 1938, however, he and three other wrestlers got together to win the Dominion junior four-man paddling championships at Kingston, Ont. Paddling, skiing, lacrosse and football are the sports Turnbull loves best—next to wrestling.

"We have the advantage of home ground, and some countries may not be able to afford to send complete teams," he said.

Turnbull also believes Quebec wrestlers will gain probably four of the eight positions on the team.

"We'll get tough competition from Ontario, but there are a lot of good wrestlers in this province. But you can never tell until the games, when there are a lot of surprises here May 28-29."

Turnbull began his wrestling career with the YMCA and coached teams in several branches after giving up active participation.

(AP) — A float carrying two workmen armed with picks and shovels and a sign, "Ogdensburg, N.Y., is ready to start the seaway," Friday night set the theme for a parade celebrating congressional approval of the St. Lawrence seaway. Six bands were among the estimated 400 foot marchers.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Much as it might hurt the donors, the American League had better transfer a few big league baseball players to Baltimore Orioles. If it does not, the situation might become tragic within another month or two.

The city, delirious at getting back into the big show after 50 years, has more than done its part. The Orioles, themselves, cooperated nobly by playing far over their heads on the exhibition circuit. Now, though, the awful truth becomes daily more apparent, and only drastic—and unprecedented—action on the part of the owners of seven other clubs can save the day.

Unless help is forthcoming in the form of a half-dozen or more men who can hit big league pitching at a reasonable rate, Jimmy Dykes' club is going to sink out of sight.

The full extent of the Orioles' plight was not so apparent at the start because its young pitchers were performing so brilliantly. The five victories the former St. Louis Browns had won as of this writing were by scores of 3-2, 3-1, 3-1, 4-1 and 2-1.

OWNERS' BOOTS PICKED?

By now, though, after the sensational young fastballer, Bob Turley has dropped his second straight two-hitter, it must have become apparent to Baltimore fans that the new club owners have had their pockets picked.

It is more than apparent to Dykes. In bemoaning the fact that his athletes scored only 32 runs in their first 16 games, the little pilot could only groan, "It's brutal!" He insisted, however, that they are not the "old Browns" because everybody is at least trying.

Some local critics, on the other hand, were convinced after getting their first look at the current collection of misfits that Dykes does not have quite as good a club as the one which curled up and died on manager Marty Marion last season. They claim that even the desperation trades made during the winner and spring have back-fired.

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP)—Hank Farintosh of the Toronto Balmy Beach Canoe Club has been elected commodore of the Canadian Canoe Association.

Gordon Jermyn of Gananoque was named to the committee of the North Agerican regatta championships which will be held in Washington Sept. 5.

The CCA championships will be held at Mooney's Bay, Ottawa, Aug. 6 and 7.

A move to improve Canada's Olympic chances was made in having all senior races at 1,000 metres and straightaway instead of one-half mile with a turn. This will become effective next season.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"Nothing to it, boys", quoth smiling Ed Patrick, "it is not the fact we are so good, perhaps you guys may be slipping."

The genial Bridge Street tonsorial artist had his tongue-in-cheek as he quipped that salty Thursday night when he received the handsome Carling-McNab Trophy, emblematic of supremacy in the Mens' Commercial Bowling League.

The popular Ed., like the rest of us, was gorged with chicken, thanks to the fine ladies of the Moose Lodge here. The occasion was the annual banquet of the league and it was, without doubt the standout of the current "Knife and Fork" League.

President "Sugar Cain"—Oops Martin was tossed back into office as were his executive confreres, Dave Batchelor and secretary Lionel Blaker.

Pat's Clippers captured the League title for the second year in succession under captain Ed Patrick. Other members of the team are Russ Jones, Gar Anderson, Mc. Callaghen, Hank Regan, Jim Barriage and Lionel Blaker.

Clapp Motors were runners-up in league competition and then went on to become the winners in the "A" Playoffs. Y. Sagriff is the captain with Art Atkin, A. Whalen, Ron Saylor, L. LaBelle, C. Sagriff and B. Trumpour forming the team.

Winners of the "B" playoffs were The Boskaks with captain C. Boskak, W. Finch, J. Valcher, G. Bell, J. Melnychuck, W. Webber, S. Royle and F. Clark.

Individual prizes went to A. Atkin with high average of 237, A. Whalen took high three string with 843 and also high single with 406.

Fresy Martin presented the top trophy to Ed Patrick after outlining the successful activities of the league season. He hoped all the teams would be back next fall ready for an even higher and better session of the sport.

Tangible tributes were paid to the press and radio and the league presented the members of the three winning teams with handsome alligator skin wallets. Gifts also went to the secretary and treasurer and to special guest John Bennett, president of the Major "A" Bowling League. A surprise gift was given President Martin by secretary Blaker for being "the best president I ever worked under."

It was a grand party with the league adjourning to the Bowl-O-Drome Alleys where the rest of the evening was spent in "free bowling."

The Belleville Baseball Association is sponsoring a colorful program which will be produced by Jerry O'Toole. All proceeds of the program will go to further minor baseball. It will probably be available sometime early in June and will be distributed at all home games of the Batas team. Those wishing to send donations or other contributions should get in touch with secretary Drury Denyes at the city hall.

The weather called a halt today to all slated practices. The Batas will work out every night next week, weather permitting, in preparation for the lid-lifting game in Peterborough on May 24th. The Batas open here on May 29 against Toronto Hoskings.

TRAILERMEN MAY QUIT.

Oops, what's this. A story out of Toronto hints that the Peterborough Trallermen, Dominion lacrosse champions for the past two years may drop out of the sport this season. The story goes the Trallermen have been given to this week-end to make up their minds about operating. Seems the Trailies refuse to release two star players, Ross Fowler, and Roger Smith, who have lifted their teepees and settled their wigwams down St. Catharines way. Both Indian players scintillated for the Trallermen last year. Meanwhile the OLA brain trust has ruled they are now the property of St. Kitts and the naughty Petes must hand them over—or else.

Jack Guest Member Of Penn Crew

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Canadian with a malformation of the lower spine a 113-pound Massachusetts lad who still wears a brace as a reminder of polio, and a New Jersey husky who had to give up a brilliant basketball future because of a weak left eye—all are members of the unbeaten Penn crew which hopes to end one of sports' longest streaks today.

Coach Joe Burk's Penn oarsmen meet undefeated Harvard and Navy's veteran all-winning eight in the Adams Cup regatta on the Schuylkill river. Navy, with six members of its 1952 Olympic champions in the boat, has won 23 straight races.

Penn—winner of the Childs and Blackwell Cups—has the surprise crew of eastern rowing this spring with such kids as Jack Guest, Jr., of Toronto, Bernie Tarasdash and Bruce Crocco.

Guest is the former Canadian and U.S. singles bowling champion whose promising career was almost cut short by a spinal condition. He was operated on for a malformation of the spine and was incapacitated for some time.

Tarasdash, 22-year-old Fall River, Mass., student, is the one-time polio victim whose back brace doesn't hinder him from being an accomplished coxswain. Crocco, six-foot-four No; 7 man from Ridgewood, N.J., was one of the most promising basketball players in his state, but a weak left eye deprived him of his best shot.

Victory Dumps Birds in Cellar As White Poles 3-Run Homer; Brooks, Chisox, Yankees Win

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston Red Sox could feel a little easier today about picking up their pay. They knew they were back working for a living.

When the Bostonians outlasted Washington 7-6 Friday night it marked their first victory in two weeks and their first official action of any kind since a week ago today. Bad weather has caused eight postponements in Boston so far.

The victory lifted the Red Sox out of the American League cellar over Baltimore into seventh place. Sammy White's three-run homer in the third inning helped Boston into a 7-0 lead and the Senators just failed to catch up.

Cincinnati took over first place from Philadelphia in the National League. The Redlegs swamped St. Louis 10-4 while the Phils were bowing to Brooklyn 3-1, Chicago beat Milwaukee 2-0, the New York Giants were rained out at Pittsburgh.

YANKS WIN

In the only other American League action the New York Yankees won their second straight shutout, 3-0 over the Tribe as they beat Philadelphia 2-0 on successive home runs in the seventh by Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra. The shutout was Morgan's second, both over the Athletics.

A three-run home run by Hobie Landrith capped a seven-run spree for the Reds against Gerry Staley in the second inning at Cincinnati. In the seventh Ray Lamanno and Johnny Temple worked a double steal with Temple swiping home for the third time this season.

Don Newcombe called a halt to the Phillies' six-game winning streak. The Dodger righthander struck out Bobby Morgan with two out and two on in the sixth and Johnny Lindell, batting for Morgan, with-two out and again two on in the eighth.

Warren Hacker turned in the Chicago shutout in his first start for his assignment of the season. He allowed five hits including three doubles. The Cubs scored their three runs in the second off Bob Buhl in the first six innings.

Royals Defeat Red Wings 4-2; Leafs, Ottawa Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Starting the season off slowly is nothing new to the Montreal Royals. They were still 2½ games out of first place in the International League today but not losing sight of the leaders.

Montreal, which has won seven pennants, six Governors' Cups and three junior world series, won its second straight game Friday night defeating the Rochester Red Wings 4-2.

In the only other game, the Ottawa Athletics and Toronto Maple Leafs played to an 8-8 tie in a contest called after nine innings to allow both teams to catch trains.

Southpaw Ken Lehman scattered Rochester's nine hits, allowing the Red Wings to score one run in the second inning and one in the eighth on Bill Virdon's first home run.

Teeps Oust Que. Frontenacs, Meet Edmonton Kings Sunday In Junior A Titular Series

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The east and west meet in a mixed atmosphere of gloom and optimism here Sunday in the opener of the Memorial Cup hockey final.

We're looking forward to a good series, but we're a wully tired," coach Rudy Pilous of St. Catharines TeePees, the eastern titlists, said after a 3-2 win over Quebec Friday night.

And coach Ken McAuley of the western champion Edmonton Oil Kings, with an undertone of optimism, put it this way: "They're going to be tough to beat."

TeePees prepared leg-weary from a 91-game season so far when Canadian junior hockey champions Teepees from the best-of-seven eastern final 4-3 in games. It was the first time in 23 years that St. Catharines got past the Ontario Hockey Association circuit.

Oil Kings chalked up a phenomenal record this season. They eliminated the Flin Flon Bombers 4-0 in the best-of-seven Western Canada semi-final before knocking Fort William Canadiens. Then they took the Canadiens 4-1 in the best-of-seven Western final to advance into the big series.

Fort William's only victory, a 2-1 decision in the second game of the series, broke a 25-game Edmonton winning streak.

TOUGHER TIME IN EAST

TeePees had a much tougher time in the east.

Their Ontario Hockey Association semi-final, originally scheduled for seven games, was forced to eight contests before St. Catharines, edged out Toronto St. Michael's College 5-4 in the Toronto Maribores carried the Teepees to seven games in the OHA final.

McAuley said almost the entire Oil King team, which has been idle almost three weeks, were among 6,569 persons who sat in on last night's set-to, a ragged game at times as the two tired eastern finalists battled tooth-and-nail.

An early third-period goal by 20-year-old Hughie Barlow gave TeePees the necessary margin over Frontenacs, who came from behind to tie the series 2-2 only to fade in the end. St. Catharines won the fifth game 3-1 on Saturday.

Barlow's goal, on a pretty passing play with the Cullen brothers, Barry and Brian, took the steam from Quebec's determined effort and TeePees played it close, obviously trying to conserve their energy, for the 10 minutes.

Barlow added the fourth TeePee goal with 6:46 remaining in the period coach Phil Watson pulled his netminder in favor of a sixth forward.

Brian Cullen, now the property of Toronto Maple Leafs, and Pete Noval scored the other St. Catharines goals and Butch Bouchard and Gilles Thibault lit for Quebec. The clubs were even 1-1 after the first period and wound up 2-2 after the second.

MARCOTTE BEATEN

At 8:36 of the third, Barry Cullen passed from the corner to Barlow in front of the net, and goalie Jacques Marcotte was beaten before he had time to move.

Pilous, who hasn't seen Oil Kings in action, made no predictions for the Memorial Cup final. "It would be silly for me to make predictions when I haven't even seen them play," he said. "But we're ready for the series of that, he reports no serious injury.

Beneath McAuley's "they're tough" statement, a slight note of optimism was apparent. He admitted his club is well-rested and outside of two, Billy McNeill and Eddie Diachuk, who have the flu, his players are A-1 physically. The Kings themselves, with 35 wins and only four losses in league and playoff games this year, were noncommittal.

Champions Must Fight—or Else

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The World Committee for Professional Hockey Established a list of challenges for world boxing titles and ordered the champions to meet one of the three authorized contenders in each title within six months.

Robert Christerkery, chairman of the New York athletic commission, was elected first president of the committee. The presidency will rotate annually.

The committee, which was set up a year ago but has seen little action since, has promised to become a continuing organization and to revise its list of challengers every two months. Another meeting of the committee was scheduled for late November in London.

DOESN'T RETURN.

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec zoological gardens officials reported Friday that a one-legged seagull which has come every spring for the last 12 years has failed to show up this year and may have died of old age during the winter.

LONDON (AP) — Sports fans throughout Britain gathered around television and radio Friday night as the BBC gave the top spot in its evening program to a special film of Roger Bannister's mile of the century.

Bannister himself was in the studio, sky and smiling, as commentators lauded his explosive 3:59.4 mile effort at Oxford Thursday as the biggest shot in the arm for British trackmen in years.

Among the congratulations the lanky miler received was a cable from Joe Angeles inviting him to compete in a "miracle mile" race here May 22.

It is unlikely the young medical student will accept since he is known to feel his studies and future career come first.

"I don't think I shall run against the watch again this year," he said.

For the last seven weeks he punished himself unmercifully with a set program of workouts on a dusty little track near the hospital in the moments he could snatch off from his studies.

Thursday's result was complete vindication for Bannister's method, which had come under the fire of many experts, of training individually without a cluster of coaches and trainers.

Eskys Release Tackle Snyder

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos have released tackle Wilbur Snyder, convert and kickoff specialist with the Western International football circuit champions for two seasons, and have rushed into the Oklahoma Sooner backfield for a replacement.

Wilbur wants to wrestle, club officials said Friday. He informed club manager Al Anderson that he is reluctant to decided to turn to full-time professional wrestling.

The replacement is Roger Nelson, 225-pound tackle who was co-captain of the 1953 Sooner squad that topped unbeaten, untied Maryland 7-0 in the Orange Bowl game.

Quebec Aces To Retain Winning Combo

CALGARY (CP)—Coach Gerry Brown of Quebec Aces wants to "keep a winning combination intact."

Brown made the statement Friday night a few hours before Aces were signed for Edmonton Friday night's third game of their best-of-seven series against Edmonton Stampeders for the Edinburgh Trophy.

Brown's remark was taken to mean he does'nt intend say changes in the line-up that gave the Aces a 2-1 victory over the Stampeders here Thursday night and tied the series at a game apiece. Calgary won the opener by a shattering 5-1 count.

It would mean going with Lorne Nadeau, former Seattle player, who replaced forward Roy Kelly in Thursday's game. Kelly missed the game due to a virus infection.

"I figured we'd do much better in the second game," he said. "That first game was more or less a result of the long train ride and strange climate. I'm sure we're going to give the Stampeders a good battle from now on."

Meanwhile, Stampeder coach Frank Currie is hoping that centre Pat Landry will be able to be in line-up for tonight's game. Lundy's status is still undecided but he will travel to Edmonton and could possibly return to action. It was reported Lundy is recovered from the heel injury that sidelined him.

Batting—Hobie Landrith, Cincinnati Redlegs, drove in three runs with a home run, his second hit and his second homer of the season, as the Reds beat St. Louis 10-3 and moved into first place in the National League.

Pitching—Warren Hacker, Chicago Cubs, shut out Milwaukee 3-0 on five hits in his first start of the year.

Weightlifters Meet Tonight In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Three strong men who hope to represent Canada in the weightlifting competition at the British Empire Games meet here tonight in the eastern zone trials and at Vancouver in the western zone.

Results of both trials will be studied and announcement of the seven-man team made in about a week.

Lionel St. Jean, who will coach the weightlifters at the forthcoming games in Vancouver, said the best prospects are in the east.

"From what I hear the west has few candidates apart from Doug Hepburn," he said. "In the last two Olympics and the 1950 Empire games 90 per cent of Canada's competitors were from the east."

St. Jean said two of the best prospects in the east are Dave Bailey of Ormsby, Que., and Gerald Gration of Verdun, Que. Gration, now a lieutenant-colonel, won the middleweight title at the 1950 Empire games in New Zealand and was second in the 1952 Olympics. Bailey was fifth in the heavyweight class in the last Olympics.

LIGHTER PROSPECTS

St. Jean said there are also good prospects among the lighter classes, such as Fred Lowe of Verdun, Leopold Arsenault of Baie Comeau, Que., and Gilles Sylvain of Quebec.

Team manager Charlie Walker said he wouldn't be surprised if the only westerner on the team would be Doug Hepburn, who won the world-heavyweight weightlifting championship at Stockholm Aug. 30. He lifted a total of 1,030¼ pounds.

Hepburn had voided the outstanding male athlete of 1953 in Canada in the annual Canadian Press poll of sports editors and sportscasters. He also won the Lou Marsh Trophy as Canada's outstanding athlete last year, being selected by the unanimous choice of the five-man board of judges.

Major League Ball for West Nailed as Rumor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Another in the oft-recurring series of rumors that major league baseball is coming to the Pacific coast next year has been nailed as nothing but rumor.

The Los Angeles newspaper said Friday that Bill Veeck, Chicago White Sox owner P. K. Wrigley's agent here, was working on a deal to have the Philadelphia Athletics moved to Los Angeles in 1955.

Veeck said: "There's not a thing to it at least as far as I know. I haven't talked to anyone connected with the A's for six months."

A spokesman for Roy Mack, executive vice president of the A's, said in Philadelphia there is "absolutely no positive relation to the report."

But baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said he has sent a bulletin to all major league club owners and general managers calling on them to stop loose talk about moving franchises.

"I told them that any comment of that type was detrimental to the major league involved and harmful to the game," said Frick. Frick didn't mention names, but Art Ehlers, Baltimore general manager, recently was quoted as saying a deal for Edmonton or transfer of the Braves and Orioles would result in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston, Toronto, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Montreal and Atlanta getting in on chances to prove they can support major league baseball.

Teeps, Kings Open Finals On Sunday

TORONTO (CP)—St. Catharines TeePees, who won the eastern Canada Junior hockey championship by defeating Quebec Frontenacs 4-2 here Friday, open the Memorial Cup finals against Edmonton Oil Kings here Sunday.

All games of the best-of-seven final will be played in Toronto. Other dates are May 11, 13, 15, 18, 20 and 23.

Bonefishing In The Florida Keys

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Selmar Tables)

There are certain folks, notably the Outboard Boating Club of America (of which I am happy to be an honorary member) and the Department of Biology at the University of Michigan, who are not going to like the following paragraphs. For that I am sorry, but it is my job to report things as I see them and not as I would like to have them.

Every year since 1948 I have been going to the Florida Keys for my annual vacation. This is a trip which combines business and pleasure. While it is distinctly pleasant for me to sit in my car in the shade of a palm tree, unfortunately I can't take much time out for such relaxation.

Instead, a great deal of my time is spent in bonefish-skiffs, cruising the flats on the Atlantic side of Key Largo and adjoining Keys or out on the banks west of Florida and Matacumbe Bays. Much of my time is spent in actual fishing down my findings on paper for future reference. I say, I like to fish as a matter of fact, I like to but I simply haven't the time to do it.

FROM GOOD TO BAD

Bonefishing, I'm sorry to say, seems to be going from good to bad to worse because of the "outside flats" to the east of Key Largo and because of finding schools of tailing and cruising bonefish in sufficient quantity to keep him pleasantly occupied about as long as he chose to stay there. Woe so today.

By the same token, Holly Holiendale and I would leave the dock at Little Rock Camp and pole the skiff to tailing bonefish within a stone's throw from the shore. For hours we would cruise down Cross Bank, casting to feeding or cruising fish as we went. Now Cross Bank rarely holds enough bonefish to warrant fishing it.

Bonefish, contrary to general opinion, do not live in the shallow waters of the sand flats. Instead, they live in the deeper water nearby and they come on the flats only to find their food. Once spooked, they are more shy even than brook trout, and the least disturbance will send them flying for the safety of deeper water.

Public interest in bonefishing has grown by leaps and bounds since 1948. Prior to that time, few anglers had so much as heard the name, much less fished for them. Today the Keys are overrun with bonefishermen.

MOTORS ALARM BONEFISH

This means, of course, that there is a great deal of boat traffic where once the waters were comparatively undisturbed. Contrary to the theory of the University of Michigan, outboard motors do alarm bonefish. After they have been alarmed often enough, they simply move on to other waters.

Another thing that is changing the bonefish picture greatly here-abouts is the activity on the part of the real-estate developers in making "bonefish colonies." All many bonefish flats have been ruined by dredges and power shovels. Even bulldozer activity on shore will clean nearly flats of bonefish for half a mile in either direction, I have actually had that happen. The net result or this combined disturbance is that good bonefishing is growing increasingly difficult to find.

It does not seem possible that bonefish are caught in sufficient quantity to deplete the supply seriously. Unless the fish is a record fish, most of them are returned to the water anyway as they are not very good to eat. No, there are just about as many bonefish here as there were seven years ago; however, finding them grows more difficult as the years pass.

ANGLING IS IMPROVED

Conversely, angling methods have improved greatly in the past seven years. In 1948 bonefish flies were crude affairs and it is a wonder that we could take bonefish with them at all. Now the boys are learning to tie flies that actually have bonefish appeal to bonefish in the short expendable lures than those earlier ones.

Moreover, the little spinning lures are killers for bonefish. Given a sandy bottom and a feeding school, a spin-fisherman can reap a royal harvest. I know a man and his wife who live in Nassau who actually took 36 bonefish from a large school in less than two hours, using spinning rigs and small, weighted lures. Such a thing was unheard of in 1948.

Most of the flats around the Florida Keys are covered with with a mat of short grass, particularly those on the Gulf side. On these, of course, the weighted spinning lures are almost useless and it is here that the fly rod comes into its own. The new shrimp-type flies really are effective.

NECESSARY EVIL

Of course, outboard motors are a necessary evil. Without them most of the good bonefish flats could not be reached in a day's journey. What the eventual solution to this paradoxical problem of motor disturbance will be, I'm sure I don't know.

The probabilities are that bone-fishing eventually will reach such a state that folks won't bother with them anymore. Then things may quiet down and the fish may return to their old feeding grounds. Until then, I suppose, the gile-hards like myself will have to get along as best they can.

GUNMAN TAKES $21,000.

DETROIT (CP)—Four gunmen robbed a branch of the American Savings and Loan association of $21,000 Friday and escaped on foot. The men herded seven employees and three customers into a back room and ransacked five money cages, two utility boxes and a vault.

REFUSE REQUEST

KITCHENER (CP) — A city council committee has told union representatives of civic workers their request for a 10-cent-an-hour wage increase is not warranted this year in view of the unemployment situation and short hours in the city. The present basic wage is $1.30 an hour.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Even a sloppy pair may win a bridge title. Those who play in several tournaments a week pick up a cup or rating points now and then. High rated masters have played in thousands of matches.

The wins of the touted masters can certainly not be attributed to their accuracy in bidding. You realize this when you examine the hands they played in their important contests.

This does not mean that their all-around comparative ability is doubted. But it is certainly evident that they could be better if they improved their bidding basics.

Deal number six in the national masters pairs is shown here:

	NORTH
	♠ K 10 7 4
	♥ 7 3
	♦ 9 6 2
	♣ 8 5
WEST		EAST
♠ A 6 5		♠ Q J
♥ 10 8 5		♥ K Q 4
♦ A 10 7		♦ K 5 4 3
♣ K Q J		♣ A 9 6 3
	SOUTH
	♠ Q 10 2
	♥ 9 6 4 2
	♣ 10 7 4

Strong as the east and west hands look, there are several holes in the combine. With a king and two queens missing, slam in no-trump is not sound bidding. Yet, 32 of the tables were in six no-trump.

When the same deal is in the same contract by two thirds of the tables it would seem the majority was right. But they had to have the mistakes of opponents to help them score the contract.

North and south should have taken two tricks; one in spades and one in diamonds. But five pairs let declarer take all 13 tricks; and 15 permitted declarers to take the 12 tricks needed.

Only three of those in six no-trump went down one trick. Two were in five no-trump and made it. Eight were in three no-trump and made five or six or seven. One stopped at one no-trump. Two bid and made six hearts.

Such players are justified in taking a gamble on the basis of their ability at play. Also because of their skill in taking advantage of any loophole left open by their opponents.

But the point is that the bidding of most was inaccurate. Because these were not sure from their own bidding how safe or dangerous was their final contract. Some took a shot in the dark.

McCARTHY

Fifty years of acting have gone into making Percy Kilbride the screen's Number One rustic. Currently co-starring with Marjorie Main in Universal-International's newest Kettle-comedy, "Ma and Pa Kettle at Home", closing tonight at the McCarthy Theatre, Kilbride has a nasal twang that has led many to assume that the actor comes from upper New England. Actually, Percy was born in San Francisco and grew up on the road with touring theatrical companies.

"I've always had a nasal twang," he says, "Now it turns out to be an asset. Maybe I acquired the twang while playing stock in such New England spots as Augusta, Rumford Falls and Skowhegan, Maine. I think people pick up the dialects of places where they stop for a while.

"I guess I typed myself as a rustic. In 1928 I was cast as a dim-witted peasant in a play called "Those We Love," and since then I've been kept pretty much in that kind of role."

It was as the caretaker in "George Washington Slept Here", the Kaufman-Hart comedy of 1940, that Kilbride crashed through as a big stage star. Two years later he was taken to Hollywood to repeat his performance in the screen version of that play. He has remained there ever since.

BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN

"THE CLOWN"

Once a great Ziegfeld star, Red Skelton has been reduced—as the result of liquor and gambling—to playing clowns in burlesque and amusement parks. His young son, Timothy (Considine), idolizes his father, and persuades Red's former agent to find a booking for him. This flops when Skelton tries to bolster himself up alcoholically, and he sends the boy to live with his mother, Jane Greer, who is remarried and wealthy. She offers Timothy every advantage, but the lad runs back to his father. His encouragement helps Red find the courage needed to take over the starring spot in a knockabout film show offered by his agent. The first show is a hit, but the strain on a weak heart is too great. Skelton dies and Timothy sorrowfully returns home with his mother.

(2nd Feature)

"UNDERCOVER AGENT"

While auditing the books for an engineering firm, Dermot Walsh is approached by a woman who claims she is being blackmailed, and asks him to take some letters from the office of the company's head. Walsh does so, and while delivering them to the address given him by the woman finds a murder victim. He opens the letter and finds it contains secret formulas for jet engines. He mails them to himself before being captured by thugs. An international crook threatens torture unless Walsh recovers the formula. When Walsh's wife picks up the letter, he arranges to meet her at a carnival, where Walsh is again abducted by the spies. He is taken to a nursing home used as a front for the gang, but his wife leads the police there and, after a gun battle, the crooks are captured.

AT THE BELLE

WARNER BROS. CINEMASCOPE EPIC RICH IN ENTERTAINMENT VALUES

Warner Bros. has brought to the first CinemaScope production of an outlaws epic, "The Command", starring Guy Madison, with Joan Weldon and James Whitmore, which opened last night at the Belle Theatre. Filmed in Warner color with the new CinemaScope anamorphic lens, the entertainment is rich in all the elements needed for a highly successful and entertaining motion picture.

"The Command" demonstrates the new CinemaScope dimension. CinemaScope, to best advantage. With the setting of the story in Wyoming during the great savage uprising, the new camera moves with great flexibility from the most intimate indoor romance scene to the breathtaking outdoor action. There seems to be no bounds to the new medium in its expression of entertainment values.

SCENIC REALISM

On the heels of "Hondo", scenic-wise "The Command" is the most vivid presentation of the great western plains ever photographed. With its panoramic views seeming-ly unlimited in depth and width, the anamorphic lens covers an arc which is almost the equivalent of human sight. The realism of the film thus achieved transports the viewer into the story.

Dramatically, the new process does much to enhance a most absorbing film story, such as "The Command", which was based on a story appearing in the Saturday Evening Post under the title of "The White Invader."

TOP CAST

Guy Madison, as the young medico who assumes active field command of the fighting unit, carries off acting honors. Joan Weldon is beautiful and winsome as the girl in the story, and the romantic interest. While James Whitmore, who has scored in "Battleground" on the screen and "Command Decision" on Broadway, plays the tough sergeant like he's never—been played before. Harvey Lembeck, the "Sugar Lips" Shapiro of "Sailor Beware" is another featured player who scores in "The Command."

BUGS BUNNY CARTOON

An entertaining array of short treats, three in Technicolor, precede the feature attraction, and include a very funny Bugs Bunny color cartoon, "Duck! Rabbit, Duck!" a CinemaScope Holiday Featurette, "Aloha Nui", a Technicolor Sportlite, "When Fish Fight", and the popular Paramount News complete the program, showing today, Monday and Tuesday, at regular popular prices.

CUSSIN' MONEY STOLEN

KNOXVILLE, TENN. (AP)—Burglars took Magnolia Tea Room's "cussin' jar" Friday night. Police explained customers had to put a dime in the jar each time they cursed. It contained $10.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, MAY 9, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You may be under pressure of one kind or another now but, if true to your fine characteristics, you will take the right course and enjoy a full, happy day.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Give your time primarily to matters most concerned with your regular occupation, your family and home life—not forgetting community affairs, in which you can be helpful.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Assistance could come from unexpected sources. A healthy time for modernizing business methods, seeking sound advice. We all can learn more.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Your best ammunition today (most days) is cheerfulness, attention to prayer and other spiritual needs. Those who heed these daily won't look for comfort, aid, true inner contentment.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Some new problems may crop up—not unusual in these busy days—but each one of us must face them with faith, hope and a determination to conquer, do right always.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—All work and too much worry is not good for anyone, mentally or physically. After church take yourself with family or good friends for a jaunt, or do some relaxing thing that will refresh outlook.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—We must not reject new, improved ideas and methods without study. Neither should we abandon the old if it is still productive.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—This can be a day for pleasant rest or for interesting activities, but some of the planetary aspects warn against extremes, overtiring.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—You may have to work, have necessary tasks to perform, but none of it need be difficult or irritating. A cheerful, grateful attitude should govern.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Matters pertaining to the sea, travel by water, dealing in beverages, chemicals, children's interests, handling ticklish domestic situations can prosper if managed rightly.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Don't postpone the things you should do to insure future gain or time will run out. Those "little" tasks that are personal count, too. Concentrate where you should; pray.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—We can always accomplish more than we have in the past when we put our minds and abilities to the task. Forget personal disappointments and strike out for new gains.

YOU BORN TODAY: You think, reason, have remarkable intuition and perception and are often surprised at others' lacking of understanding. Though simple and direct in manner, you can also be profound, can acquire an unusual amount of knowledge, be a help to the less fortunate. You are broad-minded. Watch health needs, but don't fret over them. Pray for guidance; be cheery. Birthdate of: John Brown, Amer. abolitionist; Sir Jas. M. Barrie, noted novelist-dramatist.

Noted Educationist Gives Address On Ideals in School Curriculums

MADOC — At the recent meeting of the Home and School Association of Madoc Public School in the high school auditorium, Dr. S. R. Laycock, a former federal president of Canada's Home and School Association, and an outstanding authority on child psychology, gave a fine address. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Kel Kincaid, president.

The guest speaker was introduced by his cousin, Kenneth Conner, who gave a brief review of Dr. Laycock's career. He was born in Marmora township, received his high school education at Madoc, served overseas in the First World War, then studied theology and is an ordained minister of the United Church. He lectured in psychology and was Dean of Education at Saskatchewan University.

In later years, he has been well known for his writings and radio lectures. He is especially well known to all Home and School workers as a man who has contributed largely to the phenomenal growth of this organization in Canada.

The Madoc audience was highly privileged to hear his advice on much of the lecture which Dr. Laycock delivered to 7,000 delegates to the O.E.A. convention, held in Toronto.

A CHANGING WORLD.

Dr. Laycock urged parents to think about what they wanted the schools to do. "Today's children," he said, "face a world in which there will be increasingly rapid changes and continuing tension. The three 'R's' will not be enough in themselves to enable children to live in that kind of a world without breaking down. A good command of written and oral language should be one of the first objectives of education. Children should be taught good health habits in such a way that they would make them part of their daily lives.

"Because children spend so much of their time in school, the school must do part of the job of teaching them to live comfortably with themselves and know their own limitations. Social relations are always so important because the child cannot learn effectively if he dislikes the teacher, or the teacher dislikes him. The teacher must create a favorable group climate, which is discipline.

"Social studies, moral and spiritual values are necessary; art, music and literature are important but they must be taught so that any subject will be useful, but if music and art function in the life of an individual, they are useful knowledge.

"Home and School Associations should get to know the schools,' Dr. Laycock said because in the last run, the schools are what public opinion wants them to be."

Mr. Nelson, public school inspector, thanked Dr. Laycock for his address.

The audience was also entertained by two delightful numbers. First, eight youthful dancers under Dorian Stewart's direction performed a quadrille to the accompaniment of piano and violin, played by Ralph and Billy Taylor. Miss Olga Wurm's Grade III Rhythm Band gave a pleasing performance under the capable direction of Linda Paranullo.

Madoc

MADOC—Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Hagerty left on Monday, via motor, to visit their daughter Mrs. Sanguina, and Mr. Sanguina, at Beardmore, Ontario.

Cadet Doug. Tufts is spending a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Tufts, before leaving for Winnipeg to continue his studies.

Mrs. Hank Dafoe returned home on Wednesday after spending the winter at St. Petersburg, Florida.

TRINITY W.M.S.

Trinity Women's Missionary Society held its May meeting at the home of Mrs. Joe Rollins on Wednesday afternoon with a splendid attendance.

Mrs. D. Carman, the president, was in charge and opened the meeting by reading a poem on "Spring and the Flowers". "From Glory to Glory," and then continued with the business.

Several items were discussed and the members were reminded of the garden sale to be held in July. Reports of the various committees were received, namely Community Friendship, Supply, Literature and treasurer's report. The missionary for the year, Miss Yeadon was remembered by Mrs. A. Empey. Mrs. Drinkwalter took charge of the worship service. She chose as her theme "The Bible", assisting her were Mrs. E. Burnside who read the Bible story, Mrs. W. McCoy gave a reading on "The Lost Bible," taken from the Patterns of Devotion by Gladys Murrell.

Mrs. Bennett had the program and gave a comprehensive and informative talk on "Race and Brotherhood". Mrs. Lane closed the meeting.

Mrs. Rollins and her assistants served refreshments.

A MAY MORNING

Oh! the sunshine is so gladsome,
and the sky it is so blue,
And the lure of other springs is in the air,
Down the lane the maple bushes,
In the meadow bright with dew
Gleam and sparkle wondrous gems and jewels rare.

'Mid the dark-browned firs and cedars, there's a tint of lighter green,
Where winter trees have changed from drab to gray,
And in all the new enchantment that is heard and felt and seen,
Is the glamor of the springs of yesterday.
—Helen B. Anderson.

WELLINGTON—We have been enjoying a few sunny days in Wellington and work on lawns and gardens is progressing with other preparations for a long-anticipated summer. Cottages are being prepared with the usual prospect of a fine tourist season. Work on the plants in the canning factory farms began on Monday, May 3rd. Many women are employed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wanamaker, Maple Ave., have improved the appearance of their residence by a fine coat of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ainsworth and Mrs. Edna Platt motored to Toronto on Wednesday to spend a few days.

Miss Nellie Arthur, Belleville, and Mrs. Leona Whyte, Trenton, were in Wellington on Monday en route to Mrs. Whyte's summer cottage at Bath. They returned on Wednesday.

Mrs. Gladys Vandewater, Dunbarton, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Vandewater and called on Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewater.

The May meeting of the Guild of Christ Church, Hillier, was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. L. Jones, Hillier village. Rev. C. P. Heaven and several members attended from Wellington.

A pleasant time was spent on Tuesday evening when the Evening Auxiliary of the United Church entertained the members of Trenton Auxiliary. A program was presented by the Wellington members and a social time with refreshments was enjoyed at the close.

POST-NUPTIAL SHOWER

Hillier town hall was the scene of a pleasant gathering on Saturday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Sanders (nee Miss June Pettengill) were honored by a post-nuptial shower by seventy of their friends and neighbors. An address was read by Barton Cunningham after which four little girls presented the bride and groom with baskets of beautiful miscellaneous gifts for which the newly-weds graciously expressed their thanks. The evening passed pleasantly in cards and music. Dainty refreshments were enjoyed. Sponsors of this pleasant affair included Mrs. George Bailley, Mrs. A. Vandewater, Mrs. Walter Forsythe and Mrs. N. Allison.

CHARGE REDUCED.

TORONTO (CP) — A charge of murder against William Lanness, 54, was reduced to manslaughter when he was committed for trial Thursday in the fatal stabbing of Harold Shaw.

NEW ONE-COAT TITAN WHITE CUTS PAINTING LABOUR by 50%

Paint your own home and whether you count the value of your time or just the physical effort, labour is a big factor. If you hire a contractor to handle the job his labour estimate usually amounts to around 80% of the total — materials to less than 20%. With new TITAN WHITE you actually cut labour 50% by repainting with just one coat instead of two. On all but unpainted or badly weathered surfaces, the high Titanium and elasticity of new TITAN WHITE will give the same hiding and surface protection as two coats of ordinary paint.

CLEANS ITSELF—Season after season TITAN WHITE retains its original beauty and whiteness. Microscopic particles of paint film are gradually washed away by rain, carrying with them surface dirt and grime. A controlled chalking process ensures that only enough of the paint film is washed away to keep the surface free of dirt . . . the surface is still adequately protected for the life of the paint film. The gradual wearing away of the paint film keeps the surface smooth and free from checks and cracks . . . eliminates burdensome surface preparations before eventual repainting.

$8.30 PER GAL.

GREATER HIDING THAN EVER BEFORE

Lowe Brothers' new one-coat TITAN WHITE is rich in Titanium, giving it remarkable hiding power — and making possible an opaqueness normally expected only with two coats of paint.

Ranch Tones

Seven exciting new colors plus 21 tints and intermixes for giving beauty stress to doors, shutters and trim. Ranch Tones are rapidly gaining popularity amongst owners of all types of houses—both new and old. They provide a wide range of beautiful colors to meet the modern trend to gay, natural colors for exterior paintwork. Carefully selected pigments, dispersed in durable paint oils, guarantee a tough, elastic paint film that resists all types of weather. Ranch Tones brilliant Alkyd colors are specially formulated to provide an extremely high degree of color permanence.

WHAT'S BEST FOR YOU . . . ONE COAT OR TWO?

To be certain of full protection and lasting beauty, new TITAN WHITE, should be used only on surfaces which have previously been painted, and are in reasonably good condition. If your problem is to paint new wood or badly weathered surfaces, Lowe Brothers' 2-coat system is the ideal answer.

'Better Late Than Never' Is Bidault's Observation

By GOMER JONES

GIBRALTAR (Reuters) — Shouts of "Long live the Queen" resounded across Spanish territory here today as Queen Elizabeth drove within 200 yards of the frontier for an inspection of Gibraltar's military garrison at the island's airport.

On the other side of the border all was quiet. A few Spanish soldiers stood and smoked a tangle of barbed wire, but no demonstrations against the Queen's visit materialized.

The inspection came just a few hours after the Queen arrived in Gibraltar's harbor for the first royal visit to The Rock in 40 years.

Three thousand servicemen and women from the fortress garrison were drawn up on the airfield under a blazing sun. Shouts of "Vive la Reina" from the Spanish neighboring inhabitants were mixed with cries of "Long live the Queen" as the car approached the frontier for the royal inspection.

SPANISH SIDE QUIET

Spanish officials earlier this week had protested that the visit was what Spaniards regard as their rightful territory constituted an "insult." But there were no signs of activity on the other side of the frontier.

After the parade the ranks of troops broke into hasty cheers.

The royal couple then went to inspect some of the labyrinthine underground installations of the fortress that dominates the entrance to the Mediterranean sea.

Some spectators commented that the Queen looked tired, and many remarks about her slimness were heard.

All Gibraltar's 26,000 people seemed to be on the harbor to greet the Queen and her family.

The Queen stood on the bridge with the captain of the Britannia, Prince Charles, 5, and Princess Anne, 3, arranged in line behind the stern of the vessel as the yacht came in.

Guns roared from naval vessels and the fortress' batteries. Cheers were deafening.

The Queen stepped ashore to start a day in which she will cross and recross the tiny colony for 10 events in 12 hours.

The governor of Gibraltar, Gen. Sir Gordon Macmillan, stepped forward and offered the Queen the keys to the fortress. She touched the keys and handed them back.

Her car was followed by a motor cavalcade as it drove to the town amid cheers and cheering.

ALIVE WITH PEOPLE

Gibraltar's narrow streets were alive with people, cheering and waving flags.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will spend two days here on the last call of a six-month tour of British Commonwealth countries around the world. They are due back in Britain May 15.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: The diffuse area of low pressure which has been causing cool, unsettled weather over the provinces for the past week is moving very slowly eastward this morning. Partly cloudy skies with a few showers will be general across southern Ontario today while rain and drizzle will fall across northern Ontario. Little temperature change is expected on Tuesday, with temperatures remaining on the cool side.

GENEVA (AP) — The Communists today opposed French terms for an armistice in Indo-China, but agreed to begin discussion of the removal of the wounded from fallen Dien Bien Phu.

At the second session of the Indo-China phase of the Geneva conference, the delegate of the Communist Vietminh regime agreed in a meeting of field commanders in Indo-China to arrange evacuation of wounded.

Both meeting had been asked by the French three weeks ago. The Vietminh move today was prompted French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to remark "better late than never."

The Vietminh representative, Deputy Premier Pham Van-Dong, addressed a closed meeting of the Indo-China conference shortly after the Viet Nam delegation had appealed for quick action to arrange for the removal of the wounded from Dien Bien Phu.

The unofficial source said the Communists had maintained the French proposal would not even serve as a basis for discussion.

The proposal offered Saturday by French Foreign Minister Bidault, was for an immediate cessation of hostilities to be followed by negotiations between the two parties represented here, with political problems to be worked out later.

BIDAULT ACCUSES MOLOTOV

Today's meeting began with an argument when Bidault accused Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov of recognizing the Vietminh delegation instead of reading a Viet Nam letter which had been given to Molotov earlier.

When the Viet Nam delegate entered the meeting, the letter had not been read first, Molotov, today's chairman, said he had not received it before recognizing the Vietminh representative.

Bidault then criticized Molotov for not reading the Viet Nam letter first and the delegates' meeting. He said France had been suggesting for three days that exchange of wounded be arranged by field commandyrs.

France was interested in getting treatment for the wounded so matters could be speeded.

There were an estimated 800 to 1,000 wounded in the Indo-China fortress when the 57-day siege reached its climax. They had been placed on stretchers in the underground hospital.

AGREE TO GO AHEAD

Informed quarters said British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Molotov agreed this morning that the Indo-China conference could go ahead without waiting for solution of the procedural snag on inviting additional participants.

However, there was no indication that the Communists had any plans for giving up their demands for the inclusion of two newly created "phantom" governments of Cambodia and Laos in the conference.

Ten-Year-Old Saved from Mississippi After 10-Mile Ride on Piece of Cork

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Ten-year-old Darlene Roaten, who does not swim, supported herself with a small piece of cork for more than three hours Sunday while the current swept her 10 miles down the Mississippi river.

Her father, J.S. Roaten, meanwhile swam more than two hours to rescue his wife and their son, Bobby, 8, after they and Darlene narrowly escaped an undertow sandbar into the swift Mississippi current.

Widow Fatally Stabbed, Police Arrest Suitor

Jealousy Believed Motive for Slaying

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—A 41-year-old widow was fatally stabbed in the neck Sunday by a man described by her landlady and police as a jealous suitor whose marriage proposal had been spurned.

After an eight-hour search of scrub cover near the Oldman river southeast of the city, police arrested Michael Kuzmack, 48, of Winnipeg, Man., in connection with the stabbing.

The victim was Mrs. Minnie Engel of Winnipeg, who came to Lethbridge last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Degegard with whom Mrs. Engel lived, said the victim had known Kuzmack in Winnipeg and in Windsor where both had lived for a short time. They said he had corresponded with her regularly since she arrived here last fall. Mrs. Engel's husband died in Winnipeg in 1953.

Mrs. Degegard told Kuzmack came to Lethbridge last Easter to see Mrs. Engel and had moved to the Degegard home. The pair had originally planned to marry, Mrs. Degegard said, but Kuzmack's jealousy had decided Mrs. Engel to change her mind.

HEAR QUARREL

Mrs. Degegard and her husband were in the yard of their home when they heard a quarrel inside the house early Sunday.

They said that minutes later, Mrs. Engel staggered out the back door of the house, ran about 12 feet from the door, screamed "Vera" to Mrs. Degegard and collapsed. Police said a large and an inch butcher knife was used in the slaying.

The Degegards ran to the stricken woman, they said they saw Kuzmack running from the house.

"What the hell have you done," shouted Mrs. Degegard.

She said Kuzmack, without answering, raced toward the corner near the river.

About 6 city police and RCMP joined the manhunt shortly after Mrs. Engel had been taken to hospital, where she died.

A 14-year-old boy who had joined the search with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen, saw Kuzmack lying in a narrow draw and police arrested him.

Kuzmack offered no resistance, police said.

Setback for 'Crisis' Diplomacy Marks Indo-China Talks

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP)—Looking back on the last few weeks of international negotiations, one impression emerges from a depressing record of confusion, fear and uncertainty.

It is that "crisis" diplomacy has suffered a decisive defeat.

Negotiations at the Geneva conference, with all their ramifications and repercussions to capitals all the world, have reflected a sense of urgency and unpreparedness. Diplomatic contacts have betrayed a seeming lack of precision.

Even in bilateral talks, the two parties sometimes emerge with different versions of what was agreed.

"If historians of the future ever get around to studying the record of the last few weeks," one Western delegate commented, "they may well conclude that we were all crazy."

MATTERS TANGLED

"Matters are becoming more and more tangled and complicated here and obscure," Churchill declared in my long experience," Sir Winston said in London.

Factors contributing to confusion include the conflicting pull of domestic and political opinion in individual democracies, the increasing part played in international discussions by military officials unrushed in diplomacy, and an effort by the United States to implement a dynamic policy at a time of crisis.

The military-political situation in Indo-China, crying out for solution but apparently defying one, overlies everything.

With the Communist rebels ascendant in the field — confident of a substantial part of the local population hopping on their bandwagon after victory at Dien Bien Phu—Russia, China and the Vietminh have the whip hand.

STALL NEGOTIATIONS

Some delegates anticipate they will be content to stall peace negotiations indefinitely, hoping to benefit further from a situation which seems to be going their way.

It seems impossible to visualize a solution which, having some dramatic change, will be acceptable to the Vietminh and at the same time anything but a disaster for the West.

With Indo-China to the forefront, interest in Korea has tended to recede. A long meeting of the 16 powers which fought under the United Nations banner was scheduled for Thursday, but the opening agreement on proposals to be placed before the Communists by private sessions. These have been in abeyance since May 1.

Martin Urges U.S. Not To Restrict International Trade

MIAMI, Fla. (CP) — Hon. Paul Martin, Canadian health minister today urged the United States not to place restrictions on international trade.

He expressed the hope for more Canadian exports to the U.S., in an address prepared for delivery before the annual convention of Kiwanis International.

But he added that Canadians are vastly disturbed by the trend they see do business with raise tariff barriers, impose import quotas or discriminate in their industries for the purpose of keeping competitive products out of the country."

Mr. Martin said Canada hopes the new Joint U.S.-Canadian economic committee will be able to iron out any economic difficulties wrought by the two countries' increasing share of the world trade.

Dealing with international tensions, Mr. Martin said NATO forces now are strong enough to make the Kremlin think twice about taking them on.

"Of course," he added, "the relaxation of tension has itself been a danger to maintaining the necessary defence preparations."

"We must realize that we cannot afford, either financially or psychologically, to turn our defence preparations off and on in response to Soviet moves," said Mr. Martin, who is also minister in charge of Canada's civil defence program.

Discussing the question of aid to Asian countries, Mr. Martin said:

"I am convinced that if these reawakened Oriental civilizations, so different from our own, can be persuaded to bring expertise to the destructive tide of communism, they will contribute greatly to the enrichment of the whole human race."

Hamilton Man Is Remanded On Murder Charge

HAMILTON (CP) — Lloyd Astley Webb, 20, was remanded until May 17 when he appeared in magistrate's court on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting of the woman with whom police said he had been living.

The remand was given after Magistrate B. W. Hopkins was told that Webb was without funds and had asked legal aid.

Webb was charged in connection with the death of his common-law wife, Mary Carter, 30, who died in General Hospital Saturday night from a bullet wound after she had found sprawled across her bed with Webb in the house.

MET AT OSHAWA

Police said today that Webb first met Miss Carter, a Belleville native, last summer when they were working at the Oshawa General plant in Oshawa.

Webb came to Canada three years ago after having lived most of his life in the West Indies. He is employed in a local factory.

U.S. Aid Program Is Unchanged By Fort's Fall

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fall of Dien Bien Phu will leave unchanged the United States program of military assistance to the French Union and associated states in Indo-China, a military spokesman said today.

Arms and six shipments of equipment and supplies will continue as well as the assistance of aircraft technicians to keep flying the planes turned over to the free forces in Indo-China by the United States, the spokesman said.

18 Crew Members British Coastal Vessel Arrested

Refuse to Obey Legal Order of Captain

MONTREAL (CP)—City police held 18 crew members of the British coastal vessel Shelldrake for "refusing to obey the legal order of the captain." They are to appear in court today.

Police said charges were laid Saturday after the group was taken to city police headquarters following complaints by the Shipping Federation of Canada. The federation includes owners and agents of many oceangoing vessels operating into Montreal.

The men involved represent more than half the crew of the 848-ton ship, which normally plies between St. Lawrence river ports during the summer months and leaves Canada just before winter freeze up. The Shelldrake's home port is London, England.

Officers of the ship refused newspapermen aboard ship Sunday to answer the questions about trouble said "yes."

Sailors aboard small British ships which enter the St. Lawrence each year to trade between river ports receive an average wage of $90 a month—in addition to berth and board—compared to a maximum of $240 a month paid Canadian union seamen.

The men of the Shelldrake have been heard to complain about irregular pay by Canadian prices on United Kingdom wages.

The ship has been tied up, loaded for several days because of "beefs" by the crew.

Three Arrested After 90 MPH Chase Through CNE Grounds at Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Police said two men were arrested at gunpoint and charged with car theft and reckless driving early today after a 90-mile-an-hour chase through the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

Toronto police in two patrol cars fired on the speeding car which finally was halted when it failed to make a turn at a dead-end intersection, hitting a stone bulwark.

William Magistad, an airman from Camp Borden who was a hitch-hiker in the stolen car, was picked up in the shoulder by one of the police bullets. Police said his injury was not serious.

Magistad, Rene Proulx, 22, and Robert Limoges, 21, of Toronto, were arrested at gunpoint after they jumped from the stolen car after the crash. They were charged with reckless driving and theft of the car.

The chief squad detective who questioned the trio said they were all drunk. Magistad said the car he had become acquainted in Sudbury before coming to Toronto to live.

Proulx, married and the father of two children, said he was picked up in Sudbury by Limoges and was not with them when the car was removed from the service station lot from which it was stolen.

Police constable Willard Davidson who made the arrest said that during the chase "we opened fire because we figured someone was badly hurt in the other police car and if we didn't stop them someone would be killed."

Action in Respect to Road Work at Fort William

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial attorney-general's department today issued 15 warrants charging three contracting companies, former highways department district engineer Arthur M. The third group of warrants involved Berman Construction Company Limited, Walter Berman, head of the company, John A. West, Donald S. Patterson, William Bradin and Cecil Nelson.

Minor Epidemic Of Mumps On Wane

A minor epidemic of mumps that has afflicted the city for the past few months is on the wane, according to reports from the city's health department released today.

According to figures compiled by Dr. A. M. Breils, medical officer of health, for the month of April there were 28 cases of mumps reported from the city. Most of the cases reported were those of children as reported from the schools. There were more than 30 cases of mumps in April but not all cases were reported. Patients were well looked after in their own homes, according to the health department.

Mumps have been prevalent throughout the province and throughout Canada this year but the months of greatest incidence are February, March and April, and the minor epidemic is on the decline.

During April 49 per cent of the department's nursing time was spent in schools. Twenty-eight classes were given, and rapid inspection for the detection of communicable conditions. 81 children have been examined in pre-school children who enrolled for fall classes. Pre-school health records initiated and were prepared for a physical examination. Of these children 70 were examined by the school medical officer at the weekly health centre.

FOUR CLINICS HELD

Four child health clinics were held with an attendance of 49 at which children were examined on proper methods of feeding and habit developments for infants and pre-school children.

157 infants and pre-school children were immunized at these immunization clinics held at the city hall while four prenatal classes at the YMCA had a total attendance of 42. Forty home visits were made to infants under one month of age and a total of 107 visits to babies under one year. One apartment and three house were closed by the department as unfit for human habitation.

Water samples at the Pinnacle St. well continued to show periodic pollution and the well has remained closed to the public.

The number of cases of communicable diseases reported during April were: mumps 28; measles 1; chickenpox 3; infectious hepatitis 1; tuberculosis 1; venereal disease 2.

HUGE PARK

Men's Club of Christ Church Holds Unique Dandelion Tea

Dignified and lovely was the appearance of Christ Church parish hall on Saturday afternoon for the "Dandelion Tea" sponsored by the Men's Club of the church. Long silvery and yellow blossoming floor wood adorned each window arch, while a perfect hedge of fir spade trees banked with blooms, divided the entire stage, forming a beguiling setting for the tea table and the lower edge of the stage curtains.

The long tea table, with its snowy cloth, was centred by a silver vase of golden dandelions, unique and most appropriate for the occasion, while glistening tiny silver candelabra, each supporting tall ivory candles and gleaming silver appointments completed a pleasing appointment.

The little quartet guest tables surrounded the floor, forming a large rectangle. Each was covered with pastel pink and placed at each corner were matching serviettes. The black flower pot with its tiny blossoming tree provided a very low canary or lovely blue bird and the yellow butterfly added a charming and interesting note.

FREEDING

Those who presided were R. Lane president of the Men's Club and the Reverend L. A. Page rector of St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill F. S. Folkins and Mrs. Folkins, Trenton, M.L.A., the Reverend W. J. Robinson, rector of Trinity Anglican Church and J. Bob, Mayor of Belleville.

Those in the receiving line were, Wilf. Mills wearing a dark, halter effect gown in floral design, with white fringed stole, and satin sash, and lam, with pendant, daisy earrings also in daisies of long, grey hair. His peaches and cream complexion might well be the envy of many a much younger sex.

SERVING

Those who served included Messrs. Fred Beeby, Phil Burton, Gerald Cherry, Ali Francis, Hazlett Burley, Jack Poste, Clifford Blaker and Ron Godden. These were outstanding in their individual costumes. Fred Beeby, who will ever by the "society matron" de luxe wore a deep cream-toned, satin piece with skirt having a pleated front gore in street length and white shoes. His sailor-effect hat was in harmonizing tones with cluster of contrasting flowers at the front. Completing his ensemble were earrings—never seen before, nor never again, perhaps, still one is not too sure what he may have worked in that direction. These were of dangling glass globes partly filled with water in which tiny fish were swimming.

Phil Burton appeared in a dark, gold jumper of silk with green grass chur'waist, elbow-length sleeves, and black lace mitts and rhinestone bracelets. Gerald Cherry was fetching in his mauve and purple outfit, the bodygoing grey but with effect of patch plume drooping most coyly from the left side of hat. Francis was in pale blue with white embroidery collar and cute little black hat. He looked well as always, appeared to have trouble keeping his hose up, and he seem always to.

ATTRACTIVE MISS

Ray Poste made an attractive figure in his tailored red jacket worn over a gold colored skirt and wide black, picture hat, floral trimmed. Clifford Blaker was a refreshing and breath-taking in a red corduroy jacket and pencil slim skirt, and little black hat sprouting, on either side like the antennae of some of the insect family, two high rise sanfhemums in nondescript pink beige. Blaker was as full to red with little black hat and veil, wearing a lacy corsage of dandelions and green onion tops. Harold Burley was sedately attired in street-length black, with wide, biscuit color hat held under the chin with green ribbon.

Tea replenishing were also well accoutred in voluminous skirts and various headgear. Fred Hayes appeared in a purple middy-effect blouse with red apron, and wide, white hat abounding in ribbons and flowers of all shades. Gedge Mills was in navy blue with white straw hat, perched atop clustering auburn curls. A mink stole, red shoes and hose completed his ensemble. Others assisting in replenishing included Clarence Fuzzen, Reg. Ferrera, Bill Edwards and Gordon Nicholls each in his original attire.

Those in charge of the kitchen, were Harry Hollombe, Ollie Owen, Archie Vanderburgh, Marian Barlow, Ardell and Ivor Butler, Ollie Owen, head chef wore navy colored jo'bons, bonnet effect hat with ties and white embroidery apron.

THE NURSERY

Two interns, Archdeacon J. B. Cooper and the Reverend E. F. Smith in their hygienic white caps and gowns, were in charge of the nursery. The former as well as the latter took their job seriously, as from the front of the Archdeacon's gown could be seen the ever-dearly "squares" effect. Mr. Cooper pointed out were quite modern, in that no safety pins were required, these went on with tie tapes, while Mr. Smith dangled an assortment of safety pins, ready for any eventuality and carried in his pocket a roller of rubber gloves. He was seen later entertaining a wee Miss in a blue stroller.

The nursery provided not only kiddie car, blackboard, rocking horse, but games of all sorts, while the time away while mothers enjoyed the cups of tea, dainty bits of fare and sandwiches served in the tea room.

CANDY TABLE

The delightful candy table displaying cellophane bags of delicious fudge, maple creams both plain and "hot-topped", peanut balls and other varieties. This was in charge of C. A. Carter, assisted by Mrs. Dinary confectionary garb of white skull cap and apron.

The treasure for the afternoon was Maurice Button, who was all smiles, as he received the custom-ary dues and tickets. He was attired for the occasion in a red and black check coat over a blue and white striped dress with matching white blue and white hat from which black curls formed an alluring frame for his twinkling eyes.

Gordon Wallbridge was responsible for the lovely decorations, was most tastefully carried in a manner to be held the bodice up over a voluminous bust, (taking no chance) which we learned, has been a special item of the fashionably vigor. A large black picture hat and contrast cape completed the ensemble.

Two Slayings In 13 Violent Week-End Deaths

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Highway accidents and drownings took the greatest toll of lives among 13 violent deaths in eastern Canada during the week-end. Two slayings were recorded.

A Canadian Press survey shows that traffic mishaps accounted for six deaths. Four persons were drowned, two persons were shot to death and another died from self-inflicted gun wounds.

Ontario's total of eight deaths was the highest. Robert Mortimer, 28, of Toronto and Ronlea Stroud of Huntsville were killed when their car collided with a pickup truck near Gravenhurst. Ronald Hewitt, 17, of Portland, died of injuries suffered in a two-car crash near Smiths Falls.

Committee Asks Apprenticeship Training Program Be Expanded

A recommendation from the Belleville and District Apprenticeship Advisory Committee asking expansion of the present apprenticeship training program to provide training facilities for apprentices in the carpentry, plastering, bricklaying and masonry, electrical wiring and installation trades, has gone to the Ontario Department of Labor.

The recommendation was passed at the last meeting of the apprenticeship advisory committee and was forwarded to G. M. Piggott, chairman of the provincial advisory committee for building trades.

It was recommended that the apprentice attend a trades training school for nine months of the year for two consecutive years during which time he would be given class room and shop training. On the successful completion of the course the apprentice would be given journeyman status in his chosen trade, his temporary status to become permanent on completion of additional years as an improver.

Candidates would have grade X education as a minimum, preferably Grade XII and would be screened for suitability and aptitude. It was suggested that consideration be given to those applicants who have vocational training and on the job experience.

The age limit for candidates was suggested as a minimum of 18 and a maximum of 26 years.

Members of the Belleville and District Apprenticeship Advisory Committee felt that the candidates for apprenticeship in the local area had insufficient education and the type of experience available to instruct had insufficient knowledge of the trade and were either uninterested or incapable of passing on their knowledge to the apprentice.

Although night school classes were available in Belleville it had been found difficult. If not impossible to interest apprentices in attending classes.

For the past year and a half the local apprenticeship advisory committee under the chairmanship of A. O. Drysdale, has been investigating the problem of getting increased numbers of young men to participate in apprenticeship training.

It was noted that the problem of training apprentices appears to be more acute in the smaller centres and it was suggested that candidates for the proposed training program be chosen initially from the rural areas.

French Planes Heavily Attack Vietminh Convoys

HANOI, Indo - China (AP) — French fighters and bombers today heavily attacked key roads leading northeastward from the fallen fortress of Dien Bien Phu. The roads are jammed with thousands of Communist - led Vietminh troops and truck convoys.

Dropping 1,000-pound high explosive bombs and heavily strafing, the planes centred their attacks upon the road from Tuan Giao, 27 miles northeast of Dien Bien Phu, and running eastward to Na San, 117 miles west of Hanoi. The French reported the road cut in 10 places.

It was at Na San in the winter of 1952 and 1953 that the French, as at Dien Bien Phu, for months put up a valiant resistance against encircling and vastly superior Vietminh forces.

The French evacuated Na San Aug. 11, 1953, and the Vietminh moved in to use it as a base.

TWO-WAY MOVEMENT

Vietminh troops and convoys were reported moving both ways on the road. That country of northwestern Indo-China. Those going in may be for reinforcing Vietminh positions in Thai capital of Lai Chau, 200 miles northwest of Hanoi, which the Vietminh occupied after the French pulled out Dec. 11, 1952.

They also may be intended to take over occupation of Dien Bien Phu from the battleworn rebels who survived the 57 days of the assaults upon the French United fortress.

New Banking Service Offers Security Program

A new type of banking service to provide incentive for saving, with life insurance protection, was introduced in Canada for the first time today. It was inaugurated by branches of The Bank of Nova Scotia across the country who made available "personal security program" accounts.

From today on P.S.P. accounts will be a standard service of this bank in Belleville and may be opened like ordinary savings or current accounts. Under the personal security program the depositor reaches his savings goal in 50 monthly instalments. During this period his savings goal is protected by life insurance at no cost to himself.

P.S.P. accounts are based on a simple principle — It is easier to save for the instalment plan and when there is a definite amount in mind," explains W. C. Allen, Belleville manager of The Bank of Nova Scotia. "Personal security program accounts are designed to provide this service. There is the added advantage of having the savings target insured."

50 MONTHLY DEPOSITS.

Anyone between the ages of six and 46 years can open a P.S.P. account. He decides what the savings goal will be, then contracts to make 50 monthly deposits to meet this goal. The bank provides the depositor, insured health and insurance policy. In the event of death before the goal is reached the depositor's beneficiary would receive the whole amount of the goal, plus interest, to that time.

Five different savings goals are provided under The Bank of Nova Scotia personal security program. These are: $1,000 by $20 monthly payments; $750 by $15 monthly payments; $500 by $10 monthly payments; $250 by $5 monthly payments; $100 by $2 monthly payments. Once the P.S.P. account is opened, payments are made in the same way a deposit would be made in another type account.

FREEDOM OF ACTION.

P.S.P. accounts do not provide chequing facilities. If for any reason, however, the P.S.P. depositor cannot complete the 50-months program he decides to abandon it, he receives all the money that he has paid in, plus interest, less a charge to cover the bank's services. P.S.P. accounts will be terminated and the money withdrawn by merely notifying the bank.

Men, women, and children, married or single, are all eligible to participate in this program providing only that they are within the age bracket and are in good health. No medical examination is necessary. The depositor need only give assurance of good health. As soon as a P.S.P. account application has been filled out and the first payment made, the depositor is covered by life insurance up to the unpaid balance of his goal.

Indo-China War May Affect U.S. Domestic Politics

LONDON (Reuters)—The Times suggests today that events in Indo-China may profoundly affect United States domestic politics.

The independent newspaper also says that the Indo-China war has stressed an "all too often ignored" fact—that American public opinion wants peace as much as there is a chance for peaceful settlement.

"This truth has in the past been disguised, as it suited Republican purposes to equate American caution with Democratic cowardice," the paper says in an editorial.

"The Republicans had miscalculated the mood of the country which . . . was overwhelmingly against the risk of war."

The result, the paper says, may be as great as the political changes which brought the Democrats—who led the United States in two world wars—to power attacked as the party of appeasement while traditionally isolationist Republicans called for firm measures.

The charges of appeasement may now end, The Times suggests.

"Now both American parties have the chance to develop and display more realistic—and more real—attitudes to foreign policy.

SEAWAY MEANS MUCH TO DISTRICT

The action of the U.S. Congress in approving a partnership between the United States and Canada for the construction of the St. Lawrence seaway is of international importance. Any project which will so vitally affect the economic welfare of two nations cannot help but have repercussions in distant lands.

Nationally, in both the United States and Canada, the benefits which will accrue from the seaway—and its twin power development project—will be spread over vast areas. In Labrador iron mining companies will welcome the prospect of a cheap route by which ore can be shipped to the smelters of the Pittsburgh area. On the prairies farmers will speculate as to what effect the penetration of ocean going vessels to the heart of a continent will have on the price which they will receive for their golden grain.

But, while recognizing the fact that the seaway and the power development will benefit the whole nation, we should not overlook the happy truth that this section of Ontario, and a part of New York State, can reasonably expect to share a special bonus.

The seaway should stimulate the industrial development of centres located on the shores of the Great Lakes and this stimulus should be particularly strong along the Lake Ontario shore.

Even more important, in all probability, will be the results of the exploitation of the vast water-power of one of the world's greatest rivers.

As Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, has so repeatedly stressed, the vast industrial expansion in Ontario has threatened to outstrip the available supply of cheap power. That danger will be eliminated, at least for some years to come, when the waters of the vast Great Lakes basin start-spinning power generators as they plunge toward the sea.

It would be strange indeed if the location of this great new reservoir of power on the St. Lawrence did not attract new industries to the district in which the power is generated, even if no advantage in lower power rates were offered. The boom which the construction job-in the Cornwall area is sure to generate may subside from this high level but it is highly likely to disappear entirely. Rather it will almost surely prove just the first spectacular wave of a steadily rising flood of industrial activity.

Belleville and the Quinte district should not be left out so far from the scene as to make it rash to predict that here, too, we shall reap, with the passing years, a fair measure of this rich harvest. Eastern Ontario, once fairly accurately described as a comparatively narrow belt of settled country squeezed out between the lake and the bush, has been expanding into the hinterland. First as a holiday and resort area and more recently as an industrially wealthy mining area the north has been coming into its own. Now there is a bright promise that the lakeshore will match the inland highlands in interdependent growth.

NEW PARTY IN THE MAKING?

This attack is being interpreted as a challenge to a showdown.

If Bevan accepts the challenge, there can be only one result — his ousting from the Labor Party. This expulsion may come even if he seeks to evade the issue. If Morrison and his colleagues are victorious, there would be only one way in which Bevan and his left-wing colleagues could remain within the party folds. That would be for them to humble themselves and submit to party discipline. Few who have studied Bevan would expect him to accept such restraints.

If Bevan is expelled, the action may be the best thing that could happen to the Labor Party and to Bevan. For it has become increasingly evident, during the passing months, that their aims and objectives are not the same.

The Labor Party wants to rule. Morrison's words reveal the thinking of the majority. "Why should Labor parties in marginal and difficult constituencies be so eager to support the fanatical followers of the party?" he asks. "Are they political parties trying to win or are they suicide clubs?"

Bevan would like to rule, too, of course, but he is not willing to pay the price that Morrison requires. For Bevan is a rebel—with a rebel's bitterness and a rebel's courage.

There is a place for such men in political life. It is in political exile. The histories of democracies are filled with tales of how small groups of rebels have altered the course of history, through their persistence and their very isolation which guarantees their independence and protects them from the bonds of expediency. The fires of adversity burn out the dross of their philosophies and, if there be any gold left, it is eventually expropriated by the larger and more practical groups which are not suicide clubs but political parties.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

MAY 10, 1934.

Douglas Smith, a graduate of the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, has been successful in obtaining his master's degree in arts at Queen's University, Kingston. Next year he will begin studies at the University of Chicago, Ill., for his Ph.D. degree.

Ted Till, also a graduate of the B.C.I. and V.S., has received the degree of D.A. at Queen's University. He is especially interested in journalism and has accepted a position with the H. A. Rogers Publishing and Advertising Company in Toronto. He served in various capacities on the Queen's Journal and finally held the post of editor-in-chief and business manager.

Hudson Leavens, a former well known resident of this city, was elected medical vice president of the Alumni Association of Queen's University Alma Mater Society.

MAY 10, 1924.

Mr. Gordon Wills, M.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Berkley, Victoria Avenue, has just passed his examinations qualifying for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Toronto. He received the degree of Bachelor of Arts at Queen's University and the degree of Master of Arts at University of Toronto four years ago. His faculty for some time has been Dominion Plant Pathologist for the entire Dominion and has been stationed at the laboratory in St. Catharines.

Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, D.S.O., has sent 4,500 Scotch pine trees on his spacious land in a section of farm where he was born 62 years ago his grandfather busied himself clearing the land.

Dr. Harry Graham of Tamworth were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Wills, Front street.

Some of the older residents will be interested in recalling the names of the boys who played football here years ago and for those we give below extracts from our file copy at this time in 1894: The following players will compose the city football team in a match to be played tomorrow night: Ends, and D. Institute team, Trent Road: W. A. G. Hardy, Lorne Marsh, Max Jamieson, Russell Weller, Fred Diamond, Harry Twining, Hannah, Jack Jeffrey, Ellis (Bud) Bogart, Harry Kelso and Cummings.

40 YEARS AGO

MAY 10, 1914.

Mr. William H. Lloyd, a graduate of the Belleville high school, has passed With honors into the Sophomore year of medicine at Queen's University, Kingston. This summer he will work for the government near Cobalt.

Mr. J. L. Foster of Moira is spending a few days in town.

Fifty years ago May 10th, 1864, Elias B. Rutlan, black smith, Front street, left to engage his apprenticeship. He first began the business of a smith in West Belleville in a little frame shop at the corner of Bridge and Coleman Street. At that time an old wooden bridge spanned the Moira River at Bridge and followed the blacksmith trade through the long half century and says that he has not lost six months in that time owing to illness or by taking holidays.

50 YEARS AGO

MAY 10, 1904.

There were no cases for the police magistrate to handle this morning. The cells in the police station have been without an occupant for nearly a week.

Mr. F. G. Lynds of Madoc was a visitor in town today.

In the death of John O. Frost, which occurred this morning Belleville has lost a worthy citizen; he was always ready to do all within his power to advance the interests of the city. He was 59 years of age and resided in this city for 50 years. He was engaged in the furniture business. He was a member of the city council for many years and also served as a water commissioner. Twice he was a candidate for parliamentary honors in the Liberal interests and was defeated the first time by the late Sir Mackenzie Bowell and the second time by E. Guss Porter. For some years he was an energetic chairman of the Public board of trade. He was born in England and came to Canada at an early age.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TAKE THE PLUNGE!

I find great wisdom in the letters of Vincent Van Gogh to his brother Theo, which I have been reading of late. Some because I have been reading of the one hundredth anniversary of Van Gogh's birth. In one of them he wrote: "To bring out the best that is in you will have to plunge into it with all your strength."

We can't get very far in anything merely by putting only a small part of our ability and enthusiasm into it. We must put our whole heart into it, and take the plunge with courage and confidence. We always feel better after a decision, but we feel best after we have put that decision into action, be it for good or ill.

I recall how happy I was, in the midst of a business depression, when I decided I would no longer depend upon getting a job with someone else. I decided to be my own boss and own my own business. I had not a cent of capital, but I had ideas that I believed would work. They did, and so for most of my life I have had fun working for myself with congenial associates.

A reader of these talks once wrote me for advice. He had a desire to be a lawyer, but didn't know how to go about it. I suggested he go to night school and keep over before him the one idea of becoming a lawyer. A few years later he wrote and told me he had just hung his shingle as a full practising lawyer! I was thrilled only second to him. He took the plunge—and it worked. Thatlum.

Profanity Ancient Vice

(Barbara Johnson, New York Times Magazine).

British officials have decided that men in their armed forces may use much and they want something done about it.

It is an axiom that armies everywhere and in all ages have been given to swearing.

We have learned that long ago the British Army swore horribly in Flanders.

We know, too, that in the reign of George II heavy fines were fruitlessly imposed upon soldiers and sailors who were within hearing of their superiors.

George Washington, who was fluent himself upon occasion, issued at least three general court orders against swearing in the ranks.

Probing deeper into history, it is recorded that Moses, more than 3,000 years ago, found profane habits of speech so widespread that they were included among his ten outstanding orders to his men.

Perhaps the British might be well advised to appoint a Royal Commission on profanity in the ranks which could consider these pertinent questions:

Just what is swearing? What causes it to be banned? How can it be abolished?

It would be honored to aid in this inquiry.

Primitive man first Swore for one or the other of two good reasons. Either he wished to invoke a curse upon his enemy, or else he wished one of the gods to back up his statements.

Since his enemy also believed in magic, curses were as effective as rifle or spears.

Oaths differed from curses until a strange alliance came about between the two. An oath was an appeal to some reliable witness to testify to the truth of a statement. But who was reliable, in an age when all men were performed liars, except the conscientious gods and the spirits which dwelt in the clouds? Thus men swore by the thunder and the lightning, the sun and the sea, the rocks and the plane tree, as well as by all the gods.

We still call upon Gemini—by Jiminy! We still, in support of some statement, invoke God's curse of blindness — Gor blimey! We still swear by the attributes of God—O Goodness! O Gracious! O Mercy!

We still invoke Deus Himself—O Lord! We still invite the spirit of the storm to wreck our ship—Shiver my timbers! But we don't mean anything by it. Our oaths are merely trying to make a routine noise.

The old oath "By Our Lady" probably is responsible for the all-purpose word that is so emphasis whimsically, taboo in British society and therefore universally in use.

Job at Home

(North Bay Nugget)

We are urged to support missions to foreign lands but right here in Canada there is lot to be done. Just this week a 15-year-old boy appeared in court at Cochrane and it was revealed that he knew nothing of God nor of the Bible. Religion, like charity, should begin at home.

Height Varies Hour to Hour

(Scientific Information Service).

Your height may vary from hour to hour. It is greatest in the morning and least in the evening.

Almost 200 years ago, the French sculpit, Buffon, made the interesting observation that at the end of an all-night spree, a group of young men he had studied were somewhat shorter in the morning than they were the night before.

Today, these daily fluctuations in the length of the human body are studied as an aspect of fatigue.

The average length of a newborn baby is 20 inches or more. Given normal development it will grow to more than three times as this size by the age of 20. This growth does not go on at a constant pace. It has certain growth periods, and speeds up greatly during childhood.

In the early years, growth is vigorous. In the first 12 months a child's length will increase by almost one-half. By the age of five, it may have doubled its length.

It is possible to predict the approximate adult height of a two-year-old. At this point the baby's length is about half of what it will be as an adult. Thus, a two-year-old girl 32 inches long can expect to grow to be five feet in inches.

Although heredity plays a leading role in determining height, other factors often prove of greater importance. Glandular disturbance, for instance, may cause the offspring of normal-sized parents to develop into a giant or a dwarf.

Nutrition, too, can greatly affect growth. This was illustrated in a recent experiment involving a group of undernourished and under-sized children in an orphanage in Europe. They, and otherwise poor diet, doctors added a daily dose of vitamin B-12, the anti-anaemia vitamin that has been shown to take part in several vital body processes in laboratory tests. In short time, the children had put on weight.

Recently, however, psychologists have begun to stress that researchers must also study less tangible factors such as emotional environment. It has been shown that lack of maternal love can cause serious disturbances in a child's physical and mental development.

Slang Terms Are Useful

(Sudbury Star).

A Gravenhurst entrant in the regional advertising contest finals in Sudbury deplored the use of slang expressions, and said—"words are words, and of which we build our civilization; without them we would be unable to express six six words instead of one to say the same thing."

It seems to fill a gap in our ability to properly and completely express ourselves, however, by modernizing the Victorian "Oh, fudge!" and the equally quaint "Pipe that dame!" to "Dig that doll; she's real cool!"

It is a slang expression. But can you imagine the dandies of a past or present age nudging each other and saying, "Look at that girl with the beautiful figure; I'd like to have a date with her"?

An adequate vocabulary includes slang terms because of the concise manner and speed with which they are able to express a passing thought or an idea. More over, they are true mirrors of their descriptive power, and in the passage of time they find their way into the common usage as acceptable words.

Would Grow Soybeans

(Lethbridge Herald)

Noting the other day that soybeans were bringing $3.80 a bushel market at around $3.80 a bushel, and knowing that Canada is today in considerable need of better vegetable oils, including soybean oil, the wonder-worker of the Mackenzie data on the S.M. Blair, agricultural representative around the Bow Island area is to be found the peak of the Chinook belt, has been doing her best to put on a style in keeping with the setting.

She was in a party of four, two well-to-do businessmen and the two wives. We could not help but notice her. She was really regal. From the way they spoke, we assume they were a local businessman and his wife entertaining a visiting customer and his wife.

The regal lady was doing the entertaining. She was dressed in a formal gown, a little severe, but noticeably low cut in front and back as high as possible on a rather long neck. The way she behaved, moved her hands and arms, elbows well in, pinkies erect, you could tell she was well versed in etiquette books. Her husband across from her acted rather ill at ease all at her all through the dinner. The other couple were subdued.

The food was particularly gracious to the waitress. She smiled and spoke affectionately to the servant, who was a middle aged, cheerful soul. With pleasantries, nods and kind words, the regal lady directed the waitress, corrected her when she was guessing, little changes in her way of serving if she felt it best.

But the waitress, instead of recognizing ladylike condescension after she had left the lady's sweet smiles for chumminess, did not like it. She was one she got chummy too!

And before our startled eyes, the lady suddenly decided to put the waitress in her place. In the manner of a queen she drew herself erect and snapped haughtily at the poor old girl. The waitress wilted. Flushed and bewildered, she fumbled around the table. The husband of the lady was overcome than the waitress, and glared. The other couple bowed to their plates. We all felt bad.

Then, without warning, the regal lady got very gracious. The real, gurky, yurky type. They spoke her, by comparison, against them. Yurk, Yawk, Yupp. They were families.

Happiness spread all around us, like the sun coming out.

Pruning Curriculum

(Edmonton Journal)

Something rather unusual may soon happen to the school curriculum. Pruning may be carried out by one optional subject, ceramics.

This would be distinctly out of keeping with the modern trend. But the people who are behind it recognize that there is no point in carrying ceramics on the optional list in Victoria Composite High School, when it has been unable to obtain the services of a qualified teacher and students have expressed little interest.

The dropping of ceramics is not yet certain, but a motion to that effect was presented to the board at this week's meeting and the board has decided to refer it to the property committee. If the committee and the board do the logical thing, ceramics will disappear entirely.

This would mean one less optional frill and taxpayers could be thankful for that. But they may also wonder how many other additions are being carried on the curriculum, as time goes by, and expense, in spite of little student interest and sparse attendance at classes. We could do with some more pruning of these modern growths.

Personal Health Talks

ROUGHAGE IN EVERYDAY DIET

Years ago there were a good many queries about roughage in the diet. In the past ten years there have been few such queries, although the volume of daily mail is greater than ever before. This does not necessarily imply that readers are less introspective than they were that they have learned a little about physiology and the automatic regulation of the alimentary or digestive functions. For all I know it may be just because my uncouth style and my name-calling propensity made all the Yankee Wisecracker—mad and so they want no part of me. If that's the case I'm sorry for the poor souls, but my conscience is clear—I did my best to relieve them of their moronic tendencies.

I do not profess to understand the digestive tract which is so fixed and therefore refined class of customers is insulted by coarse foods such as whole wheat, wheat bran, corn, oats, celery, cucumbers, nuts and berries, cabbage, onions, peanuts, tomato, raw apples, raisins etc.

One with real colitis (not the functional derangement the quacks call "mucous colitis") should heed his or her own doctor's advice and not be overgenerous also. I believe, should eat what he or she likes, whether it is "roughage" or not.

The question whether an ileus is "easy to digest" or "indigestible" should never influence one's selection of food. Nor does it matter at all whether a given food item is boiled, baked, fried, raw, well done, roasted, stewed or raw, if that's the way you like it.

It is well to remember that the indigestible part of many valuable foods — the cellulose or fibrous part of vegetables and cereals, the gristle or tendon and soft bone of cartilage of meat, the skins of apple, pear, grapes etc. and the seeds of berries—are useful aids to digestion in the intestine.

So the less attention one pays to "digestibility" and the imaginary "digestibility" or "indigestibility" of one's food the better for health.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

WHAT IS MOST PRECIOUS?

Last night a house burned down in our town. It was an old, rambling wooden building which had been converted into several apartments. The people on the third floor—three adults and a child—got out all right. Even though they had to climb out a window and on to a porch roof.

But on the second floor, a woman who had come safely down the stairs remembered that she had left some money in her apartment. And she went back for it. And there they found her in the morning, when the fire was over, with only the remains of money still clutched in her dead hands.

If this grim tale were not true, if I had not talked with the fire-fighters and those who were present when, hours later, the smoking, steaming timbers cooled down enough for them to enter—this story would seem like a parable made up to illustrate a point or a theme. And even though it is true, is still does have the quality of illustration of a tragic misdevotion.

Everyone gives his life for something. But many give their lives for, not dramatically among the flames, but spending them bit by bit, day after day and year after year, for the wrong spending yours? For something worthwhile, or for a handful of ashes?

THE PACKSACK

Recent Bride Honored By Church Ladies

MARSH HILL.—On Wednesday evening the ladies of the Marsh Hill Church met at the home of Mrs. Basil Kuglin to honor Miss Eva Giffin, prior to her marriage on Saturday.

Miss Barbara Brown was chairman for the program, which opened with each answering a mock roll call, by giving the bride-to-be, "Advice for her Married Life."

Community singing was then enjoyed with Mrs. Roscoe Vanderwater at the piano.

Miss Brown conducted a trousseau contest, followed by a piano solo, "The Black Hawk Waltz, by Mrs. Ivan Clare; reading "On the Deafness of Men", by Edgar Guest, by Mrs. Leslie Finkle; contest, "Bride's Kitchen", by Miss Lois Mitts.

Mrs. R. B. Finkle read the address of the evening, and Miss Lois Mitts presented Eva with a blanket and a dresser scarf, for which she voiced her sincere thanks.

Mrs. Giffin also expressed her appreciation for the kindness to Eva.

After the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," all were invited to the dining room where refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was thinking about getting redy to do my homework, and I said to pop, Hay pop, it's a grate thing to be honorable, aint it?

When honor disappears from human relations, civilization falls back into the dark ages, pop said.

Meening it was a grate thing altrite, and I said, I was honorable in school today, and I saved Puds Simkins from being kept after class.

Do you mean you were kept in yourself? pop said, and I said, No sir, I saved myself too. I was whispering to Puds during the spelling lesson, and Puds was whispering back, and Miss Kitty caught us and she told me to stand up and tell the rest of the class what we were whispering about, because she chimed it know about it if it was so im-

ing ine anything better, I said.

And did you tell them? pop said, and I said, No sir, I told Miss Kitty it was something secret we knew about somebody elts, and it would-n't be nice to spred scandle by telling everybody, and Miss Kitty congradulated me and said it was a fine thing to stick to your principals and take the honorable course, and she said she had intended to detain us after school, but now she wouldn't.

What were you whispering. Whose honor were you saving? pop said, and I said, Miss Kitty's. I whispered to Puds that she wouldn't know how to spell the werds herself if she didn't have the book rite there, and Puds whispered back, "Sure, she's the dummest guy in school."

Yes gosh, if you had come out with that, you wouldn't be out of school yet, pop said.

Which I probably wouldn't.

Weddings

FARRELL—RIVERS

Standards of daffodils, white snapdragons and lilies adorned the altar of St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, Tweed, Ontario, on Saturday, April 24th at 10:30 a.m., when Rev. Father R. Farrell, of Petawawa, uncle of the bridegroom, performed the marriage Vera Agnes Rivers, of Tweed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rivers, to John Anthony Farrell, of Corbyville, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Farrell in a double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in white brocaded satin over satin, featuring a fitted bodice with high neckline, and simulated yoke formed by pearl beading. The long, tight-fitting sleeves ended in "V" points over the wrists. The floor-length skirt was accented by a band panel of tiered ruffled net. She wore a finger-tip veil of embroidered tulle illusion held by a coronet encrusted with seed pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white carnations and double stock blooms.

Miss Helena Rivers, of Oshawa, sister of the bride, was maid of honour and the Misses Verona Farrell, sister of the bridegroom and Helen Rivers, sister of the bride, bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in blush pink net over taffeta with pearl applique trues, and wore headdresses of nylon net with pastel shaded flowers. They carried baskets of mixed spring flowers.

Mr. Joseph Farrell, of Rochester, was his brother's groomsman, while Mr. Francis Rivers, of Rochester, brother of the bride, and Mr. Leo Farrell, brother of the bridegroom, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held at Hotel Tweedsmuir, Tweed, Ontario, where the bride's mother, attired in lilac ticatina with navy accessories and corsage of white carnations, received the guests. The bridegroom's mother assisted, gowned in navy and white with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

For travelling to Ottawa, Montreal and Rochester, the bride chose a grey suit with navy accessories, fur neckpiece and corsage of pink carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Farrell will reside in Corbyville upon their return.

Out-of-town guests were present from Ottawa; Oshawa; Toronto; Rochester; Belleville; Petawawa; North Bay; Marmora; Corbyville and Peterborough.

Prior to her marriage, the bride was honored by the staff of the Bank of Montreal of which she is a member, with a presentation of a coffee table. She was also entertained by Miss Teresa Cassidy and several other friends, at her home here, on Wednesday evening, when she was the happy recipient of a electric tea kettle.

BEIKWORTH—SHARPE.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carter, Harold, on Wednesday, May 5th, at 2.30 p.m., when Miss Meg Sharpe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Sharpe, was united in marriage to John Julius Beikworth, of Bancroft, Ontario. The Rev. Gordon Pierce, of Frankford was the officiating clergyman.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. George Sharpe, of Canniffon, was gowned in a street-length gown of white nylon sheer with white accessories. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The attendants were, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hawley, of Bancroft, the latter was gowned in blue nylon sheer with red accessories.

'Good News Clubs,' Friends, Hold Supper Meeting, Hear Reports

Following the rally of Child Evangelism held in Bridge Street United Church Sunday school assembly room, Saturday afternoon, approximately 300 officers, leaders and friends met again in the Y.M.C.A. for a bounteous supper at 6.30. Mr. Wilbur Wright presided as master of ceremonies, and extended a most cordial welcome to those present, and a hearty 'thank-you' to those who had prepared the splendid and generous repast provided.

A sing-song of hymns and choruses was enjoyed under the direction of Mr. Gerry Boyd, of Kingston, who also assisted Mrs. Williams, district director of the "Good News Bible Club" in teaching two new choruses to the assembly, after which the Rev. Eric Strain, pastor of the Alliance Tabernacle, Belleville, gave the invocation.

GROWTH OF GOOD NEWS CLUBS

Since the inception of the 'Good News Clubs' two years ago, there are now 71 clubs, with 62 teachers and a total enrollment of 2323 taking in the following districts: Belleville, with clubs in Consecon, Demorestville, Redcreville, Whitney, Stirton, Newcastle, Queensboro and Plainfield, in the Kingston area: Sillerville, Lohmer, Elginburg, Piccadilly, Westbrook, Keplin and Hartington. In the Peterborough area: Kinmount, Lindsay, Lakefield, Burleigh Falls, Land and Peterborough.

These clubs are held in the private homes where the mistress of the home acts as hostess, and she can endeavor to reach those children who do not attend any Sunday School, and to give them the Gospel in simple form by story, flannelgraph and song, under the guidance of a Christian leader. Those children who attend Sunday School are also welcome. These "Good News" clubs do not proselyte, but encourage the children to attend the church and Sunday School of their choice. The work is a love work, given freely.

PEORIA CLUBS

The speakers of the evening included Mrs. Ogilvy, a guest from Peoria, Illinois, who briefly outlined the work that was being done in the States along these lines; of how these clubs were taking the children off the street corners, as well as teaching those in grade and public schools, trailer camps, and in the high schools. Mrs. Ogilvy stated that only about 50 per cent of boys and girls attend Sunday schools. She also mentioned that the "Good News Clubs" had infiltrated into West Africa, where the boys and girls walk ten miles to attend and of how the parents, through the children, are led to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

Mrs. Steward, of Kingston, in her report stated that it had been a wonderful year of progress in the formation of the 20 clubs now in operation, and in the surrounding district there were eight and ten clubs. There had been a number of decisions for Christ, which was most encouraging.

Mrs. Musclow, of Belleville on Good News Club, stated that there were 18 clubs in the city with three clubs in the schools, the teachers of which are supplied with the material from the headquarters in Toronto. At present the children are studying the life of Jesus as told in the gospel of Luke. So far, over 700 children have heard the gospel.

There are two teacher-training classes per month held in the YMCA, and five-day clubs are being inaugurated. The year has been an excellent one, winning the children for Christ.

AREA DIRECTOR

Mrs. Williams, of Kingston, director of the area, stated this year that 2300 boys and girls had heard the Gospel throughout the 22 points in Ontario. At the second rally in Peterborough 78 had been present, while one year ago there had been 73, and last week at the rally in Kingston there were 225 present, and that in Bridge St. Church there had been approximately 400 from the three divisions.

Besides training the Gospel to the children, the homes are getting interested in the work, churches are seeing the Good News Clubs are assisting in their Sunday School attendance.

GUEST SPEAKER

The guest speaker for the evening was the Rev. Donald Shepson, pastor of the Avenue Road Alliance Tabernacle, Toronto, who brought a brief, but inspiring and thoughtful message on the "Aspects of Evangelism," dealing with the mechanics part, under three heads: "Know Yourself" "Know the Book" and "Know God." "There is today," said Mr. Shepson, "too little interpretation too few Christians who are honest with themselves and honest with God. A Christian must be equipped in the best possible way to get results. We must know his own spiritual condition; being a success for God is measured by a vastly different yardstick than the world uses to measure success."

Other enjoyable features of the evening was the pleasure of hearing Miss Hazel Solomon, dramatic soprano, who had remained to sing for the assembly, "The Lord is My Shepherd," by Adams, and a spiritual, "Jesus Walks With Me." A short talk in color with 'stick' men, by the Rev. Stan Crookall, of Peterborough, on "The Disobedient Prophet," which was enjoyed by both those young and not so young, and a reading by little Barbara Ritz, of Plainfield club, on the "Books of the Bible," in poetry form with a synopsis of each book — splendidly well done.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Officers elected for the year following were: Harold Robinson, of Belleville, is also a member of the Central Ontario Committee; Wilber Wright, chairman of the city committee; Mrs. Leona Musclow, director of teachers; Mrs. Watson, secretary; Mrs. Tancarter, treasurer; Mr. G. Daudy, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Wilber Perrin, prayer chairman.

Mr. Shepson was thanked by Mr. Daugherty for his fine message, while Mr. Harold Robinson extended his thanks and appreciation also to Mr. and Mrs. Shepson; to Mr. Crookall, of Peterborough, for his "Shalk Talk"; to Miss Solomon for her music; to Mrs. Ogilvy, of Peoria, Mrs. Williams, area director; to Mrs. Stewart and Mr. Boyd, of Kingston; to the teachers who labored so faithfully in the clubs, and to those who catered for the delicious supper.

Golden Anniversary Celebrated

Fifty years of wedded life were celebrated last week by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel P. Herrington, Mary Street. All nine of the Herrington children—seven girls and two boys—were at home for their parents' anniversary, while about 50 friends called to offer congratulations.

"Canada, Land Of Opportunity" Topic of Talk

The regular monthly meeting of Bridge Street United Church Adult Bible Class was held in the president, Mrs. C. Hyde, showed a fine attendance.

Interesting reports from the various departments were given by Mesdames, Hyde, Cooke, Mason, Broad, Myers, and Wood.

Mrs. Arthur Hall gave the highlights of the Presbyterial held at Napanee, On Tuesday evening C.G.I.T. under Leader Gail Sharpe will affiliate with the W.M.S. The ladies are to meet at the home of Mrs. Mike Hanley of Read, Ont.

The next meeting, in charge of Mrs. Hibbard and Mrs. McKinley group, will be a pot-luck luncheon in June. Mrs. Hibbard has kindly offered to supply the pot roast and many are anticipating this event. Mrs. Hibbard, a native of Tweed, the president of the Presbyterial, will speak. Transportation will be available and a good turnout is desired.

PROGRAM

Mrs. Finkle and Mrs. Richards took charge of the program which was entitled "Canada, Land of Opportunity," Mrs. Finkle said: "We are surrounded by new things in our homes and all about us we find automatic devices, and we can attribute the great industrial growth in the engineering field. Sleeping Lake, in Northern Ontario, has been drained. At Kitimat, B.C., we find a power plant in the heart of a mountain, and the source of a river, turned to serve it. In Seven Islands, Quebec, a railroad has been built through rough terrain to Labrador.

"This development has been accomplished by means of air transport. Then we have a pipe-line, said from Alberta, bringing oil to our doors. A great deal of this conveying machinery was manufactured in Belleville.

MEDICAL RESEARCH.

"In the field of medical scientific research 80 per cent of our drugs were unknown five or ten years ago. The Connaught group is engaged in an international crusade against polio. Although we are but one, one hundred and sixty-ninth of the world's population, Canada is still a land of vast opportunity. Our greatest asset is our children."

Mrs. Finkle also spoke on the parent-child relation, referring to the new book, "It Takes Time To Grow," by Mrs. Brown, who was requested to write such a book by two Boards of the United Church. The author is on the teaching staff of the Institute of Child Study, Toronto, and shows how Christian parents can understand some of the main ideas behind child guidance and put them into practical effect in the family. The book is quite readable to a wide age range. Its value lies in the extent to which its teaching is actually applied to family living.

Mrs. Finkle was thanked by the president and others for her informative talk.

An appeal was made for contributions to be made regularly from personal abundance, for the relief of the "naked and hungry children" of Korea and elsewhere. "But are there children now who cry along a war-torn road? Why cry with cold and hunger? Cry with fear? But what of those whose mother cannot hear?"

Following the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the group in charge. A cordial invitation was given to remain for the social half hour.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. George Sharpe, of Canniffon, was gowned in a street-length gown of white nylon sheer with white accessories. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The attendants were, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hawley, of Bancroft, the latter was gowned in blue nylon sheer with red accessories.

Your Hospital

Throughout the world, but especially in the Dominion of Canada, members of the nursing profession are admired and respected.

An immortal figure in the nursing profession and one of the best known nurses of all times was Florence Nightingale, in 1854 she originated the system of sending trained nurses to battlefields during the Crimean War.

She was born in 1820 and, at an early age, showed a keen interest in suffering humanity. While the Crimean War was being waged she volunteered to organize a select band of nurses. Her offer was accepted by the War Office, with the result she and her little group were able to render invaluable service to the sick and the wounded right at the scene of the conflict.

Historical records show that even as early as 1784 a course of lectures for nurses was held in the New York Hospital. The Nurses' Society of Philadelphia, believed to be the first organization of its kind on this continent, was organized in 1839. But the nursing profession came into its own mainly through the heroic and humanitarian efforts of Florence Nightingale.

The General Hospital in St. Catharines, originally known as the General and Marine Hospital, was the first institution of its kind in Ontario and, in fact, in the whole of Canada, to open a Nurses' Training School. This was established in 1874, just nine years after the hospital was founded.

The 1951 census made by the Federal Government reveals that, at that time, there were 39,138 graduate nurses and 15,623 nurses-in-training in Canada. At the present time Belleville General Hospital has 60 graduate nurses on staff and 53 nurses in training.

Since the termination of World War II, Belleville General's most hospitals across Canada, has been somewhat handicapped in its work by the shortage of both graduate and nurses-in-training.

This is a profession which offers a unique opportunity to Canadian girls and young women to render a great service to suffering humanity and to help others less fortunate than themselves.

Nurses will be on duty, together with department heads, to explain latest methods used in your community. Watch for Belleville General Hospital, on Hospital Day, Wednesday, May 12th. Why not

W.M.S. Council To Meet In Winnipeg

Overseas missions will be presented by outstanding speakers, who have made a deep impression wherever they have been heard; Miss Laura Pelton, director of Overseas Missions, Miss Hildur Hermanson, Reg.N., on furlough from Formosa, Miss Margaret Kennedy, and Miss Edith Magee, on furlough from India.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HOW TIRED IS "THE TIRED BUSINESSMAN"?

Recently, a young man in looking back on his week-end of his vacation gave a big sigh as he rested from the cares of their three small children and the household chores.

Telling me about it, he declared in exhaustion: "You know what I found out? Why it takes practically all day long just to get three meals a day, feed people and wash up afterward!"

I thought about this young man just now, as I read a letter from a woman with four children who complained that, when her husband got home at night, if she says anything about being tired, he always comes back with: "You're tired! What were you doing all day long? I was slaving to earn the money to keep a roof over your head and food in five people's mouths!"

She also says that her husband never offers to take her place there in the evening to give her a little change from the four walls of the house; that he isn't even willing to have her go out with her friends—as he thinks someone will have to baby sit with the children if she does. She says she likes to have friends come in, and, to add insult to injury, when he does feel like going out, it's the child's work he wants to go alone.

It seems to me that the only thing a wife can do, when she has had the sad misfortune to marry a character like this, is to have the independence and the initiative to go out and have some recreation without him, whether he likes it or not. No doubt she now has friends of her own with whom she could spend an afternoon or and evening. Perhaps she might join a bridge club or some other group that appeals to her. Or, she says she has a mother and sisters living near by, so it should be fairly easy to get one of them to baby sit occasionally in the afternoon, or in the evening, if the husband makes too big a row about being left with the children on his hands.

If she is able to make a convenient baby sitting arrangement, either with her family or with a paid baby sitter, then I think she should take at least one afternoon and one evening a week off for herself. Surely this would not be overdoing it.

Her letter says that any time to date that she has tried to make plans to go out by herself, her husband has been so disagreeable about it that she gave up and stayed home. This, I believe, was a mistake. For once he realized that he couldn't hamper her independence in his unreasonable demands, she closed the door on the possibility of any independent action on her part.

For better, under such circumstances, to try to keep her own temper and, refusing to argue about it, to go quietly ahead with her plans. After all, it does take two to make a quarrel, and if the simple declines to be drawn into one, her husband will not be able to carry it on very long.

It will, of course, require great effort of will, and great patience, to maintain good nature and calmness in the face of reproaches, nagging and probably bitter words. But if she can discipline herself to do so, and stick to her new program calmly and consistently, it may in time, give her husband a new respect for her as a woman of independent spirit and resourcefulness that would make it possible for her to have some life of her own.

If husbands in general would be persuaded enough to give their wife one day of their lives to taking over their every daily program, as the young man mentioned at the beginning of this column did, it would do much to revamp the whole domestic picture. Too long, I think, has the pathetic figure of the "tired businessman" been held up before the little women in the home.

The business man may come home tired, it's perfectly true. But I'll bet anything you can name that if he had charge of the home, care of the children all day; to do the laundry, clean the house and do the cooking, he'd get a whole new idea of what it means to be really tired!

Melrose W.M.S. Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Melrose W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Bates, on Wednesday with an attendance of 13.

The president, Mrs. George Morgan, extended a welcome to all and Mrs. Bates presided at the piano for the singing of the hymns.

Mrs. S. Demille conducted the worship service the theme being "The General Assembly" in part.

Mrs. E. Embury read the Scripture lesson, Mrs. Charles Bates gave a reading on the "Strength of the Church," depends on a believing community.

Miss Bailey read a poem which teaches a good lesson: "Judge us as we judge our fellowmen."

Mrs. E. Badgley, Stewardship secretary, gave a reading: "The Strength of the Church Is Each Member." This was followed by silent prayer for the missionary, Miss Mary Louise Bell.

BUSINESS PERIOD

A business period was conducted. The treasurer, Mrs. Lorne Larsen, gave her report. Easter offering amounted to $30.50 and proceeds from the Easter basket tournament under the auspices of the W.M.S. were $30.70. Collection $7.30.

Mrs. J. Milligan, Literature secretary, explained the "Reading Course." Several ladies promised to read the Bible systematically.

Mrs. J. English, Community Friendship secretary, reported 19 calls during the month.

Mrs. E. Pascoe Sr., thanked all for their many cards, letters and visits during her illness of several months. Mrs. Charles Bates, on behalf of her friends, also expressed his appreciation of all the kindness extended to Mrs. Pascoe in his illness. Mrs. J. English thanked those who remembered her during her illness with cards.

Mrs. Russell MacFarlane, group leader, took charge of the following program, with Mrs. R. MacFarlane giving a reading "One Must Respect Korean Culture." The unknown friends, the Koreans, despite a long series of devastations, have an extraordinary cultural heritage of which the world knows too little. As a people and as a nation, Koreans possess a stunning integrity. At most every face of Japanese culture way first polished in Korea. Some of the finest sculpture in Asia was done by Koreans. Artistic Western gardens have been enriched by the glorious flowers which came from Korea.

MUSIC CONTRIBUTION

The contribution for which Korea is most famous is its music, but perhaps the greatest was in the field of naval science.

The Chinese have always called the Koreans "the gentlemen and the scholars of the East." American religious influence has been profound. Korea has not generally accepted national religion. But today, the leading religion is Christianity, but the number of its actual followers is not too great.

Miss Beatrice MacFarlane gave a reading on Stewardship and Missions—"Can a Christian be an Isolationist?"

Mrs. J. Milligan gave the last chapter of the study book—"Shadows are Frontiers."

UNREACHED TERRITORY

The greatest stretch of unreached territory in the world is said to be in the heart of South America. Inland Africa is still dark. There is the unmet challenge of Central Asia. Arabia and Aden have 15,000,000 people and only 263 Christians. The rich province of Szechwan in China has 50,000,000 people and even before the Communists came, only one in 4,000 was a Christian. In Japan the frontier is the farmer. There are 40,000,000 farmers and only one in 10,000 is a Christian.

There are 600,000,000 more non Christians in the world than in 50 years ago. How many live in the shadows? But the frontier is everywhere. It may be in universities, in smoking factories, in one's own back-yard.

The root disease that troubles the whole world is 'sin'. The sick people must be brought to Jesus Christ, who alone can lift them from the deepest shadow. This then is the heart and centre of the mission of the church.

Mrs. Morgan closed the meeting.

The hostess served refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

Miss Beatrice MacFarlane graciously thanked Mrs. Bates for her hospitality.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

PERMANENT WAVES

Many methods of permanent waving are used and all are good. The success of the treatment depends upon the skill and conscientious service of the operator. The shampoo before the treatment must be thorough since the slightest amount of soap deposit left on the shafts can produce a weak, unsatisfactory wave.

The strands must be measured off evenly. On certain methods the winding must be extra tight, especially if the hair is thin, silky or inclined to be oily. The cold wave gives a curl closer to the scalp than the older methods and is the best selection for the three-inch mode.

More important than many customers realize is the trim. The strands should be tapered carefully; if they have blunt, sharp ends there will be little definition. Ragtags and bob tails showing up when the hair is arranged.

The first wave set should be done with lines close and even, but fluid. This same pattern should be followed after each shampoo.

The best permanents can be ruined by careless home shampooing. Even water used for as long as the scalp can comfortably bear since moist heat increases the curl quality. Only a second or two applications of the shampoo agent, each one rinsed away with the bath spray and a strong current of water. Oily hair may require three soapings. The soap, of course, should be in liquid or cream form. Bar soap leaves particles on the scalp and hair that are difficult to remove.

After the last rinsing, turn on the hot water and steam your hair. Cold water should never be used.

If the hair is dry apply a little brilliantine before the coiffure is arranged.

Says Too Many Women Follow Selfish Course

GUELPH (CP) — Mrs. J. W. Adams of Ethelton, Sask., president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, said today that unless home life is strengthened and re-valuated and families made consciously aware of its place in a democratic society, Canadians may lose by default the basic institution of Canadian life.

In an address before 630 delegates to the sixth annual Ontario Women's Institute officers conference, Mrs. Adams criticized women who go out to work for work's sake.

"We find working mothers now leaving their homes and bringing in part of the family pay-packet," she said. "This is even creeping into rural homes. Many mothers, especially rural mothers, have been forced, for the sake of their children, to enter the teaching field. But the woman who goes out just for the sake of working is stealing the role from the father of the family."

Emphasis On The Good Side

By Mary Moore

Because I feel the need to allbi a little because I received so many Easter cards from you, (the which I thank you) and sent out my own, I'm going to tell you how I'm spending my nights this week—and next probably.

I have an elderly neighbor whose husband is in hospital, leaving her alone. There's nothing much wrong with this dear soul, but she is not well and her sick husband worries about her. So when bedtime arrives instead of sleeping in my own bed, I hang up my clothes, take a bath, don my night and dressing gowns, slip on a topcoat, take Pete's spotlight and run over to sleep in Bob's twin bed beside Jill.

It must be quite a sight to the neighbors when I run home each morning—coat over housecoat over nightie. In that fifty yards that I run I bet I could give a sprinter good competition. The last evening I visited another sick friend and was struck by her fortitude. She has two heart diseases — coronary thrombosis and angina pectoris, plus a gall bladder condition which requires a strict diet. Yet when you ask her how she is she says "I'm fine—how are you?" That's all you ever get out of her about herself.

Another dear friend of 85 years of age has Hodgkinson's disease, and neuritis in her left arm which pains all the time. Eleven years ago doctors gave her 6 months to live. She has so much faith in Scientific she will not submit to pain or doom. She has handwoven, on a huge pianola-sized loom, dresses for her living and dining room windows, priceless dark grey-blue woollen material for a suit for her adored husband; she won a spinning wheel for color photography, which is another of her hobbies.

I talked to a doctor about a mutual friend of ours who has arthritis. He said that the patient has mother-in-law trouble, but at 50 years of age had met a man in Florida whose arthritis had been cured, and wondered if his could be. The doctor merely said "Love your mother-in-law!" The arthritic patient tried. He succeeded. His arthritis was no more. The swellings in his joints were disappeared. This is a true story.

Readers spurred private notes to their cheery letters briefing me on their heavy burdens (crippled children, invalid husband, never-ending series of operations), but admonish me not to print that, but just print the cheery parts of their letters.

I say it's a good world we live in. The bad can overcome the good. Salvation, health and happiness are all a state of mind. You can have them all.

QUESTION:

Would you please print how to make cole slaw and also a Polish dish called "perogi"—Mrs. J. M.

ANSWER:

COLE SLAW-

One hard young new cabbage about 4 or 4 1-2 inches in diameter, 1-2 cup each rich cream and vinegar and 1-2 (or 1-3) cup sugar, 1 teaspoon salt. With rotary or electric beater beat the cream until stiff, then beat in the sugar and salt, and stir in the vinegar. With your very sharpest carving knife shred the trimmed cabbage as finely as possible. This takes about 10 or 15 minutes —for the success of the slaw is in the fineness of your shreds. Fold into the cream dressing just before serving.

PEROGI

Dough: Two cups flour, 2 eggs. Filling: 1 cup cottage cheese, 1 tablespoon melted butter, 1 beaten egg, 2 or 3 tablespoons sugar, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 tablespoons currants (or blueberries) optional. Make a well in flour, add eggs and beat and knead as a noodle dough. Roll out very thin and cut into 2-inch squares. Cream cottage cheese with butter and cream in other ingredients. Put small spoonful on each square of dough and fold over to make triangle. Moisten and seal edges. Boil in plenty of salted water 30 minutes—but gently. Drain. Serve on hot platter with melted butter and toasted bread-crumbs sprinkled over. Serves 4.

PRESENTS FOR A HOUSEWARMING

Dear Mrs. Beechman: -

A close relative of ours and her husband are soon moving into their new house, and the subject of a Housewarming has come up several times. There seems to be considerable confusion as to what is the proper response of the guests concerning the bringing of gifts. Some feel that Housewarming gifts should be in the same classification as wedding gifts—as a matter of fact, I hear that the sponsors of the Housewarming let it be known that important gifts are to be expected. Others think that just a small, inexpensive gift is in order. And still others feel that no gift should be expected. Just what is the accepted rule to be applied here?—Dorothy

It's certainly a mistaken idea that Housewarming present should be considered in the wedding present as important as wedding presents. This is not true, . . at least it is true except to "promoters" of the occasion, who, for some reason, may want to impress their friends with the new home by getting them a big catch of gifts.

The fact is that, as a general rule, guests do not necessarily bring presents to a Housewarming, and neither the hosts (who themselves are the Housewarming or the "sponsors") should expect that presents should be brought. Sometimes small inexpensive thought, something trifling in expense but thoughtful in fact. The present should not be so important that the guests who did not bring a gift would be at all embarrassed. Today, shower with the insistent demands for bridal showers, personal showers, presents, baby shower presents, christening presents, presents for this and presents for that, the long-suffering pocketbook cries for "Help"!

BRIDE'S ENTRANCE AT SMALL SIMPLE WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Is it proper for a bride (dressed informally, and with only one attendant), to come up to the aisle unescorted, having her father take his place at her left when she arrives at the head of the aisle?

Engaged girl

THE SEWING CLUB . . AND THE BRIDAL SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

For several years we have had a group of friends who meet every two weeks, each time at the house of one of the members. It is a Sewing Club. One week we make things for ourselves, the other week we make items for the local children's hospital. All the members except two are married. Now one of the single girls has just announced her engagement, and I would like to plan a surprise shower for her, a Miscellaneous Shower.

Today it occurred to me that it might be a nice idea to have this at the meeting next month of our club, which is scheduled to be at my house—to invite the club members to come to lunch, another group of the guest of honor's other very intimate friends whom we all know very well) to come in for dessert-and-coffee—then the "surprise" of the shower. What do you think about this plan, Mrs. Beechman — Myra W.

A wonderful plan. . . and what happiness you're going to give to that Bride-to-be!

Professional Rat-Catcher Doing Well

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Every morning at 8 Mrs. Kay Thorburn leaves her suburban Ruislip home, climbs into a green truck and drives off—to hunt rats.

This slim, 40-year-old housewife is a professional rat-catcher, and so far she has killed about 2,000.

Mrs. Thorburn, whose mother-in-law, Ida Little, lived for many years in the Winnipeg suburb of Fort Rouge and who still has "dozens" of relatives in Canada, started her unusual occupation nine months ago. She spotted a government advertisement for a "trainee rodent operative" and answered it.

"Most women have a secret fancy," she explained. "This was mine. I've never been afraid of rats. I started chasing them when I was 14."

After three months training, Mrs. Thorburn went into business on her own with the truck, 1,000 pounds of poison and a stack of stationery boldly embossed: Kay Thorburn—Rat-Catcher.

"No high-falutting stuff about rodent operative for me," she chuckled.

RELATIVES SHOCKED

Mrs. Thorburn says friends and relatives were somewhat shocked when they learned of her new job. Some shocks have been registered also in Ruislip's social circle. Mrs. Thorburn explained:

"You should see the looks when I break the news casually over a cocktail.

"Some people hastily change the subject; others think I'm trying to be funny. But, after an awkward pause, most are tremendously interested—in a morbid sort of way."

Mrs. Thorburn's working garb is a long suit jacket and a pair of baggy, tweed trousers. Her dark hair is tucked under a broad-brimmed felt hat.

Most of her calls come from farms and sports grounds where rats and moles pock the fields with their homes. Mrs. Thorburn locates the holes and fills them with poisoned food.

"Working on a farm I sometimes see them on the third day after poisoning. Then every piece of wood or machinery I pick up will have a dead or dying rat hanging on.

"It just doesn't bother me, though I'm not a tough type—in fact, I'm rather soft. The poison I use kills the rats painlessly, thank goodness, and is harmless to other animals."

Mrs. Thorburn's family does not share her interest in rodents. Her husband is an inspector of factory machinery and her 16-year-old son detests rats.

World's Only Grandmother Who Makes Living as Clown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some grandmothers knit and others are Wall street records. But Rose Hanlon probably is the world's only grandmother who makes her living as a clown.

Mrs. Hanlon is a sweet-faced, motherly little women who looks as if her most daring exploit would be trying out a new recipe for creamed chicken—until she gets into her clown suit. Then she's a jovial, rolstering comic in white-face make-up and blinding giant polka dots, who loves to make children laugh.

Among her most ardent fans when the circus makes its annual call at Madison Square Garden are her three grandchildren, Robert, Anita and Judy Patton of Teaneck, N.J.

Mrs. Hanlon has been clowning with the circus for 11 years. Before that she sang and danced in various Broadway shows, and worked out pantomime acts for fun with her husband, William Hanlon, and his brother Bill, who used to be in vaudeville.

WEARS THE PANTS

Now all three Hanlons make up one of Ringling Bros." most popular clown acts—and often it's Mrs. Hanlon who wears the pants in the act, and her husband who is made up as a woman.

Mrs. Hanlon doesn't think there's anything strange about her occupation. She says:

"It's show business. And I've been brought up in show business. The art of pantomime is pretty special, and I enjoy it. Most of all I like to see the happy faces of the kids in circus season."

For four months each year Mrs. Hanlon behaves like an average grandmother and housewife, cooking and doing care of the Hanlon home in Sarasota, Fla. But, each spring, she's ready to take off her apron, put on her clown suit and join the circus.

Exchange Teacher Wants to View Indian in Wigwam

HALIFAX (CP)—Any old Indian or any old Mountie was not going to be enough for Doreen Eaton when she set out from Britain for Canada.

The Indian had to be in a wigwam. The Mountie had to be on horseback.

Doreen had been in Halifax for some time now as a United Kingdom exchange teacher and she has seen the Mountie on his horse. She now is looking forward to this year's Calgary Stampede where she hopes to catch an Indian in a wigwam.

Miss Eaton, of Sheffield's Meysell road secondary school, said the differences between Canadian and English teaching methods were so great that comparisons were impossible.

"I'm enjoying the experience of working under a different system," she said. "It's interesting and refreshing."

LOVES THE HEATING

Miss Eaton plans to use her long summer vacation to explore further the Canadian scene. That's where she hopes the Indian and his wigwam can be worked in.

"What you consider 'old' may date no farther back than the 17th century," she said. "Back home, it's not old until it reaches back to the 10th."

Petrov Affair Enhances Election Prospects of Govt. In Opinion of Observers

By LOUIS B. LECK
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The amazing Petrov affair has enhanced the election prospects of the Menzies-Fadden government in the opinion of most political observers.

A general election for the Australian House of Representatives will be held on May 29 after a campaign lasting less than four weeks. At dissolution the Liberal-Country party coalition held 48 seats and the Labor Opposition 52.

Before the prime minister's dramatic disclosure that Vladimir Petrov, third secretary at the Russian embassy in Canberra, had sought and been granted political asylum in Australia, most observers considered that the government would be hard pressed to retain a workable majority in the new House of Representatives.

PRESTIGE WEAKENED

The 1953-53 recession, which was accompanied by a moderate amount of unemployment, considerably weakened the government's prestige. It is very doubtful whether the improvement in the economic scene since the middle of last year had enabled the government to recover all its lost ground.

It is true that unemployment has considerably declined. The latest figures (at the end of March) show that fewer than 50,000 people are eligible for unemployment relief benefits. Payable in most cases to people who have been registered as unemployed for 14 days.

It is true also that the budget which Treasurer Sir Arthur Fadden introduced in September granted very substantial tax concessions. Nevertheless, the tide of electoral opinion seemed to be running against the government at the beginning of this year, though much less strongly than it was a year before. Experienced political observers believed that the election race would be close with the odds very slightly in favor of the government.

On April 13, in the last hours of the parliament which was elected in 1952, Prime Minister Menzies informed a dumbfounded House that Petrov had revealed the existence of a Soviet espionage ring in Australia.

Labor Leader Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt was caught at a disadvantage. Believing that only routine matters would be dealt with in the House that day he had left Canberra to make the 30-mile journey to Sydney.

POLITICAL TRAP?

There is feeling in the Labor party that Mr. Menzies was not entirely scrupulous in allowing Dr. Evatt to leave Canberra without warning him that he would make an historic announcement in the House that evening.

Dr. Evatt quickly issued a statement assuring the government of the Labor party's full support in breaking up the Soviet espionage ring, but his statement—or so Labor leaders think—did very little to offset the electoral advantage gained by Mr. Menzies.

Labor now believes that the 200,000 or so "swinging" voters, who really decide elections in Australia, would be swayed in favor of the government by Mr. Menzies' announcement that the government would take firm action on the basis of Petrov's disclosures.

Less than a week later, Mr. Menzies faltered in his adroit handling of the Petrov affair. After Mrs. Petrov had been hustled aboard a Constellation airliner at Mascot aerodrome, Sydney, he issued a statement that there was no evidence that Mrs. Petrov had been boarded the plane involuntarily. This statement, based on reports of security officers, seemed contradicted by newspaper reports and pictures of the incidents at Mascot.

But Mr. Menzies retrieved his fumble by urgent messages to government representatives at Darwin which resulted in the disarming of the two Russian guards and in Mrs. Petrov's decision to follow her husband's example and seek political asylum here.

NO MAJOR ISSUE

The Petrov affair has suddenly given prominence in a live and important electoral issue. Mr. Menzies has promised to "fight communism with all the power he can have."

But the prime minister has warned government candidates to avoid any mention of Petrov. The royal commission, in the hands of a royal commission and any candidate using the case for election-eering purposes faces the possibility of being brought before the commission on contempt charges.

After the defeat of the referendum for constitutional amendment to validate the anti-Communist legislation, which the first Menzies government passed in 1950, communism drifted into the political background.

The government was not anxious to revive the issue, one on which it had been decisively defeated. Labor believes that communism may or may not be a vote-winning issue for the government, but that it is almost certainly a vote-losing issue for Labor.

When the Petrov affair became front-page news for every newspaper in Australia, the Labor party found itself in a dilemma. It dared not criticize the government for its handling of the Petrov affair lest it be accused of pro-Communist sympathies. On the other hand, to support the government meant that it was endorsing a policy which could easily win the election for the Menzies-Fadden ministry.

As a result Labor's attitude has been to ignore the whole affair as much as possible. Its pre-campaign election propaganda has been concerned almost entirely with local issues of not much more than parish pump importance.

Pentagon, America's Military Staff Hdqts., City in Itself

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Imagine a circular city with 17½ miles of circular roadways squeezed into a single building.

That's the Pentagon, America's military staff headquarters completing in its depth all the components of a busy shopping centre, departmental store and barber shop, laundry and cafeterias, bank and post office, radio station and drugstore, florist and rail and air ticket offices, and even a law court for traffic violators.

Daily this squat, impassive edifice, planning and caring for some 2,300,000 of Uncle Sam's men and women in uniform, swallows and disgorges 30,000 workers.

HUGE PARKING AREA

They shuttle back and forth from their homes in a fleet of commercial buses, cabs and some 8,000 automobiles parked in 64 acres near the five-sided building.

World's largest office building, the Pentagon contains three times the floor space of New York's Empire State building.

Standing five storeys high, with two subterranean basement floors, it was built 11 years ago at a cost of $83,000,000.

Five concentric rings of corridors and offices are spoked and ribbed by the crossing corridors leading to an inner court filled with trees, and green shrubbery, park benches and an outdoor lunch stand.

44,000 TELEPHONES

Ramps, escalators and elevators connect the various floors. In the building is the world's biggest telephone switchboard, handling 280,000 calls a day over 44,000 telephones.

The Pentagon requires a kitchen staff of 675 to prepare meals in two restaurants, six cafeterias, nine beverage bars and the inner court stand. On an average day, the workers may consume a total of 25,000 cups of coffee, 3,800 quarts of milk and 7,000 soft drinks.

Some 600 carpenters, locksmiths, sign painters, electricians, mechanics and others are included in the maintenance. The Pentagon has its own railway to haul coal to its heating plant.

Are you a clock watcher? The Pentagon has 2,000 clocks. Perhaps you like looking out of windows. There are 8,000. Or perhaps you're thirsty? There are 550 water fountains.

Stevens' Public Career Is At Stake in Inquiry

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Tom Velied him on the jaw, Robert C. Stevens, secretary of the United States Army, might kill you back. Maybe not until you'd belted him a couple of times. But it would be the same thing on Capitol Hill as he called you names.

Stevens' public career may be at stake in the Senate inquiry into Senator McCarthy's fight with army officials. But only a few times has he shown any heat in answering McCarthy's questions.

He didn't publicly take a stand against McCarthy until, he said, the senator insulted a general.

McCARTHY PICTURE DIFFERS

Stevens didn't take his stand until after the White House relationship with McCarthy began to harden.

Nevertheless, and not by design but by an accident of personalities, the army may be getting McCarthy up for the old-fashioned nine-guy-tough-guy routine which police have often used.

TOUGHIES COMING UP

So far McCarthy has had to deal mainly with nice-talking Stevens. But if these hearings continue, he's going to have to tackle a couple of tough talkers who seem perfectly happy to snarl at him.

Army counsellor John G. Adams and Assistant Defence Secretary H. Struve Hensel are principals in this case with Stevens on the army side. McCarthy has questioned the honesty of both of them.

McCarthy repeatedly treated Stevens on a first-name basis, calling him "Bob." At the beginning of a brief exchange with Adams, McCarthy called the same thing on him, calling him "John."

TORONTO (CP)—Over-emphasis of sex in film advertising and the increased importation of foreign-language films have created new problems for the Ontario board of censors, O. J. Silverthorne, board chairman, said today.

In submitting his annual report to Premier Frost, Mr. Silverthorne said there was a tendency in advertising to stress sex even for pictures which dealt sparingly with rex problems.

"Consequently, it became increasingly difficult to deal with the advertising and certain distributors and exhibitors attempted to take advantage of our position with regard to newspaper advertisements and theatre fronts.

"However, with the proclaiming of the new Theatres Act the authority of the board has been increased considerably and we do not expect further difficulty."

Mr. Silverthorne said an agreement has been reached between the exhibitors, distributors and the board on a new procedure to be followed in submitting advertising matter, especially of European films.

Of a total of 31,582 pieces of advertising, 229 were rejected and 34 approved after treatment by the distributors.

The board chairman said the tremendous flux of immigrants to Ontario last year caused the number of feature motion pictures imported from 19 non-English language lands to jump from 39 in the previous fiscal year to 109.

"Our desire not to interfere with the tastes our immigrants brought with them has intensified the work of censorship, as did the increased number of motion pictures created for adult reception."

The censor board reviewed 891 feature subjects made in Austria, Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Hungary, Mexico, Poland, Russia and the United States. Of these 485 were approved without treatment or classification.

Boyhood Hobby Leads to Airforce Career for Model Plane Builder

A boyhood hobby has taken Flight Sergt. Don Paterson of Agincourt, Ont., a long way in the building of model aircraft. And as a result of his talents he will help represent the RCAF in the international radio controlled model aircraft championships to be held at Brussels, Belgium, competing with teams from many countries for the Yugoslav Cup, Royal Belgian Cup, and the Aero Club Trophy, signifying top rating in world competition. After graduating from a technical high school in Toronto, Don joined the RCAF in 1940. He is now stationed at the RCAF's Technical Services detachment with the Bristol Airplane Co., Bristol, Eng., as master instrument and electrical technician. F/S Paterson has won several competitions with his models. Normally radio controlled models have only control of the elevators, but F/S Paterson has evolved a device which gives his hubbey control also. He has also developed a method of changing engine speed in flight, something hitherto unknown in model aircraft. The small model he built as an experimental plane, and has a wing span of 33 inches. The large one is called the "Falcon", has a wing span of nine feet, and more than 10 hours. Central Press Canadian.

By DON WHITEHEAD
Copyright 1954
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty years ago — on May 10, 1924 — Attorney - General Harlan Fiske Stone summoned a dark-haired young lawyer into his office, peered at him over his glasses and said gruffly:

"You're man, I want you to be acting director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

Thus began the remarkable partnership between J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI, a partnership that has endured through and into the administrations of five presidents and 11 attorneys-general.

The greying FBI chief looked back over those 30 years the other day and recalled the 1924 Stone interview.

"I told him I would take the job only on two conditions.

"I said the bureau had to be divorced from politics, with appointments made solely on merit. Second, promotions would be made on proved ability, the FBI would not be a 'catch-call'—for political hacks, and would be responsible only to the attorney-general."

NO GESTAPO

In the course of the talk, I put to Hoover a question that has cropped up intermittently.

"Is there a danger of the FBI becoming a gestapo? What is to prevent the FBI from using police-state methods?"

Hoover's reply: "No, there is no danger of the FBI becoming a gestapo—not if we have men of character in the organization and character in public opinion.'

I asked about reports and insinuations that FBI files are open to some congressional investigators —and that the FBI refused congressional members of Congress to subversive cases until they agreed can't get evidence for a court case.

Hoover snapped: "I can say unqualifiedly that is an absolute lie. "I'm getting pretty tired of this letter of our files. I've consistently resisted every attempt to make the files available. Data from FBI files have leaked out through congressional agencies like this, throw the name of the FBI around."

TESTIMONY CREATED STIR

On the political side, Hoover created a flurry when he appeared as a witness last November to testify in the case of the late Harry Dexter White, who had been assistant Herbert Brownell charged former President Harry Truman promoted White despite FBI reports of espionage activities.

Hoover's testimony at the White case?

"I always have resisted appearances before any congressional committee except those dealing with appropriations," Hoover said.

"After the attorney - general made his report in the White case, stories and rumors were widely circulated that I had been a party to an agreement to promote White and retain him in government.

"That story was absolutely untrue. The White case was subject to intensive internal security sub-committee headed by Senator Jenner of Indiana, and I was active and asked me to testify on the White case, and I did so.

"I agreed to testify on the third request rather than face a subpoena. I agreed because I wished to avoid a subpoena and because the story which was going around reflected on me and on the FBI."

WITHOUT PARTY TIES

Then Hoover added: "During Republican administrations I have been accused of being a Republican. As a matter of fact, I've never voted and I have no politics.

Before Hoover took over, the FBI was an inept, politics-ridden agency tainted by past government scandals. There was no requirement—as there is today—that FBI agents must be lawyers or accountants with a background of good moral character. They got their jobs by political pull. There was no fingerprint file, no crime detection laboratory, no training program—and no prestige.

Hoover passed out the political hangers-on, the incompetents, and some with criminal backgrounds.

Hoover and his FBI zoomed to prominence in the gun-blazing gangster era of the early '30s, and with the solution of the Lindbergh kidnap case. He made the FBI a centre for scientific crime investigation and brought a prestige to law enforcement never before attained in the United States.

Local Placed Under Control Of Executive

FLINT, Mich. (CP) — Chevrolet Local 659 was placed under control of the international executive board of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) Saturday for printing "anti-union material" in its newspaper and dissipating the local's funds.

UAW regional director Robert Carter will assume control Monday, Emil Mazey, president of the 15,000-member local, said the move was "unjustified, I feel."

The international executive charged the local paid unnecessary expenses to members of the shop committee, did not conform to policies of the international union in "Searchlight," its bi-weekly newspaper, and continued to publish "anti-union" material.

A spokesman for the international said the paper had hinted that the international union was in collusion with management.

Murphy said the move resulted because he was opposed to Carter and elected local president on "an anti-Carter slate."

A spur from Buffalo ultimately will run to Niagara Falls, N.Y., connecting with Ontario's Queen Elizabeth Way by way of the Rainbow bridge. No date is given for the scheduled completion of the spur.

Railways State Their Position In Labor Dispute

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's two major railways today told the federal labor department they are unable to grant requests from unions representing 145,000 non-operating employees for fringe benefits and additional overtime pay.

Railway spokesmen blamed a "serious financial situation" for their inability to meet the demands.

The railways outlined their position in a letter to the labor department signed by D. L. McNeill, vice-president of personnel for the CPR and W. M. Hobbs, who holds the same position for the CNR.

Railway officials estimated earlier that the fringe benefits would cost, approximately $60,000,000 a year.

REPORT NOT UNANIMOUS

Two members of a conciliation board named to hear the dispute recommended April 29 that the railways grant only two of the four requests made by the workers. The company representatives on the board said all the demands should be turned down.

Earl Jones, head of the unions negotiating committee, declared the board did not file a proper report with the labor department and intimated a strike vote might be called.

In today's letter the railways said operations showed a drop of more than $32,000,000 in their combined gross revenues for the first four months of the year. The trend of both carloadings and earnings was continuing to worsen.

"The railways have even more justification now than they had some months ago for declining all requests, the granting of which would increase their costs of operation," the letter said.

Eisenhower Didn't Know It, But Secret Service Probed Week-End Threat to Kill Him

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower didn't know it, but secret service agents spent a busy week-end investigating a reported threat to assassinate him.

Secret service chief U.E. Baughman says of the report that he is "satisfied there was nothing to it."

The report Baughman got was that there would be an attempt on Eisenhower's life Sunday afternoon at Fredericksburg, Va., where the president drove to place a wreath at the grave of Mary Ball Washington, mother of the United States' first president.

The Mother's Day ceremony, witnessed by several thousand persons standing in the rain, went off without incident.

It wasn't until after the president and Mrs. Eisenhower had started back to Washington that Fredericksburg police chief A. G. Kendall told of the "threat" to kill the president and of the precautions taken to prevent it.

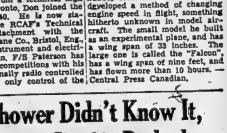
MAN NOT NAMED

Kendall told reporters a man he termed "reliable" told police he urged he take a approached with a plan to "knock the president off." Kendall declined to name the man.

Kendall quoted the man as saying he had been approached by two other men who asked him if he wanted to make $500. The pair showed him a rifle with telescopic sights and told how they planned to shoot the president from a rooftop.

Kendall said the man arranged to meet the pair again Saturday night, then went to police with the story, and was told to keep the rendezvous. But he lost his nerve, Kendall continued, and police kept him in protective custody overnight.

Kendall said he communicated with the secret service as soon as the man came to police.



Baughman said his agents thoroughly checked the report and questioned the man who made it.

Pittsburgh Commuters Brace Themselves for Long Traffic Headache; 2,700 Drivers Out

By JOHN MOODY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh area commuters feel the first real impact of a day-old transit strike today as city officials braced themselves for a long traffic headache.

Mayor David L. Lawrence, who worked vainly to keep 2,700 trolley and bus operators on the job beyond the strike deadline Sunday, warned the more than 2,000,000 residents of Pittsburgh's greater metropolitan area that "the transportation curtailment may last months."

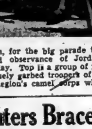
The operators, members of division 85, AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees, walked off the job after Pittsburgh Railways Co. rejected demands for a 30-cent hourly pay increase. It was the first mass transit strike here since 1934.

The company, which runs about 3,000 trolleys and buses into the business district each day, estimated it transports 200,000 workers and thousands more shoppers daily.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

All business places, factories and offices planned to operate as usual.

The Pennsylvania Railroad said it was adding several coaches to regular commuter trains and will put an additional 20 commuter trains on to take care of persons stranded in the suburban districts.



Union and company representatives met here with the mayor's office Sunday but said no progress was made. It was after that the mayor warned the strike may be a long one.

The operators earn an average $1.92 an hour and receive an additional six cents an hour under a cost-of-living clause.

GM LAY OFF WORKERS

Some of those laid off will be employed installing equipment in the new plant.

ABOARD AVENGER LOST OVER ATLANTIC.

The life of 10-year-old Sharon Ann Sireeley, bitten by a deadly Black Widow spider, was saved when she was injected with a serum composed in part of blood taken from Mrs. Martha Moore who had herself been bitten by a Black Widow less than a month ago. After a frantic search showed Mrs. Moore was the only person in Los Angeles who could save the little girl's life, she was located and rushed to hospital. A draft of her blood was taken immediately and physicians compounded a serum and injected it into Sharon Ann's bloodstream. The reaction was quick—Sharon Ann improved almost instantly and was soon taken off the critical list. The man talking to the little girl victim is her father, Cecil Sireeley.—Central Press Canadian.

$1,000,000 Loss Suffered In New Westminster

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) A radio announcer and his control engineer stood by as a burning building here Sunday broadcasting a running account of a $1,000,000 blaze until they were burned off the air.

Destroyed in the four-hour fire, one of the worst ever to hit this Fraser valley city of 23,000, was the five-storey Swan Wright building containing eight firms and radio station CKNW.

"We kept broadcasting until the flames ate through our main wires and the fire chief ordered us out of the building," said Bill Duncan chief control operator at the station. He and announcer Sid Lancaster were alone in the station when the blaze broke out. Lancaster turned in the alarm.

Only injury reported was to fire captain Gordon Hardman, taken to hospital suffering from smoke poisoning.

Companies burned out were Wright Ltd., wholesale furniture; Chadwick, Beacon, chartered accountants; Food of the Month Club, and Supreme film; Hobbs Glass and four finance companies.

CKNW went back on the air from its transmitter site a little over an hour after its lines went dead. Canadian Press teletypes were salvaged and moved to the transmitter site to continue to deliver news to the station.

Canada Paying $242 Million For Second World War Victory And Others Before and Since

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Nine years ago Canadians celebrated victory in the Second World War.

But Canada still is paying $242 a minute for that victory and others before and since in Canada's wars.

This cost—$127,000,000 a year—is for war pensions alone. Canada has spent nearly $2,000,000,000 for this purpose since 1919 when the Pension Act was introduced. It has spent, besides, more than $1,100,000,000 to rehabilitate Second World War veterans.

300 CLAIMS DAILY

Even now, the Canadian pensions commission handles 300 war pensions claims daily. Some 300,000 cheques go out every month for 800,000 disabled veterans and their dependents.

Some 650,000 Canadians served in the First World War and 80,000 were killed. There were more than 150,000 Canadians under arms in the Second World War, with 42,000 deaths.

There are still 75,303 veterans of the First World War or their widows drawing pensions; 114,874 from the Second World War. There are also five from the Northwest Rebellion in 1885, 32 from the South African War, 873 from the Korean War, 276 wounded in peacetime service and 1,762 merchant seamen and auxiliary workers such as firefighters and Edmund warriors.

Canada even looks after some veterans of other forces. There are 133 pensioners who lived in Canada at the outbreak of the First World War who enlisted in the forces of Britain, France, Italy or Belgium. Canada pays supplementary pensions to them to bring the rates to Canadian standards, because Canada has the highest overall pension rates in the world. Similar supplementary payments are made to the 32 veterans of the South African War, as Canada had no pension act at that time.

DRAW FULL PENSIONS

Of the First World War pensioners, 3,945, or 0.53 per cent, receive 100-per-cent pensions; of the Second World War pensioners, 3,512, or 3.67 per cent, draw full pensions.

Average age of the First World War pensioner now is 64; of the Second World War pensioner, 40. There are 160,000 children among pensioners' dependents, 10,662 of them children of First World War veterans.

A totally disabled pensioner receives $125 a month plus $45 if he is married. There is also an allowance of $20 a month for the first child, $15 for the second, $12 for the third and each subsequent ... plus a totally disabled veteran with a wife and three children gets $217 a month. A pensioner with 10-per-cent disability receives 10 per cent of these amounts.

A widow receives $100 a month and the rates for children are doubled. Thus a widow of a totally disabled veteran with three children receives $186 a month.

OTHER ALLOWANCES

There are also helplessness allowances ranging from $480 to $1,600 a year for totally disabled pensioners who require attendants. A paraplegic from the waist down receives the maximum allowance of $1,400. A blind veteran receives an extra $900 a year. Allowances for children are paid until the age of 16 in the case of a boy, 17 for a girl. If children remain in school, allowances can continue until they are 21.

There was no change in the Pension Act from 1919 until 1947, when allowances for a totally disabled veteran with a wife and three children were raised to $171 from $127 a month. These rates were increased to their present amounts Jan. 1, 1953.

They Stole The Policemen's Boots

By HERBERT WILSON

..Telling of the recent disappearance of a 100 year-old tombstone from a Leicestershire graveyard, Herbert Wilson points out that "truth is far stranger than fiction when it comes to thefts. The policemans' boots that were filched from a police station . . . the iron bridge that vanished . . . the entire cattle house that disappeared . . . the chimney stack that was stolen . . . a fire engine, a locomotive, a grass lawn, a telegraph pole . . . and a smash and grab raid that was engineered with a single "pin up" picture as the prize . . . these are among the queer robberies of recent years.

Have you heard the story about the burglar who stole a grandfather clock? He was staggering home with it in the early hours of the morning when a drunk bumped into him. The man blinked at the burglar and stammered "I say, ole man, wouldn't a wrist watch be more convenient?"

But fact is stranger than fiction when it comes to many thefts. Recently a tombstone more than 100 years old and weighing more than a hundredweight was stolen from a churchyard at Scraptoft, Leicestershire. The strange feature of this case was that no one knew whose grave the mossy, fastened stone marked!

Some burglars have taken big risks to get their loot. The other day a police station at Bridgeport, Florida, U.S.A. was broken into; but all that was stolen was the telephone! Still more audacious was the exploit of a gang in Warsaw in 1936 who broke into the local police station and removed the policemen's boots.

THIEVES STEAL BRIDGE

Size is no deterrent to determined thieves, who do business literally in a big way. Thieves using cranes and heavy lorries once demolished half a mile of rail track at Haverstraw, New York. In Spain in 1936 a 20-foot iron bridge spanning a river was stolen. Five men took ten days to break up the bridge which their "employer" sold to scrap dealers.

When a man is charged with robbery, the stolen goods are usually brought to the front of the court as "exhibit"—exhibit". If this practice had been strictly carried out, a huge pile of bricks would have been carried into a French court a few years ago and labelled "Exhibit 1—House"!

The theft occurred at Puteaux where a local ironmonger dashed to the police to tell them that during the night he had been robbed of a three-room house, three iron sheds and a six-foot fence that surrounded them. When the police went to the spot, they found not a brick or plank remained. Three men were charged.

HOUSE DISAPPEARED

One day in 1948 a Liverpool business man rubbed his eyes in astonishment in one of the city's streets. The house that he owned and which was ready for conversion into a small factory had disappeared! All that was left was a heap of rubble and a few bricks. The house, worth five hundred pounds had been demolished, the bricks had vanished and the lead and timber had been stolen.

A rent collector had a similar experience at Upminster, Essex in 1938. The cottages where he collected rent adjoined a disused brickfield which had a 126-foot-high chimney stack. Judge his surprise when he found the familiar landmark missing! Later the thief got three month's imprisonment. He had felled and demolished the chimney stack and had made off with the bricks and the iron bands. The value of all the loot was less than fifty pounds!

LAWN LOST

Still more peculiar was the theft of a complete lawn. A case has been recorded of a family who took great trouble for two or three years to cultivate a smooth, velvety lawn. When they returned from their summer vacation, the lawn had vanished. Neighbors said they had seen a lorry arriving and men cutting the sods, but believing that the turf must have been sold, they had not interfered.

In September 1943 Scotland Yard was called in by the Berkshire police to investigate another unusual theft—more than three tons of newly threshed wheat from a farm near Maidenhead. The wheat was left in 36 sacks each weighing two and a half hundredweight in a field half a mile from the farm. The threshing machine left near the sacks was out of action because the belt and other parts had also been stolen. It was believed that the corn was stolen to make pure white bread (then unknown) or whisky.

FILFERS FOLK

In September 1946 an expublic schoolboy—whose case was dismissed on payment of costs—appeared before the Chatham, Kent magistrates to plead guilty to a charge of stealing a 25-foot-long telegraph pole.

He sawed off the pole—erected on an island in the Thames Estuary—to make a diving board.

A strange Christmas loss in 1950 at an Ilford, Essex maternity home was their mascot—a large wooden stork with outstretched wings. The stork, made a year before, was six feet from wing tip to wing tip. It vanished in broad daylight from its secure position over the twelve-foot-high main entrance.

STEALS FIRE TRUCK

Vehicles of all kinds have an attraction for some thieves, but it is not every day that a fire engine is stolen. That was what happened in 1938 at Feltham, Middlesex. An intruder broke into the fire station in the early hours, started up the engine and drove it through the doors which were shattered. The thief drove the engine madly with no lights along a main road, scattered two men cycling early to work who jumped into a ditch to avoid it, and then parked it outside the home of a member of the volunteer fire brigade, who drove it back.

A few days later a Latvian sailor with a passion for railway engines boarded the cabplate of a locomotive at Cardiff docks. Luckily there were stop buffers a few hundred yards up the track—otherwise the engine would have raced through busy Queen Street station and on to the main London-Fishguard line. When charged in court he said: "I know nothing about it. I was plenty drunk". He was fined £1. 10s and ordered to pay 7s. 6d. costs.

FINCHES PICTURE

There have been many cases of strange thefts of objects of no intrinsic value. In 1949 detectives spent some time looking at "pin up" girls in R.A.F. billets near Lichfield, Staffordshire. They were investigating a smash-and-grab raid at a Lichfield photographers when an 8-foot by 5-foot plate-glass window was smashed—and all that was taken was one photo of a 20-year-old girl in a two-piece tartan suit.

Cannifton

The Cannifton-Corbyville euchre club held its weekly euchre in the Corbyville cafeteria with eight tables playing.

Prizes were won by ladies', Mrs. Farrn, Mrs. Archibald and Mrs. Kerr. Men, May Palmer, Berkie Sproule and Dorothy Crossley. The lone hand by Mrs. Farrn and the draw by Mrs. Farrn.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sharpe were guests at a wedding in Rathdon on Wednesday. Mr. Sharpe's cousin, Miss Helen Sharpe was the bride.

The Windsor store has got a new Coor. It certainly improves it.

Track Records Set by Windsor Hamilton C.I.'s.

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Central collegiate and Windsor Kennedy collegiate tied for meet honors and set two Canadian schoolboy track records Saturday at the 1 day-long Ontario interscholastic relay carnival held at the Civic Stadium here.

More than 1,500 spectators saw the Windsor collegians win the quarter mile relay in record time of 46.3 and Central follow up with a record-breaking 1.33.8 win in the senior half-mile relay. Hamilton Delta collegiate held the previous records of 47.5 in the junior and 1.33.9 in the senior event.

The two schools each won in three events to tie for the Army, Navy and Air Force Challenge Cup for the top team in A division for schools with 225 or more male students.

The B championship for schools with less than 225 male students and the Canadian National Exhibition Trophy went to Ingersoll with 24 points, nine more than St. Marys, winners of all three junior races. Ingersoll won all three senior II events and was second to St. Marys in the junior tests.

POSTED THREE WINS

Upper Canada College posted three wins in five private school races won the Hamilton Spectator Trophy and the private school championship edging Trinity College, Port Hope, 32-16.

The St. Catharines Standard trophy for the top Niagara district school was won by St. Catharines collegiate which had a scant one-point margin over Dundas. Dundas won all three senior races in the Niagara group while St. Catharines won one race and placed in five others.

The feature race, the senior high school mile relay, was won by Hamilton Central, current Canadian record-holders with a school-boy time of 3.29.3—a 3.39.2.

Sport in Brief

BORGS WINS ARDMORE

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Julius Borgs, the former national Open golf champion from Mid Pines, N.C., returned to his favorite habit of winning the big links Sunday by capturing the rich Ardmore Open tournament with a 72-hole total of 279.

The 34-year-old Borgs held on doggedly to withstand a serious challenge from little Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., and pick up $7,200 as the first prize in Waco Turner's extravaganza of greenbacks.

Borgs played the final three holes in one-under-par to beat Barber's 280 total.

Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., Dik Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and former national Open champion Lloyd Mangrum were tied for seventh with 286 totals.

Horvath shot a two-under-par 68 to get his 286 total and pocketed $200 for the day's best score.

PATTY BEATS VIC

ROME (AP)—Budge Patty, veteran international tennis player, upset the slumping Vic Seixas Saturday in the quarter-finals of the Italian international tournament 6-2, 6-2, 10-8.

Patty, former Los Angeles player who now lives in Paris, never trailed as he whipped the defending Wimbledon champion in straight sets.

Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., America's other defending Wimbledon champion, breezed past Silvana Lazzarino, Italy's top woman player, 6-3, 6-3, to reach the women's finals.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Back from a harrowing trip through the West which was supposed to have been pacified years ago, eastern clubs of the National League report that the region again is swarming with hostiles who apparently did not read the forecasts of the experts.

Cincinnati, they say, is a hotbed of the movement, led by a young second - baseman named Johnny Temple who is hitting the stuffing out of the ball.

Chicago, they report, has declared war on all pitchers and has a new shortstop-second base combination in Ernie Banks and Gene Baker that looks terrific.

St. Louis appears to have a genuine find in its $100,000 rookie first-baseman, Tom Alston, and Stan Musial is on the warpath early for a change. All in all, the easterners were badly shaken upon their return and are advising all their neighbors to stay home.

A popular belief that each big league ball club has an official "book" on how to pitch to the batters of opposing teams and studies it carefully before the opening of each new series is all wrong, says Jim Turner, Yankee pitching coach.

"That's only when the other team has a new player we haven't seen before," Jim explained. "Then we ask around the locker room and there's sure to be somebody who knows the fellow's strength.

"Otherwise, any good big league pitcher keeps all that stuff in his head. If he can't remember it he won't be in the big leagues long."

"A good pitcher might not see a certain batter again for four or five years, but if this batter has changed his stance even a little bit, so that he looks like he might be a better high-ball hitter than he was, the pitcher will see it at once and pitch differently to him. A pitcher's memory is his meal ticket.

"Does a good pitcher let his catcher call the pitches? Well, . . . let's say that a good pitcher and a good catcher think along the same lines. Maybe the pitcher steers his catcher just a little."

The official historian attached to Rocky Marciano's training camp reports that the heavyweight is a changed man as he prepares for his sport's defence against Ezzard Charles June 17. He feels the guileless young fellow from Brockton, Mass., has matured during the winter.

"In by-gone camps he seemed unsure of himself," the report says. "He generally leaned on others for advice. Now he speaks his own mind, without aid of previous prompting."

Canadians Star With Michigan

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (CP)—University of Michigan relay teams, with three Canadians taking part, broke two Illinois Memorial Stadium records in the first annual Big Ten outdoor relays Saturday.

The Michigan two-mile team of Roy Christiansen, John Moule of Hamilton, Ont., John Ross of Oakville, Ont., and Peter Gray, won in 7:39 compared with the old mark of 7:58.5 set by Illinois in 1950.

In the distance medley—440, 880 1,320 and mile—Bob Rudisell, Gray, Ross and George Lynch of Toronto finished in 10:10 compared with the old record of 10:29.8 set by Indiana in 1950.

In the 100-yard dash on a weight basis, Tony Streaks of Wisconsin was first in 10.3 with Roy Pelig, Michigan athlete from Sudbury, second.

NAVY WINS AGAIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Navy's veteran crew swept to the unofficial eastern American rowing championship Saturday by defeating Penn and Harvard in the Adams Cup regatta on the Schuylkill river.

Hepburn Breaks World Record

VANCOUVER (CP)—Strongman Doug Hepburn smashed his world weight-lifting record Saturday night when he snatched 381-pounds off the ground, raised it shoulder high, and then thrust it to arms' length over his head.

He boosted 270 pounds in the two-handed snatch lift, and easily handled 330 pounds in the two-handed clean and jerk for a total of 1,001 pounds in the three-lift tot=t.

His world record lift of 836 pounds in the military press was 9½ pounds more than his championship effort in Stockholm last summer. His over-all total, however, fell short of the 1,030 pounds he picked up in Europe.

One Canadian and four provincial marks were also bettered in the weight-lifting show, billed as the combined British Empire Games weightlifting trials and western Canada championships.

WALLACE WINS

BUFFALO, N.Y. (CP)—Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont., won a six-round decision over Jimmy Hall of Buffalo in a preliminary boxing bout here Saturday night. Wallace weighed 161, Hall, 160.

CROSS TRADED

CHICAGO (AP)—Tackle Bobby Cross, who returned to Chicago Bears after a season with Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four, has been traded to Los Angeles Rams for Larry Brink, it was announced Saturday.

Coach George Halas of the Bears said it was a straight player deal between the two National Football League Clubs, with no cash involved. Brink, six-foot-five, 245-pounder, is one of the game's outstanding defensive ends.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

VERSATILE!

Belleville city fathers may have their faults like any other civic body, but it must be admitted that a more than ordinary percentage of sportsmindedness is distributed among the men who govern this Quinte metropolis.

Sitting in the seats of the administrative mighty are athletes, sports executive members, sponsors, and such, and the same can be said of other civic departments.

In other departments are city treasurer Drury Denyes, treasurer of the Belleville senior hockey and baseball associations; City Engineer Charlie Mott, member of the baseball association executive; naturally "Red" Doran, recreation director; Public Utilities Commissioner "Sandy" Lummiss, Game and Fish Association executive member; Fire Chief Gerald Vance, executive Belleville Minor Softball Association; Fire Captain "Warpy" O'Brien, manager Paul Mercier's "Bluebirds" junior "A" softball champions; George Whitman, welfare officer, former southpaw hurler for Belleville and American teams; Police traffic officer Tommy Schreiber, ex-defence hubby of senior hockey clubs; Detective Harold Reid, softball star of not so long ago and Police Chief Walter Probert who gives all his blessings, especially the minor sports associations in this desirable job they are doing in helping to curb juvenile delinquency.

Then there are ex-mayor and Public Utilities Commissioner Harry Rollins, who takes an active interest in softball and minor hockey; city solicitor Robert Pringle, a well known junior hockey player in his younger days; Alderman Don McNevin, who took a junior "A" softball team to the all-Ontario title and piloted a Senior "B" hockey squad to the Ontario finals; Alderman Jim Bleecker, one of the shining lights in the development of soccer football in the city and district, and ex-Alderman 'Bolter' Lloyd whose name is a byword in minor hockey circles. Parks Board member Jack Ketcheson is the president of the temporarily defunct Central Ontario Baseball League.

And would it not be a fine "Father's Day" effort if they all could get together and discuss ways and means to present a nice brand new community centre to this fast-growing "Old Lady of the Moira."

POPULAR CHOICE

Rolly Sarault, young Ottawa goalie, who performed for the major part of last season with the Belleville Memos senior hockey club, and later went to the Wembly Lions of the British hockey league is on the high seas aboard the Queen Mary bound for home.

Rolly had an extremely successful season with the "Ole Lunnon" club. His record was on a par and possibly a little better than other league goalies, and he became very popular with his team mates and fandom. So much in fact that he was awarded the "Sportsmen's Bowl," a handsome trophy, after being adjudged the most valuable and most popular player on the club.

WELCOME HOME!

Another bulwark of the sports wars is back home after a battle with "Old Hospital," and a month's convalescence in the world wars. "Toots" Helwig has recovered nicely from his recent operation and is back at the bread-winning grind. "Toots" severed his association with the O'Keefe Brewing Company and has joined the staff of the Elliott Motors in this city. He with Mrs. Helwig happily returned from Calgary where they spent a month with daughter Betty, Mrs. Jack Dawson, Mr. Dawson and their attractive 26-months-old twins, Patricia and Pamela.

SOFTBALL

Pre-season softball gets under way at Point Anne on Tuesday evening when Herby Henn's Northern Electric cockerels take on the Ox Pointers in an exhibition tilt. The game is scheduled to start at 6.30.

Al Adams will likely be the Henn choice for mound duty while Bobby Hunter or the perennial Pat Maracle will do the flinging for the Pointers.

The Stewart-Warner team will hold a practice at the Alemite Field tonight at 6.30. All players are requested to turn out.

Whip Chicago White Sox 3-2 Then Hold Them to 0-0 Tie; 'Bums' Take Lead in National

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rival American League clubs are beginning to take the measuring Detroit Tigers seriously.

Last Sunday, after the Tigers had blanked the Yanks at Yankee Stadium, New York manager Casey Stengel called Detroit the most improved club in the league.

Sunday, after the Tigers whipped Chicago White Sox 3-2 in the first game of a doubleheader and held them to a 10-inning 0-0 standoff in the second game, White Sox manager Paul Richards echoed Stengel's sentiments.

The Tigers now are in first place —a half-game in front of Chicago, a full game ahead of Cleveland and two ahead of the defending champion Yankees. They return home with a brilliant 5-1-1 record for their first road tour.

OTHER GAMES

In other American League games Baltimore blanked Cleveland 2-1 in 10 innings, and the Yankees whipped and tied Philadelphia in the twin-bill series. Mickey Mantle gave the Yanks a 7-4 opening game triumph and recalled Billy Skowron's run-scoring single in the eighth game, then a 7-6 tie in the second game was called in the ninth on account of darkness. Rain washed out Washington's scheduled twin bill tween Washington and the Red Sox in Boston.

Brooklyn opened up a half-game lead in the National League, spiking Philadelphia's Phils 7-1 while the second-place Cincinnati Redlegs split a doubleheader with St. Louis. The Redlegs came back to win the second game 6-5 after the Cardinals had taken the first, 5-2, opener 10-7. New York Giants walloped Pittsburgh 9-3 and Chicago Cubs edged Milwaukee 5-3.

It took Carl Erskine to finally defeat the White Sox in the opener. The winning run crossed the plate when Chico Carrasquel committed a throwing error with two out and the bases loaded in the 11th.

The Indians missed an opportunity to pass Chicago for the runner-up spot when Bob Turley held them to four hits. Gil Coan's single scored Bob Kerry with the run that clung a tough defeat upon Art Houtteman.

Belleville District Softball Loop Will Operate as Seven-Team League

With the last-minute entry of Madoc, the Belleville District Softball League will operate as a seven-club loop this season. Alderman Boff Temple also entered his Bobcats at the league meeting held yesterday afternoon at the West Moira Street Fire Hall.

The league schedule which will be drawn up for approval on Thursday by secretary Bill Scrymgour, will open officially at Point Anne on May 24 with Jack Elliot's Point champions entertaining Herby Henn's Northern Electric squad. The game gets under way at 6.30 p.m.

Teams in the league are Point Anne, Northern Electric, the Ox "A" section, and Stewart Warner, Bobcats, Frankford, Bluebirds junior "A's" and Madoc in the "AA" section.

There was some discussion over the maintenance and operation of lights at the Alemite Field. Suggestions included each manager sending five men in an effort to ready the field, and each club paying a stipend for the use of the lights.

Point Anne delegates felt that playing under lights was necessary since a number of OASA playdown games are played under the kleigs. Frankford said it would play day games up to July 15, after that they wanted under-the-lights fixtures.

O.P.P. Constable Jack Hatch headed the Madoc delegation and came to satisfactory arrangements with the league officials on the midlastings village is concerned. The entry was unanimously accepted.

Umpire-in-chief Leo Culhane said six umpires had registered with the league. These include Mike Whalen, Timmy Williams, Shad Ethier, Al Kelleher, Doc Dolan and Bert Pointer. All must secure OASA umpire certificates.

Mike Watson, secretary of the committee of the executive. His resignation was accepted and Herb Rankin, Frankford, appointed to fill the vacancy.

Referring to minor softball, Culhane said he had five teams entered in the peewee league. These are Bond-T's, Bob Ireland's, Pepsi Cola, Seymour Hardware and the Rotary Club. Four entries comprise the new bantam loop. These are Checker Taxi, Maunds Cleaning, Honey Orange and Tip Top Cleaners.

He added that three coaches are vitally needed for the peewees and one for the bantams. Anyone wishing to help along these lines is urged to get in touch with Mr. Culhane, at the fire station.

President Gordy Steward, who chaired the meeting said arrangements for the Toronto Nortown girls' softball champions game here slated for June 3 were nearly completed. Tickets have been printed and are now on sale. The game will be played with a team of district league mail all-stars at the CNR Athletic Association field starting at 6.30.

The Nortown girls are one of the better softball aggregations on the continent. They won all-Ontario champions last season and represented Canada at the world championships for girls' teams held in the United States. The game here should be one of the sports classics of the season.

St. Kitts TeePees Trim Edmonton Oil Kings In Memorial Cup Opener

Score Easy 8-2 Victory Over Weak-Looking West. Champs; 'Way Under Form' Says Coach

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The odds favoring the east climbed with the late spring temperature today following St. Catharines TeePees 8-2 victory in Sunday's Memorial Cup hockey final opener.

TeePees, as hot as the sun that drove the thermometer to the high 70s, bounded into a one-game lead in the best-of-seven Canadian junior final as Oil Kings fell apart.

But despite Edmonton's worst defeat of the season, the consensus among officials of the participants is that TeePees face no easy road in search of their first Memorial Cup.

Coach Rudy Pilous of St. Catharines showed a bit more optimism than before the series started, but he wasn't looking for a pushover.

Tom McAuley, Oil King chief, wasn't entirely pessimistic. "My club's a lot better than that," he said after the game. Neither club reported injuries.

TeePees rolled through a weak Edmonton defence, shooting almost at will at overworked Al Jacobson in the Edmonton goal. Only in spurts did the western champions show the 4,786 fans a little of what took them through 55 league and playoff games with only four losers.

TeePees' first-string line of Brian and Barry Cullen and Hughie Barlow was the most impressive on the ice, but big Jack Armstrong set the scoring pace with three goals. Barlow and Don McLean, a linemate of Armstrong, scored twice each and Brian Cullen got the other St. Catharines' marker.

GETS EDMONTON MARKER

Norm Ullman, an Edmonton standout along with the third line of Jack Moore, Ron Tookey and Eddie Diachuk, and Jerry Melnyk, one of Kings' leading marksmen in the regular season, scored for Edmonton.

Oil Kings were impressive in the opening minutes of the first and third periods, going ahead 1-0 on Melnyk's early goal and cutting the count to 5-3 in the third when Ullman backhanded a shot past St. Kitts' netminder Marv Edwards after teammate Johnny Smyrk-

Two interference penalties—to Billy McNeill and Melnyk—left Kings clearly in the first period. Barlow scoring twice and Brian Cullen once as a result. Armstrong and McLean scored in the second and Armstrong with two and McLean with one wrapped it up in the third.

MacAuley wasn't pleased with Kings' performance. "They can can play a lot better than that," he said. "But they've got to get back into the idea of playing hockey and they have to get used to the Gardens."

MOOD TROUBLE

The Edmonton coach said Oil Kings have to regain keeping in a "hockey-playing mood" during a three-week layoff since they won the western title with two and Moose Lean with one wrapped it up in the third.

MacAuley wasn't pleased with Kings' performance. "They can can play a lot better than that," he said. "But they've got to get back into the idea of playing hockey and they have to get used to the Gardens."

MOOD TROUBLE

The Edmonton coach said Oil Kings have to regain keeping in a "hockey-playing mood" during a three-week layoff since they won the western title with two and Moose Lean with one wrapped it up in the third.

Pilous shared this view: "We expect a much better game yet. They're a good bunch of boys and they handle the puck well, and they'll come around," he added. "If they don't improve, then it's just the difference in the leagues we play in."

Kings swept the western junior league title this year with three losses in the 48-game schedule and only one in four playoff series.

TeePees, who have been playing almost continuous since a week last fall, had to go the limit in the Ontario series with the Ontario Hockey Association Junior crown and then went six games before coaching Quebec Frontenacs 4-3 Friday.

Barrie, Ont., Flyers won the cup last year and Toronto Arthur Bruins were the last western club to win it, final, in 1948. Alberta hasn't had a Memorial Cup champion since Calgary Canadians in 1926.

Spalding Heads Bowling Council

Delegates from British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec reported that arrangements are well under way to receive the British team which will tour Canada before competing in the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer. The British team will arrive in Montreal July 2. There are 30 bowlers on the team.

The British team will visit Ottawa, Toronto, Peterborough, London, Kitchener, Hamilton, Oakham, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton and Saskatoon.

Siskins Win Junior B Title

WATERLOO (CP) — Waterloo Siskins won the Ontario Hockey Association junior B championship Saturday night, defeating Weston Dukes 5-3 in the seventh game of their best-of-seven final series.

The win gave Siskins the round 4-3.

Bill Stix, Doug Thiel,' Bill Wharnsby, Don Grabitt and John Ford scored once each to give Siskins the edge in the see-saw game. For Weston, Gil MacNeil tallied twice and Bob Nevins once.

The Dukes, who tied up the playoff after trailing 3-1 in games, weren't able to keep up with the high-flying Siskins Saturday. They trailed 2-0 at the end of the first period and 4-3 at the end of the second.

Seventy-Nine Pound Sailfish May Prove Miami Champion

By GEO H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Sunlight sparkled on the blue waters of the Atlantic Ocean off the white-beached shore of North Miami. A gentle ripple stuffed the slow roll of the offshore swell as the trim thirty-two foot fishing yacht knifed its way homeward.

A siren shrilled in the afternoon air. As its sound echoed over the waterfront, scores rushed to the landing wharf. The siren had relayed the information: "We caught a big one."

They crowded on the wharf as the yacht nosed into its berth. They edged closer to get a better look at the handsome 79-pound sailfish that lay on the deck. It was the biggest of its kind native to Miamian and annual tourists had seen for a number of years. In fact, in 1948, Alberta hasn't had a Memorial Cup champion since Calgary Canadians in 1926.

On the yacht an excited captain and co-captain—Dolly Hudson, owners—almost danced a jig as they moored the craft. In the background, smiling their pride and joy, were Bill Cook, bronzed to a golden brown, wife Kate of this city and cousins Irvin Minchim and Mrs. Minchim, of McLean Avenue, Toronto.

RECORD-BREAKER

The big seventy-nine pounder, hooked five miles off shore will likely prove a record for North Miami fishing grounds. The largest caught there thus far weighed 66 pounds, and it won all local and district contests top honors. The Florida world's record for sailfish is 92 pounds while the Atlantic mark is 106 pounds.

The big fish will spend the rest of its days mounted on a large plaque in the Cook cottage at Peche Point. Flanking it will be two dolphins, each twenty-pounders, and above a brace of fifteen-pound Kingfish constituted the Cook-Minchim fishing bag.

Captain J. M. Schneider and co-captain "Dolly" Hudson, owners of the chartered boat, had taken the party some five miles out when the sailfish struck. Four lines each baited with live mullet dangled their lure before the sworded-snout of the non-edible "sailor." He selected the smallest, a five-inch "sucker" and Mr. Minchim was yanked taut in his seat as the "sailor" lowered the boom.

Then followed a bang-up battle that lasted thirty-five minutes with Mr. Cook acting as anchor man on the rod-of-over 9ven that finally boated the big one. 25-pound test nylon cotton line brought home the sailfish trophy. The rod was a hollow-filled seven-footer with a reel as big as the bottom of a bucket. While the battle raged Captain Schneider stood by with a stop-watch timing the fight. Mrs. (Kate) Cook, who smiled afterwards, "all" landed was a sunburn" and Mrs Minchim also stood by. "There were no knockdowns" they stated.

WILL BE MOUNTED.

The big fish was rushed to the Al. Pfleuger plant which specializes in taxidermy, where it will be mounted together with the dolphins, and shipped to Belleville. Delivery will not be made for three months because of a rush of business.

The Pfleuger people have a large plant in North Miami some thing like an automobile factory in reverse. Here the fish is "dissembled" in one building, (the meat of the sailfish being given to animal owners), and after certain processes in other sections of the plant, it is meticulously "stuffed", and mounted on honors.

The 'Big One That Didn't Get Away'

Irvin Minchim, cousin of the Bill Cooks, smiles happily with a big 79-pound sailfish hooked off the Miami coast. "Cookie" went broke to change his shirt and when he came back the photographer was gone. The rail equipped "overgrown mackerel" is said to be a record for Florida waters.

O'Brien Shatters Shotput Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Giant Larry O'Brien of Los Angeles made a shambles of the supposedly unbreakable 60-foot mark in the shotput Saturday when he twice officially surpassed the distance and wound up a record-shattering day with an amazing put of 60 feet, 2¼ inches.

The 22-year-old holder of the world record, with a performance that astounded several thousand track and field fans gathered for the UCLA-USC dual Pacific Coast Conference meet, actually broke his own world record three times before concluding the series.

The 1952 Olympic champion stated what was to come when he tossed the 16-pound iron ball unofficially 60 feet, 4 inches in his first warmup while he was still wearing his sweat suit, complete with pants and jacket.

O'Brien, 220-pound former University of Southern California athlete, last year set the official world record of 59 feet 10¼ inches. Two weeks ago he bettered the mark in an exhibition at the Drake relays, tossing it 60 feet 9¼ inches. Application for acceptance of the mark was made and he said he went on his rampage Saturday, a handsome wooden plaque ready to hang in your cottage, cabin or over the mantel in your town quarters.

The plant is well-known all over the world. Here are brought stuffed "big fish" from as far away as Europe and Africa. It also specializes in the manufacture of fishing tackle.

"The cost of mounting, while not divulged, is not high for a handsome figure. Chartered-boat costs range from forty dollars for a half day (8.00 a.m. to 12.30 p.m.) and $70 for a full day" (8.00 a.m. to 5 p.m.). Everything is found, food, tackle, bait, refreshments, in fact everything but the fish.

However a lucky fisherman can get some financial redress. If he catches the tasty "kings", local fish markets will buy them for $1.20 per pound. As was said before sailfish are non-edible but the dolphins and kingfish provide sea-food fit for a king, according to Bill.

"Take a king fish, bread it and fry it a golden brown and you have something akin to our pickerel only slightly drier" he said. "The dolphin, he adds, is aptly named the "chicken of the sea". It's meat is snow-white in color, flaky and tastes like chicken."

NEARLY MISSED TRIP.

At that Mr. Cook nearly missed the most exciting fishing trip of his entire life-time. When the party was planned, Bill shook his head. "I don't like planes. I don't like the look of that ocean roll. My tummy might get similar ideas and serve me out."

However some further persuasion on the part of Mr. Minchim and the party eventually changed Mr. Cook's mind and he flew off, not without some trepidation, on what proved to be a thrilling fishing expedition.

The news soon dashed around the waterfront and within a few minutes Miami reporters and photographers were on hand to cover what they said was a new "champion."

But Bill "missed out" on the official photographs. He went below to get ready for same, and when he emerged the pictures had been taken and the photographers gone. However "Kate" and her trusty camera were available and all was not lost.

The big fish has been entered in two Miami Fish and Game Associations contests. Veteran fishermen of the city were of the opinion that it would take major honors.

Stampeders Edge Quebec Aces 6-5 For 2-1 Lead

CALGAR Y(CP)—Calgary Stampeders took a 2-1 lead in the best-of-nine Edinburgh Trophy series by whipping Quebec Aces 6-5 in Edmonton Saturday night in a hard-fought hockey contest which saw the eastern contestants run out of time in a last-minute rushing offensive.

Ace coach Frank Currie of Stampeders the victory .didn't justify optimism. "Aces are no pushovers and it will be a tough series," he said Sunday after arriving here for the fourth game tonight. "Let's watch and go all the way."

Stampeders, W e s t e r n Hockey League champions, began the series with a lopsided 8-1 decision, then fell 3-2 to Aces before Saturday night's tilt.

The teams were never more than one goal apart in the third game until Stampeders went ahead 6-4 with less than three minutes left. Quebec coach Gerry Brown sacrificed goalie Jack Gutteau twice in the last 66 seconds.

Once it worked, defenseman Don Slater scored from a scramble. Seconds later he bounced another off the goal post. Shy only the tying counter, Gelineau was replaced again, only to be pulled again without results.

Savoie Loses To Andrade

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Undefeated Cisco Andrade, a sharppunching boxer from Compton, Calif., won a unanimous 10-round decision Saturday night over Armand Savoie of Montreal in a lightweight fight in Memorial Auditorium. Each weighed 132 pounds.

The victory was the second straight over a nationally ranked foe for the aggressive Andrade and is certain to send his stock as a leading contender soaring.

Savoie, a ring-wise veteran with decisions over half a dozen well-regarded lightweights, fought in flurries. But he seldom rattled the muscular Andrade and sharp overhand rights of Andrade.

Referee Ray Orlowski gave it to Andrade, 5, 3 and 2 even. Judge Anne Gallo scored it 5, 4 and 1 even. Leon Stachowiak gave it to Andrade 7, 2 and 1 even.

Wolves Whip Penticton 8-2 In 4th Game Allan Cup Series; Win Tues. Will Clinch Mug

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — The hometown V's, currently tilting with Sudbury Wolves for the Allan Cup, are in an ideal position.

Noted as "the team which comes from behind," they're about as far back as they can get. One more loss and the cup goes east in Sudbury's travelling bag and the Wolves move into the throne room of Canadian amateur hockey.

Wolves lead the V's 3-1 in the best-of-seven series and could walk away with the playoff in the fifth game here Tuesday.

With the exception of the regular Okanagan Senior A m a t e u r Hockey League play, which the V's wrapped up almost at leisure, the Penticton club has had a history of coming from behind this season and have been most dangerous with the chips down.

First there was the inter-league playoff with Nelson Maple Leafs of the W e s t e r n International Hockey League. V's were taken to eight games before they won out. Then came the western final against Winnipeg Maroons. Another best-of-seven, it also went eight games before Penticton triumphed.

SEMI-CLEARABLE RAG

As for that Sudbury travelling bag, it has done good service.

Wolves used it to move west for the first game in Penticton, where they won 9-1. They moved on to Vernon for the second game, which they dropped 6-5, then to Kelowna for a 3-1 victory in the third game. From Kelowna, the teams travelled back to Penticton, where they trounced the hometown club 8-2 Saturday.

In Saturday's game, V's were four goals down before the game was 11 minutes old and when the first period was over, the score was 5-1 for Wolves. Sudbury scored three more in the second period and held V's to a lone marker. The third period was scoreless.

Both teams have been remarkably free from injury in this series, the most serious being an infected toe which has given Bill Warwick the blues for a long while. He forms part of the V's main "brother line" with playing-coach Grant and Dick.

Threat to World Hockey Supremacy Emanating From Land of Rising Sun

By DON MATHESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The latest threat to world hockey supremacy is shooting up from the land of the rising sun.

So says Jimmie Dunn of Winnipeg, first vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Resolutions to come before the annual CAHA meeting here today through delegates are concerned with the other side of the world—Canada's showing in the world hockey tournament in Europe.

But Dunn says "watch out for those Japanese." He toured Japan this spring on the nine-game exhibition tour of the Kenora Thistles.

"The difference they showed in style between the first and last game was amazing," he said Sunday.

"They'd come up to our quarters the day after a game and ask questions. 'What did we do wrong when you scored that goal?' 'Why do you shoot that way?'"

"And then they would never repeat the mistake again. By the end of the series they were kicking out goals and the team was playmaking like veterans."

Dunn made his remarks at the end of the closed sessions of the annual rules and machinery committees Sunday.

In the rules committee, delegates passed a motion asking that old-style hockey be brought back. They approved a B.C. resolution asking that old legislation be renewed to stop players dumping the puck into the corners from outside the blueline.

CONTROL INTERFERENCE

They felt a return to "carrying the puck over the blueline" would help control the rugged, choppy interference-filled modern game. It would also bring a return to stick-handling and play-making, they said.

Rule changes approved by the meeting are subject to agreement with the National Hockey League under the NHL-CAHA agreement expiring in 1955.

The defeat of East York Lyndhursts in the world hockey tournament in Stockholm this year was the other Sunday subject for a long working over.

Recruiting committee members couldn't come to an agreement on a recommendation to improve Canada's representation in the tourney in future years, so left the subject over for the full convention sessions.

The first full convention session today open with the president's report, followed by the registrars', credentials and auditors' reports.

BOOSTS SALES

Sam Rosen, chairman of ticket sales, said Saturday Bannister's picked up immediately after the news of the Oxford, Eng., race broke Friday and 4,800 worth were sold instead of the usual $300 expected that day.

Rosen said the demand for tickets was especially heavy on the day the mile final fell and heats for the mile will be Aug. 5 with the finals Aug. 7.

WINS GREENBRIER

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Herman Scharlau of Boca Raton, Fla., won his first major golf tournament Saturday, taking a three-way sudden-death playoff in the Greenbrier Open on the third hole where Sam Snead missed one of his classic two-foot putts.

The 33-year-old Scharlau slid in a putt three times longer than Snead's to cop the $2,000 first prize money.

Scharlau, Snead and Jack Burke Jr. went out for the sudden decision after they had tied on 72 holes at 274. Burke was eliminated from the playoff on the second hole where he couldn't match the birdie threes of his opponents.

Navy set a record of 4:06.1 for the mile and 5-16ths, finishing a length ahead of the surprising Penn crew. Harvard was a close third, three-quarters of a length behind Penn.

Penn, unbeaten previously this spring while winning the Childs and Blalowell Cups, is coached by Jaik Guest Jr., of Toronto, former Canadian and U.S. singles sculling champion who rows despite a malformation of the spine.

DUKE MAY SAIL

VICTORIA (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is almost certain to compete in Victoria's class 210-boat races here Aug. 2, it was learned here. He will visit Victoria during his trip to Canada for the British Empire Games at Vancouver.

The duke may sail one of four boats at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

More fun than a barrel of monkeys is competitive bidding among the master players. Give them a deal to scrap over and there is no telling what will happen next.

See here deal number 22 in the national masters pairs:

	♠7 3
	♥K 7 4
	♦A 9 7 5
	♣K 3
WEST		EAST
♠Q 9 8 6		♠A K J 10 5
♥3		♥Q 10
♦K J 10 9		♦Q 3
♣6 4		♣7 5 2
	♠4
	♥9 8 6 2
	♣Q 10 7 6 5 4

East and west were vulnerable and east was dealer. They would have a good contract in either spades or diamonds. South-north like clubs and hearts. At the 36 tables, nine different endings were found.

Two thirds were either in spades unadorned and all but one of the rest were in clubs vertically. The one exception played it in south at five hearts doubled that went down three tricks.

There were 21 tables that ended in some kind of a spade contract. No defence can defeat four spades even if south gets a second round of diamonds. Without such a ruff, five spades will make.

Ten were in four spades undoubled and two were in doubled four spades. The opponents who doubled were foolish because all the four spade contracts were made exactly on the nose.

Six were shoved into five spades by opponents, two of which were doubled. All six went down one trick. This was a narrow squeak. Only by getting a quick ruff of a diamond was it defeated.

One was in three spades and two stopped at two spades, all of which made with over tricks. This was very poor bidding indeed. Any player with a decent count would know they had more tricks.

One got as far as seven clubs doubled; down four. Three got to six clubs doubled, down from two to four. Eight had it for five clubs doubled; down two or more. Two in five clubs undoubled went down.

This is one of the few deals in which most of the masters knew what to bid. The few who went too far were probably egged into it. Sometimes even a majority of experts agree on what to do.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, MAY 11, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — The medium of comparison—how you segregate the essential from the non-essential—will greatly influence results. If too critical, you will destroy harmony.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — That smile is worthwhile, and good sense will weigh the balance in your favor during this rather unpredictable period. Be elastic in thought and check rash words.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Familiar problems, work for which you are trained and all urgent duties have priority. Avoid hasty, ill-planned changes and don't overload self with added responsibilities, debts.

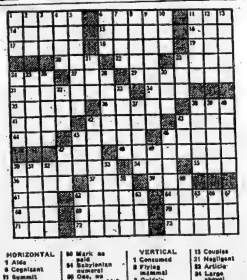
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Keep a sane pace and follow the middle of the road in early hours. Avoid extremes and you will be less likely to have trouble. There are restrictive influences now.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Some irritating incident. Be your finest self, avoid an antagonistic attitude, play fairly. Best work and results possible 2 to 4 p.m. Relax, enjoy earned rest.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—New and attractive conditions. You can handle tasks with your known efficiency but are won't to overestimate your capacity to produce in limited time. Evaluate carefully.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Spare disposition and health by not indulging in overtiring tasks that could be done a little at a time. A steady pace, as the turtle's will pay fa the long run, prevent fatigue.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A note of caution in both money and personal affairs; act only after sound analysis. Some personal matters may have to be set aside till certain things clear up and the time for action is more propitious.



November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Seeing, learning — and doing something about it—is the major theme now. Take advantage of good periods, but don't go rushing into the unknown expecting quick gains or entirely pleasant returns.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—A word to the intelligent is enough. Take heed lest you provoke or continue unpleasant discussions. Be amenable but not gullible. And remember loyalty to family, country.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Good days to offer in some ways. The fact that concrete help is not immediately available should not deter you from pitching in to produce results. Actually, you will gain more through extra effort.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Unfriendly situations possible in the AM. But co-ordination of mental and manual skills can lead to lasting gains. A change for the better after 2 P.M. accelerating fine aspects for romance, home.

"YOU BORN TODAY: Your strong determination, high aims and fine principles are inborn. If living true to your best characteristics and daily applying your talents and ability as God intended you to, you can be a useful citizen, a loyal true friend and a beloved lifemate and parent. You would be equally as valuable in a religious vocation. You are loveable and dependable but may have to correct a tendency to idleness and, perhaps extravagance at times. Birthdate: Julius Hiulen I, Roman Emperor of the East.

FILLS VACANCY

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Sweden has accepted a Soviet request to act as protecting power for Russia in Australia, since diplomatic relations between Russia and Australia were severed over the Petrov incident. Envoy Otto Johansson, who was in charge of Persia's interests in Britain during the Anglo-Iranian dispute, left by air for Canberra.

HER PART IS WAITING.

URANIUM RUSH IN ARMY TARGET AREA

Sgt. Donald Cantley, one of the sentries patrolling the 2,100-acre U.S. Army reservation at Fort Benin, N.Y., turns away Wilbur H. Kramer of Levittown, N.Y., a uranium hunter carrying a homemade Geiger counter. With Guardsmen engaged in target practice in the hills, it was feared that prospectors for uranium in the Peekskill, N.Y., area might be hit. So the army has clamped down on six explorers who are staging an old-style mining rush in the area. (Central Press Canadian).

Fearfully Await Next Rebel Move In Indo-China

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—The seven-year Indo-China war was back in the fearful waiting phase again today following the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

In the kingdom of Laos, south of the fallen fortress, there was uneasy speculation that a new Communist - led Vietminh advance eastward toward the Laotian royal capital of Luang Prabang might be high on the war plans of Red Vietminh.

A French high command spokesman in Hanoi said he doubted the rebels will mount another general offensive in northern Indo - China before the seasonal monsoon rains hit their peak at the end of June.

The Vietminh kept up their daily small attacks on French communications, and scattered French Union defence posts in the Red river delta centred on Hanoi.

(A radio Vietminh broadcast, heard in Hong Kong today, said the captives taken in the defeat of Dien Bien Phu Friday "include one general, the French commander of Dien Bien Phu." This was an apparent reference to Brig. Geo. Christian de Castries, though the broadcast did not use his name.

NURSE NOT MENTIONED

(The broadcast added that 1,898 other officers, ranking from colonel to warrant officer, also had been seized, along with 8,000 French Union troops. There was no mention of Genevieve de Galard Terrazbe, the 29 - year - old French nurse who was the only woman in the fortress.)

Over-all Vietminh losses have been estimated as high as 25,000. However, Gen. Henri Navarre, French Union commander in Indo-China, put the figure at about 18,000.

(A dispatch from Hanoi to the Agence France Presse in Paris quoted Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander in north Indo-China, as saying he believes there will be no attack soon on the Red river delta or Laos before September.

(Cogny said he believes the rebels will rest and regroup at their bases in the northern mountains through the rainy season, and that to cross the 185 miles between Dien Bien Phu and the delta would be difficult.)

Gen. Navarre said Saturday night that only foreign intervention in Indo-China can counter new Communist battle tactics. He said his troops alone could not stand up to the massive artillery barrages shown at Dien Bien Phu.

The general told newspaper men a political settlement at Geneva is the alternative to defeat or intervention.

Chinese aid to the rebels was enormous, he said.

Gen. Navarre told Agence France - Presse he had not staged an attack to relieve Dien Bien Phu because an effective operation would have taken too many men and left other vital sections of Indo-China unguarded.

Smuggled Girls Out Of East Berlin

Peter H. Grimes, of Belmont, Mass., is shown with his wife, Irmgard, and his two young stepdaughters, Monica, 14, and Evelyn, 11, after their arrival from Paris. Grimes told how he won an ideological war and smuggled the two girls out of East Germany, away from their America-hating, fanatical Communist grandfather. Telling of his stay in the Communist-ruled zone where he risked arrest, imprisonment and perhaps his life, Grimes said he first sent the "indoctrination war" and persuaded his stepdaughters to leave with him. Pointing to older girl, Grimes said she has been indoctrinated in Communist schools, but "she's sold now on the free world way." — Central Press Canadian.

Army Opposes Proposal To Shorten Investigation

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Army today opposed a proposal to Senator Dirksen (Dirksen, Ill.) to shorten the McCarthy-Army investigation by limiting public testimony to Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Joseph Welch, army counsel, said he thought such action would "do violence to justice."

Dirksen said any additional testimony necessary to determine the issues could be taken behind closed doors.

In the event of executive sessions, Dirksen suggested, transcripts of the testimony could be given to reporters.

Dirksen's motion was made immediately after the Senate investigations sub-committee met for its 13th day of hearings.

Dirksen said it is up to the subcommittee to determine the "truth or falsity" of the charges and counter charges exchanged by McCarthy and Army officials.

But testimony from principals other than McCarthy and Stevens probably would be largely repetitious, he contended.

Dirksen said he believes the committee can get the "remaining answers" to army charges from McCarthy himself. He said the Army's case already had been "reasonably well ventilated."

Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) asked Chairma Karl Mundt (Rep.-S. D.) to find out how the principals felt about the Dirksen proposal.

McCarthy said he would favor action to shorten the hearings so his regular investigating sub-committee could resume its task of hunting out Communists which McCarthy said "are known to be in defence plants and the government."

Once You Draw Upper Berth On Soviet Train You're Stuck

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

If you draw an upper berth on a Soviet train you're stuck with it, day and night.

First- and second-class compartments on Russian trains each have four berths, two uppers and two lowers. They're left made up continuously.

To see the countryside, upperberth passengers have to develop an acquaintance with someone in a lower—or stand in the corridor.

SIMPLICITY DECEPTIVE

For a foreigner to take a trip by plane or train sounds simple. You get the foreign office to endorse your Soviet document with an authorization to visit the places of your choice. With that you go to Intourist, the state tourist bureau, to buy tickets.

That's where you go grey. Planes and trains leave Moscow daily for most parts of the U.S.S.R., but complications set in when you want to go from one interior point to another, say from Tashkent in Soviet central Asia north of Afghanistan to Baku in Azerbaijan north of Iran.

Twenty-four hours after working out a time-table you're apt to find you must spend five days extra at one spot because the plane service from there to your next stop is only five times a month.

"SOFT" AND "HARD"

First class is known as "soft class." Berths are upholstered. There is a curtain over the window, a small table over the window and an old-fashioned lamp.

The equivalent of Canadian tourist class is a coach furnished with wooden racks, two and three deep, set at various angles to make best use of space so as to accommodate more than 80 passengers with their bags, bundles and bales. Most of each train comprises such coaches.

The diner usually is a buffet in the last car. All the seats are taken by beer-drinkers. If you want to eat, you must take your own container for soup or meat dishes, or get the porter to make you sandwiches.

Most travellers bring hampers of food. The woman porter in each car will cook everything for her passengers.

The conductor also was a woman.

RADIO SURFEIT

The coaches have hoarse loudspeakers tuned to Radio Moscow day and night.

The Rostov-Moscow train is modern, with carpeted floors and good furniture, but there are no clothes racks and the only thing to do is sleep fully clothed.

Plane travel doesn't offer quite the scoop of grains for meeting Russians. Foreigners usually are put aboard first, and in single seats. They are taken to a special waiting room at each airport. The planes are all two-engined Ilyushins, Soviet version of the American DC-3, except they have a tricycle landing-gear. Westerners are discovered by the absence of seat belts.

In-flight snacks are paid for, except on the Leningrad-Helsinki run where they are free.

2 Reeves, Warden Deny Knowledge Of Irregularities

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Two reeves and a warden have disclaimed knowledge of alleged irregularities at the Grey county Home when asked in nearby Markdale.

The three men made the statements at a council meeting here Friday shortly before council members asked for a judicial inquiry into management and finances of the home since 1950.

Warden George Mamerow of Chesley, reeve Cecil Rutherford of Clarksburg and reeve Victor Hansen of Chatsworth were named in affidavits signed by former maid at the home as having taken drinks at the home, about 25 miles south of here. They disclaimed knowledge of the alleged irregularities at the open council meeting.

The maids made charges of drunkenness and indecency at the home. Mervyn Gould, the manager, and his wife were suspended by the home's board of management after the charges were announced.

Reeve Hansen said "They must have a different idea of intoxication than I have."

Reeve Rutherford said "I've never been ashamed of my behaviour."

"It looks to me like a frameup,"

To Act as Hosts

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The London Free Press acted as host to more than 100 members of the Canadian Circulation Managers' Association at an informal reception here Sunday.

The circulation managers are here for the CCMA's 21st annual convention which starts here today and ends Tuesday.

D. T. Fleming, CCMA president and circulation manager of the Owen Sound Sun-Times, officially opens the convention at 9:30 a.m.

said Mr. Mamerow. "I've never seen anyone doing anything out of place at the home."

The three said they did not know they had been named in the affidavits until a few days ago.

French Ready to Discuss Communists' Indo-China Plan

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP) — A French spokesman said today that France is willing to discuss the Communist plan for an Indo-China armistice along with Bidden plan, but declared strong opposition to major provisions of the Communist proposal.

The spokesman made it clear that France has no intention of breaking off the Indo-China talks in Geneva despite the apparent East-West deadlock.

He explained France's position at a press conference as the National Assembly in Paris prepared to debate the government's policy on Indo-China.

He obviously was concerned over headlines which appeared in some Paris newspapers on the eve of the debate, indicating that the Geneva negotiations were regarded by the French as hopeless.

Some observers think the new French reaction to the Communist terms represents a softening of their position. They say clear that the main provisions of the Communist plan are far from acceptable to France.

NOT FAVORED BY U. S.

A spokesman for the United States delegation, informed of the new French statements, said the American opposition to the Communist terms was unchanged. It was summed up this way: The Communists plan, if accepted in full, would represent unconditional surrender to the Communists.

Sources close to the Viet Namese delegation said the Communist terms were unacceptable to the French-sponsored Indo-China state.

These reactions came as the Indo-Chinese talks were in recess. The Western source said they might not be resumed before Friday. The Korean phase of the conference, meanwhile, was reported with a meeting of the 19 participating countries.

PEIL TALKS DOOMED

Although Western delegates agree that there must be full discussion of the detailed armistice proposals, some already are talking about writing the Geneva conference off as a complete failure on both Indo-China and Korea.

The Viet Namese proposed government of Viet Nam, largest of the three Indo-China states, today was reported working on a third peace plan that may differ sharply from that of either the French or the Communists.

In addition to other provisions, the Viet Nam delegation has indicated it will ask for independence of the three Indo-Chinese states, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, now classified by France as Associated states of the French Union.

The French says the states are already independent or are approaching that status. They say Viet Namese say the French still hold the power in key fields.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis — Below-normal temperatures continue throughout Ontario for the eighth consecutive day. Intermittent light rain which has been general in central and southern regions the past day or so will gradually edge its way into southern regions today. TWO BRIGADIERS IN RUNNING FOR COMMAND POST

Allard and Rockingham Now Being Considered

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The choice for commander of the army's 1st division—Canada's first peacetime division—apparently will be narrowed to two brigadiers.

The two are Brig. Jean Victor Allard, DSO and two bars, and Brig. John M. (Rocky) Rockingham, MBE and bar. Their names also be a dark horse. Whoever is appointed will be promoted to major-general.

The army itself appears slightly in favor of Rockingham, but the cabinet, which will make the final decision, may name Allard. There are comparatively few French-speaking Canadians in top defence posts.

Both men, big in stature and personality, have outstanding qualifications. Both commanded infantry battalions and "shone brightly during the Second World War. Both have commanded the 25th Canadian infantry brigade in Korea.

Brig. Allard, due home in June from Korea, will be 45 August 25. Born at Nicolet, Que., he joined the Trois-Rivieres tank regiment in 1929 as a militia unit. He was with two Distinguished Service Orders while commanding the 22nd Canadian Regiment in Italy—at the battle of the Arielli river near Ortona in December, 1943, and the breakthrough of the Gothic line in September, 1944.

COMMANDED INFANTRY

Brig. Allard was promoted to his present rank in 1945 and appointed commander of the 2nd Canadian infantry brigade in The Netherlands. He won his third DSO at Groningen.

He was Canadian military attache at Paris from after the war until 1948, then became commander of eastern Quebec area. He later attended the Imperial Defence College and was vice-quartermaster-general.

Brig. Rockingham was born in Australia on May 26, 1909, and commissioned in the Canadian Scottish in 1931. He has also been a major in the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry.

He was second-in-command of the 9th Canadian infantry brigade in August, 1944. He then fought at Caen and Boulogne and were the first Canadians to cross the Rhine into Germany.

He joined the British Columbia Regiment (Duke of Connaught's) after the war, but came out of army retirement in 1950 to command the 2,000-man special force in Korea. He later became director of infantry at army headquarters, attended the Imperial Defence College and was in command of the 3rd Canadian infantry brigade.

Pole Is Charged With Espionage

PARIS (Reuters)—Zbigniew Zdors Ladikowski, a Pole, has been arrested for alleged espionage on behalf of the Polish embassy here, police announced today.

Ladikowski is accused of selling confidential economic and political information to the embassy for 100,000.

French security officers had been watching Ladikowski for several some time. He was reported to have entered France illegally and to be a political refugee.

Ladikowski was formerly employed with harming the external security of the state. French authorities said only economic and political information appeared to be involved.

Between Two, Four Million Dollars Involved in Road Investigations

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram says today six highway contracts totalling between $2,000,000 and $4,000,000 are involved in the highways department investigation which led Monday to charges against three firms and 11 men.

The newspaper story says there has been no official indication what portion of these contracts is directly involved in the charges against the accused contractors and highways department employees.

"The three companies named have been awarded a total of 52 contracts, involving more than $10,000,000, in the last five years. Only six of these contracts are said to be involved in the suspected irregularities.

The paper says the charges involve contracts let in 1951 and 1952. They are reported to arise from three contracts of Tomlinson Construction Co. Ltd., of Fort William, two of Bergmann Construction Co. Ltd., of West Hill, on the eastern outskirts of Toronto.

The province's public accounts show that during the period 1949-53, the Tomlinson firm received a total of $8,634,865 for 24 contracts; Standard Paving got $5,025,114 for 12 contracts, and Bergmann company $3,679,993 for five contracts.

Two British Freighters Tied Up by Strikes at Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Crew members of a second British freighter Monday night defied the threat of mass arrest and staged a wildcat wage-sympathy strike.

The 30 ratings of the coastal trader Cibou decided to stop work in sympathy with 18 union mates of the freighter Shelldrake who were arrested Saturday for allegedly refusing to obey the order of their captain to put the ship to sea.

They pleaded not guilty to the charges laid in court Monday by the Shipping Federation of Canada. They are scheduled to appear in court again today.

After his crew had notified him they also were refusing to work the Cibou, Captain D. S. Whittle, master of the vessel, told reporters he will seek to have the men arrested.

"I have no other choice," he said.

Meanwhile the crew, like the seamen of the Shelldrake, members of the National Union of Seamen of Great Britain, stood fast.

"This ship will leave Montreal harbor until something is done for those 18 men in jail," said a spokesman.

The Cibou arrived here Saturday with a cargo of coal from Sydney, N.S., and was due to sail early this week. She and the Shelldrake are part of a fleet of 12 British-owned freighters plying between Canadian coastal ports during the summer.

Seamen receive a monthly salary of $90, together with free berth and board. In contrast Canadian sailors on similar jobs have a $204 a month minimum wage.

The Cibou crew said this is the first strike.

"Imagine trying to live on about $90 month in Canada," said the spokesman. "In England it's not so bad but then the prices of everything is more greater."

New Charges Bring to Fifteen Number Named in Road Probe

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government has cracked down on its biggest action to date in the investigation of alleged irregularities in highway construction contracts.

The attorney-general's department today laid 15 charges against 11 men charging 11 men with conspiring to defraud the government. They include a federal highways inspector, a top official in the provincial highways department and the president of three contracting companies.

The warrants brought to 15 the number of persons charged since the investigation started with the laying of charges against senior department officials and contractors have been arrested in the government's crackdown.

The officials of the companies named in the warrants Monday will appear in court today in Toronto, Whitby and Fort William. The companies have done more than $17,000,000 in highway work for the province during the last five years.

The federal highways inspector charged is R. F. Peturrson, whose job was to supervise construction on the Fort William area of sections of the trans-Canada highway which the federal government contributed 50 per cent. It was the first time a federal government employee had been accused in connection with the alleged irregularities.

Cecil N. Nelson, suspended chief engineer and head of the highways department, was also charged Monday.

CHARGED

The companies and their officials charged are: Standard Paving (Limited) and Walter Bruno, president; Tomlinson Brothers Limited and its subsidiary Tomlinson (Fort William Eastern) Limited and W. S. Tomlinson, vice-president, and R. W. Taylor, superintendent; Bergman Construction Company Limited and Walter Bergman, president, and John A. West, company superintendent.

Those named in the warrants include two highways employees who had not been previously suspended as involved in the irregularities. They are William Bredin, an instrument man, and Ivan Phipps, rodman.

Bredin is the Conservative candidate whose superior, Donald S. Patterson, also provincial engineer, was suspended but not charged until Monday and Harry Phipps, retired engineer at Fort William.

The firms, whose officials now face charges, are three of nine companies whose books had been seized by provincial police two weeks ago when government officials said Monday if is not likely that any further warrants will be issued.

Eight of the 11 men charged Monday have been arrested. Peturrson is in custody at Kamloops Registrar in Victoria, B.C. The warrants for W. S. Tomlinson, Nelson and William, and Birdsall have not yet been served.

HELD AT LAKEHEAD

Phipps and Arthur M. Mills, former division engineer at Fort William, were arrested at the lakehead. Bredin, Taylor and Walter Bruno, president of Standard Paving, were arrested in Toronto.

Nelson was arrested at Port Hope Bergmann and West at Pickering. Patterson and Bredin at Pickering and Taylor at Fort William. Nelson, Bergmann, Patterson and Bredin appeared before a justice of the peace in Whitby Monday and were released on bail ranging from $3,000 to $10,000.

Bruno was arrested and arrested in police court in Fort William Monday and were released on bail of $5,000 was continued for Mills and bail for Taylor was set at $2,000.

Those charged at Standard Paving will appear in police court at Tomlinson in Fort William and Bergmann and Nelson in Whitby.

Four of the companies were charged against the companies and highway employees; three in Fort William and one in Huntsville. The Standard and Tomlinson charges are involved in the Fort William area charges and Bergmann in the Huntsville section of the department.

WHY UNREVEALED

A source close to the investigation said the amount involved in the charges so-far revealed because the charge is conspiracy rather than a specific charge.

A select committee set up by the Ontario legislature to investigate investigations into reports of irregularities will meet next month to consider details of allegations during a routine provincial government highway bill, it resulted in the suspension of Mills and four other highways department employees in the 1951 division. The five suit are awaiting trial.

The question of how much money is involved in the irregularities have ranged as high as several million dollars but the only official statement has been made by Highways Minister Leslie Frost said last fall he did not think the amount involved would exceed $50,000.

Olympic Games Will Remain At Melbourne

ATHENS (Reuters)—The international olympic committee today confirmed that the 1956 olympic games will be held in Melbourne although the equestrian events will be held elsewhere.

Melbourne was first awarded the games a few years ago. Domestic controversy in Australia held up preparations for a time, and there was a further complication because Australian laws prevent horses from entering the country without a six-month quarantine.

Today's formal decision to hold the equestrian events elsewhere means that the committee has decided that Olympic rules can be adapted to meet the situation.

Fire Damages Part of Hospital At Cobourg

COBOURG (CP)—One man was injured but more than 500 women patients marched to safety Monday as fire badly damaged part of the Ontario Hospital, a mental institution here.

The fire was brought under control by Cobourg and district fire chief Hope and central Ordnance command of the Army.

William Balch, 52-year-old member of the hospital staff, was burned about the face and hands and was taken to hospital.

The 513 patients in the affected part of the hospital were marched onto the hospital lawns where spectators watched over them. There was no panic. Later they were moved into the unaffected part of the hospital.

HOUSE SETS UP SPECIAL VETERANS AFFAIRS GROUP

Will Make Study Of Veterans' Allowances

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has agreed to set up a special veterans affairs committee on the suggestion of Ian Sinclair, after repeated opposition demands that its agenda include a study of war veterans allowances.

Members of all three opposition groups Monday reiterated requests that the 31-member committee be empowered to consider more than the legislation proposed by the government.

Following a day-long debate, the House adopted the motion of Veterans Affairs Minister Lapointe that the committee be formed to study two bills dealing with war service grants and servicemen's benefits.

The chief topic of opposition speeches was the War Veterans Allowances Act under which "burned out" veterans — those who cannot qualify for service pay-are paid allowances of up to $30 a month for single veterans and $90 for married.

As of March 31, 30,650 veterans received allowances.

Opposition speakers urged the government to set up the committee this session. They also asked that the veterans affairs committee be given broad powers to study and to permit an annual review of veterans' problems.

CHARGES POLITICS

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) accused the government of introducing politics into veterans legislation by stipulating what the committee shall consider.

Mr. Gillis, a wounded veteran of the First World War, said the Commons should return to the veterans committees of a few years ago, which were suspended when they were power to initiate veterans legislation on their own.

LL.Col. Lapointe said all parties have acted together in the past to help war veterans. He hoped the situation would continue. He said a permanent committee still would not remove details of applications from the Commons at each session.

During the debate two opposition amendments to the government's motion were defeated. Gordon Graydon (PC—Peel) and LL-Col. A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) would have allowed the committee to study the War Veterans Allowances Act. The order Rev. E. W. Bennett (CCF—Macleod) would have let the committee decide its own agenda.

Both measures will be referred to the committee cover amendments to the veterans benefits acts.

DEADLINE EXTENDED

Among other things they extend the deadline for applying for rehabilitation benefits to Jan. 1, 1960, or 15 years after discharge, whichever is later. Under the present, Second World War veterans can apply up until the end of the year or 10 years after discharge. As of last June 30, 181,000 veterans still had not applied for re-establishment credits valued at more than $37,000,000.

The rehabilitation amendments will extend rehabilitation benefits to 22,000 veterans now overseas and those who join the forces before July 31 of 1955 or 1956. In the case of Korea veterans before July 31 of last year, the date of the armistice.

Deeply Tanned, Slimmer and Smiling, Queen Leaves Gibraltar for Home

By GOMER JONES
GIBRALTAR (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth sailed for home today—deeply tanned, slimmer and smiling after hundreds of receptions and thousands of handshakes in the Mediterranean and Malta.

Thousands lined the fortress harbor to cheer the Queen aboard the royal yacht Britannia for the 1,000-mile voyage to London.

The Queen faces a day of welcome in Malta before continuing the proportions of the Coronation "fever."

Her two-day visit to Britain's bastion here was the last official engagement of the six-month tour.

The sovereign did not appear tired this morning as she laid a wreath on the cenotaph of the King George VI Memorial Hospital.

Among the farewell gifts for the Royal Family was a silver flask for the Duke of Edinburgh. The Queen received a diamond coat-of-arms of Gibraltar from the British garrison and residents.

With the Duke of Edinburgh, she also called on the "forgotten peoples," the 40 rock apes of Queen's Gate park. Legend has it that if they disappear Britain's rule on the rock will end.

During the Queen and Princess Anne, 3, Monday had the happiest time of their lives from feeding peanuts to the apes.

There have been no Spanish demonstrations against the royal visit, though Spaniards just across the frontier could hear the cheering of the big crowds who greeted the Queen on her arrival Monday. Spanish authorities at the frontier post of La Linea imposed a 24-hour ban preventing visitors to Gibraltar from making brief trips across to Spain.

Vietminh To Let French Fly Out 1,300 Wounded

Agree to Allow Evacuation Of Dien Bien Phu Captives

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—The French rushed preparations today for an airlift of their wounded from the fallen fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

A French Army spokesman said Gen. Henri Navarre, commander of French Union forces in Indo-China, has been instructed by the Paris government to contact the Vietminh command. Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, and arrange for the mercy lift as soon as possible.

The Communists agreed at the Geneva conference Monday that the French may fly out 1,300 severely wounded French Union troops the Reds said they can-tured when they seized the northwest Indo-China bastion Friday after 56 days of repeated attacks.

It could be learned immediately whether Navarre had been able to get in touch with Giap. It was believed possible the Vietminh command post in the Red Riv-Hirondelle (Swallow), voice of French forces in Indo-China. Radio Hirondelle carried Navarre's earlier appeals for relief flights to be flown to permit evacuation of French Union wounded after the attack began March 13. Giap turned a deaf ear to those appeals. His troops fired on helicopters marked plane and helicopters trying to fly out the wounded.

LANDING A PROBLEM

Once arrangements with Giap are made, the big problem will be landing facilities for the French transports. Dien Bien Phu is 175 miles northwest of Hanoi, nearest big hospital centre big enough to handle such a large number of cases. The nearest new airstrip were converted to rubble by rebel mortars and artillery, and will have to be repaired. Whether the Vietminh will do this themselves, use big prisoners for labor, or leave it to French engineers is not known.

It is possible that helicopters might start bringing out the badly wounded shortly.

The Vietminh radio Monday said a number of wounded medical aid is, being given the wounded. The broadcast said most of the injured are being treated by their own doctors, who also are prisoners. More than 70 French doctors were in Dien Bien Phu when it fell.

The broadcast made no mention of Genevieve de Galard-Terraben, French Army nurse who was trapped in the fortress after rebel forces overran it. Navarre said which took her there for a visit last March.

BEHIND VILLAGES

In Hanoi, the French air force today announced it had opened an offensive against rebel units in the delta and had "destroyed" three villages used by the Vietminh as attack bases.

The Vietminh radio reported new attacks on the big French base at Dien Bien Phu garrison. In a broadcast heard in Hong Kong, the Reds said a new count of French Union prisoners taken there to 7,000. Earlier they had claimed the previous total announced by the Vietminh.

HANOI, Indo-China (CP) — The Communist rebel command in Indo-China - tonight - invited the French to fly convoys into Dien Bien Phu to discuss evacuating wounded from the fallen fortress.

The rebel commander, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, broadcast the offer to the French commander, Gen. Henri Navarre.

The rebel broadcast proposed the French should send convoys in by helicopters.

The rebel consent followed a French proposal for talks on the evacuation project, contained in a note parachuted into Dien Bien Phu earlier today by a French plane.

The evacuation was agreed upon by French and Rebel delegates to the Geneva Far East conference Monday.

PLANNING AIRLIFT

A French army spokesman earlier reported Gen. Henry Navarre, commander of the French Union forces in Indo-China, had orders for evacuation operations of airlifting the more than 1,000 wounded soldiers from the fallen fortress.

Fluoridation Of Water Rejected By Metro Council

TORONTO (CP) — The works committee of Toronto's metropolitan council Monday reported rejection of the water supply as a measure to counter tooth decay has been rejected by a majority of the 25 municipalities in the metro area.

Four have voted against fluoridation, five want more information, and seven have not decided. Three are in favor.

Toronto's board of health favors the move but city council has never endorsed fluoridation.

The council said it will shelve the fluoridation question until further information has been made by provincial authorities.

Resident Must Move Fence Off City Property

John H. Govier, 36 Bertram Boulevard, will have to take down the fence across the front of his lot, which he built on city property, by Monday night when the matter was referred back to the public works committee two weeks ago. At that time two of Mr. Govier's neighbors objected to the fence.

Two weeks ago the works committee had recommended Mr. Govier be given permission to build which is the words of one alderman "was already built" and last night the same committee brought in a recommendation asking him to remove the fence.

Alderman Thomas spoke in favor of allowing Mr. Govier's fence to remain.

"A lot of residents are waiting council's decision on this matter as they also have fences on city property and would face having to remove their fences should neighbors object."

Alderman Tice noted there had been no objection to other fences and hedges built on city property. There had been in this case and he felt consideration should be given to the objection of immediate neighbors.

Mayor Bolh compared the erection of a fence on city property with the placing of a banner across the street during the last election campaign by an aspirant to office.

"At that time council considered this was a tremendous law breaker", the mayor commented with his tongue in his cheek.

Council voted eight to six to have Mr. Govier take his fence down.

$919 Expenditure For Park Fill Causes Debate

An expenditure of $919 by the city council planning committee for the purchase of fill for Victoria Park came under fire at Monday night's council meeting with councillors feeling the money so should not have been spent without council authorization.

In reply Alderman Arthur Keegan, as chairman of the planning committee, noted the money had been spent with full consent of his committee members and was to be charged against the $2,500 voted by council for the beautification of Victoria Park.

Alderman Cowdryman wanted to know who authorized the three amounts contained in the bill, while Alderman Safe maintained that the expenditure should not have been made without council being consulted.

INQUIRED OF ONE BILL

Alderman Countryman inquired specifically about the bill of $480 from Jack Both Ltd., a company owned by Mayor Both.

"Here we have our mayor asking that all work done for the city be advertised, and yet no prices were called for on this particular job," he said. "How amounts such as these are spent the job should be advertised."

Alderman Tice reminded council that $2,500 had been voted for Victoria Park. He said the fill had been purchased as cheaply as possible and was placed on the park.

Mayor Both added the fill his firm had hauled had cost the city nothing and the city was not being asked to pay all the trucking charges.

QUESTION ASKED

Alderman Hyde observed that according to committee meeting minutes the chairman was the only council member to attend the meeting at which it was decided to place the fill. He wanted to know how the consent of other committee members had been obtained.

As committee chairman Alderman Keegan said $1.50 per load for hauling of fill had been the price set by his committee. He had contacted other committee members and received their approval before the fill was purchased.

Council agreed that the fill had been cheap enough and the bill for hauling and levelling was okayed.

Alderman Keegan presented a plan for the future development of Victoria Park as drawn by the city engineer. The plan included the position of anchorage for boats in the inner harbor.

He said that haphazard anchorage of boats made it difficult for tourists' boats to get in for service and other service. He noted the plan was approved by the local harbor commission. Council approval of the plan was given.

Hospital Day On Wednesday, All Invited

Wednesday, May 12th, the anniversary of Florence Nightingale's birthday, is National Hospital Day and the day the Belleville General Hospital invites the people of the city and district to visit their community hospital and see the services and facilities available.

Three specially conducted tours of the hospital and the nurses' residence have been arranged by the staff, so that visitors can see for themselves the work being done for city and district 24 hours a day, every day of the year.

The tours to be conducted from 2.00 to 4.00 p.m., have been divided into the surgical-medical tour, housekeeping tour, and a visit to the nurses' residence.

The medical-surgical tour includes a visit to the laboratories, x-ray department, pharmacy, an operating room in which a mock operation will be staged, and the physiotherapy department.

A second tour has been designed for those who would like to visit the kitchen, laundry and maintenance department for a first hand look at the facilities that are used to feed an average of 175 patients a day.

The third tour, an inspection of the nurses' residence, includes a showing of the film, "Flames of Mercy"—a 17 minute movie about the services and facilities of a community hospital.

Visitors will be welcome to take any or all of the tours.

All visitors are invited to a free tea in the nurses' recreation room. Members of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary will pour and nurses will serve.

PhonAudograph Demonstrated To Y's Men

At the latest meeting of the Belleville Y's Men's Club, Mr. R. F. C. Morris, Audiograph Sales Manager at the local plant of the Northern Electric Company, demonstrated a remarkable machine known as a PhonAudograph.

Before demonstrating the equipment Mr. Morris briefly traced the history of business dictating and recording "Nearly all business is done on paper" the speaker commented "Conservation of ideas, orders and directions must take place and must be recorded for future reference. Modern business has involved methods from Thomas Edison's first phonograph to a highly complex recording machine which saves time and cuts down costs for the employer."

While demonstrating the remote control dictation system Mr. Morris explained that it provided low cost dictation facilities for, and organization. Some organizations which could not afford individual dictating machines for every office could by this method provide every user a private line connected to a single recording machine.

The system provides each user with a specially designed desk phone which can take dictation, play back any portion of a message, make corrections automatically and insure complete privacy to the user. By pressing various buttons on the telephone stand all these operations will take place in the central recorder which may be situated many floors and a great distance away from the user.

One operator situated at the central recorder can then replay all letters and messages which have been recorded, type out the dictation and dispatch it to the proper designations.

Mr. Morris was introduced by Mr. J. Pearson and thanks of the club members for the remarkable and instructive demonstration were given by Mr. George Wonnacott.

Slight Socialist Gains Reported In British Voting

LONDON (Reuters) — First results of this week's municipal elections in England and Wales showed slight Socialist gains today as politicians scanned the outcome for hints of the national voting atmosphere.

Final results may provide Sir Winston Churchill with a clue on whether it would be wise to call a national election this year. If the outlook proves favorable, Churchill could call a full-scale voting test to strengthen his Conservative party's hold on Parliament.

With full results of the first balloting not yet published, the Labor party scored net gains of 13 seats in 334 urban council contests.

Borough elections will be held in 285 districts Thursday. No seats will be contested in London this year, but borough seats are at stake in many of the larger provincial cities.

Grocery Store Operators Want By-Law Repealed

Belleville grocery store operators have a divided opinion as to whether their present early closing by-law should remain in effect.

Two weeks ago city council was requested by a group of store owners to enforce their closing by-law noting that it was being violated by a number of owners. Police were instructed to enforce the by-law and an injunction was issued against the A. and P. Store which had been remaining open Wednesday afternoons.

Last night another party of grocery store operators, represented by counsel Ronald Cass, asked that the by-law be rescinded. A petition bearing the names of 17 store operators was presented to council.

Mr. Cass said it was his understanding that the present grocery by-law had been passed by council after 75 per cent of the owners had requested it. He said the by-law could be repealed if one-third of the owners asked for it.

If the present by-law was repealed the field would be left wide open for a new by-law, he said.

SPEAKS IN FAVOR

George DeVuyst, local restaurant owner, also spoke in favor of repealing the by-law. He said that the grocery store operators asking for the repeal of the by-law were family groups and were self employed. "Council should not deprive them the right to earn a living," he said.

Alderman Gerald Hyde tabled a recommendation calling for the closing by-law to be appealed, noting that the by-law had been "flagrantly violated." However, it was only when chain stores began to remain open that the merchants asked the by-law be enforced.

Alderman Safe noted that marketing had changed with other stores now staying open on a six day nights instead of Saturday.

"The grocery by-law should be rescinded," he said. "Then the matter would be thrown wide open and surely some decision would come as to what the hours should be."

Alderman Countryman observed that other groups of store owners had their by-law amended to conform with the Friday night opening.

The matter was referred back to the finance committe for further consideration.

'House of Mercy' Film Shown To Rotarians

"The House of Mercy," a 17-minute movie outlining the facilities and services available at a community hospital, was shown to members of the Belleville Rotary Club at the club's weekly luncheon meeting held Monday noon at the Hotel Quinte.

The picture outlined the medical and surgical services of a hospital as well as the work of the laboratories, specialized departments, nursing services and maintenance requirements of a hospital. The picture was shown in conjunction with a brief address by Kenneth Box, administrator of the Belleville General Hospital, who spoke on Hospital Day, being observed here Wednesday, May 12th.

Mr. Box expressed the appreciation of the staff of the hospital to the Rotary Club for the support which its members gave the recent fund raising campaign. He pointed out, too, that members could continue their assistance to the hospital's program by giving it their moral support and that one expression of this support would be a visit to the hospital on Hospital Visitors Day.

SPECIAL TOURS ARRANGED

He explained that special tours of the hospital had been arranged and that guides and directors would be on hand to answer questions about the operation of the various departments.

Mr. Box was introduced by A. McLean Howard, and the thanks of Rotary were expressed by George Lanning.

Rev. Ralph Middleton spoke briefly about the Bayside Secretary trophy, which he is instituting as an annual award for Bible memory work in the four or five schools in the Bayside area.

The handsome trophy, which features three carvings symbolizing the four evangelists mounted on a shield, was described by Mr. Middleton as a means of promoting Bible study for the fortification of young minds against anti-God and Communist philosophies.

Clare Milligan announced a forthcoming inter-club meeting with the Watertown, N.Y., Rotary Club.

Art Francis presented birthday roses to Art Young, Ab Wonnacott, Enos David, Clare Morgan, Len Gilchrist and Mac MacLean.

Mayor's Delay in Signing By-Laws Passed by Council Causes Heated Discussion

Reluctance on the part of Mayor John Bobs to sign a by-law covering the sale of a number of lots in the Parkwood Heights area touched off a verbal exchange in city council Monday evening that closed ultimately with adjournment of the night's proceedings.

Alderman Wilbur Countryman declared that Mayor Bobs had repeatedly declined to sign the by-law covering the sale of a number of building lots to Mr. Sidney Rigsby and introduced a recommendation calling for Alderman C. D. Tice, chairman of property, to sign three by-laws passed by council two weeks ago.

"The minute we allow one man to decide whether or not he will sign his name after being directed to do so by council, then we are allowing one man to run this council," he said.

OBJECTED TO SALE

Alderman Countryman said the mayor had objected to the sale of lots to Mr. Spiegel and inferred it was because of this reason that he was declining to sign the by-laws.

In reply Mayor Bobs said he had not been told that Mr. Spiegel was willing to sign the sale agreement.

The mayor objected to Alderman Countryman's criticism and accused him of having aspirations toward the Mayor's chair. "The time will come when you will have the opportunity," he told the alderman.

CLAIMS BY-LAW RAILROADED.

The mayor went on to say that the sale of the lots had been "railroaded" through council and that giving three readings to a by-law in one night was not "parliamentary procedure."

Alderman Temple said he was amazed at the situation. "My conclusion is that the mayor refuses to sign," he said. "When one man bucks council procedure I don't know where we are to go. It is simply beyond my comprehension."

Clerk-Comptroller H. D. Bateman said procedure in the sale of lots was for the mayor and clerk to sign by-laws and then have the purchaser come in and sign the agreement.

Alderman Bradford wanted to know if there had ever been any suggestion of the mayor refusing to sign a by-law and also asked if it was the mayor's intention not to sign the by-law at the board meet with his approval.

In reply Mayor Bobs again referred to what he termed lack of parliamentary procedure in the passing of the by-law. Three readings in one night was not according to municipal law, he maintained.

CAN GIVE 3 READINGS.

To this the city solicitor noted that three readings could be given in one night if the rules were suspended for this purpose. Alderman Countryman assured this had been done.

"It all boils down to whether the mayor intends to sign," pointed out Alderman Sale.

"I have no intention not to sign them," the mayor replied. "This has all come up because the chairman of finance is a bit hot under the collar."

"Is this just a joke on the part of the mayor, or is this sort of thing to continue?" asked Alderman Temple.

Alderman Countryman was not satisfied with the mayor's promise that the by-law would be signed before the next council meeting and asked that the recommendation calling for Alderman Tice to sign be voted on.

The motion was lost and the matter again promised the by-laws would be signed.

But the whole interchange between the mayor and Alderman Countryman was not without humor. In the beginning of the meeting Mayor Bobs had requested the minutes of the previous council meeting be read. Just as the clerk commenced to read the minutes Alderman Clarke moved they be taken as read. The motion was lost and the clerk continue reading the minutes. This took up 15 minutes of council time.

BRINGS IN MOTION

Alderman Countryman brought in a recommendation asking that the council minutes be not read when a committee report was taken as read. "It was moved and seconded that the minutes be taken as read, but the mayor refused," he said.

"That is not quite so," returned Mayor Bobs. "What really happened was that a motion to that effect was to be read and the clerk had started before the motion was made. You are mistaken."

There was a brief discussion as to whether a councillor could ask for the minutes to be read against the wishes of a majority of the council. No one seemed to know and the city solicitor was asked for his opinion on the matter.

ADJOURNMENT REQUESTED

It was here that the motion for adjournment came.

"I can see we are not accomplishing anything for the citizens here tonight," Alderman Bradford said. "I move we adjourn."

There was no dissent and it was agreed to adjourn until May 24th.

Alderman Argue as chairman of the committee of the whole had a rather difficult time during the stormy session and repeatedly had to rule out of order. On several occasions he was forced to ask a member of a delegation to desist from interjecting.

"If you don't desist I will have to have you removed from the council chambers," the chairman told the interrupter.

Former Students Plan to Honor BCI Teacher

Former students living in the city are also being asked to contact ex-students living in other parts of Ontario or Canada or else to forward the names and addresses of these students to the telephone committee.

Details of this project will be available from members of the committee.

All those who were at one time or other taught by Miss Merry in a regular class, school or who were members of the various clubs in which she was a staff adviser are asked to contact one of the following:

Council Rescinds Over-Hanging Signs By-Law

After December 31st of this year, city merchants will be relieved of paying a tax on overhanging signs.

This was decided last night by city council when a recommendation from the finance committee calling for rescinding of the by-law covering such signs was approved.

Two weeks ago a delegation of merchants waited on council and presented a petition bearing 55 signatures asking for the repeal that the by-law be rescinded. The matter was referred to the finance committee for investigation.

Last night when the finance committee recommendation was read the merchants' delegation noted that a number of merchants carry liability insurance for such signs and he could see no reason why they should be taxed.

Several of the aldermen were in favor of doing away with the sign tax, noting that it was both regulatory and revenue raising. They thought a small fee should be charged to cover the cost of inspection for safety.

Other members, however, considered the sign tax "a nuisance," and the claim of two merchants who spoke in favor of rescinding the by-law.

OSD Students Outline Work To Lions Club

At the regular meeting of the Lions Club held recently, Mr. Demeza, superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf, Miss Maloney, teacher and six of the senior students were present as guests of the club.

Mr. Demeza, introduced by Lion Harry Gibson, explained to the club the work done at the O.S.D., by the pupils. He stressed the fact that to call them "deaf-mutes" or "mutes" was incorrect as they are not silent. Hearing is the sense which keeps us in touch with our surroundings and hence we are not limited to only visual assistance. The average hearing pupil goes to kindergarten with a vocabulary of approximately 2,000 words and so our students are retarded by at least five years. The school's educational program discourages "sign language" and teaches them to lip read. Lip reading is a difficult skill as all the sound elements are not visible and very difficult to determine.

Teaching involves a four-fold approach, namely, of writing, books, seeing. He also mentioned that the O.S.D. is a family of 375 students and a staff of 120 of which 47 are teachers.

Following the introductory remarks, Miss Maloney introduced the six students and led them in a remarkable demonstration of their ability to speak and lip read.

They were thanked on behalf of the club by Lion Ben Hurley, who said he was sure that this evening had been an amazing revelation to all present.

Licence Fee Set For Installing TV Antennas

Licencing of persons doing television antenna installations in the city was approved by council Monday evening. The annual licence fee for installing antennas will be $100 per year.

On the request of local applicants for dealers doing antenna installations, the finance committee brought in the recommendation to license operators doing such installations. The fee recommended by the dealers was $100.

Council generally approved of the licencing installations but there was a difference of opinion as to the amount. Some felt that $100 thought the $100 fee was too high and that it would tend to keep out of the business persons who may be fully competent to do the job.

Alderman Temple wanted to know if the suggested licencing was regulatory or if it was set up solely to exclude others from entering the field. He was told the licencing would do both, although not intentionally. The opinion was that licencing would keep out fly by night installers and would lead to better installations.

NOT SAFETY OWNERS.

The licencing would not apply to an owner installing his own antenna, it was stated.

Mayor Bobs said there was no intention to do away entirely from installing antennas but the licencing would be a protection against damage to hydro and other services.

Alderman Safe agreed the licencing would tend to exclude persons doing the T.V. antenna installation field, but "rightly so." Local dealers paid local taxes and city rates and also a business tax.

Alderman Bradford agreed that the licencing was a safety factor; it is not to be expected that every out of the small man's mouth," he said.

Alderman Temple argued that if the purpose of the licencing was regulation then a smaller fee would be sufficient." He moved an amendment setting the fee at $25 instead of $100.

The amendment was lost and the original motion carried for licencing at a fee of $100 as suggested by the appliance dealers, was carried.

Sale of City-Owned Lots Brings Debate in Council

Alderman Hyde felt it was strange the sale of lots should be bucked now when other sales had gone through without question at previous council meetings.

He said the fact that the lots were, being sold to Maurice Rollins, an employee of the H. J. McFarland Construction Company, should make no difference.

"It is immaterial to me who buys the lots as long as the city gets the best price possible," Mayor Bobs countered. He couldn't see why Alderman Hyde was taking McFarland's cudgel to bat.

TWO MOTIONS TURNED DOWN

Council turned down two amendments calling for the sale of lots covered by recommendation, to be put up for tender and the original recommendations for their sale were carried.

Council turned down the application of M. W. Amodeo to purchase four lots in the Coleman Flats district at a price of $150. Council felt the price offered was too low.

In a later recommendation from Mayor Bobs calling for all lots sold in the future to be placed for tender and sold to the highest bidder was referred to the property committee.

You can't go ALL-OUT If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work much harder, play much harder, too. The strain on body and brain makes physical fitness almost a must for many people. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry, can lead to fatigue, mental and kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and poisons remain in the blood. Then backaches, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" feeling, headaches and dizziness. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the flow of kidney action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 53

SHOULD REVISE WITNESS FEES.

There is a serious need for an upward adjustment in the fees paid witnesses at court proceedings in Ontario. The striking necessity for such revision was brought forcibly to our attention this week when witness fees for a recent hearing here were computed.

The hearing lasted for a total time of six and one-half days spread over a two-week period. During the first week the court was in session from Monday morning until Thursday noon. Sessions during the second week lasted from Monday morning until Wednesday afternoon. Witnesses were subpoenaed to appear on Monday of the first week.

Four Toronto newspapermen, who testified at the hearing during the second week as Crown witnesses, were given $22.10 witness fees. These reporters, who were present for the entire duration of the hearing could not have lived in the city for the elapsed time of the hearing on the money they were subsequently awarded. This sum is not sufficient to provide them with accommodation, let alone meals, travelling expenses, possible reimbursement for lost wages, as well as some compensation for inconveniences.

Each of these reporters made two round trips from Toronto to Belleville to testify at the hearing. This expense alone would be sufficient to account for 60 per cent of their fees as witnesses.

These reporters, as representatives of their papers, were provided with transportation, lodging, meals and expense money by their papers. Neither did the papers cut off their salaries while they were attending the hearing. This is the crux of the subsequent payment-of witness fees it is obvious that the Toronto newspapers made it possible for these men to appear as Crown witnesses without suffering financial injury to themselves. Other witnesses were not so fortunate.

It should not be necessary in the administration of justice, that citizens be expected to appear to their financial hardships by comply with a subpoena. In times gone by, when a good wage was $12 a week, there might be some justification in expecting a witness to bear the financial brunt of the subpoena. In times like these, when a good wage is $22.10 a day, adequate compensation for answering a summons to a hearing four and possibly five days before he was called. But those days have been gone for many decades. Even there is hardly a working man today, who, if deprived of his wages, could afford to travel from Toronto to Belleville and provide his own accommodation, meals and compensation for lost wages for $22.10 a day, let alone $22.10 for six and one-half days stretched over a 10-day period. Is it any wonder that witnesses are sometimes reluctant to come forward with evidence when they are faced, not, only with the unpleasant nature of testifying, but with the harsh financial consequences of such action as well?

The Crown surely is not so poor that it can afford no more for its witnesses?

Perhaps the chief reason for the continuing low scale of pay for witnesses is that such a small proportion of the population is called upon each year to testify. However, the absence of public pressure is no excuse for the failure to increase the fees paid witnesses. The Crown is only too well aware of the cost of everything else including the convicted person's ability to pay fines, and the cost of engaging counsel to advance the Crown's cases. The time for revision of witness fees is long overdue.

THE SUPER-SALESMAN

In a recent article in a Detroit newspaper, a business editor said that he had not had an automobile salesman call upon him for more than 20 years.

He failed to add that, had he so desired there was something wrong with the merchandising methods of the automobile industry.

He is by all of familiar with this type of complaint, which has swelled to a chorus since the end of the war. The art of salesmanship has been pilloried to die, we are told. Established salesmen are not bothered at all but only order-takers. Dire results were predicted when the "sellers' market" ended and a "buyers' market" followed. There was some truth in these warnings—but it was not the whole truth.

The fact which these critics were over-looking was strikingly stressed Friday in an address by T. J. Emmert, secretary-president of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada Ltd., at the 39th annual conference of the Association of Canadian Advertisers.

Mr. Emmert referred to the Detroit editor's observation.

"The fact is," he said, "that whether he is conscious of it or not—and certainly one in his profession should be aware of it—millions of automobile advertising dollars are delivering the territory much more thoroughly, more effectively and more productively than all the doorbell ringers in history."

Mr. Emmert went on to say that a quarter of a century ago the automobile salesman might support twenty or more families on the bona calls a day. He was lucky to average a sale every other day. Today a few salesmen make as many as a thousand sales a year. Men who handle 400 to 500 sales a year are not uncommon.

Even today's salesmen better than were the salesmen of years ago? Probably not. But they have better tools. Now, as Mr. Emmart explains it, advertising is paving the doorbells for the most efficient method of selling, of course, has been proven to be newspaper advertising. It rings the door-bell every week-day, but never when the housewife is taking a bath or baking a cake, feeding the baby. It does not mind waiting—nor repeating its story to Aunt Emma or Grandpa when a family conference is called.

It does not replace the human salesman but merely enables him to make more sales in less time, to do his job more efficiently.

And, in selling as in every other phase of business, increased efficiency means reduced costs and ultimately a lower price to the consumer.

As married couples oft must do.
The radiant smiles their faces wore,
Proclaimed a little dream come true.

Which are the richer? Those who wait
With patience some small joy to gain,
Coming at last with hearts slate
The long wished trifle to attain,
Or those whose fortunes are so great
In getting things no thrills remain?

Portrait of a Rebel

(By Gerald Kiss in The Milwaukee Journal)

A man whose exact age, whereabouts, state of health and even proof of existence is not known to the world at large has one of the leading roles in the Geneva Conference, although he is absent from the parley. His name: Ho Chi Minh. He is Generalissimo of the Vietminh rebel forces that have battled the French in Indo-China for more than seven years.

Several times during the war the French have hopefully listed Ho as "probably casualty" of bombing raids. No foreign visitors—from non-Communist countries, at least—have set eyes on him since 1947. His last photograph was taken years ago.

Yet he is the unquestioned leader of the Communist and Nationalist troops that have come close to winning the vital struggle for Vietnam. Just as unquestioned is his devotion to the Communist cause. According to one authority on his career, Ho Chi Minh has never disobeyed an order from Moscow.

His photographs show a striking facial resemblance to the late Confucius, Dr. Fu Manchu. A frail wisp of a man, the Vietminh leader is described reverently the last few years, according to reports. His straggling goatee has turned white, his face is thinner and his voice hoarse from tuberculosis.

But his control over the eight million Vietminh-held people in areas held by his troops has been absolute. Even those nationalists who have not organized resistance to the Communists, and political commissars wield power over every village in the Vietminh army, in approved Communist style.

* * *

Ho Chi Minh started out life about 64 years ago in a little town in northern Indo-China. He was born with three names. The original one, which he has not used since early adulthood, was Nguyen Tat Thanh.

His father was a minor government official. The elder Nguyen, who was kicked out of office by the French in 1908 for drunkenness and associating with post-office funds. As a result, young Nguyen Tat Thanh acquired the name to Nguyen Ai Quoc — Mr. Patriot. He also acquired the French merchantman.

In turn, he visited Singapore, Hong Kong, America, England and France. For a time he worked as an assistant pastry chef. Eventually he moved to Paris, where he became a philosophical Communist, and started his revolutionary career.

He tried unsuccessfully to plead the cause of Indo-Chinese independence at the Versailles peace conference in 1919. To became a member of a small group of French Socialists who switched to communism. In 1923, the party sent him underground. He turned up next year in Moscow for a two-year term at the school for Communist leaders.

His first assignment after that was to act as interpreter for Borodin, the Russian Communist adviser to Sun Yat-sen in China. When Borodin was chased out of China in 1927, Ho accompanied him to Russia. But he returned to Asia the next year to help form the Communist movement in Malaya and Thailand.

He came back to Russia and lay in 1936 and managed to elude the French for several years, despite a huge price on his head. He was the Japanese overran Indo-China early in World War II, he returned his name again, to Ho Chi Minh—The One Who Shines.

Early in the war, in Yunan province of Southern China, he formed a league of Indo-Chinese refugees, under the euphonious title of the Vietminh, or Leage for Independence of Vietnam. It was dominated by the present Vietminh.

* * *

In the final stages of the war, Ho's partisans led the active resistance to Japanese occupation of Indo-China. He co-operated with the 14th air force's pilot rescue teams, his men made several raids against the Japanese. American arms were parachuted to him, and American intelligence officers aided the resistance effort.

At the end of the war, Ho Chi Minh made a triumphant entry into Hanoi and proclaimed himself president of the new Democratic Republic of Vietnam". The French felt that they had new responsible with the new state, and formally recognized Ho's government as a republic on March 6, 1946.

Thus it was that Ho Chi Minh, an enemy of the French for 28 years, travelled in style to France to negotiate for Vietnamese independence. But Bao Dai, the luxury king of Vietnam, abdicated under pressure, and joined Ho's cabinet as an advisor.

The French and the Vietnamese leader could not agree on terms for independence. Both wanted Cochin China, the southern province of Cochin China, and Saigon would be its capital. He returned to Indo-China, and guerrilla war started on December 19, 1946, between the Vietminh and the French.

It started as guerrilla war, on a very small scale, until Communist China started pumping supplies to the rebel forces. Despite Communist claims, however, only a fraction of Ho's followers are Communists, according to reports. Ho has adopted independence of Vietnam for his battle cry, and his government in Hanoi is anti-French, not pro-Communist.

* * *

Nevertheless, Ho can be counted as one of Moscow's most valuable Communist satellites in Asia. Some of his supposedly defiant actions—nationalization of the many rice plantations in Yugoslavia, for example—are dismissed as window dressing.

At one time, in fact, he announced that he would not accept any foreign troops that invaded Red China, including Chinese troops. Sadly, that promise has not come true, despite the traditional hatred between Chinese and their huge neighbor to the north.

In short, the austere young rebel who went to school in Moscow 30 years ago has justified the faith of his teachers. He learned his party line lessons well.

Should Not Happen to Dog

(Windsor Star)

Down in New York there is a negro who is charged with inhumanity to dog enough: what it does to the English language is unsuitable to a family newspaper.

Socialites are doling up their dogs. Every day in the park out with coats, sweaters, jewel-studded collars and the like. The outfits foisted on the hapless canines match those worn by mistresses.

Just imagine a self-respecting dog submitting to a walk the way on Fifth Avenue in such attire. It is enough to cause an attack of rabies.

Dogs are sensitive to such things. They are part of the pride of his fighting prowess. With the negro dog, the fact that his mistress took pity on him, as he was short-haired, and knitted him a sweater. The look of disgust that came over his rugged countenance when he put it on him, and took him out for a stroll, was something to see.

He was downright humiliated.

There are things which shouldn't happen to a dog. These include making a monkey of him to suit the whim of some society socialite.

MENTAL TERMITES

It takes alertness to live healthily and happily. And behind this alertness must be a sense of humor and the will to live in peace and with serenity. Not in all creative live has there ever been anything magic, strange, and miraculous as the human brain. But even this marvelous organ has its enemies, and let us name the mental termites, for in time they can cause permanent damage difficult to repair.

These mental termites come in the form of resentment, anger, fales accusations, false statements, and bitterness toward another. Each eats away at the mind with the purpose of damaging its pride and dignity, wounding its creative forces, driving it to a lonely isolation. It takes rare courage to defend oneself against these evil workers. To avoid tragic results we must command all the spiritual resources that we can muster so as to be the master of the mind that we may live in readiness for a triumphant defence.

There are many victims for these mental termites. A cheerful outlook, an abundance of self-control, rare common sense, and an honest kindness, for these mental termites originate in an unhealthy mind—a mind that is often idle and without purpose. They breed in minds that have no aim, have a disarrangement and confusion of values. And, like the termites that undo the structure of our homes, they work in the dark. They cannot live in the light.

Life is a struggle, no matter to whom it comes. Our greatest defense is a carefully planned philosophy of life, adhered to with patience and courage. We must have a sense of values and allow them to govern our actions. Only there is the will to keep them out!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

CAUSE AND CONSEQUENCE.

For a few days last week it seemed I might be getting a recurrence of the subacromial bursitis I had twenty-four years ago. It would be interesting, I thought, to learn whether the calcium deposit in the bursa, which covered a year of acute pain and recovery from bursitis, when I had a fracture of the other shoulder and X-ray films of both shoulders were made for comparison, was still present.

Dr. Brady

But the trouble cleared up and I suppose the question will remain unanswered until the autopsy.

A good many physicians, I gather from browsing in current medical literature, harbour a belief that when I said a "deposit" of calcium (calcareous material) or calcification in or around a bursa, as shown by X-ray, is the cause of bursitis. This is an error into which doctors fall because they are not well grounded in pathology or they have forgotten the fundamental principles of pathology under the impact of the findings of research investigators subsidized by rich corporations who alter several years' study of the question have I concluded that these deposits are symptoms and the evidence to support the notion that they are the cause of pain is careless material in or about bursae, joints, artery walls, or other tissues or organs is a result of disease.

Such calcification occurs only as a consequence of injury, sprain, strain, degeneration or other pathological process, to make this statement without fear of contradiction. If you doubt what I say about it, in case any recognized medical authority may care to have a try at contradicting it.

From correspondence with hundreds of readers I have clearly need an optimal daily intake of calcium and vitamin D. I found that even when the poor souls have experimentally reduced their fats from a few weeks of Ca and D feeding, their nineteenth century doctors and their old family physician still prescribed "calcium deposits" in joints, arteries, etc.

These 1890 style doctors generally have only a vague idea of the minimum nutritional requirements of calcium and sunshine vitamine D in infancy, youth, adulthood, pregnancy, lactation and advanced age. If they knew a little more about nutrition they would realize that the daily Ca and D intake of most Americans and Canadians is insufficient to maintain functional efficiency and health.

The daily ration of Ca and D recommended to supplement the ordinary diet supplies only enough calcium to assure an adequate intake, and the amount of vitamin D is only what an individual might reasonably hope himself if he were sufficiently exposed to daylight every day in the year.

Torpid Tortoise Longest Lived

("Check Wood's Diary" in Syria).

Ontario's most long-lived fish is considered to be the carp at 150 years, the pike comes next at close to 100, but trout, bass and perch usually survive to 18 years of age.

Biologists also find that beaver may survive 80 years, deer 25, bear 30, and foxes 10 years. The many of these animals rarely exist 20 years by sagaciously avoiding the hunters' rifles' suppers and the guns of hunters, which he seems able to do with amazing consistency.

The life span of most Ontario birds ranges from 3 to 40 years. Exceptions are vultures, owls and eagles, some of which reach the century mark. The wild goose may exist 70 years, the pelican 40 to 50 years, the raven 69, the lark may outlive most other small birds and attain 16 to 18 years of age. Domestic pigeons may live 20 years, and some crows and ravens 100.

Of the smaller animals, the common rabbit may survive 9 to 8, the cottontail 8 to 8, squirrels 7 to 10, and mice 3 to 5 years. Some cold-blooded creatures live lengthy lives. Newts and lizards, for instance, frequently celebrate 25th birthdays, the larger snakes live 30th, and the turtle 100.

Certain exotic creatures are noted for their longevity. Century doctors are likely and eagles upward of 100, have been known. Crocodiles sometimes go on record and rhinoceri have been known to live centuries. Elephants, too, may attain the age of 50, sometimes 60 years. But the greatest, undoubtedly of them all, 500 to 800 pounds in weight, is the giant tortoise, which is considered by scientists to have to live some 300 years to attain his full growth.

THE PACKSACK
By GREGORY CLARK

A wealthy woman took a year's leave of absence from a lucrative job in a house in a suitable district, not too far from down-town, which could be let during the summer. The wealthy woman offered to lend the association $20,000, without interest, if the committee could find $15,000 from other sources within the city.

This created a great deal of excitement. Everybody connected with the city and women the $20,000 instead of lending it, without interest.

The $15,000 was found, the $20,000 was borrowed, the house was bought, and the association had its headquarters.

Over the years, as the association grew in strength and began to spread out over the city, it made occasionally made contributions slightly larger than others. Something like a tenth of the total budget was contributed by the wealthy woman who died, in old age, that the reason of her generosity. However, she left the $20,000 and considerably more besides to her pet organization, which is considered her will:

"Where is no way to destroy an organization surer than for some wealthy person or a group of wealthy persons to undertake to finance it. It is only when we all have to work to keep a service enterprise that we keep its true purpose clearly in view. The best way to destroy a service is to make it permanent interest. The greater the permanent interest, the stronger the implement. I hope my bequest does not cause any of you to relax."

The Dandelion Perennial Pest

Everyone knows the common dandelion. It is of European origin and like the English sparrow, can be found everywhere. The dandelion thrives on every type of soil and under any conditions, says the Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The dandelion has some doubtful virtue as a harbinger of spring. Under some circumstances it adds beauty to the landscape.

The young growth can be used as greens, the blossoms have questionable value in the production of home-made beverages and the white milky juice has very doubtful medicinal value.

On the other side of the picture, dandelions are a perennial pest to the home owner in his lawn and garden, to the farmer in his pastures and farm yard and to the road overseers along roadsides and boulevards of our highways.

Dandelion seeds are carried considerable distances by the wind, consequently the fight for their control is perpetual, perennial and continuous.

The old back breaking method of control by spudding or a squirt of oil on each plant is now outdated by the more modern chemical control methods. Fortunately dandelions are one of the easiest weeds to kill with 2,4-D. Control measures are inexpensive, effective and easy to apply. For lawns, just purchase a bottle or can of 2,4-D, apply in the form of a spray according to the manufacturer's directions at any time when the dandelion plants are showing green and thrifty.

The first spray should be applied in the spring when the first blossoms appear. Care must be exercised in preventing the spray from drifting to nearby ornamentals. Lawns where bent grass is present should not be sprayed with 2,4-D.

AVALANCHE KILLS SKIERS

SION, Switzerland (Reuter)—Two Swiss skiers were killed and four others severely injured Sunday when a seven-man ski-party was swept away by an avalanche. The only uninjured skier dug himself out and sped down Mt. Rosa Blanche for help.

SOVIET TRAWLERS SAIL

CUXHAVEN, Germany (AP)—A flotilla of 19 new Soviet fish trawlers, just completed in a Baltic yard, passed this North sea port Sunday en route to the Black sea, German shipping authorities reported. The trawlers were built in the Soviet-controlled port of Koenigsberg (Leningrad), the former German shipping base.

Weddings

HOLDEN — AYLESWORTH

Beneath an evergreen arch decorated with fernery and pink and white spring flowers, a pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, May 8th, at 11 a.m., by the Reverend J. R. Walsh, of Madoc, assisted by the Reverend C. W. Reynolds, of Kingston, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Aylesworth, Plainfield, Ontario, when their daughter, Freda Victoria Aylesworth, registered nurse, became the bride of Herman Wesley Holden, of West Huntingdon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Holden.

Miss Vaida Woodland, of Roblin, Ontario, provided the wedding music. Miss Madaline Babcock, of Brockville, Ontario, was soloist, and before the ceremony sang "O Perfect Love," and the "Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a street-length gown of satin-faced crepe with navy blue accessories. She carried a white Bible crested with white gardenias, pink rosettes and stephanotis.

Mrs. Ralph Shillington, of Cataraqui, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, was attractively attired in a sheath length gown, similar to that of the bride, in mountain grey tissue faille with black accessories. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink carnations and white poms.

Mr. Ralph Shillington, of Cataraqui, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Earle Smith, and Mr. Walton Reid, brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, acted as ushers.

The reception was held at the Princess Cafe, Kingston, Ontario, where the bride's mother, wearing copen-blue crepe with navy and white accessories and corsage of white gardenias and stephanotis, received. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy blue sheer with matching accessories and a corsage of pink Butterfly roses.

For travelling to Niagara Falls and New York State, the bride chose a peacock blue suit with black accessories and topcoat of dawn grey. Mr. and Mrs. Holden will reside in Bloomfield, Ontario, upon their return.

Guests were present from Brockville, Roblin, Ivanhoe, Madoc, Bloomfield, Wooler, Ottawa, Halloway and Renfrew.

The bride is a graduate of the Brockville General Hospital.

A tough, highly durable paint especially made to take hard, continuous foot traffic and constant exposure to sun, rain, sleet and snow. Its rugged, wear-resistant qualities make it an exceptional finish for porch floors, steps, railings, shutters, as well as boat decks. It covers solidly over wood, cement or canvas. Five attractive and serviceable colours, also black and white.

Your Hospital

With the rapid industrial growth and expansion in the Dominion and the development of our oil, mineral, timber and other resources, Canada today offers unlimited opportunities for young men and women in many professions and fields of endeavour.

Not the least of these is in the field of hospitalization. At present, hospitals are reported to rank fifth in size when compared with other basic industries on the North American continent. A conservative estimate places the replacement value of hospital buildings and equipment in the Province of Ontario at some $200,000,000.

There is a total of 217 public and government hospitals in Ontario, including 147 general hospitals and 21 Red Cross Outpost hospitals. The total bed capacity of Ontario's hospitals is well over 44,000, including hospitals for babies in public general and Red Cross hospitals.

In the neighborhood o 750,000 patients are treated annually in the public general hospitals of Ontario, which means that the lives of approximately two million people, for the most part relatives and friends, are affected directly or indirectly by this hospitalization.

MANY OPPORTUNITIES.

Excluding staffs in Ontario mental hospitals and federal hospitals, some 31,000 persons are employed by the public hospitals in this province. These require a total payroll in excess of $60,000,000 per year.

The work of hospital staffs falls into some 90 job classifications, including accountants, bookkeepers, switchboard operators, librarians, X-ray technicians, chefs, dietitians, electricians and nursing assistants.

Day after day, more and more young Canadians are being called upon to assume responsibility for staffing and conducting the affairs of hospitals. In the majority of cases each of these young Canadians will find that the hospital in his own community offers career opportunities for all kinds of people, regardless of their particular qualifications, ability or education.

Hospitals are interesting places. Plan a visit to your hospital, the Belleville General Hospital, on Hospital Day, Wednesday, May 12. You'll be delightfully surprised at the number of things your hospital does in serving you and this community every day.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ARE YOU ENGAGED OR AREN'T YOU, LENNY?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a young man of 23 and have been going with a girl 20 for over a year. We have been seeing each other every night all the time.

The only thing that bothers me is that if I speak to or even look at another girl, she gets angry, or else she will mention some fellow she used to go with to try and make me jealous. I never flirt with other girls, but she won't believe me when I tell her that, although I believe her when she says she never pays any attention to other fellows. She wants me to forget about any girl I ever knew, even those who have been good friends of mine, and I don't think it is fair for her to ask this.

What do you think? — Lenny P.

Dear Lenny:

Are you engaged to this girl or aren't you? You don't say, so I take it that you're not, in which case, it is extremely foolish for you to be seeing each other every night. Even engaged people, in my opinion, act much more wisely when they keep up with other friends and interests to a reasonable extent, instead of wrapping themselves up in each other's personality so completely that they lose all perspective about their relationship.

Because you two have apparently done just this, your girl has come to think that she "owns" you and resents your appearing to have the slightest interest in anyone else. Undoubtedly she is a type that is predisposed to be jealous, but just the same you are a good deal to blame for the present situation for having concentrated so exclusively on her.

If you don't intend to marry this girl, then you'd better make it crystal clear right now—and you should have done it long ago—that you're a free agent, and behave like one, with other dates and other interests. If you do plan to marry her, you're going to find yourself in hot water rather often, unless you can come to a mutual agreement that the rules of commonsense, and not the jealous possessiveness of either of you, shall be your guide in your friendship.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

SIDE-STEPPING THE "AWKWARD AGE"

Gracefulness is a quality of charm and loveliness that costs nothing and can be cultivated by any girl who will put her mind on the matter. It bespeaks mental antrastion, alertness, an abundance of vitality. The girl who sprawls in a chair, who pounds down on her heels when she walks, is definitely out of the beauty picture.

It would sometimes appear that, instead of building herself a house of beauty, a girl is pulling down the wonderful structure that nature gave her. Instead of keeping her chest lifted she lets it flatten. By indulging in "ra-ra" poses she spoils the fine lines of her back. The list of self-inflicted beauty defects is as long as your arm. It is a dreadful thing for a young girl to distort her figure by slovenly carriage and ungainly movements.

The body's muscular system must be sound and elastic. It won't be in condition unless posture is correct. The muscles must be used properly, especially when walking. The point is to maintain body balance and to have a sense of rhythm that promotes grace.

If the family income permits, little girls should have dancing lessons in early childhood. Thus she will avoid the "awkward age." The child will develop graceful movements that will continue through life. An ease of manner and deportment is acquired that equips a young woman for any social life she may enter—such poise and grace as it may be difficult to assume in later life.

While dancing is an art and an accomplishment, it is, even more, the highest form of physical culture. Besides its physiological effects it has psychological benefits, bringing a feeling of gaiety and high spirits.

Young girls should also understand that growth takes place during sleep. If they want beautiful bodies with normal weight and proportions, they would carry their clothes beautifully, they should not deprive themselves of long hours of sleep. Late hours upset the beauty cart.

Wife Preservers

Wool experts recommend that you wear two or three thicknesses of wool next to washing wool than for other fabrics. This is partly because wool is so absorbent, and partly because the soda helps to "cushion" and fleece which are sensitive to friction.

Overflow Readers' Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . have really gotten more practical and unusual recipes (from you than any other place and I am an avid recipe reader and trier. You mentioned a splendid roll or bun recipe in your column that I have missed. I wonder if you would send it. I tried the orange salad Baby Doll's wife makes and found it refreshingly different. . . . what would make a nice salad plate to combine with this? Have you any suggestions for something different in salads? Something different in fancy cakes, small or large, gooey or otherwise, for a bridge club.—Mrs. Jack C.

ANSWER:

I'll tell you what I did with that Orange Mold. I used endive as a bed on green glass salad plates, centred the plate with the Orange mold. Placed three large ripe olives at one side, 3 large dessert dates stuffed with white cream cheese at the other. At the top I put a small canned peach half, and dropped a maraschino cherry in it. At the other side I put a ball of yellow cream cheese rolled in chopped pecans. I stuck four perfect large pecans in the spaces between these last four items.

A main course salad that I find very popular is chicken salad (2 parts diced cooked chicken to 1 part diced inner celery and plenty of mayonnaise) on lettuce, garnished with toasted shredded almonds and quarters of hard-cooked eggs, 2 or 3 stuffed olives and 2 or 3 spears of asparagus. Serve these with the hot rolls (recipe for which I am mailing you) or Cheese Hot rolls to which add 1-2 cup finely grated old cheese (using hot roll recipe).

PETIT FOURS

Bake a pound cake in a shallow pan so that finished cake is not more than 1 inch thick. When cool slice in 1-inch strips. Then cut into various fancy shapes, half moons, circles, triangles, etc. Cut each small cake in halves crosswise. If desired you may remove a small portion of each cake and fill with whipped cream or cream filling. Where a large number are prepared it adds to their beauty to color the tiny cakes different pastel shades, by tinting the Fondant Icing: 2 lb. confectioners' sugar, 1 cup water, 1-8 teaspoon of cream of tartar. Combine ingredients and heat to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue boiling, brushing syrup from sides of pan until temperature is exactly 238 deg. Fahr. (soft ball). Remove and stand pan in shallow dish containing cold water. When lukewarm stir until white and creamy. Add any desired flavoring or coloring. Cool. When ready to use for icing, warm slightly by standing over hot but not boiling water, stirring. Dip cut out cakes on wire rack and pour fondant icing over, letting it drip through to wax paper below. Salvage the drippings and return them to pan. Serve these cakes in little colored fluted paper cups.

QUESTION:

. . . my sister has to prepare (with assistance, of course), a supper for 200 young people at their church. They would like to have spaghetti and meat sauce (no chili) and she is rather at a loss as to quantities. She intends to farm out the ground meat-for browning first and then assemble the sauce in the church kitchen. . . . do you know whether one can get very large cans of soup for such purposes. — Mrs. L. GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

ADDRESSING PROSPECTIVE IN-LAWS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Although my fiancee's parents sign their cards to me "Mom and Dad," we have never discussed the subject of names by which I would address them. And I am not sure if it would be correct for me to address them "Mom" and "Dad." I am very well acquainted with both of them and see them very often. Please advise me about this name-question.

Alan S.

First I'd like to know how you feel about addressing them by such inimitate names. . . .many people are unwilling, no matter how much they love their in-laws or their prospective in-laws, to use these names, or "Mother" and "Father," except for their own mother and father. Having decided your own inclination about these particular names, then it would be simple to discuss, first with your fiancee and then with her parents, the question of what names would be delightfully suitable and acceptable all around. Very often and very happily, this name-question is solved by deciding to use an endearing nickname that has always been associated with the mother or father. Perhaps you'd prefer to use "Mrs. " and "Mr." until after the wedding.

U.S. Great Lakes Cities Plan Vast Engineering Projects To Accommodate Ocean Ships

CHICAGO (AP)—A vast amount of engineering work faces numerous U. S. Great Lakes cities before they can fully accommodate the ocean-going ships that will churn inland through the St. Lawrence seaway.

An Associated Press survey shows that Great Lakes cities are in various stages of preparation for handling such commerce. The cities will spend millions of dollars on harbor dredging, port construction and other improvements.

The year 1960 is the goal of many engineers.

Martin W. Oetterhagen, Chicago port manager, said many believe the entire project can be completed by then, even though estimates have ranged up to 10 years.

Chicago is planning a $20,000,000 project to be started this winter.

The U.S. got into the long-planned Atlantic coast to Great Lakes project last week when Congress sent a $105,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway bill to President Eisenhower.

2ND BUILD CHANNEL

The measure authorizes the United States to participate with Canada in building a 27-foot-deep channel in the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence and into Lakes Ontario and Erie as far west as Toledo, O.

Senator Edward Thye (Rep., Minn.) said Congress also will be asked to approve the deepening of connecting channels into Lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior. Navigation in these lakes now is restricted to 21 feet for inbound ships and 25 feet for downbound vessels.

The survey showed:

Chicago: Work is expected to be started this winter for developing 1,800 acres of Chanahon harbor into a modern ocean port. Plans call for a series of docks 1½ miles long, designed for 29-foot vessels, and sheds and other facilities. Maxim M. Cohen, general manager of the Chicago regional port district, said eventually 800 to 1,200 ocean ships should reach Chicago yearly.

CLEVELAND HARBOR DEEP

Cleveland: Shipping men say 80 per cent of ocean-going ships now sail Cleveland, which already has a 25-foot deep channel. Deep dredging plans for Ashtabula and Lorain harbors are well advanced.

Toledo: An $8,000 survey was started a month ago to determine what changes a seaway will require. A previous study indicated the need for a general cargo terminal, additional warehouse space and facilities for handling freight. A channel 27 feet deep and 400 feet wide to parallel Maumee bay also was proposed.

Milwaukee: The Milwaukee port authority, first on the Great Lakes, claims to be 30 years ahead of Chicago and most other Great Lakes ports. The port plans a $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 shore improvement, including deepening the outer harbor from 25 to 27 feet.

Detroit: Engineers say present large docking facilities for the port of Detroit commission will serve adequately until two years after the seaway is completed. The commission said the present smallest terminal will be enlarged by the time the seaway opens to handle five large ships at a time instead of one. The Rouge river, which empties into the Detroit river, will be deepened from its present 21 feet to 27.

DREDGING EASY

Buffalo: The port division says Buffalo harbor, with a channel 22 feet deep, could handle some ocean shipping, and would need to be dredged only four or five feet more on the soft bottom for a stretch of about a half mile. But the only docking facilities for heavy ships are at the Bethlehem Steel Co. terminal in the south harbor. The city owns about 1,000 feet of shore near the Bethlehem docks, where general dock facilities could be built. No action has been taken on this, but the port division is considering a survey of upstate New York and western Pennsylvania to see how much foreign commerce might be handled through Buffalo.

Erie, Pa.: Nothing is planned to improve port facilities, which already can handle ocean-going vessels. The Chamber of Commerce is considering a move to engage professional port engineers.

Gary, Ind.: No plans are in prospect for expanding the facilities at Gary or Indiana harbor. Both are almost exclusively iron-ore ports for Inland and U.S. Steel Companies and present facilities are considered adequate.

HARBORS DEEP ENOUGH

Duluth, Minn.: Entrances to Duluth-Superior, Wis., harbors already are 27 feet deep, sufficient to accommodate ocean-going ships. Bills are in congress to deepen the Duluth-Superior channel basins, now 25 feet.

Ogdensburg, N.Y.: A city planning body is working on the problem but little has been done about port facilities.

Oswego, N.Y.: Oswego will ask the 1955 New York state legislature to create a port authority to negotiate with private shipping concerns for construction of Port facilities.

Condition Serious

OTTAWA (CP)—The condition of Tony Lacelle, who suffered a heart attack Sunday as the result of injuries from a dynamite explosion May 1, remains serious, relatives said Monday night.

Lacelle and a companion, Wes Kempe of Kingston, were in a boat on Amber lake, 60 miles west of here, when the blast occurred.

Lacelle's daughter, Mrs. N. Sawchuk of Ottawa, said in an interview that although it was first reported the two men were charged with fishing with dynamite, authorities in the area later decided the charges unwarranted.

She said neither man had been fishing.

'No-Raiding' Pact Signed By Two Unions

TORONTO (CP) — A no-raiding and mutual assistance agreement, believed to be the first of its kind in Canada, was signed Monday by top officials of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) and the International association of machinists (AFL-TLC).

The pact, which covers about 117,000 workers, provides that both unions will cease raids on plants already organized, will not "sling mud" at one another in unorganized plants and calls for mutual co-operation in dealing with the common problems, common employers and common industries.

It was signed by George Burt, Canadian director, UAW, and George Scholtie, Canadian director, IAM.

An adjudication procedure in case of dispute between the two is set up in the agreement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIO decided Monday to sign a "no raiding" pact with the AFL despite the fact some major AFL and CIO unions apparently won't go along with the plan.

The CIO executive board authorized its labor unity committee to exchange signatures as soon as possible with the AFL for whatever unions in both organizations may be willing to ratify the agreement.

The "no raid" pact will bind whatever unions sign it to refrain from trying to seize members already organized by unions of a rival federation.

About 70 of the AFL's 110 unions and most of the CIO's 35 unions are reported ready to sign.

The "no raid" plan is regarded as a necessary first step toward an eventual possible AFL-CIO merger into a single organization of about 16,000,000 members.

Color May Have To Come to Papers Says Official

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Television will never take the place of newspapers, but a color television becomes popular color also will have to come to newspapers, Charles F. McCahill of Cleveland, O., told the Canadian Circulation Managers' Association annual convention here Monday night.

He said many newspapers already are recognizing the need for color pictures and some are "making every effort to improve their production."

Mr. McCahill, a publishing company executive, said television has not destroyed the growing interest in news and events as reported in the daily newspaper.

"Television only whets the public appetite for more news, more interpretation."

He said last year newspaper circulation and retail advertising revenue hit an all-time high. Some executives think a "drop of as little as 10 per cent in advertising volume could mean the difference between operating in the black or red."

CHARGED IN SLAYING

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Michael Kuzmack, 46, of Windsor, Ont., appeared in court here Monday and was charged with the murder of a 61-year-old widow from Winnipeg. He was remanded to May 18. Mrs. Minnie Engel was stabbed to death with a butcher knife Sunday in the Lethbridge house where she was living.

Hamilton Mayor, Controller Receive Threat Letter

HAMILTON (CP)—The lives of Mayor Lloyd D. Jackson and controller Sam Baggs were threatened Monday in a letter received at city hall condemning the city's all-out warfare against starlings.

The unsigned note stated "a bomb is almost completed" for controller Baggs and that another one will be completed for the mayor in "a couple of weeks."

Controller Baggs said he and the mayor are not too upset about the threatening letter which was "badly written." It had a Hamilton postmark.

Some 10,000 starlings have been cleared but of the city so far this year, plus 2,000 pigeons killed unintentionally.

90 Radio Stations Reduce Power During Night

OTTAWA (CP)—Ninety Canadian broadcasting stations are required to reduce their power or cease to operate at night.

This information is contained in a written reply tabled in the Commons Monday for A. E. Robinson (PC—Bruce) who asked a series of questions last month concerning limits to radio station coverages.

All 90 stations are required to use devices reducing power or limiting coverage to protect frequencies used by stations to the southward.

OTTAWA (CP)—The 3rd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse artillery, has arrived in Korea, the army announced Monday.

Will Table Paper

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department's white paper on Canada's armed services will be tabled in the Commons late this week.

Defence Minister Claxton said Monday in the Commons that the paper, a summary of the country's defence program, will be available in a few days. It is expected that Mr. Claxton will table the document Thursday or Friday.

Aluminum is most readily available commercially, however, in the form of bauxite ore, Alcan ships this ore from South America to feed its pot lines at Arvida, Isle Maligne, Shawinigan Falls and Beauharnois, P. Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers made such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissues on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name *Preparation H. The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark

River Valley W.I. Holds Fine Meeting, With Mrs. M. Scott Hostess

RAWDON — Approximately 30 members and visitors with several children attended the May meeting of River Valley Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. Murney Scott.

Mrs. Ross Bush presided and Mrs. J. L. Donohoe presented the report. Several thank-you notes were received.

Arrangements were made for the district annual which is scheduled for Wednesday, June 2nd, at White's Church, Bayside, with Mrs. McBride and Mrs. E. Irwin as speakers. Mrs. Don Donohoe is to bring back a report to the June meeting with the other four voting delegates, Mrs. Jack Sager, Mrs. J. L. Donohoe, Mrs. Edward Hessman and Mrs. Percy MacMullen. Two cars will go to convey the members who wish to attend.

JUNE W.I.

The June meeting of R.V.W.I. will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Hanna with Mrs. Harry Vandervoort in charge of program. Several items of business were discussed and then laid over until June.

It was decided that the link secretary forward to Abbot's Leigh W.I., in England, a book entitled "A Pocketful of Canada" by John B. Robins.

The bulb and plant exchange followed as each name on the roll was called.

Miss Marion Carlisle presided over the program and conducted a contest, "Something to See," and the winner received a prize.

Mrs. Percy Ulman read "The Path My Mother Trod," and Mrs. Percy MacMullen presented the book entitled "The History of the Women's Institute Movement of England and Wales," which was written by Inez Jenkins, and published in 1933. The book was sent to River Valley W.I. from their link institute, Abbot's Leigh, in Bristol, England.

The book contains a number of illustrations which included three generations of distinguished members of Sandringham W.I. They are: Her Majesty the late Queen Mary, with Queen Mother, Elizabeth and the Queen. Royalty has always been keenly interested in the promotion of various phases of institute work.

In Lady Denman's forward she says: "I believe country women are the salt of the earth, and it is a privilege to work with them."

FIRST W.I.

The first W.I. was organized in a village of Anglesey, in Wales in 1915 and was named Llanfair. Mrs. Alfred Watt, formerly of British Columbia, was the organizer, and the first chapter outlines life in England from 1871 to 1915.

It stressed that the importance which a nation attaches to the success of its farming is largely the measure of the attention which it pays to the needs and wishes of country people. In 1929, the ministry of agriculture saw the need of country people thinking out their problems together and then acting in co-operation. In 1901, Mr. Edwin Pratt urged England to adopt Institute work and in one of his books he wrote: "It was indeed a happy inspiration which led the wives and daughters of Canadian farmers to conclude that, inasmuch as women generally play as important a part in the work of the farm, they should have an organization of their own, which would enable them to do what they could to advance the welfare both of home life, and of agriculture, and the example of Canadian women might well be followed by Great Britain."

It took 11 years for Mr. Pratt's idea to sink in and finally the movement began. The full story of the work of Adelaide Hoodless and the famous Stoney Creek Institute is narrated in the book.

The first resolution was sent to the national organization by Llanfair W.I. and read: "We as a listing body is so well fitted to further general prosperity of a community as a Women's Institute, so we the members of the Llanfair Women's Institute pledge ourselves to do our utmost to make the Institute the centre of good in our neighborhood."

At the end of 12 years, there were almost 4000 institutes and a quarter million members. Every county has its own federation and "Home and Country" had a circulation of 80,000 members.

The papers served a large array of interesting history, humor and Institute ideas and closed by telling of an institute which was organized September 17th, 1921 at Pelynni, Cornwall. That made 7,411 institutes in 56 years, and so the work continues to grow and thrive and the future stretches far ahead.

Mrs. Fred McDonell expressed thanks for hospitality program and luncheon, after which the new executive served refreshments.

Cleveland Indians Spot Yankees Three Then Rout 'Em In Riotous Brawl

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

'TWAS EVER THUS!

Gordon Pirie, British track star, ordered the sentiments of a lot of us codgers who still fancy roast beef and Yorkshire pudding for Sunday dinner after quaffing a beaker or two of mild and bitter, when he said: "I was glad to see a Briton do it."

He was of course referring to the crashing of the four-minute mile barrier by modest Roger Bannister, British medical student, the other day.

To be sure it pushed the shave-spenny championship off the British sport pages; it blinkin' well dashed aside Winny's latest oratorical gem and managed to earn larger type than the names of the arrival of Jenny Prince Charlie and wee-some Princess Anne at Gibraltar.

Now comes the inevitable sour grapes aroma from south of the border. Not from the sportswriters. Give them credit for that. They paid fine tribute to one of the greatest track feats in history. From track experts and champions from all parts of the world came outspoken tribute to the gallant young Britisher, who disdained the books of training words and banal to-heart talks and instructions from coaches, trained in his own unspectacular way, under his own method, and came through.

Now comes a genteel sneer from one Dean Cromwell, alleged dean of American track coaches, and who to American trackmen is what Mel Allen is to the Yankees (they live or die with dean or victory), who blurbs, "It was a great performance but it will be broken. Wes Santee can do it any day under favorable circumstances. What's to stop Lundy, of Australia, or Ingvar Eriksson of Sweden, from doing likewise?"

What has been keeping them, chum?

If the general run of breaking world's records runs true to form, Bannister's mark will likely be broken. But the first to do it will be a young man by the name of Bannister.

We do not know what is to stop the cocky cockerel from Kansas, Maestro Santee, who assisted Coach Bill (Phog) Boeyen; echoes: "That time is still not as low as it can be run," from doing it, unless as was shown in his previous efforts, he has not what it takes. At least no "favorable circumstances" have been available when the Kansas Kutup endeavored to crack the elusive four-minute mark.

As a matter of fact we are of the opinion that one of the next to capture track's Holy Grail will a young gentleman from the land of the Waltzing Matilda, Fred Atkins, and pouch-wearing kangaroos, one John Landy.

The young Australian is by far the more consistent runner than Santee. Landy within the last fifteen months has run miles in 4.02, 4.02.4, 4.01.6, 4.02.4 and 4.02.2. Santee's fastest mile a paced mile is 4.02 while the best Santee could do is 4.07.4.

Whether Bannister, Santee, Landy, Halberg, the New Zealand sensation, or Eriksson can lower the mark in individual attempts remains to be seen, but a sure way to either equal or better it would be a matched race between the starry quintet of Mercury-heeled speedsters.

An American expert says: "Santee is the most experienced operator and has greater knowledge of both racing strategy and pacing. Able to protect it with the clinches. (Don't you just love that), He'd be less likely to be taken unawares by an elbow in the ribs."

He can be that in America. He has not competed against three international stars. British and Canadian track coaches will snicker in their teeth when they hear of a runner "trying to protect himself in the clinches." That is purely an Americanism.

All Santee has to do is to beat the record. And Bannister's explanation of how he grabbed the track's Holy Grail without benefit of highly-touted, highly-yakking, highly-paid coaches, may give American sprinters something to think about. The coaches will love it.

He may be mortlbdxc. But he did it. And in his own way. And it seems to be a very successful method at that. The record proves it. Okay, Mr. Cromwell and Mr. Santee, it is up to you. (Bandmaster, Mr. Sousa's favorite march, please).

LOOK, MOM, THE RASSLERS ARE HERE!

Don't look now, kiddies, but the first class of the 1954 semester of the alumni of the School of Applied Pachydermy gets under way here Thursday night. That's it, Thursday, not Friday. Seems as though a couple of junior hockey teams are still hustling to town, thus causing the elephantine aesthetics entry to the public amphitheatre to be held on Thursday, instead of the usual fish-day gloaming.

And they're starting off with a tag-team tizzy that brings the Mills Brothers, a bewhiskered bevy of beef on the hoof, rated the toughest combo to come down the pike, and Hombre Montana, who tips the scales at 3.25 and teams up with the handsome Italian Illio Da Paolo. Then there is popular Ray Villmar back again against Big Big Eakins who is six by five, and starting matters will be the popular Pat Flanagan and the villainous Lee Henning.

Score Eight Runs in First But That Was All, Brother; Stengel, Berra Get Heave-Ho

By The Associated Press

Al Lopez' writers obviously have given the Cleveland manager a ngo script for the Indians' series with New York Yankees in the American League this season.

Last spring the Indians played the meek little lambs being led regularly to slaughter by the big bad Yankees. The 1954 script casts the Indians in a different role.

The first time, in New York, the Indians scored five runs in the 10th inning for a 9-4 triumph. The next day the Indians came off with a 10-3 victory.

But the version unveiled in Cleveland Monday night bore anything so far as the Indians won 8-7.

Cleveland spotted the Yankees three runs, then roared back with seven before the New Yorkers could get anybody out in the home half of the first inning.

Almost everybody got into the act as umpire Bill Summers thumbed Yogi Berra and then Casey Stengel from the game during the uprising.

With seven runs home, Jim Hegan on third, nobody out and Whitey Ford and Bob Kuzava shelled from the mound, in came Yankee rookie Bob Grim.

HELD COMMAND

The youngster promptly started pitching a hitter. Hegan got home on a sacrifice fly, but one after another the Yankees fanned. They got only two more harmless hits.

Meanwhile the Yankees cut their 8-3 deficit to 8-5 after two innings and 6-5 after three. At this point Don Mossi checked them.

Dave Pope's was the big hitting star of the Indians as he poled a grand-slam home run over the left field fence.

Only one other major league game was played Monday, Baltimore Orioles nailed for four ninth-inning runs and shaded Philadelphia Athletics 7-6. The run total was the highest for the Orioles this season.

Batting—Dave Philley, Cleveland Indians, hit a grand-slam home run as the Indians scored eight runs in the first inning and beat New York Yankees 8-7.

Pitching—Bob Grim, Yankee, gave up just two singles in seven innings of relief against Cleveland after the Indians had knocked out two pitchers in the first inning without making an out.

Calgary Stamps Rally Strongly To Whip Aces

CALGARY (AP)—Calgary Stampeders, trailing 4-2 late in the second period, rallied strongly Monday night to defeat Quebec Aces 7-4 before 6,815 fans. The victory gave Calgary a 2-1 lead in the best-of-nine series for the Duke of Edinburgh Trophy.

Fifth game is scheduled here Wednesday night and the sixth Thursday night.

Stampeders started strongly and looked as though they would have things pretty much their own way when they moved into a 2-0 lead late in the first period.

Aces, however, bounced back with four straight goals in an eight-minute scoring spree late in the opening session and early in the second period to gain a 4-2 bulge and force the Cowboys to come through with a powerful attack for the victory.

Sid Finney and Archie Scott led the Calgary scoring parade with two goals each and singletons were notched by Max Quackenbush, Bill Sheetz and Ray Barry. Fred Hucul, Larry Regan, Gerry Cabana and Jean Talbot scored for Aces.

Referee Scotty Morrison handed out only five penalties—four to Quebec. Aces' penalties proved costly as two Stampeder goals came when the Cowboys had the edge in manpower.

REMEMBER WHEN

Lefty Grove, later one of the great pitchers in the American League, tossed a three-hit shutout for Baltimore against Toronto in the International League 32 years ago today. Three years later Grove went to Philadelphia Athletics with whom he won the AL pitching championship in 1929, 1930, 1931 and 1931, and repeated the feat with Boston Red Sox in 1939.

Cocky Wolves Charter Plane To Take Selves, Trophy Home

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — Sudbury Wolves have a chartered plane standing by to fly them—and the Allan Cup—back to Ontario after Tuesday night's game here against Penticton V's.

Max Silverman, coach of the Wolves, says his team plans to arrive in Sudbury for a big civic welcome some time Wednesday when they bring home the cup, blue ribbon of senior amateur hockey in Canada.

His confidence is based on the fact that Wolves hold a 3-1 edge in games over V's and could wrap up the best-of-seven series with a Tuesday victory.

However, Penticton hockey fans aren't cancelling any bets yet. Winnipeg Maroons at one time stood within 17 seconds of winning the western championship and also made plans for a triumphant return home. They needed only a tie to win the series while the V's were two-and-a-half games off the pace.

Wolves, who won he first game 3-1 in Penticton, lost the second 6-2 in Vernon, won the third 3-1 in Kelowna and the fourth 8-3 here. have established bench strength as the measure of superiority. V's are basing their victory hopes on the theme that the Saturday-to-Tuesday lay-off will give Penticton time to regain their legs.

A doubtful starter for Tuesday's tussle is Bill Warwick, winger on the V's "brother-line" with playing coach Grant and Dick. Bill, a 30-goal man over the regular season, was injured slightly Friday, but infection developed in his foot and he lasted only two periods Saturday. Since then he has been in hospital.

The win the Allan Cup, V's would have to take three straight games—such as they did against Maroons in the western final and such as they did against Nelson Maple Leafs in the Interleague playoff with the Western International League kingpins.

SIGNS AS COACH

BOSTON (AP)—Veteran right-hander Joe Dobson Monday signed as coach for the Boston Red Sox, who released him unconditionally Saturday as a pitcher.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Thirty-nine years are this week at the New York Polo Grounds a young man scoring the showy grab of the Boston Red Sox stepped up to the plate. Instantly all is hushed save for the usher of seats, and trotted around the basepaths to a polite smattering of applause.

The big young man who sent the ball hurtling into the upper tier of seats for his first home-run in the major leagues was George Herman Ruth, the "Babe", as he later became affectionately known to millions.

Babe Ruth had moved up to the major leagues from the Baltimore clubs of the International League as southpaw pitching had attracted attention. It was the third inning of a game runless, up to that point, that this young rookie stepped up to face the veteran right-hander of Nap Rucker of Washington. Perhaps Warhop held the youngster in light esteem. At any rate, Warhop served a ball that was a little too good, and away it streaked, into the far reaches of the distant stands, a tremendous clout.

It was the first of 714 home-runs in major league play, and Babe Ruth changed the course of baseball from the careful play for a single run to the "big inning," when the sluggers suddenly gang up on a weakening pitcher, and hammer home-runs in droves.

But it is an even greater feat, one which you won't find in the records, which goes to the eternal credit of the brawny Babe. When Babe Ruth joined the Boston Red Sox in 1914 it became known that the Chicago American League team had conspired to "throw" a world's series, the sports world was stunned, and baseball trembled to its foundations.

It was undoubtedly a crisis. Baseball was at the forks of the road, facing the possibility of public ostracism and disfavour.

Then along came Ruth. His big black bat started to pound out home-runs at prodigious pace. Sold to the Yankees that year, he hammered out 54 home-runs.

The next year, he hit 59 home-runs, and the scurrilous Scribes forgotten amid the thunder of Ruth's big bat, that lured millions of fans back to baseball. He started, but carried on for another 14 seasons, and saved baseball from disaster. That was Babe's greatest feat of all.

NBC, Canada Close Deal To Televise Football Games

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian public will make its debut before a new audience of millions of U.S. television viewers next fall, when the NBC begins regular Saturday telecasts of International Rugby Football Union games.

The NBC announced the deal Monday night after an Ottawa meeting with officials of the IRFU and the CBC, which will make its TV coverage available for U.S. consumption by microwave facilities from Toronto to Buffalo. Financial terms were not disclosed but the Toronto Globe and Mail estimated that the deal would cost the NBC $200,000. CBC will televise 28 games and NBC 14.

The meeting also arranged the first official season of TV coverage for Canadian viewers.

DETAILS NOT SETTLED

Details of the agreement have not yet been worked out but it was believed that there would be a TV blackout of the city in which a game is played from the live television at a distance of 100 miles or less.

The Globe and Mail quoted Lew Hayman, general manager of Montreal Alouettes and chairman of the IRFU's football committee, as saying Buffalo's station WBEN would also be blacked out on Toronto and Hamilton home games to avoid affecting the gate in those cities both within easy range of the Buffalo station.

The agreement covers Saturday games throughout the entire schedule, beginning Aug. 28, and league playoffs.

The CBC will supply only the visual portion of the telecasts for U.S. consumption. U.S. commentators will "translate" the action for their viewers, unfamiliar with Canadian rules.

SCORING DIFFERENT

Most fans will be getting their first look at the rouge, the single point scored in the Canadian game when a ball-carrier is brought down behind his own goal line and the single point scored when a kick goes beyond the dead-ball line. Under U.S. rules there is no score when a kick goes into the end zone and the ball is given to the defending team on its 20-yard line.

They will also need explanation of Canada's strict interference rules, allowing blocking only 10 yards beyond the line of scrimmage, and the rule requiring tacklers to give a pumbreeever five yards leeway until he catches the ball.

The difference in point-scoring also is likely to cause some initial confusion as U.S. viewers accustom themselves to the idea of a touchdown being worth five points instead of six. They also will need to be reminded that a Canadian team has only three downs in which to make its 10 yards instead of the U.S. team's four.

But quite a few of the faces will be familiar. Former National Football League players like Gene Knutson, Jackie Roberts, Avatus Stone, Ray Poole and Tex Coulter are among members of U.S. college graduates have found their way on to Big Four rosters.

RECOGNIZE VALUE

They will have an opportunity to second-guess NFL scouts for passing up unheralded college players like Ulysses Curtis, the swivel-hipped Tommie Argyle backfield quarterback Ed Songin of the Canadian champion Hamilton Tiger Cat and Hamilton's pair of pass-interception wizards, Vito Ragazzo and Lou Kusserow.

NBC made its Canadian deal subject to the National Collegiate Athletic Association, governing body of U.S. college football, transferring its "game-of-the-week" broadcasts to the American Broadcasting Company.

Hayman saw the deal as a tremendous boost in prestige for Canadian football and an asset for Big Four clubs in their dealings with U.S. players.

"Now when we talk to a kid in Little Rock about coming to Canada he'll know he won't be forgotten by the home folks when he comes up here," he told The Globe and Mail. "They'll be able to follow him on TV."

Old Man Rain Is Red Sox' Toughest Foe

BOSTON (AP)—A gloomy band of Boston Red Sox—who've found Old Man Rain their toughest foe so far—rolled toward Chicago Monday after being rained out of 10 of 14 scheduled Fenway Park games.

A 36-hour rain capped the Red Sox home stand last Sunday by washing out a scheduled doubleheader with Washington. Boston hopes to get back into action tonight in Chicago against the White Sox.

From the Boston viewpoint, the picture is dark—but not black—all both the box office and the managerial department.

The Bostonians have managed to play only 14 games so far, fewer than any other major league baseball club. Many of the youngsters aren't getting the work they need to develop.

All Is 'Fine' With Mathews; Two of 'Em

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews, a young man with a problem at the plate, provided himself with a couple of the pocket-book variety Monday when he tried to outrun a police cruiser in a 70 m.p.h. zone.

The Braves' third baseman, the league leaders' home run king last season who has an undistinguished .275 batting average so far this year, pleaded guilty to reckless driving.

And after he was fined $50 and costs by justice Edgar Bark—who lectured him, then got his autograph—Mathews was plastered with another $100 fine by Milwaukee manager Charlie Grimm.

Grimm said Mathews admitted he had broken the club's midnight curfew, in effect after day games at home. The Braves lost Sunday afternoon to Chicago, 5-3.

Campbell Wins Over Reddy

TORONTO (CP)—Pat Campbell of Guelph took a five-round decision over Willie Reddy of Toronto in the 147-pound main bout of the Palace Pier's weekly amateur boxing show Monday night.

Reddy, who has yet arrived in Canada from Dublin, was shifty on his feet but refused to trade punches with Campbell.

In the 155-pound semi-final Ron Lynn of Toronto and Eddie Schanbern of Belleville fought to a draw. The bout was stopped in the second round when Schanerborn suffered a cut over his left eye from an accidental butt. Schanerborn was slightly ahead on points at the time. The bout was scheduled for five rounds.

Sudbury Wolves Should Represent Canada in Puck Tourney, Says Coach

VANCOUVER (CP)—Max Silverman wants Sudbury Wolves to represent Canada in the next world hockey tournament—if they win the Allan Cup.

Silverman, president, general manager and coach of the Allan Cup finalists, attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association convention here Monday and put his request into the record.

Silverman told the meeting that Sudbury is only interested in playing in the tournament. They did not want to make a pre-tournament tour of Europe.

WANTS WORLD TITLE

"We are only interested in competing in the world championship for the benefit of Canada," he said.

Silverman won the championship in 1951 with a junior Wolves team, and lost in 1949 with what he calls a "makeshift, monkey team."

He said later in an interview that he "wouldn't make a tour even if they paid us $1,000 a game. I've had two tours, and I know."

He also suggested that if Sudbury is not chosen that any of the Allan Cup semi-finalists this year—Winnipeg Maroons, Melville Red Rocks or Penticton — would be good Canadian representatives.

Penticton has also asked for the right to represent Canada in the world tourney.

The whole subject of Canadian overseas representation will come up in later sessions, and may provoke fireworks.

Toronto East York lost the 1954 title to Russia in the final match of the tournament in Stockholm. The CAHA has been criticized for sending the team to the championships.

Toronto Wins Bowls Tourney

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Winners of three classes in the ladies' competitions of the 28th annual Ontario Bowling Association's five-pin tournament were decided here during the week-end.

Toronto Hardmans won the open team competition with a score of 3,602. Vic Warren and Ann Miller of Toronto took the doubles with 1,497 points and Vera Ward of Hamilton won the singles championship, posting a total of 854. She also won the high aggregate with 2,341 points.

In the men's singles, J. Renton of Brantford is leading the singles event with 875. His high aggregate of 2,489 points is also best so far.

In the men's 8 section, Welland Welstay cup team play with 3,289 points. Cunningham and Rives of Welland pace the doubles with 1,322.

T. Hawkshaw of Galt is leading the section C singles with 306 and the high aggregate with 1,636.

WAS GREAT CRICKETER

HUDDERSFIELD, Eng. (AP)—George Herbert Hirst, 82, one of the world's greatest cricket all-rounders, died at Huddersfield Monday.

Hirst, who played for Yorkshire and England between 1899 and 1929 finished his career with a total of 2,727 wickets and 36,203 runs. He holds the record individual score for Yorkshire, 341 against Leicestershire in 1905. He took 208 wickets and scored 3,385 runs in 1906.

TeePees Are Heavily Favored Over 'Go-Go' Boys from The Golden West

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The Memorial Cup, emblematic of Canadian junior hockey supremacy, is headed for the east for a sixth straight year UNLESS . . .

And the general opinion of hockey writers and observers centres on the obvious. Unless Edmonton's "Go-Go" Oil Kings get back the ingredient which gave them the nickname, they're through.

St. Catharines TeePees, 8-2 winners in the cup opener here Sunday, are heavily favored on the eve of the second game in the best-of-seven final series.

The odds had been even before Sunday's slaughter, primarily because of the Oil Kings' record of but three wins in 55 regular season and playoff outings. They were reported the strongest club out of the West in years.

The TeePees displelled any thought that they might be legweary after $1 league and playoff games that now been extended to the limit all the way.

NOT SELLING SHORT

However, observers here, including general-manager Jack Adams of Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League in whose farm system the Kings operate, are not selling the westerners short.

Sports Editor Jim Vipond, writing in the Globe and Mail, said time had played an important part. "Edmonton Oil Kings discovered they've had far too much ice on their hands" he wrote. "It's a three-week layoff between the western final and the Memorial Cup round had "left them easy marks for the superior play-every TeePees.

But Vipond added: ". . . It is hard to imagine that a team which lost only five out of 62 games (including exhibitions) in the West will fall before the East in the minimum number of games." . . . Coaches Ken McAuley of Edmonton and Rudy Pilous of St. Catharines said they expect Oil Kings to improve steadily as they get back into a "working mood" after three weeks of idleness.

NOT THAT BAD

"There's nothing that hurts a club more," McAuley said. "But the boys felt pretty bad after Sunday and their interest has picked up a lot. They're not that bad."

Pilous, who took TeePees back to St. Catharines Sunday, was making no predictions. "We expect a lot of opposition yet."

Neither club reported any injury as a result of Sunday's bruising contest which saw the bigger TeePees easily out-bump the Oil Kings.

McAuley said Billy McNeil, who was out on the bed by play Sunday, was still weak from the 'flu and Eddie Mychuk, a key-cog, also showed up well Sunday, hadn't recovered from the same trouble. But both are expected to dress Tuesday night.

Brundage Burps On Pet Topic

ATHENS (AP) — Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, declared Monday night that sports can "be practised only by free and independent men."

In a prepared speech on the slopes of the Acropolis at the opening of the 60th anniversary meeting of modern Olympics, Brundage recalled that in Greece the dignity of man was first proclaimed.

The Chicago hotel man who heads the Olympics added: "Present generations, seduced by the false promises of so-called social security, would do better to cultivate the fiery independence of the ancient Greeks."

The meeting had just been officially proclaimed open by Prince Paul of Greece who spoke briefly in welcome to the representatives of nearly 40 countries.

Chiefs Extend Streak to Nine; Bisons Trim Kings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Syracuse Chiefs still rule the roost in the International Baseball League after taking their first three games of the season with Richmond Virginians.

Syracuse, leading by two games over Rochester Red Wings, ran their winning streak to nine games by nipping the Virginians 3-2 Monday night.

In the only other game, Buffalo Bisons scored four runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Sugar Kings 5-4 in Havana.

Syracuse scored all its runs in the fourth inning on three walks and two singles off Tommy Fine.

Jack Wallaesa's three-run homer in the top of the ninth proved the winner for Buffalo.

Oil Kings Ask for Compensation For Eastern Canada Finals Delay

VANCOUVER (CP) — Edmonton Oil Kings want financial compensation for the two weeks they waited before eastern Canada Memorial Cup finalists were declared.

Art Potter of Edmonton, a delegate to the annual meeting here of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, made the request Monday.

Oil Kings lost the first game of the cup final to St. Catharines TeePees in Toronto Sunday night. They were out of action two weeks while the eastern winner was decided.

"Junior hockey costs a lot of money these days, and Oil Kings feel someone should pay compensation," Potter said.

The request will be considered in later sessions.

M. L. Gregg of Wingham, Ont., president of the Ontario Hockey Association, said that while Edmonton playoff series were completed in minimum games in most cases, eastern series went seven and eight games.

Part of the delay in declaring the eastern winner, he said, was the possibility of getting playing dates in eastern rinks.

"We in the OHA know our clubs were wrong," he said, but the situation could hardly be overcome. In another year, if the clubs are not ready the players, they will be ignored.

The OHA feels we should achieve 100 per cent with the schedules set down by the CAHA and in the future any CAHA action will be strongly upheld."

Earlier Monday, delegates heard that player registration throughout Canada in the 1953-54 season increased 2,451 over 1953 to a total of 65,729. Only Alberta and Ottawa and district showed a loss, Alberta dropping from 2,310 to 2,487 and Ottawa from 3,282 to 2,537. Ontario led Canada with 32,297 players registered, up from 29,841 in the 1952-53 season.

Frank Sargent of Port Arthur reported on western junior playoffs. Registrar-Treasurer W. A. Hewitt of Toronto reported assets of $149,000 in the CAHA trust fund.

Receipts from 1953 playoffs had totalled $135,154 against expenses of $46,525. The CAHA receives 7½ per cent of playoff gate.

Grants to branches, member clubs and player finalists totalled $75,750, leaving a surplus on the year's operations of about $9,000.

Wes Santee Suddenly 'Cools Off' Prefers Marines to 'Dream Mile Race'

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Wes Santee, the top U.S. miler, said Monday he was more interested in doing a good job with the U.S. Marines than participating in a proposed "dream mile" race at Toronto in late summer.

At the same time the long-legged University of Kansas senior said he would like to challenge Roger Bannister of England, who whipped the four-minute mile in 3:59.4 last week, and a couple of swift Swedes who will be in the U.S. next month, to a mile race at the Los Angeles Coliseum June 10 or 11.

The Swedes are Ingvar Eriksson and Sune Karlsson.

Earlier Monday George Dutpie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition, said he had invited Bannister and was sending invitations to Santee, John Landy of Australia and Murray Halberg of New Zealand to match spikes in Toronto in late August or early September.

"I wouldn't be interested in competing in track and military training at the same time," Santee said. "I owe an obligation to the marines. Of course, I'd like to get back to running competition as soon as possible, but that is up to the marines. I hope I'll have my military training cleared in time to prepare for the Olympic Games."

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Van couver-born Yvonne Decarlo is in demand as a film actress on two continents, and part of her success can be attributed to the fact that she realizes it all.

Yvonne is unique in an era when stars reveal everything, from their breakfast menus to their bedtime habits. She harks back to the time when the film famoug had an aura of mystery.

"I don't believe in telling everything about my life," says Yvonne. "I keep my personal matters to myself and let people guess what kind of life I lead."

She has boy friends from here to Persia and does nothing to encourage or discourage reports of their love matches.

"The French have a lot of fun with it," she laughed. "They call me 'la derniere des femmes fatales.' That means I am the last of the movie vamps, along the lines of Theda Bara. When I was at the Cannes Film Festival, I had come down to the Riviera from Switzerland with some French friends.

"I didn't want them to be bothered, so I wouldn't tell people where I was staying. The French papers came out with the news that Yvonne Decarlo was hiding out with her lover in a chateau!"

She has visited every country in Europe this side of the Iron Curtain, Big Israel, Syria and Persia. Somehow she has missed Africa, but I'm sure she'll get around to it soon.

Yvonne has tried travelling alone, but doesn't like it. So she goes with her aunt, who likes to travel and also provides interference in the case of wolves.

"When you're travelling alone, you meet too many unsavory people," Yvonne said. "When you're alone at a hotel like the George V in Paris, you get calls from a variety of men. My aunt can do the answering, and still of the ones I don't care about."

CinemaScope Plunges Into the Murky Arctic With Breathtaking Technicolor Realism

The silent underwater collisions of warring submarines, the suspense of secret landing parties invading a forbidden arctic island, and the staggering realism of an atomic explosion represent the powerful action in "Hell and High Water", starting its engagement tomorrow at the Belle Theatre.

The CinemaScope production in Technicolor DeLuxe writes a new chapter in technical experiments by Twentieth Century-Fox, the pioneer film company.

This newest edition stars Richard Widmark and Bella Darvi with Victor Francen, Gene Evans, Cameron Mitchell and David Wayne.

The film is the first spy drama in CinemaScope with its startling action filmed below as well as above the Arctic Sea. The unusual premise centers around the handpicked crew of a self-sacrificing group of individuals from various nations who, backed by other such business and scientific leaders, are on an unsponsored secret exploration of suspected atomic phenomena somewhere on an arctic Arctic land.

Heretofore the CinemaScope lens has painted broad and spectacular canvasses. Now its revealing eye is restricted to the captive-world of a submarine rising the crest of emotions unleashed, be it fear, desire or hope as 29 men and a woman cut their silent course into hell and high water.

Still another innovation in "Hell and High Water" is the presentation of a new screen personality, Bella Darvi, new French import. Her screen presence is unique in that the arresting qualities of her beauty and personality overrode her comparatively little dramtic experiences to win her a starring role in this important film.

Richard Widmark, referred to in Hollywood as an actor's actor, and raised one of the true talents of the American theatre, makes an impressive beginning in this his first CinemaScope venture with the rugged he-man type of role he has popularized.

"TOURNAMENT OF THE ROSES"

Special added attraction in CinemaScope-Technicolor is "Tournament of the Roses", all the excitement and vivid color of this annual parade and thrilling football game, and Polovetzian Dances from "Prince Igor", Alfred Newman conducting a full symphony orchestra and chorus.

McCARTHY THEATRE.

ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN TO DAVID AND OFTEN DOES!

Scores of fantastic things happen to David Niven in his new screen comedy "The Love Lottery", now playing at the Odeon-McCarthy Theatre, a film which lands him in some of the funniest situations that Oscar Wilde Script Studios have screened.

But David doesn't shrug the script situations off as being completely improbable. Because, he says, he knows that his own career has been full of strange adventures.

In his time David has been an officer in the British Army, a lab-orer, a butler, a barman and a liquor salesman. And before he entered films, he found himself mixed up in a South American revolution.

The latter episode made Niven think that it was time he headed for Europe again. So he ever booked his passage on a freighter, but after a hectic party, found himself inexplicably on the wrong ship . . . bound for San Francisco.

It was fate, David decided. He remained in America and travelled to Hollywood where, after playing in a succession of crowd parts, his career as a star began to blossom.

Now a top international screen celebrity, Niven travels regularly between Europe and the States and America making pictures in both countries. In "The Love Lottery" he certainly cannot complain about the unsuitability of his part, for David depicts Niven as a British-born Hollywood star. The remarkable train of events which go to make up this farcical production begin when Niven finds himself to be first prize in an international raffle. Film fans from all over the world take part in the lottery with the hope that they will win him for a husband!

Among the celebrities who appear in the all-star cast are Peggy Cummins, Herbert Lom and Anne Vernon.

DISNEY'S DAUGHTER WED

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) Diane Disney, 20, daughter of film producer Walt Disney, was married Sunday to Ron Miller, 21, former University of Southern California football star.

At the 36 tables they reached nine different contracts. Nearly everybody looks up to players of their rating. It is really sad to contemplate that they can be so far apart.

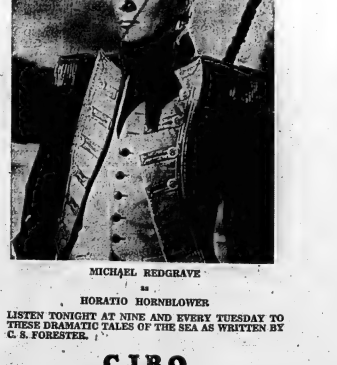
About one third of them (13) were in the best final contract of four hearts. One was in three hearts. Two stopped at two hearts. All these made their ten tricks exactly.

One permitted south to play in five spades undoubled that went down three. One played it in four spades undoubled; down one. Six were permitted to play it in three spades; two going down one.

Eleven of the tables ended in clubs. Of these, six were in four clubs; half making four and half making four doubled. Five were in five clubs and all these went down, doubled or undoubled.

Of such players, more should have been in four hearts; and more should have recognized the save by a sacrifice at four spades; and more should have doubled four spades instead of going to five clubs.

The best-west pairs should know ten tricks are in their pair. A simple playing trick count would have told them so. It is thus very evident that they have not enough confidence in each other.



The trouble seems to be that they rely too much on brilliance at the expense of a factual count. What one pair even want is large no-trump that was doubled and took a defeat of three tricks.

Even if no true opening bid exists, such super-experts should be able to find one. But more of them should also know their best place to land. Or turn in their badges.

Pay Tributes To Defenders Of Fortress

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent and Opposition Leader Drew Monday paid tribute to the defenders of Dien Bien Phu, the French fortress of Indo - China which fell to Communists last week after a gallant stand.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said in the Commons:

"Saturday, our ambassador in Paris was asked to convey a message to Prime Minister Laniel to express on behalf of the prime minister and Canadian government to the French government and people the sincere and heartfelt tribute of Canadians for the matchless heroism of the soldiers of France and Viet Nam.

Mr. Drew said all Commons members join in the feeling of admiration of those who died in defence of freedom.

DECUSS FARES

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa Transportation Commission is due for passing increases for cash fares, Dave Gill, general manager of the OTC, said Monday, but it is "not even close to a decision as yet."

'State Medicine' Is Opposed By Medical Assoc.

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. C. W. Burns, president of the Canadian Medical Association, said Monday that while the association opposes what it terms as "compulsory health insurance" it will not stand in the way of a national health insurance plan in which premiums are voluntary and financial responsibility shared.

In an address to the annual meeting of the Ontario Medical Association, Dr. Burns said "state medicine" implies a plan under which taxation pays for all medical care for all individuals.

This, he said, would bring doctors under the control of the state "on the basis of civil servants."

The CMA, estimated a national health plan for Canada would cost about $700,000,000 a year rather than the $500,000,000 estimated by the federal government.

May Have Been Hatched With Two Sets of Wings

TIMAGAMI (CP) — Officials of the Ontario department of lands and forests said Sunday they are puzzled by the report of a United States fisherman that he saw a large, four-winged waterfowl in Biahland near here.

The bird is supposed to have two sets of wings. They project from its body in tandem, much the same as an old-time bicycle built for two.

George B. Waterson of Philadelphia said he saw the bird as he drove along Highway No. 11 near this town about 60 miles north of North Bay.

"It seemed to be about the size of a Canada goose, only longer," Waterson said. "It was jet black in color and it flew at terrific speed."

Waterston, his wife and 18-year-old son were trout fishing here.

Forestry officials said they would like to see the bird before they believed it. However, they said it was possible for a bird to be hatched with two sets of wings.

'Spring? Heck! Calgary Fans Prefer Hockey

CALGARY (CP)—The Quebec-Calgary Edinburgh Cup series for Canada's minor professional hockey championship is confounding the skeptics, who said its length and lateness in the season would be lucky to draw even fleas.

Baseball bats are cutting the spring air and golfers are touring the links in sunshine, but hockey is more than holding its own.

The Calgary foray was crowded with 7,841 fans when the home-town Stampeders shellacked Quebec Aces 11-1 in the series opener last week. Another 7,314 of the hockey faithful were on hand for the second Calgary game, won 3-1 by the resurgent Aces. And Saturday night, when the series shifted to Edmonton Gardens, some 7,000 fans turned out although they had no hometown club to cheer.

The attendance figures dispelled fears that financial support wouldn't be forthcoming.

"East-West" truly always is good for gates—this is the first for pro hockey in the postwar era—but the high-calibre hockey has proven the clincher. The Edmonton game was about the spiciest hockey entertainment of the long season.

Nurses' Residence Officially Opened

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — A new, 16-bed $80,000 nurses residence was officially opened Sunday afternoon at the Niagara Cottage Hospital at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Guest speaker during the ceremony, attended by provincial, municipal and county officials, was Harry F. Cavers, federal member for Lincoln.

Also taking an active part in the opening ceremony was Labor Minister Charles Daley.

The nurses residence completes the hospital project. The main hospital was opened three years ago.

Contempt Charges Being Heard Against Police

DETROIT (CP) — A Michigan grand juror Monday started hearings on contempt charges against two suspended Detroit policemen in spite of a Michigan statute which prohibits grand juries from trying persons cited by the same jury for contempt.

Judge John P. O'Hara is making a special investigation as a one-man grand jury, of graft activities involving Detroit police.

Contempt charges were laid against patrolmen Lee Roy Murchison, 36, and John Marshall Eberhardt, 34. The men denied visiting the home of a man believed to be a numbers racket chief.

Will Make Test

TORONTO (CP)—A test to determine which is faster—a helicopter or an ambulance—will be made Wednesday between the provincial parliament buildings and the site of the New Queensway Hospital.

At the same time as the helicopter, with Ontario Health Minister Phillips as passenger, takes off for the Queen Elizabeth Way and Highway 27, an ambulance will leave Queen's Park for the same destination.

The hospital, when completed, will have a flat roof suitable for the landing of helicopters, expected to be more useful where minutes count in getting patients to the hospital.

Movies were produced in evidence to show both had been at the house, Judge O'Hara said both perjured themselves.

Strikers Will Have No Support From British Union

Some Aboard One Collier Have Not Eaten Since Mon.

MONTREAL (CP) — Striking crew members of the British freighters Cibou and Sheldrake learned by a telegram Tuesday they will have no support from the union—the National Union of Seamen of Great Britain—in their fight for higher wages.

The 30-man Cibou crew struck Monday partly to enforce their own wage demands and partly in sympathy with the 18 Sheldrake seamen, arrested two days previously on charges of refusing to carry captain's orders to put to sea.

A spokesman for the Cibou men—aboard the cold, 'until collier'—said they had only $3 among them and some had not eaten since Monday night. Captain D. S. Whittington, in the interests of the ship owners, locked up the Cibou's food supplies and ordered the boilers closed down.

"We'd all be better off in jail," the crew's spokesman said, "but the company has decided to wait until the trial of the seamen in the Sheldrake case." He said the union's telegram indicated it had "washed its hands of the Sheldrake affair."

The seamen are paid less than $90 a month compared to union minimum of $98 for Canadian seamen.

The Sheldrake and Cibou pulled out of Montreal waters during the summer, and crewmen claimed they received less Canadian pilotage levels and maintain their families in Britain.

The Sheldrake's crew appeared briefly in court Tuesday and the case was postponed until today at the request of their lawyer.

STAND "ILLOGICAL"

LONDON (Reuters) — Crew of two British ships in Montreal striking for Canadian pay rates while trading in Canadian waters have taken an "illogical" stand, a union official said here today.

Tom Yates, 56, general secretary of the National Union of Seamen, said the situation goes beyond his union's jurisdiction.

"How can we support them?" he asked. "A seaman plays a constructive part in this country and his wages and conditions are based upon the economy of this country."

He denied the union had sent a ship to Canada to "scab" strikers suggesting that the union had "washed its hands of the Sheldrake case and doesn't want anything to do with it."

He said he sent this telegram to the men: "Carry out the conditions of the agreement you have signed. Failure to do so will have serious consequences not only upon yourselves but upon all British shipping trading in these waters."

Wren Has Found More Evidence Of Irregularities

TORONTO (CP)—Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the provincial legislature for Cochrane, said today he has uncovered new evidence of irregularities in the provincial highways department and urged that highways minister George Doucett give evidence under oath.

He said in a statement he will seek to have Mr. Doucett recalled as a sworn witness before the legislature's select committee investigating highway contracts. Mr. Doucett has already appeared before the committee, not under oath, to describe the highway department situation.

Mr. Wren said he has uncovered "even more evidence of irregularities in the highway divisions outside of Port William and Huntsville" where 11 men and three companies are now facing conspiracy charges.

He said he wished to swear in Mr. Doucett to answer five specific questions today for him to answer." In addition, he said he will ask the select committee to call "several prominent contractors" who have been named as facing trial on conspiracy charges.

Three Former Canadian Whisky Directors Held

NEW YORK (CP) — Three former Canadian whisky directors, one of them the owner of a professional baseball club, were among nine men indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury on charges of failing to pay $17,400,000 in taxes on profits made from the sale of Canadian whisky in the United States.

The Canadians involved in what was said to be the largest income-tax conspiracy in U.S. history, are George Norgan, Albert McLennan and Isidore J. Klein, all of Vancouver. They formerly were directors of United Distillers of Canada Limited, which was sold last year to a group of Seagrams Liquor Corporation-Seagrams.

Norgan is the owner of the Portland baseball club in the Pacific Coast League.

All of the defendants were charged with conspiring to evade the payment of taxes by selling whisky to foreign corporations in Cuba and Panama to receive profits from the sale of Harwood's whisky in the United States during the Second World War and after.

The indictment said that Isidore J. Klein, a brother of Isidore, who was linked with Henry Grunebaum in the so-called Rothkopf and reputed fixer, was charged with failure to pay $4,400,000 in taxes for the same period.

OFA RULING BLAMED

In attorney H. Edward Lumbard said the profits resulted from a 1944 order by the Office of Price Administration, U.S. wartime price control agency, which permitted the whisky to be sold at a price "greatly in excess of that which should have been granted by the Office of Price Administration regulations."

The date of the details of the case first came to light in the spring of 1953 when a U. S. congressional committee began investigating possible corruption in the internal revenue service and the arrest of the notorious "Klein case".

Witnesses testified that Grunewald and Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N. H.) were among several prominent persons who had tried to settle Klein's tax difficulties with the government.

When called before the committee Grunewald refused to testify and was cited for contempt of Congress. He was convicted, served 30 days in jail and paid a $1,000 fine.

Klein took the stand March 24, 1953 and denied that he ever asked Grunewald or Bridges to help him. He said he was "not guilty" of any wartime cash investment of $1,000 into Klein's $5,000 loan.

PROFITABLE INVESTMENT

Klein, his brother and the three Canadians made their $1,000 into the pot and it grew into 17 or 19 corporations. The group purchased and distilled barrels of whisky, sold a Canadian product, in the U. S. and made a profit of $17,400,000, or $5,000,000 each for the initial investment.

Klein testified that he bought the whisky for $8.05 a case and sold it for $9.05 a case. It was Hiram Walker, Gooderham and Worts Limited and Company, an American firm.

The present indictment was believed to have resulted from the sub-committee investigation. If convicted the defendants face a maximum sentence of 25 years and a $20,000 fine each.

Children Hunting Ball in Sewer Stumble on Treasure of Coins

John Schott, 11, Billy Demble, 9, and John Cooper, 12, weren't disappointed when their ball rolled through a grating and into a catch basin. They crawled right down after it.

On the bottom of a layer of mud in the bottom of the basin they found 13 gold coins. Under six inches of mud were many more.

The youngsters started digging excitedly, but before they could get very far, a crowd of other neighborhood boys heard their shouts, pushed them away and grabbed the coins —all but the four John Schott clutched in his hands.

Police Sergeant later showed the coins—$1 $20 pieces—to Dr. John Gluck, a collector. They were minted between 1886 and 1888. Gluck paid Johnny $36 each for them. Sergeant Joseph Kelly said he hasn't got in the sewer. The last gold coins were minted in 1933, the year they were withdrawn from circulation.

The bigger boys apparently didn't fare as well as Johnny. Some sold their coins, but most gave them away as curios or presented them to their girl friends. Some hid their coins, but when the boys heard their shouts, pushed them away and grabbed the coins

Red River Delta in Danger Declares French General

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI (AP) — France put Indo-China's vital Red river delta on total defence Tuesday as a high French commander warned that his forces may need foreign help if the Communist-led Vietminh unleash all their power against the defence perimeter.

Gen. Pierre Louis Bodet, chief aid to the French commander-in-chief in Indo-China, Gen. Henri Navarre, told a press conference Tuesday night:

"The situation in the delta is serious but far from hopeless or desperate. We may need help from outside if the Vietminh attack the delta with all their means and with their forces from Dien Bien Phu."

Bodet specified no country in his mention of additional foreign aid. The United States was reported to have refused a French request for air force help in Dien Bien Phu after Britain said she could not consider joint military intervention until the outcome of the Geneva conference was known.

Bodet's description of the situation in the delta as "serious" was the first such estimate from any member of the French high command in Indo-China.

Seeking to exploit their victory last week at Dien Bien Phu, the rebels throughout the rich rice lands stepped up their attacks on thinly manned French and Vietnamese defence posts.

The French retaliated with massive bombing assaults Tuesday on key centres of Vietminh activity in the region. They said 30 bombers wiped out three villages in the mountains at the heart of the delta. From these, the French claimed, the rebels had staged big raids on the highway and railway linking Hanoi and Haiphong.

Though the Vietminh has an estimated 70,000 regular, regional and guerrilla forces throughout the delta, their activity so far is still confined to the usual scattered attacks on roads, communications and isolated posts.

Bodet did not think the Vietminh could hurl any forces from Dien Bien Phu against the delta sooner than within the next eight weeks. Rebel losses in the siege of the fortress have been estimated as high as 35,000 killed and wounded.

High School Student Admits Sadistic Slaying of Child

DETROIT (AP) — An unemployed high school student told police Tuesday night he fatally beat and choked a 5-year-old girl, but doesn't know why he did it.

Marion Jo Zobrovitz was found Tuesday by three playmates in a garage behind her home, badly torn and bleeding. She died in hospital of injuries fought for two hours to save her.

Police said 15-year-old Terrence de Klaise, who lived next door, struck the girl with a two-by-four beam, then slashed her. The boy gave no reason for the attack.

De Klaise is a juvenile under Michigan law and cannot be charged with a major crime in criminal court unless a probate court waives its jurisdiction.

Mrs. Doris de Mots, his mother, told police that she knew her son was the slayer, but police arrived before she could act.

In a formal statement to police, the youth said he was fascinated by a newspaper account of the crime. She said he came home after the slaying and ate in the kitchen, where he tried to clean up.

Body of Child Missing Since April 29 Found

TORONTO (CP)—Steve Pachoklak, 8, missing from his east-end home since April 29, has been found dead in the Keating Cut on the Don Valley property.

The boy, who was deaf, was last seen playing in a lane near his home on Pape avenue with his brother, Joseph, 9.

Police said that when two workmen spotted the body, a rope was looped loosely around the waist. However, investigators said they had no suspicion of foul play.

They suggested the body at almost the same spot where three years ago the body of Quigley was drowned about a year ago. The Quigley boys toppled off a log while exploring the shoreline during a warm afternoon.

House to Study Proposal to Step Up Research

Member Says Act Is Pitiful Answer

OTTAWA (CP)—A Progressive Conservative member has proposed that a Commons committee launch a study of ways to boost industrial research in Canada.

J. W. Murphy (PC — Lambton West) said in the Commons Tuesday night that a government bill to amend the Research Council Act is a pitiful answer to the crying need for an accelerated research program.

He moved that the bill be referred to a select committee which would study the whole field of research.

Speaker Rene Beaudoin said the motion was out of order, but postponed his ruling at the end of the day's sitting when Opposition Leader Drew asked for an opportunity to discuss the ruling later.

Mr. Murphy said a study of industrial research is needed in the face of rising unemployment, new markets and increased foreign competition. The committee should also investigate "the development and ways of promoting research activities and assuring a steady flow of scientists."

HELP CANADA COMPETE

The government should give tax incentives to industry to extend research. Improved methods which would help Canada compete in world markets.

Earlier this session, Mr. Murphy sponsored a similar resolution to refer the matter to a committee.

HELP CANADA COMPETE

The government should give tax incentives to industry to extend research. Improved methods which would help Canada compete in world markets.

Earlier this session, Mr. Murphy sponsored a similar resolution to refer the matter to a committee.

Trade Minister Howe, introducing the legislation on the National Research Council, said Canada has made more progress in scientific and industrial research in the last 10 years than any country.

He said the proposed amendments to the Research Council Act are designed to remove ambiguities and clarify special arrangements that have assumed importance with the growth of NRC. They did not change its principles and procedures.

CCF leader Coldwell said his party can not support the PC motion because it came so late in the session. Perhaps the party would have supported it earlier. There is not enough time for a select officials to prepare material and give it adequate study by a committee.

3 Colombian Officers Freed By Communists

MUNSAN (AP)—Three Colombian officers, including a battalion commander, were released this morning after being held under guard overnight by the Communists.

The Reds seized the trio Thursday night in the demilitarized zone near Old Baldy on the central front, during a patrol clash. As part of the United Nations force, they had illegally crossed the line of demarcation.

United Nations and Communist members of the truce supervisory team agreed to meet Thursday to submit reports on the military armistice commission.

Quentin Reynolds 'Yellow Coward' States Westbrook Pegler's Lawyer

NEW YORK (AP) — Columnist Westbrook Pegler's lawyer lit into Quentin Reynolds Tuesday, calling him as "a yellow coward . . . an unprincipled correspondent."

"He covered the Casablanca conference from a window," said Charles Henry, Pegler's counsel. "He covered the Sicily landing from a Flagstaff House and the Normandy landing from Hollywood."

The opening remarks to a federal court jury indicated a noholds-barred battle in Reynolds' $500,000 libel suit against the Hearst newspapers' columnist.

The libel charge grew out of a Pegler column on May 29, 1949.

In it, Pegler wrote that Reynolds

Viet Nam Govt. Opposes Partition Of Land With Reds

Non-Communist Delegates Agree on Truce Terms

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP) — The French-backed government of Viet Nam declared today that under no circumstances must any Indo-China armistice settlement include the partition of Viet Nam territory.

The Viet Nam terms were laid before the nine-member Indo-China conference by Foreign Minister Nguyen Quoc Dinh. They were said by a French spokesman to have the backing of all the non-Communist delegates participating in the talks.

The plan covered both military and political aspects of the armistice. It called for a political settlement based upon free elections under United Nations control.

DEMAND GUARANTEES

The main conditions for ending the fighting were:

The agreement must include sufficient guarantees to insure a "real and durable peace and prevent all new aggression."

The agreement must not lead to a de facto partition, definitive or provisional, partition of national territory.

In opposing any partition, Dinh's delegation thus rejected a proposal by France's plan for setting up armistice zones for the evacuation of troops. The Viet Namese have expressed the belief the French plan would leave the way open for partition, giving valuable territory to the Communist-led Vietminh.

Dinh also declared Viet Nam's relations with France would be based on declaration forseeing full independence for his country. He was prepared also to be basing his armistice proposals on the independence demands of the other Indo-Chinese states of Cambodia and Laos, although they were not named in his statement.

50 Sabre Jets Leave Monday For Europe

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 50 Sabre jet Mark V fighters, each with a nose-mounted camera aircraft, are scheduled to leave the country by RCAF base next week Monday in a $23,000,000 hop to Europe, an air force spokesman said Tuesday.

The planes represent the largest single flight yet undertaken to supply the Canadian air divisions overseas.

Commanded by Sqdn. Ldr. Bob Middlemiss of Montreal, the ferry movement will be the second of the RCAF's No. 1 overseas ferry unit and differs from the air division in Europe.

The fighters, built by Canadair Limited, will be handed over to RCAF units at North Luffenham, England, Grostenquin in France, and Baden-Sollingen and Zweibruecken, Germany.

They will replace older model Sabres, which will be handed over to the NATO countries under joint defence plan agreements.

Harms Skin
Says Expert

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Skin living is fine, says Dr. Earl D. Osborn of Buffalo, N.Y., a skin specialist, but "daily bathing is the worst thing you can do to your skin, especially when you use soap."

He said statistics show that countries where people seldom take baths have the least number of skin infections and diseases.

Osborn spoke at one of the busiMedical Association convention in progress here. He is the author of more than 50 publications dealing with dermatology.

Further, he asserted, the alkali in soap often causes infection or sensitive areas of the skin.

Bowling Club To Open Season On Holiday

The bowling season will open on May 24th. It was decided at the spring meeting of the Belleville Bowling Club held in the clubhouse on Tuesday evening with Mr. Cecil Hyde as president, in the chair.

A report by the greens chairman, Larry Dobbs, showed the greens to have wintered well and are now in the best condition they have been in in years. Mr. Dobbs said if there is sufficient warm weather, it may be possible to have bowling on the holiday.

It was decided that a mixed jitney would be held in the afternoon with suitable prizes being offered. Plans for different tournaments were laid and with respect to the Cecil Gould Cup, eight teams from the club will be eligible to compete and if more than eight rinks want to get in an elimination tourney will be held.

The visit of the British Bowlers to Canada in June was outlined by Cliff Argue, who will have charge of the visitors from the time they arrive in Canada until they leave for Western Ontario. The visitors will play six rinks from Districts 14 and 15 at Peterborough on July 8th, the bowling to precede a banquet in the evening. Only one bowler and a spare will be chosen from each club in the two districts.

It was decided to have one jitney during the summer, the net proceeds of which will be donated to a fund, sponsored by the PLBA and which will be used for underprivileged and veterans work. On the question of membership, it was decided that each member be responsible for a new member for instruction and introduction to the other members.

Jitneys will be played on Monday and Friday nights with four Wednesday afternoon jitneys in charge of Cleo Colling, which will give members who do not play in outside tourneys, a chance to enjoy the facilities of the greens.

Chancellor, Archdeacon and Canons Installed in Cathedral Service

The 86th annual session of the Incorporated Synod of the Anglican diocese of Ontario formally opened at Kingston, Tuesday, with the delivery of the bishop's charge by Rt. Rev. Kenneth C. Evans, Bishop of Ontario in a communion service in the Cathedral Church of St. George.

At the service Belleville lawyer, Robert A. Pringle Q.C., was installed as chancellor of the diocese while former Canon J. B. Creegan rector of Christ Church, was installed as archdeacon of Kingston.

The major parts of the bishop's charge dealt with the present international situation and the threat to freedom in the United States by what the bishop termed "the American demagogue."

He said he was alarmed by the attention and following various anti-Communist movements are getting and said they threaten to be as great a danger as communism itself.

Installed as canons of the cathedral were: Rev. Stanley H. Coleman, Westport; Rev. W. E. Grant, Augusta; Rev. A. S. McConnell, Trenton, and Rev. W. J. Minto Swan, Kingston.

The Bishop had advanced Canon Creegan to the office of Archdeacon and had also created the new Canons some time ago; the installation of the cathedral was the final act in connection with the appointments.

Written Argument To Be Submitted Before Decision

Written argument will be submitted by various counsel to County Judge Deroche, afternoon before judgment is handed down in the hearing of an application to set aside the liquor vote at Tweed last November 18.

After being adjourned on two occasions, the hearing was completed Tuesday afternoon when Judge Anderson reserved judgment pending submission of written arguments by counsel.

Tweed hotel proprietor E. J. Conway was represented by the county court judge for an order to set aside the vote, claiming certain irregularities during the time of voting. All three questions were answered in the negative by the electors by a small margin.

Kenneth G. Ross acted as counsel for Mr. Conway, Anderson for the affirmative side, Richard D. Arnott, Q.C., appeared for the negative or "dry" side, while Garfield Morton, Tweed village returning officer, appeared on his own behalf.

The hearing lasted over four days with proceedings being adjourned on the first instance to allow election material to be returned from Toronto. Early in April the hearing was resumed for two days and then was adjourned to Monday, May 10th.

Draws Parallel Between Canada And Scotland in Fields of Influence

"Caledonia, Canada and Columbia," was the subject of an address on the effect of Scotland on Canada, of Canada on the United States and the parallel between the two, delivered by Dr. Grant Hendrardson, public relations officer of the Northern Electric Company Limited to the Belleville Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada on Monday night.

The speaker, born in England, employed as a youth in the "Scotch Navy" and later a resident of the United States and latterly of Canada, drew upon personal experience and historical studies for the summary of his impressions.

Admitting that Scottish history intrigued him as a boy, and yet, especially that country's long struggle with the English, the speaker stated that "in the history of the world I don't suppose there were two people who fought as bitterly for so long, and in the end made such a happy arrangement and understanding."

GREAT OBJECTIVE

However, so determined were the Scots on leaving England, he said, that the great infiltration of England by the Scots began. So successful were the Scots in leaving England that in seeking new realms to conquer, they set out on the great work of making the world Scottish, said the speaker.

"Wherever a Scot settled, whatever the place had been before, it became, by choice, a Scot and Scotland, an outpost of Scotland," said Mr. Richardson who noted that Canada was the second richest prize, was exceedingly fortunate because of the great numbers of Scots who settled here.

The speaker noted that the Scots were gifted with a flair for diplomacy and integrity with a matchless spirit and a deep reverence for the observance of the Sabbath and the importance of family life.

GREAT OPPORTUNITY

"The influence of the Scots has been out of all proportion to their numbers," said Mr. Richardson, and in this "Canadians should have an opportunity in the world similar to the one so successfully exploited by the Scot.

He noted that both Canada and Scotland are northern countries, with small populations, outnumbered almost 10 to one by a southern neighbor, whose histories, in the past, have been rumors of wars in the past are today living side by side in peace and harmony after a long continuum of friction.

In considering the influence of Canada on United States, Mr. Richardson stated that while both countries have different allegiances they do not have the same degree of freedom.

In stating that the concentration of free people, wealth, natural resources and productive facilities in Canada and the United States are bound to affect the rest of the world, the speaker said that to assure maximum development there should be in all associated states a feeling with the United States a maximum amount of understanding and minimum of strife.

In summarizing the qualities of Americans Mr. Richardson said that Canadians "do not lose by reason of our geographical location."

Mr. Richardson cited the War of Independence in the U.S. as an example of strife which best served to bring about a full realization in that's free, independent nation, some time elapsing which subsequently was able to serve the cause of freedom when the weight of a free and independent nation was needed.

REASON WILL TRIUMPH

"In our recent times the rifts in Anglo-American relations have been serious and complicated," he said citing the natural difficulties in present day trade, but expressed the conviction that in this crisis, as in all other past crises, the voice of reason will triumph.

In speaking of Canada as a conciliator between Britain and the United States, he said: "I feel firmly planted in two different worlds," Mr. Richardson continued, "and cannot help thinking that if the two worlds keep moving apart we have only one thing left on which we may comfortably fall."

They will profit, he will profit, and the whole world will profit by an improvement in our relations by the process of understanding," he said.

"Canada, Caledonia and Columbia is a little thread of history", said Mr. Richardson, "but it shows, I think, how closely we are tied together and it suggests our responsibilities."

The speaker was introduced by H. F. Ywoman and the thanks of the Belleville Branch of the Engineering Institute were expressed by T. E. Flinn.

Trained Nurses' In Great Demand Kiwanians Told

The present demand for trained nurses is immense and the demand is not being met.

Miss Margaret Peart, Reg.N., director of the school of nursing of the Belleville General Hospital, yesterday told the Kiwanis Club's weekly lunch meeting of the difficulty of the nursing profession in providing graduates to fill the ever increasing demand for experienced graduates.

Although not as acute in Belleville, the situation throughout the rest of the province is alarming.

Despite an increase in membership in the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario from 8,236 in 1953 to 9,701 at March this year, the prevalent question today, Miss Peart said, is "Where are the nurses?"

Many of them are being lost to qualified fields outside hospital work.

Public health services, industry and other medical fields or organizations are taking their toll of graduates needed in general hospital work.

Many people still believe in the existence of nurses who are not beginning at five a.m. right through to eight or nine o'clock at night with "lights out" at 9.30 p.m.

MARRIAGE TAKES MANY.

Marriage also draws many away from the profession's ranks. Of 21 graduates from the school at Belleville General Hospital, Miss Peart stated, 14 of them are already engaged.

The meeting concluded her address by congratulating the Kiwanis Club for its work and said the need for such organizations is vital today.

Dr. G. H. Cronk moved the vote of thanks to the speaker.

Hospital Day is also the anniversary of Florence Nightingale and the Kiwanis marked the day in their individual fashion.

After lunch, as the mournful strains of the "Last Post" drifted across the hall, Addison Lloyd, swathed in bandages, was wheeled in on a stretcher. Rendering Major ministrations was white-clad Kenneth Bray, introduced as "Nurses Flightengale."

Gordon C. Vince, foreman of the Frog and Switch Shop, briefly reviewed his service record and commended Mr. McDonnell on his faithful service to the company. Mr. McDonnell was then presented with a lazy boy chair and smoking stand, showing the high esteem in which he was held by his fellow workers. Everyone wished Fred many happy years in which to enjoy his leisure time and well earned rest.

Spring Seeding Being Delayed By Wet Weather

Farmers in Bay of Quinte area are generally discouraged over crop prospects for this year, with a large percentage of spring seeding still to be done.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture in its weekly crop report states that wet weather is still holding up seeding and that some areas work on the land has not yet even started.

On high, well drained land, however, some farmers have completed seeding and grain is up and looking well. In Prince Edward County it was estimated on May 10 that only about 15 per cent of seeding had been completed.

The report indicates that farmers are generally worried about cheese production this year. Most factories in the district are now operating.

Foggy weather has been a worry for orchard management and sprays have been held up due to cool weather.

Fall wheat and rye look well, but the late spring has become serious for all crop production, particularly with the canning pea acreage. Many acres planned for peas will not be seeded to this crop because of the lateness of the season.

MORTGAGE PROBLEM

The present pace of mortgage investment in Canada is not expected to continue indefinitely, according to the annual report of the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association.

It is difficult to decide whether one should jeer or cheer this announcement.

More homes are still urgently needed in Canada, and if these are to be built, mortgages are as necessary as lumber and cement. But the present mortgage debt of the Canadian people has reached a record peak which may appear to some observers as formidably high as Mount Everest.

By the end of 1953 Canadian life insurance, loan and trust companies and other members of the Dominion Mortgage and Investment Association had mortgages totalling $1,540,000,000. That is over $100 for every man, woman and child in Canada—and, of course, not every Canadian lives in a mortgaged home. Moreover, this does not represent the total amount of mortgages; many mortgages, particularly on older homes, are held by private investors.

Mortgagees, whether companies or individuals, have played an essential role in the growth of Canada since the conclusion of the war. But we should not let this fact blind us to the recognition of the truth that there is danger, as well as benefit, inherent in this development.

If unemployment should become widespread, many mortgagors will have difficulty meeting payments, even though these payments have been spread out over a lengthy period of years and are, therefore, relatively small, having regard to the full amount of the mortgage. Incidentally, the average loan for new single dwellings rose from $7,790 in 1952 to $8,780 in 1953, a sum which only a few decades ago would have been regarded by most Canadians as something approaching a "tidy fortune."

Many mortgages are so high that, if there were any considerable decline in real estate values, some mortgagors might find it financially profitable to permit mortgagees to foreclose, for the amount of the mortgages might be higher than the current purchase price for a comparable home.

Other mortgagors, after investing their savings in a home for years, would certainly prefer to see the money spent in the form of a moratorium. But amongst those firms which have invested heavily in mortgages are life insurance companies. Clients of these firms could not afford to wait for their many widen policies come due.

These are the dangers. The solutions? Only one would appear effective—to reduce the cost of house construction. Some experts have declared that this is an impossible task, if we will only apply to home building those lessons in mass-production methods which have proven so successful in other industries.

IS WEAKNESS A CRIME?

Is weakness of character a crime?

It is not easy to answer that question as one might suppose at first thought.

Much crime is the result of weakness of character; perhaps even the strong man's wilfulness is really weakness.

This is an old, old story. But the circumstances which give rise to the present query are new.

Corporal Edward Dickenson of the United States Army has been sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for currying favor with his Red Chinese captors in Korea.

Not having read all the evidence of his trial, we shall not presume to voice an opinion as to whether or not such a sentence is justified.

But the Brockville Recorder and Times, commenting on the case, points out that "the Red treatment of prisoners-of-war, brain-washing people, demands in the man who can successfully resist Communist 'persuasion' a great strength of character, intellectually, morally and physically."

Then the Recorder and Times make this striking statement: "Probably this soldier's greatest crime was simply weakness of character."

How many among us can be sure that, by that definition, we are not also criminals? How many of us are sure that we possess "a great strength of character, intellectually, morally and physically"?

UNEMPLOYMENT IN THE TROPICS

"Unemployment," says the Hamilton Spectator in an editorial on British Honduras, "now affects almost one-tenth of the population."

The Spectator then adds an attention-compelling sentence: "This is much more astonishing in the tropics than in cooler climates, for it quickly brings a depressed lassitude, a sense of helplessness and a breaking up of the moral code."

Must have been an unusual spell of hot weather that bothered Canada in the thirties.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS-AGO

MAY 12, 1934.

Mr. Bert Frink, well known local motorcycle racing enthusiast, has received a beautiful silver cup suitably engraved from the American Motorcycle Association of Jacksonville, Florida. The prized trophy was presented to Mr. Frink in recognition of his having travelled the greatest distance to attend the American championship road race which was held in Jacksonville, Florida, on Feb. 25th last. Bert, who was riding an English made machine, was forced out of the race through an accident to his motorcycle. At the time of the accident he had led the field for several laps with a comfortable margin.

Miss P. Campbell, Reg.N., Toronto, is visiting her sister and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Campbell, Coleman Street.

At a meeting of the Liberal Conservative Association in Marmora, Mr. W. H. Ireland, M.P.P., Trenton, was again selected as the candidate to contest the new riding of West Hastings at the coming provincial elections. He was nominated by S. R. Burrows of Belleville and Howard D. Graham of Trenton.

Forty-nine years ago today the Battle of Batoche in the Northwest Rebellion was fought and went on the following day the leader of the rebels, Louis Reil, was captured. Today there are three veterans of the battle living here and, no doubt, they thoroughly will revert to the events of that day. They are William Aylen, Jesse W. Barlow and Lou Soulee. The battle was fought on May 12th, 1885 in Northern Saskatchewan.

There was white frost last night, but it will be a benefit to keeping the strawberries in retirement.

Another automobile has made its appearance in town, the owner being Mr. Kerr. We are informed that he drove the car from Toronto here in a few over eight hours.

Work is progressing rapidly in the construction of the cement works at Point Anne. Ten cars loaded with machinery were delivered at the site of the plant today. Yesterday was pay day and upwards of $2,000 was paid out. The Ontario Lehigh 1854—this was the first cement plant built here; the manager was Mr. Nicholls and the engineer Mr. English. It was absorbed in the cement combine which became the Canada Cement Company. The present plant was built like the Ontario Lehigh Portland Cement Company of Allentown, Pa. It also eventually became part of the Canada Cement Company and over the years the plant has been greatly enlarged.)

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PEOPLE

People in themselves are far more interesting than anything they do with their lives. Usually people do the things they must want to do, but that furnishes the smallest part of their real selves. We don't even know much about our own selves. Then, can we know why others interest us to such a great degree.

All people are interesting. I dislike crowds but I like the people in them. They are like a great book of un-read pages. I look into people's eyes, watch them in their walk, note how they dress, and keep wondering what each one is thinking. Wouldn't it be interesting to have the thoughts of each, at the same moment, recorded!

We read of some great man and learn that he played poker, read aloud to himself because it made him feel less lonely, and that he liked cornflake gravy for breakfast. We are creatures of taste, habit, and imitation. We are only original before we are told our tastes. We are creatures for fear of being considered original! Only the geniuses are respected and admired for being themselves.

George Glasing, the English writer, declared in his really delightful book "The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft" that he was "no longer young people." Yet he devoted his life to writing about them! People are funny, irritating and difficult, but as single and in all the world exactly like another, but that is what makes them all so interesting.

Most of us have animal traits in us—mannerisms, if you please. There are people who snap at one another, like strange dogs, but there are more who are friendly and who look for traits in others that they hope they can imitate and make their own. That is one of the things about many people.

It is so much better to look for the good in the bad in others. It would result in our greater happiness. It is a wonderful thing to be a friend of people. Politically but humanly.

'Lost Tribe' Discovered

(By London Reporter Special Correspondent writing from Georgetown, Brit ish Guiana).

After weeks of travelling by dug-out canoes through some of Central America's totally unknown and uncharted territory, an American missionary, the Rev. Claude Leavitt, has found the first time made contact with a tribe of utterly primitive Indians, known as the Shedeu, in the Brazilian hinterland of British Guiana.

Completely without any knowledge of the world of white men, and only aware of the existence of other Indians who have come through rare contact with other Indian tribes, the Shedeu people are believed to be one of the few remaining Indian "peoples" who have as yet remained totally unknown to the explorers.

So far the Shedeu are only net some 60 members of the tribe, and he has just returned to Georgetown, British Guiana, after spending three months with this small group of them.

* * *

Early this summer he is returning to the Shedeu village in the hope of finding his way to a second tribe, believed by natives to be living across a range of mountains, south of where he met his first Indians.

The missionary was only able to find the Shedeu village with the help of another tribe, the Waiwai, who agreed to take him in a dug-out canoe down the Mapuera River in quest of them.

The Waiwai, who have had recounts, have for years been in touch with the Shedeu, their neighbours, and hardly know anything of them except that they are hostile and have no anxiety to go to war.

Mr. Leavitt has brought back a few photographs of the Shedeu Indians, who make their own tools and live with a complete lack of the powers of what seems to be a comparatively new fear in this country. The Shedeu, like their Waiwai neighbours, wear no clothes and the women headed aprons.

* * *

One of Mr. Leavitt's "parishioners" was the 65-year-old village chief Mr. Leavitt describes who is also the witch-doctor and the expounder of the Shedeu religion upon the spirits of birds and animals to carry away the sickness of his patients to the sky.

Although superstition and witchcraft play an important part in the Shedeu life, it seems to be free of most sorts of savagery, according to Mr. Leavitt, and the reception of his story of God and the sacrifice of the Son of God was both attentive and friendly.

Nevertheless, the tribes are addicted to killing their children, to a certain degree, and twins are known to be "taken" and are killed.

Killings also take place if a boy is born instead of a girl, against the parents wishes, and twins, but, Mr. Leavitt is satisfied that on the whole the Shedeu know that child-killing is "wrong".

* * *

Fish, which are netted and shot with arrows, play an important part in the Shedeu life, and are imbued with supernatural influence.

It is an intriguing custom that, when a baby is born, the parents eat only small fish caught by the father until it is fairly strong. If the parents should eat animals or birds during this time it is feared the baby will die.

The story goes, Mr. Leavitt discovered, a girl who is kept apart on reaching puberty would be put on a diet of small fish, eating larger ones as she grew a little older until she returned to village life.

* * *

A curious aspect of their superstitural conception of God is the power of steam. When Mr. Leavitt left the Shedeu families divided up axe-heads from the village fire, and poured water on them. The ascending steam was vigorously rubbed into the bodies of the infants, to make sure that the missionary's message would bode no ill and leave no fever behind.

The tribe are adept at making fire by friction, and the way in which they live. They cut whole fields out of the jungle, and when they are dry, burn everything. They burn them and then plant their crops of manioc, bananas and sugar cane.

Bread is made from Cassava and wild fruits and animals are shot with bows and arrows. Fish are caught in traps, as well as being caught with hooks.

* * *

The Shedeu are much given to "sott" drinks, they make them from fruits, and Mr. Leavitt finds a great part of their diet, but they are by no means "dry" by conviction.

They are adept at making intoxicating drinks from cassava, which adds the right stimulus to their religious rites.

Mr. Leavitt hopes to bring back with him, on comprehensive study of the unknown and untouched Shedeu, when his second visit, with new supplies and their remote territories is completed.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

CATASTROPHE IN THE OFFING

Theodore Roosevelt remarked many years ago that to educate a man's mind without educating his conscience is to make him a public menace. William James already remarked that our greatest accomplishments in an unsanctified heart only makes one a more competent devil.

Something of catastrophic proportions is going on today in our modern world unless we realize that we cannot educate the mind of man and neglect his training and a social asset unless we also educate his spirit. Man's spirit can be educated precisely the same as the mind, by way of the Bible and the ministry of the Church at our disposal. How we could have allowed secularism to creep into modern education to the extent it has is beyond understanding. We are cutting the ground out from under our feet by this pernicious policy. A few branches of the American Church have recognized this and have taken determined steps to meet the menace. Those who falter and daily are opening themselves and their people to the menace of disaster.

Moral conditions today are bad so no one tell you that they are not. We cannot correct these evils by a better public secular education. We must have religious education, and we must be earnest in our efforts.

What we face is catastrophe—nothing less. Let's get going.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A country doctor undertook to help me find a cradle-bench. This is nothing more than a rocking chair to which is built on a baby's cradle. And while you sit and rock you could also cradle the baby, and to fairly familiar items of furniture in the present day.

"You come and drive around my calls with me," said the doctor, "and we'll look around in town-ship."

So I took me in with him at each farmhouse or village home, and we had a chat with the friendly visits with his patients. There is nothing formal about a country doctor's practice.

At the first farm, we were sitting in the kitchen chatting with the farmer and his wife, when the telephone rang. The doctor rose and answered it. He read a note as he continued talking. The doctor had called in on another farm-house phone.

We then stops farther along, in village, the doctor was taking a young patient's pulse when the telephone rang. The doctor stopped the boy's wrist, walked over to the phone and answered it. He again engaged in a considerable discussion.

When he returned from the phone, I woke up.

"Look" I said, "how do you know the call is for you. . . ?"

"You forget it's a party line," smiled the doctor, resuming his guise-taking. "That's one great advantage we have in the country. We can visit around and get considerable work done on particular ring comes on the telephone, we simply get up and answer it, wherever it happen to be. A party line is like having a thousand private phones instead of one. It all depends how many instruments there are on the line. The more the better: Hardly a day passes that I'm not called into some farm or village house as I pass to answer my call. When I leave this house, for instance, at least one will come to the phone a few minutes after. These good people will simply tell the operator I have just driven past on the third line. So the operator will phone somebody along the third line ahead of me and asks them to hail me as I go by. It's a great system, I'd hate to see it changed."

We who enjoy the privacy of a telephone ourselves do not appreciate the necessity inherent in the rural community. You can answer your telephone in anybody's home.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Did you ever stop to think, Mrs. Wiseacre—I should say if you ever stop to think it may dawn on you, all we say, conscious-ness that the trick specialist, particularly the pediatrician $400 a snobs' patronize, is stringing you along when he or she tells you over the telephone to give your child antibiotics?

Dr. Brady

That's a trick of the trade, Mrs.'am. It corroborates the charge—my charge—that the practice of medicine—with too many M.D.'s—is now a business rather than a profession.

The dodge works like this. Mrs. Wiseacre telephones her pediatrician (in order to keep up with the Joneses it is imperative that the Wisecres employ a trick specialist instead of an "ordinary" family doctor, even though the home merchant sends his customers three to five times as much as a general practitioner would charge for the same service). The $400 grisly knows his cheerfulness that little Ebenezer is complaining of such and such symptoms. The pediatrician has two or three other $400 ones waiting their turn and he needs the money, so he instructs Mrs. W. to take the baby's temperature and report. . . Mrs. W. is happy to demonstrate her knowledge of the use of the little bulb and does not hesitate again to tell the office girl that the baby's temperature is 100. The office girl goes into conference with the busy, busy businessman and instructs Mrs. W. to give the baby such and such a dose until the doctor comes.

Dope. An analgesic may be less dangerous than other pain-killers, but that does not justify the practice of doping sick children with it in lieu of proper medical attention.

There is no scientific ground for giving aspirin or any other medicine just for fever. A rise of temperature to one is only moderate fever in a child and it indicates good reaction. The fever is an effect of the illness and not the cause.

High Cost Of Yearning

(Hamilton Spectator).

A dispatch in the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet, a translation of which has reached us rather promptly via New York, reports that serious economic and social disruption is being caused in Nigeria by inflation in the price of brides, the going rate having risen to $600 for a literate one and $450 for an illiterate, the writer.

This bothers us on a couple of counts. For one thing, we should have thought that breaking the law of supply and demand was purely a prerogative of civilization and that it was primitive society the price of wives would automatically find itself to the amount that would-be husbandst could afford to pay.

More importantly, however, we are baffled by the premium placed on literacy. While a case can perhaps be made for a North American wife being required to decipher simple words, at least to the point of following the recipes on the prepared package mix box of spelling out, with moving lips and following finger, the line instructions for operating the new dishwasher, it would seem to us that the Nigerian bride would be better off by far with an illiterate spouse.

We very much doubt whether preparers of native mix of fiery washes have yet penetrated darkest Africa, but if wives there are encountering the evil products of civilization certainly will, and with the wisdom acquisitive in the vanguard, Thus the African buck, having already coughed up an extra $150 for his wife acquiring ability to read, will find himself caught in a vicious circle based on inflationary spiral.

The little hut in the jungle will no longer be "gracious" enough—there must be a patio; the thatch roof must be replaced with composite panilles. Nor will the simple domesticity of African marriage be sufficient; there must be Conflict and Fulfillment, with capitals. The family will retain secular education, or be acceptable; a psychiatrist must supervise a refreshment pool to hunt heads. And so it will go.

Next thing you know, the devil will find himself civilized.

The reason? Well, the Herald Tribune in a headline on its front page prided and joy as that "New, Wee Subway."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

Govt. Loans For Lovers

(Milwaukee Journal).

The Swedes, given to interesting experiments in social legislation, apparently have taken a look at their "marriage loan" program and have found it worthy.

The program was introduced in 1938. Loans up to $800 are made to engaged couples to help them to furnish homes. About 165,000 couples, one in six of those marrying, have taken loans totaling $40,000,000 in the 16 years.

Repayments have been able to prove that they need the credit help. There is no evidence of unusual hardship they may be unable to meet. Cancellations and refunds have represented less than 1 percent of the loan total.

More importantly, however, we are baffled by the premium placed on literacy. While a case can perhaps be made for a North American wife being required to decipher simple words, at least to the point of following the recipes on the prepared package mix box of spelling out, with moving lips and following finger, the line instructions for operating the new dishwasher, it would seem to us that the Nigerian bride would be better off by far with an illiterate spouse.

Amazon Ants Are Landlords

(La Voz de Espana, San Sebastian)

Ants in Northern Australia have progressed far enough in their ability to make use of the build "skyscraper" anthills. The insect-loving Australian naturalist discovered the magnetic waves that run along the earth's meridians and parallels, and they adapt their construction on a strictly mathematical basis.

Other ants in India are experts at sewing and use silk which they obtain from silkworms as thread.

Now, however, Brazilian entomologists have found that certain ants in the Amazon basin constitute another technique of economically advanced human societies: they pay their rent, with measured sums of certain determined quantities of honey.

The Latin investigators are studying this remarkable animal system, with the hope of discovering how it came about, how rents are fixed, and whether there is any ceiling on such rents.

Brief Urging Toll Charges Will Be Made

HAMILTON (CP)—A brief urging toll charges on Ontario highways will be discussed at an executive meeting of the Ontario Good Roads Association in Toronto Saturday.

The brief, expected to be submitted to the federal and provincial governments, is being prepared by Thomas J. Mahoney, managing secretary of the association. Mr. Mahoney says he feels that United States tourists and all Canadians should pay for the highways they use.

"Ontario is surrounded by six of the wealthiest states—New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota," he said. "In those states there are 48,000,000 people with about 18,000,000 cars."

He said there are about 1,500 miles along the boundary line adjoining the six states and added that all persons using the highways should pay, Americans pay toll charges and "they think we are boobs for not doing the same."

Speed McCarthy-Army Probe By Night Sessions Is Plan

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators 1 o d a y appeared headed toward a night-session effort to speed up the McCarthy-Army inquiry after futile efforts Tuesday to telescope the televised testimony.

Chairman Karl Mundt (Rep.-S.D.) called the investigations subcommittee into closed session to discuss a motion by Senator Henry Dworshak (Rep., Idaho) for after dinner sessions. Of the four Republican and two Democratic members, only Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep., Ill.) has been holding out against such a move.

Mundt and Ray H. Jenkins, special sub-committee counsel, declined to say in advance who would be called at today's public session, but the general assumption was that it would be army counsel John G. Adams.

Adams is a principal with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens in charging that Senator McCarthy and two aides brought pressure on them to get favored military treatment for a former sub-committee consultant, Pvt. G. David Schine.

A McCARTHY TARGET

Adams also is a principal target for the Wisconsin Republican Senator's counter-charges that Stevens and his aides used Schine as a "hostage" in efforts to halt the McCarthy sub-committee to drop or divert its search for subversives in the United States Army. McCarthy normally is chairman of the committee, but has stepped off it for this inquiry.

In a rough-and-tumble session which produced no testimony but only lengthy discussion of how to conduct the inquiry, the committee slapped down a proposal by Dirksen to call McCarthy to the stand and recess public sessions after completing his questioning.

Mundt helped the Democrats scuttle that proposal after Stevens said word that he considered the proposal would "not result in fairness."

The committee also killed, on a party-line vote, a proposal by Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) to limit the questioning of witnesses drastically, but by hearsay only all of the principals in the case.

ASKS NIGHT SESSIONS

The upshot was Dworshak's motion for a two-hour hearing nightly, which produced a reaction from Senator Henry Jackson (Dem., Wash.) that seemed to express general sentiment.

"I'm going to move my bed over here."

Stevens was excused from the stand Tuesday when it developed that he had been suffering from a virus infection, but McCarthy said Stevens "will be back" for later questioning.

Dirksen, asked by reporters whether he had given up trying to get an agreement to shorten hearings, replied: "I don't give up very easily. I will be giving it some thought."

Dworshak said "we have been in continuous session for 14 days and we have succeeded in accomplishing practically nothing."

Son Testifies Against Father In Murder Case

WINDSOR (CP)—A 14-year-old boy told Supreme Court Tuesday the last words he heard his mother say before her death were "Joe! Are you crazy?"

Ernest Garthwaite was testifying at the trial of his father, Joseph Paul Garthwaite, 48, for the shotgun slaying of his wife, Lillian, 33.

The boy said he heard his parents quarreling the night of the shooting. He said after his mother spoke, there was a loud noise which shook the house.

A hardware dealer testified he sold Garthwaite a shotgun on the morning of March 30.

The trial is continuing.

OCEAN TRIP

LIVERPOOL, England (CP)—Herbert Illott, who retired two years ago as superintendent of births, marriages and deaths for London's Wandsworth borough, left to visit his married daughter Eric at Ottawa. Illott has married more than 50,000 persons.

Doctors' Fees To Be Increased By 10 Per Cent

TORONTO (CP) — The council of the Ontario Medical Association Tuesday approved an increase in doctors' fees of up to 10 per cent more than present rates.

The increases are not expected to become effective for at least a year.

Approval was given in an interim report of a committee headed by Dr. J. C. C. Dawson of Peterborough. The council was asked to make the decision after members studied Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures which showed that a 10-per-cent increase in the basic cost-of-living had occurred since 1950, the year the present schedule for fees was established.

The council also recommended that all Ontario hospitals adopt a "medical audit" to check the diagnosis with the results obtained by their doctors.

Dr. Ian Davison of Sudbury, who announced the recommendation, said a full medical audit should include all medical records and other data accumulated. The audit, he said, should be filed under code numbers referring to individual doctors.

Minister Denies Press Reports

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Ontario Health Minister Phillips Tuesday denied press and radio reports he would race an ambulance today in a helicopter ride from the Parliament Buildings in Toronto to the site of the new Queensway Hospital in Etobicoke.

"I do not know who originated that story, but I have read it and heard it several times today and it is not true," he said.

He said he would like to see helicopter landing facilities on top of hospitals of the future.

Ambulances too often get held up in heavy traffic, he said. "Helicopter ambulances could avoid the traffic, would be less dangerous, and in highway crashes could bring victims to hospital a lot more quickly."

PERSONAL TEST

LONDON (CP) — Thirteen hundred whisky drinkers volunteered to see the nine-day run of a color film about the manufacture and blending of scotch whisky. After each showing the audience tasted raw whiskies of various grains and malts—reasonably watered down.

Council Urges Floor Prices For Cereal Grains

In a submission to the Commons agriculture committee, the council asked that the federal treasury support prices for the next crop year at these minimums: Wheat, $1.50 a bushel; barley, 90 cents; oats, 80 cents.

The council, representing farm groups in Ontario and the four western provinces, said these figures should be guaranteed under the agricultural prices support act up to a quantity equal at least to the long-time average yield.

MORE PATIENTS

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia mental hospitals care for 6,303 patients and there is an annual increase of about 300, the provincial secretary's department reported. About 2,500 enter hospitals each year, and about 2,200 are discharged.

'Missile Mile' Mystery of Two Years Discovered

LONDON (Reuters) — The two-year mystery of Britain's "missile mile" was exploded Tuesday.

A spokesman for the Automobile Association announced that engineers have discovered the reason more than 100 car windshields have mysteriously shattered on the stretch of highway between two nearby villages of Esher and Cobham.

The windshields disintegrated on the hilly road because they were made of an inferior type of glass and couldn't stand up to severe jolting, the spokesman said.

Whole Battalion Of Rebel Troops Cares for French

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The Vietminh radio said today that an entire battalion of rebel troops has been put to work caring and providing for French Union troops wounded at Dien Bien Phu.

The Indo-China broadcast heard here quoted a French medical corps major as saying that the wounded "were brought out of their crumbling shelters and sheltered under innumerable parachutes stretched on bamboo poles."

"An entire battalion of the Vietminh's people's army did this work. A kitchen has been organized with cooks provided by the Vietminh.

"It was the first time for several months that the French wounded troops had been able to eat hot soup. We also received aid in medicine and dressing materials."

The entire battalion was reported as speaking of "benevolent and effective help" from the Vietminh and of an "extremely correct attitude" towards French troops in general and wounded and medical service personnel in particular.

Weddings

MAHONEY—CANNING

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at Christ Church, Belleville, on Monday, May 10th at 3.30 p.m., when the Rev. E. F. Smith officiated at the marriage of Caroline Eleanor Canning, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Canning, of Belleville, to Pvt. Daniel Carson Mahoney, son of Mrs. S./E. Mahoney, of Keswick, Ontario, and the late Mr. S. E. Mahoney.

The bride and the bridegroom were attended by Miss Helen Reddick, of Belleville, and S/L. James E. John, of Sidney, B.C.

Prior to her marriage the bride was entertained at a dinner party given by Miss Helen Symons, a miscellaneous shower, by Mrs. William L. Pigden; a linen shower by Miss Helen Reddick, and a pantry shower by Mrs. G. K. Ashley.

Avondale H-S Assoc. Erects V.B. Court

The regular monthly meeting of the Avondale Home and School Association was held in the school on Monday evening with the president, Arthur Clare, presiding.

A financial report was read by treasurer Clifford Champagne, which was most satisfactory. New curtains were viewed by the members and approved for all.

Several men have volunteered to congregate on the school property Saturday for the purpose of having a bee in order to erect poles and net for a volley ball court, and to make plans to beautify the school surroundings.

The business portion of the meeting was then brought to a close.

PROGRAM

At this time, Mary Catherine Clare rendered a delightful piano solo.

Several of the Avondale school children, who are participating in the school festival in the near future, favored the members with two selections accompanied by Mrs. Ken Bird at the piano.

This was followed by a sing-song led by Mrs. Bird with Mrs. Daniels assisting.

The awarding of the attendance banner was won by Mrs Carswell's room.

Refreshments were served by the mothers of grade four pupils.

Carmel C.C. Plans Activities

Carmel Comrade Club spent an enjoyable evening on Friday last when the members and their families met at the Rawi-O-Drome, Bellyville.

Teams were organized by Mrs. Raymond Lawrenson and two frames were bowled with plenty of fun. All repair back to Carmel Church for refreshments, where Miss Marguerite Hicks, Mrs. E. Urch, Mrs. P. Reynolds and Mrs. M. Lawrenson served an abundance of pie and ice cream.

Prizes, donated by Mr. and Mrs. C. Dafoe and Mr. and Mrs. R. Lawrenson, were awarded for hidden scores. They were; men's high, Mr. Stanley Geen; men's low, Mr. Clarence Barlow; ladies' high, Mrs. Earl Dion; ladies' low, Mrs. Clayton Sullivan.

The winning team was led by Carman Dafoe.

Mrs. Percy Reynolds, president, conducted a short business period when plans were discussed for the June meeting, which is to be a ball game and wiener roast to be held in the school yard. Also the annual picnic was planned for July 11 to be held at Cobourg beach and park.

Queen Victoria H-S Assoc. Elects Officers

The regular monthly meeting and last meeting of the current term took place in the school auditorium on Monday evening with the president, Mrs. N. O'Neil in charge.

Mrs. W. R. H. Gander, one of the delegates to the convention held in Toronto, on April 21st, gave an excellent account of the day she spent there. Mrs. O'Neil thanked Mrs. Gander for her splendid and informative report.

The attendance award for the class having the most parents present came to a tie with three rooms having the same number. It was decided that each room get the full amount of the prize, rather than divide it among the three.

Mrs. C. Powell, recording secretary, and Mr. W. St. Pierre, treasurer, gave their annual reports.

THANKS EXPRESSED

Mrs. O'Neil expressed her thanks to her executive of the past year and to the convenors of the various committees and to Mr. Fairman, the principal, for their help and co-operation in every undertaking of the past year. Mrs. O'Neil at this time told of her regret in losing a valued member of the executive, Mr. Robert Tanner, as he is moving to another part of the city.

Mrs. T. Colden made the presentation of gifts from the school to two teachers who are leaving to accept positions in other schools and to one who is to be married during the summer, but will be staying on the staff.

Before asking Mrs. J. Layton, a member of the nominating committee to present the slate of officers for the coming year, Mr. J. Beaver, speaking for the whole association, thanked Mrs. O'Neil for the splendid way in which she carried out her duties as president.

Mrs. Layton called each of the new executive to the platform to be installed by Mrs. Ralph Marsden, president of the Central Committee and former pupil and teacher at Queen Victoria School.

NEW EXECUTIVE

The members of the executive for the coming year are:

President, Mrs. Neil O'Neil; vice-presidents, Mrs. K. Rowe, Mrs. E. G. Godden; recording secretary, Mrs. C. Powell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. Randell; treasurer, Mr. W. St. Pierre; members of the executive are: Mrs. H. James, Mrs. A. A. Wilson, Mrs. R. Doogan, Mrs. N. V. Tremaine and Mrs. J. Bennett

A group of grade seven students (girls) formed a panel to enact the game of 20 questions with Mr. Fairman as leader. It was much enjoyed by the audience as well as the girls themselves.

Mrs. A. Bradford introduced the guest of the evening, Mr. Harold Meyer, of the International Harvester Co., who showed a lengthy and interesting film on the Kliinat project, called "The Man With a Thousand Hands." The picture dealt with the actual work on the project, the largest undertaking of its kind in the world.

Mr. Gorrel thanked Mr. Meyer

Mrs. Jane Meiklejohn, Moira, Celebrates 94th Birthday

MRS. JANE MEIKLEJOHN.

"People were happier then; they had more time to enjoy themselves."

This was the way which Mrs. Jane Meiklejohn, of Moira, compared life today with that of yesteryear as she celebrated her 94th birthday last week.

"Why, when I was a girl whole families would go fishing and have a good time. Now they have no time to go fishing, but they have more conveniences with which to get their work done."

Formerly Jane Duncan, Mrs. Meiklejohn was born in Seymour township and following her marriage to James Meiklejohn, farmed in the Rylstone area west of Springbrook until 1919 when they retired about a quarter of a century ago. Her husband died in 1938 and since then Mrs. Meiklejohn has lived with relatives. For the past year she has lived with Mrs. her niece, Mrs. Fred Elliott, and Mr. Elliott, and time lived at Tweed for a number of years.

She is the last surviving member of a family of five girls and two boys.

But even at 94 years, Mrs. Meiklejohn still follows the custom of arising at an early hour. She breakfasts at 7.30 when her niece stated.

Asked why she gets up so early the spry nonogenarian replied: "I just wake up and can't go back to sleep, that's the reason."

She's a bit hard of hearing, but her eyesight is still keen and she gets about like a person 25 years or more younger.

She appreciates the modern conveniences, such as electric lights, the radio, and the automobile, and is ready to admit cars are more comfortable than the democrat and buggy of her girlhood days.

On her birthday she attended a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McKewen, of Rawdon township. Befitting the occasion a handsome birthday cake decorated the dining room table. There were candles on the cake, "but not 94—there wouldn't have been room," Mrs. Meiklejohn said.

Others attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnum, Mrs. Ed. McKewen and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elliott.

Her recipe for longevity is hard work and lots of walking.

Chronically Ill Are Neglected Says Doctor

OTTAWA (CP) — The public should be educated to the physical rehabilitation of chronically-ill aged persons, the annual national meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses was told Tuesday.

Dr. Wallace Wilson, adviser in geriatrics to the veterans department, said there are big deficiencies in Canada's methods of taking care of those who become ill in old age.

"It is not unfair to say that, as far as true rehabilitation is concerned, our chronically ill in the older age brackets are, in Canada today, a neglected group," Dr. Wilson said.

He said the two major shortcomings are lack of adequate facilities and lack of trained personnel.

for bringing this fine film to the school for every one to enjoy.

The meeting was then brought to a close and refreshments were served by Mrs. Tremaine and her committee.

Women's Activities

WINS TROPHY

The trophy was won, by the Belleville group with their presentation of "To What Purpose," a Canadian religious play written by Lorrie Boissonnault and Bernice Chapman. The play was directed by A. Stuart Robb, who did a fine job.

Members of the cast were: Rosemary Hunter, Marion Rawson, Barbara Sager, Mona Pierson, Margaret Hillis and Graeme Bell. Stage assistance came from Beatrice Snider in charge of properties with Cecil Brown and Joe Cartwright as stage crew.

It is of interest to note, the play presented by the Brockville group of the, Kingston Presbytery was written by Miss Kathleen Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morrison, of this city. Although it did not win the award this play and its presentation was of high standard.

All are very happy and proud of the Bridge Street group, who brought the cups back to Belleville for the second successive year.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

THE "NATURAL LOOK" IN MAKE-UP

Every woman who keeps a weather eye on current fashions in faces desires to look as if she were born beautiful and hasn't the slightest need for cosmetics. Of course, she plays with the rouge pad, lipstick, eye shadow, mascara and other items in the make-up kit, but she uses restraint.

She uses powder as light as the fluff on a butterfly's wings and removes the surplus with a powder brush. No chance, then, of a calcimined look. If she has some coloring of her own, she dispenses with rouge. If she uses it, however, there is only a wild rose tint, easily mistaken for nature's delicate touch.

She doesn't accent her lips by widening them as she did a few years ago. Nor does she make the outline of forming a Cupid's bow. Instead, she keeps to the natural design of her lips, painting clean-cut edges, filling in with the lipstick brush, then blotting with tissues. By that method she has an even application. No vivid slashes of lipstick for her, either. The more natural ones are the cosmetic order of the day.

She may endeavor to give a slight upward accent at the corners of her mouth. That often suggests an ever-present smile and the face wears an expression of animation and good nature.

Make up artists, especially those in Hollywood where beauty is a star's stock in trade, tell us that if a girl's face is full, rouge should be placed high on the cheek bones and temples, the pad passes lightly over the cheeks.

It is sometimes advisable to use a crayon and give the far ends of the eyebrows a tilt, adding to this up-curve effect a little cream lipstick applied for darkening the eyebrows, It should be used with quick, feathery strokes so that the coloring matter will not touch the underlying flesh.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

FORMAL REGRET FOLLOWED BY INFORMAL NOTE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are to be invited to a large formal church wedding and reception to take place the last of June in a city far from where we live that we cannot attend. I have carefully saved your column of the other day, in which you gave the definite form of how to write a formal reply, acceptance or regret, to the invitation to the reception. But me this does seem like a too-formal reply to an invitation from a couple, man and wife, who have always been our dearest and closest friends. (They lived next door until last year, when they moved to the city where they now live, and where their daughter, who has lived in that city several years, is to be married.) Ought to be done in this circumstance?

Helen A.

Yes! (1) First you should write the formal regret to the formal invitation to the reception. This is proper, makes sense because those planning a large, formal wedding need to have these definite replies at hand, to file under "Acceptances" and "Regrets." (2) Then, having done this, it is proper and most gracious and friendly for you to write a personal note to your dear friends, the mother and father of the bride-to-be, thanking them for their thought in sending you the invitation, telling them how happy you would be if you could be with them on this great day, and sending your best wishes to their daughter for her happiness.

Picnic Season Opens

By Mary Moore

The picnic season for the Moore family got off to a late start in the spring of 1954, for it was May 24 before I first touched match to kindling beside a babbling brook. However, we were well ahead of the other outdoor fiends for we had the best spot for miles around all to ourselves.

Quite a few firsts made it a day we shall never forget. I saw and indigo bunting and watched him through a cedar tree for about two minutes at not more than four foot range. Doris and Marianne stood at the bottom of a 8-foot rift in their bare feet with slacks hoisted high, but Doris slipped on the mossy rocks and got a soaker. Herbie was there—his first picnic with the tribe and an outdoors guy if there ever was one. Pete had to leave early to go back to school to write exams. for a solid week—and as he started to pull out got stuck to his hub caps in mud. By the time we'd pushed him out we were mud to knee caps.

We gathered watercress and mint and marsh marigolds, and tired and muddy as I was when we got home I had the fun of grouping the marigolds in one of those rakish modern arrangements for a table centre. I slept a solid 9 hours that night.

Why don't you light-sleeping indoor-eaters try it some time? Anis are a dilly accompaniment to a steak.

Peady made an apple pie to top off her super apple pies and her exact method is my theme song today.

PEADY'S APPLE PIE
(Soup Stocker)

Three cups sifted pastry flour, 1 cup best quality shortening at room temperature, 1 teaspoon salt. Cut shortening into flour and salt with 2 knives or pastry blender until crumbly, then sprinkle 4 tablespoons water over, 1 tablespoon at a time, tossing with a knife. Take out half, press into a flat round on well-floured board roll out to just fit pie plate and line pie plate. Pare, core and slice about 10 or 12 medium Spy apples into crust and sprinkle over 2/3 cup light brown sugar and 1 teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon. Roll out, gash and seal on top. Bake 10 minutes at 450 deg. Fahr. then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 to 35 minutes. During last 10 minutes brush top with mixture of 1 tablespoon milk and 1 teaspoon sugar and repeat this during last 5 minutes. Also sprinkle with very little more dry white sugar to make the top brown in uneven spots. Sufficient for 8 hungry outdoors eaters, including 2 very tall young men. Peady served snappy cream cheese with it, and we thought the cheese tasted better because it was not straight from the refrigerator.

LETTER: I wonder if you already have this recipe for Chili Sauce made from canned tomatoes. I find it very nice at this time and tomatoes are so cheap.

CHILI SAUCE
(From canned Tomatoes Courtesy Lillie)

Two 28-oz cans tomato (7 cups), 1 large onion (½ cup ground), 2 medium apples (1 cup ground), 1½ cups finely diced celery, 1 cup cider or blended vinegar, ¾ to 1 cup sugar (depending on tartness of apples and tomatoes), 2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon each ground allspice and cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper, 12 whole cloves (tied in cheesecloth bag), 1 strain nearly all liquid from tomatoes for 1 flate watery chili sauce. Place tomatoes in kettle, put onions and apples through food chopper, using fine blade. Dice celery small. Add seasonings to tomatoes bring to boil and boil until thick—about 1¼ hours, stirring frequently. Remove cloves, pour chili sauce into sterilized jars and seal. Store in cool, dark place. Yield about 7 cups—and very good too.

. . . I do want to thank you for your column. . . . Emma's biscuits and your all-purpose Wressing are two that every woman should have. . . . some day I will send you special recipe for Royal Rolls.

ANSWER: Thanks Lollie, this Chili Sauce is splendid and came at just the right time. Now you've got me drooling—how long do I have to wait for the Royal Rolls?

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE LOST HER HUSBAND—HOW LONG SHOULD SHE WEAR MOURNING?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a widow, 36 years old, and have two children, one 18 months and the other one month. I lost my husband the beginning of last December.

How long should I stay in mourning and what colors are permissible when I come out? I think I was pregnant, I continuously wore a black maternity dress and no make-up. — Mrs. H. S.

Dear Mrs. H.S.:

Modern convention in regard to the wearing of mourning has changed greatly in recent years, and the vast majority of people today wear little or none. The general feeling is that, where the bereaved person is concerned, it is a poor idea for him or her to remain plunged in grief and the sooner he or she returns to normal living, the better. It is also thought rather inconsiderate to others for a person to keep reminding them of a loss and subduing their spirits by continually wearing depressing black.

I think you should drop any kind of mourning clothes at once and start right away dressing as you normally would. One does not, it's true, usually burst out into loud or too-vivid colors immediately after the funeral of husband or wife but quiet shades of color are always in good taste and, in your case, since six months have passed since your husband's death there is no reason in the world why you should not wear any color you wish. It's hardly fair to your children, either, to be around them all the time in dark colors.

'Madame Parachute' Won Legion of Honor at 20

By JOHN RODERICK

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP) — At 20, petite, brown-haired Hilaine (Brigitte) Friang has lived many lives.

When she was 20 she won the French Legion of Honor, for her work as an underground resistance leader.

Today she is a newspaper woman who disdains ordinary means of covering a war. She doesn't ride, walk or sail into battle. She jumps in. To the troops, she is known as "Madame Parachute."

In May, 1952, she made her first parachute jump to cover a para-trooper operation at Xuyen Moc, on the border of Annam and Cambodia. Since then, pencil and pad in her hip pocket, she has jumped 19 times, six of them during military operations — including Dien Bien Phu.

Now she's about to realize another childhood dream—to visit the United States. She is due in San Francisco late this week.

WRINKLES' NOSE

Despite the adventure which runs through most of her young life, she is as feminine as a Jacques Fath model. She weighs barely 98 pounds, and her pert little nose wrinkles with amusement when she recalls her hundred-and-one adventures.

Brigitte is the name she got while serving in the underground in France. She was only 17 when the German arrested her and jailed her three days for taking part in a student parade on Armistice Day, 1941.

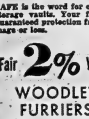
At 19 she had become secretary of the underground resistance organization which operated in western France. She held the keys to the code used to keep in touch with London and the Free French forces of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Brigitte worked under the cover of her normal life as a medical student at the University of Paris. But the Gestapo closed in on her on March 21, 1944, in the gardens of the Trocadero. She bowled over one of the Nazi agents and started to run. A bullet in her back stopped her.

She was shipped off to Ravensbruck concentration camp and from there to Czechoslovakia.

EMBITTERED

For two years after the war she threw in her lot with De Gaulle and helped form the party he headed. She served as his press officer until the 1951 elections. Embittered by the party's defeat, she decided to go to Indo-China, where she became correspondent for the Paris publication Samedi Soir and the magazine Sud-Est Asiatique.



Her first jump was accomplished without incident, and it almost cost her her life. Instead of jumping straight out for the conventional manner, she tumbled head first. When the chute opened she found herself twisted in the cords.

With quick presence of mind she seized and stretched the strings, stopping the spinning motion of her body. Her next jump also was operational. Then, carrying things out in reverse, she took four practice jumps. One of her jumps, in November last year, was into Dien Bien Phu when it first was taken from the Vietminh.

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—A study of teeth among Santa Fe school children showed a large number of cases of "hobby pin notch," or wearing down of irregularities in enamel by opening bobby pins with the teeth, Dr. David Strittler, public health dental director, said "an amazing number" of cases of notches in the front teeth were found in the survey, especially among junior high school girls.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. Shannonville United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Charles Wood, on May 6th, with thirteen members and visitors present. The attendance was much smaller than usual as some of the members were attending a funeral.

The first vice-president, Mrs. Wood, welcomed all to her home and called on the group leader, Mrs. Lorne Lazier, who read the call to worship theme for the month, being "The Gospel According to You."

Invocation from the Missionary Monthly was read by the group leader. Passages of Scripture were read by Mrs. Doxtator, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. Damon Hinchey, and Mrs. Sam Elliott. Mrs. Lazier read the meditations.

An interesting skit that helped the members to share some of the thinking that went on at the Willingen conference, held in Germany in 1952, was presented by the group leader, assisted by Mrs. Doxtator, Mrs. Everett Stratton and Mrs. Wood.

Mrs. W. D. Robertson presented the 9th chapter of the study book, "In Our Back Yard".

The women present took charge of the business. A letter of thanks was read from Mrs. C. Boulstridge for the card she received when ill. A nice, long letter in answer to one written to her from the secretary, was read from the missionary for special prayer, Miss Blanche Gerhard, of Gypsumville, Manitoba. This letter gave a detailed account of her work and the many activities carried on by her and the nurse who often has to act as doctor as well.

Mrs. Wood thanked the group leader for the program and Mrs Lazier thanked the ladies who helped with the program and the hostess for opening her home for the meeting.

After closing the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Wood, assisted by Mrs. Lazier and Mrs. Doxtator and Mrs. Robertson.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Houston on June 3rd.

ELDORADO UNION W.M.S.

Mrs. Kenneth Bateman was hostess for the May meeting with 11 members, six visitors and one baby present.

Mrs. G. Blackburn presiding, opened the meeting with a poem, "Be Still, and Think of God".

During the business period, a card of appreciation was read and a letter from Mrs. D. Carmen extending an invitation to meet with the Madoc auxiliary on June 2nd, at the home of Mrs. P. Naylor. This invitation was gladly accepted.

It was decided to have the next meeting June 1st in the evening at the home of Mrs. F. Palmer.

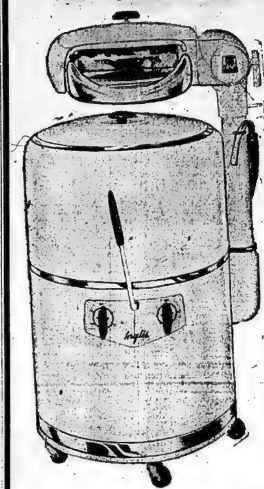
Mrs. C. Blakely reported for Christian Stewardship using the illustration of one boy carrying another on his back, but not finding him heavy because he was his brother, bringing out the point that each should bear the other's burdens willingly "for we are all brothers in Jesus Christ."

Mrs. B. Carmen read a letter concerning supply work. Mrs. C. Blackburn read a short story along the line of "Temperance."

SPONSORS PLAY

Mrs. Delbert Carmen thanked those who had sent her cards while she was ill, and told of the play the Madoc W.M.S. are sponsoring, "Where's Grandma?"

Mrs. Claud Blakely lead a fine program using as her theme "The Gospel According to You." She presented the last chapter of the year's study book.



Mrs. G. Blackburn announced that the Mission Band are having an open meeting the last week in May.

Rev. J. F. Lane closed the meeting, after which Mrs. Bateman and her assistants served refreshments.

MARMORA

Rev. K. C. Evans Gives Message At St. Paul's Service

MARMORA — "The Ordinary Immortal Soul," was the subject of an inspiring sermon preached by Right Rev. K. C. Evans, D.D., Bishop of Ontario, at St. Paul's Anglican Church, Marmora, at Evensong on Sunday.

The Bishop, having reminded his hearers that it belongs to God, its Creator, and was created for His interests, cited its tremendous value. He went on to speak of opposing interests which encroached upon its territory, but could never claim title to it. It, therefore, should be inclined towards God in prayer that the Divine might be reflected on it.

Using the story of Faust, as illustrative matter, he emphasized in conclusion the words of Jesus, "what shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with spring and other blooms, some of which were donated by Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Whittemore in memory of Mr. and Mrs. R. Whittemore, and Mr. F. Newell and others by Mr. H. R. Pearce and Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Pearce in memory of deceased members of the Pearce family.

The service was conducted by Canon J. M. Brownlie.

MUSIC

The choir rendered the anthem, "Holy Father Cheer Our Way." Mrs. Robert Shatford took the soprano solo and joined with Canon J. M. Brownlie in a duet of Mrs. F. Coupars' composition. The choir also chanted the 47th Psalm.

Canon J. M. Brownlie read the first lesson and the second lesson was taken by the Bishop, who prior to his sermon, expressed his pleasure at being able to participate with the congregation in their Evensong now an infrequent experience of his, since becoming Bishop.

At the close of the service the congregation were heartily welcomed at a reception at the parish hall, at which the Ladies' Guild served tea and refreshments, and the opportunity was afforded one and all to meet the Bishop, and Mrs. Evans. Here, also Mr. T. N. Naylor, church warden of St. John's, Madoc, and Mrs. Naylor, had escorted the Rev. William Gilvesti, the new rector of Madoc and Mrs. Gilvesti to meet their parishioners at the conclusion of Mr. Gilvesti's first services in his new parish.

At the reception the Bishop took opportunity to express his pleasure at noticing strides had been made with the renovation of the hall since his last visit.

'Beardless Battalion' Required to Shave Every Day

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The Canadian Army's "beardless battalion" is required, paradoxically, to shave every day.

"On the parade square even peach fuzz shows up, especially in the sunlight," one NCO said, not in the manner of a man enjoying fun at the boys but rather of one long accustomed to parade-ground niceties.

The army started enrolment of 18-year-old boys in January 1953 to overcome a shortage of tradesmen. About 500 of these "soldiers apprentices" now are in service and another 500 are to be recruited this summer.

Before the First World War, boys of 14 and up were enlisted and trained as "boy soldiers." This practice is still carried on in the British and Australian armies.

GO TO CORPS SCHOOLS

But under the present scheme the boys are trained at various corps schools for two years instead of going to particular units.

At nearby Camp Barriefield, 106 soldier apprentices are training in the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers and another 158 in the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals. The rest are training as engineers and transport and ordnance workers at Chilliwack, B.C., Camp Borden, Ont., and Montreal. French - speaking soldier apprentices get a working knowledge of English at Valcartier, near Quebec City, before they go to corps training schools in other provinces.

The boys sign on for seven years, with the option of quitting after five. They must possess a Grade 8 education and have parental consent to join up.

An apprentice is paid $46 a month until his 17th birthday, when he gets $82, a regular private's pay. When qualified, he also receives trade pay. A boy can go back to Civvy Street at 21 with a trade or stay in the service and retire on pension at 36. After 20 years, a sapper-man who retires receives a pension equal to two-fifths of his pay averaged over the preceding six years.

WEAR ARMY UNIFORM

The boys wear the regular army uniform, with a green stripe on the epaulets denoting soldier apprentice. They are allowed off camp until midnight four nights a week. They can have week-end passes if they live within travelling time of home and they get the regular soldier's 30-days annual leave.

Capt. G. A. Wright of Middleton, P.E.I., training officer for apprentices at the RCEME school, says about half the boys, before enlisting, were "wanderers," many from broken homes.

"We find that the best soldiers come from happy families," he said. "They seem to adjust themselves better—and it is quite an adjustment."

Some have problems the regular army doesn't have as a rule. For instance, some of the boys get pretty homesick. If we can, we try to get them home for a few days."

BROAD TRAINING

At the RCEME school, half the training comprises academic subjects, a quarter military subjects and a quarter trades.

Trades taught at all schools include clerk, driver, gun or engineer mechanic, armorer, wireless operator, radio mechanic and cook.

A few complain they are shoved into trades they don't particularly want; to learn because these trades will be of little use in civilian life.

The boys take better to the military and trades training than they do to academic subjects.

"LIKE OTHER KIDS"

The boy put it this way: "We're just like other kids. We're not fussy about school. We don't like being bossed around too much, either."

Discipline is not as strict as in the regular army. "But," one officer said, "we have to chew them out now and then; if you don't, they'll fool you faster than an old-timer."

Four or five boys in each platoon don't make the grade and go back to civil life.

At the RCEME school apprentices live four to a room. Each boy has his own bed, locker, rug and a table with reading light. The rising hour is 6 a.m. Classes start at 8 a.m. and end at 4.15 p.m.

The building is steam-heated and boys look after their own rooms.

Another building has a dry canteen, television room, library, pool tables, and a theatre where three movies are shown weekly. There is also a hobby shop and camera, model and angling clubs.

"If you can stand the army, it's not bad here," one boy said.

Want Polio Victims To Pay for 14 Days

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Medical Association council has urged that polio victims pay the cost of the first 14 days of treatment.

The Ontario government now pays the costs of treatment for polio-victims in the province. The council recommended that patients bear the cost of the first 14 days so that more funds will be available for long-term costly cases.

The recommendation headed a list to be submitted to the general membership of the association later in the week. The list will then be forwarded to the Health Minister Phillips.

Methodist Church Still Exists Court Rules

TORONTO (CP)—The Methodist church in Canada still exists, the Ontario Supreme Court has ruled.

Mr. Justice J. L. McLennan said the 1925 act of union that merged the Methodist church with the Presbyterian and Congregational churches to form the United Church of Canada did not end the "existence of the Methodist church in express terms and for all purposes, but merged the Methodist church in a larger body."

He had been asked to decide the validity of a $200,000 bequest made to the Methodist church by the late Charles Kappele, a Toronto barrister. Next-of-kin said the gift had lapsed because the church ceased to exist and because the will expressed no general charitable intention.

Flier, Wife Saved

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A United States Air Force helicopter pilot, manoeuvring gingerly in the air currents, swirling around lofty Mt. Kinley, Monday rescued a flier and his wife marooned for four days on the peak's snowy slopes, Capt. Ralph Beazle of the 74th Air Rescue Squadron landed the 'copter at the 7,500-foot level of McKinley and picked up Mr. and Mrs. Dick Collins of Fairbanks, who crashed last Thursday as he attempted to land supplies to a party climbing the highest peak on the North American continent.

What's This? Women Pretty On Wash Day?

COOKSVILLE (CP)—A delegation of 20 women appeared before the Toronto township council and charged that workers in a lumberyard near their homes whistled and gave wolf calls when the housewives went outside to hang washing.

Council said that under zoning bylaws it cannot order removal of the yard where lumber for new homes in the area is being stored and cut. Operators said the yard will be removed next fall.

Ask Province About Civil Defence Plans

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — The finance committee of city council will ask the provincial government whether any financial assistance to municipalities for civil defence will be given in the near future.

The committee, faced Monday night with a request to dot-and by the civil defence advisory committee, decided to ask the province "what importance it attaches to the request."

Alderman John Devart, chairman of the civil defence committee, said: "You can't ask the public to participate unless you have something for them to do, and we haven't."

He said a nucleus of properly-trained personnel with a suitable headquarters and a complete communication system are essential.

No Slackening In Defence Build-Up

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The crisis in Indo-China re-emphasizes for Canada that there can be no slackening in the defence build-up.

During his western inspection tour two weeks ago, Defence Minister Claxton stressed constantly that Canada can't afford to lower its guard.

The need for defence expenditures, he said, must continue at around their present level—some $2,000,000,000 annually—for possibly years to come. If the defence effort faltered, "we'd be sitting ducks."

The fall of Dien Bien Phu merely adds more weight to Mr. Claxton's argument, defence officials said Monday. Communist aims for world domination have not changed.

BIG BUILDUP

In 1950, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization decided on a "crash" defence program on the supposition that Russia would attack the West by mid-1954. A "crash" program meant big and rapid defence buildup in NATO countries.

Russia had a number of opportunities to start a major war in the early years of NATO but didn't.

So last December, NATO reasoned, the Communist threat was less urgent and decided on a defence policy known as the "long pull." This will mean maintenance of present strength and a gradual increase in the quality of that strength over a long period of time—and without wrecking the economies of some NATO members.

When Canada launched its "crash" program four years ago, the cost was estimated at $5,000,000,000. This amount plus more millions have been spent and expenditures are continuing at about the same rate.

Man Shoots Fine Pickerel, Fined $10

NORTH BAY (CP) — Albert Plaunt loaded his .22 rifle and went hunting fish a while ago. He shot a fine pickerel.

Unfortunately, the department of lands and forest feels an unexpected onslaught with bullets is simply not playing the game with the fish.

The result: A fine of $10 and costs on Plaunt in court today.

Gamille Chaisson of Sudbury was fined the same amount for spearing a fish and Aurel Lafreniere of Lavigne and Ronald Robert drew the same penalties for possessing pickerel during a closed season. All offences took place in the west arm of Lake Nipissing about April 25.

'MOST WANTED' CAPTURED

SEATTLE (AP) — Working swiftly after receipt of an anonymous tip, FBI agents Monday took into custody Thomas Holmes, 46, an elusive ex-convict whose name was added to the list of the 10 most wanted men only last Jan. 11. Whitmore, whose black hair had been dyed red and who told officers he had "worked up a set of ulcers" in 3½ years as a fugitive from a charge of assault and robbery, was arrested unarmed, and without a struggle, as he stepped from his car in front of an apartment house here. He readily admitted his identity.

RELIEF PROMISED
For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain
New relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB", this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates deep down into sore muscles and joints. This permits fresh oxygen rich blood to flow freely through afflicted areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes without a trace. Simply smooth a little InfraRUB cream on the painful area and relief comes like magic. InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent, objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours and hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money will be refunded in full.

MARMORA

Entomologist Gives Talk On Bees to Chamber

MARMORA—The monthly dinner meeting of Marmora District Chamber of Commerces was held in the Royal Hotel on Monday evening with a fine attendance of members and visitors.

The guest speaker for the evening was Dr. H. L. House of the Department of Entomology, Belleville who delivered a most comprehensive talk on "Bees". Among much interesting data furnished by the speaker, the following is singled o.t. Although man has been given to bee keeping for so long, he has not been able to domesticate this valuable insect, but finds it to his best welfare to allow it to follow its own inclinations.

The speaker confining his remarks to the honey bee, described it as a native of the Mediterranean area and Europe. There are various types of this kind of bee. The one in Canada we are most familiar with, is the Italian bee. Bees are mentioned in the Bible and the Swan. As they were imported to North America by the Indians, who considered brave enough to rob a beehive would be presented with an ox sled, loaded to the brim with a medal.

Continuing his talk, Dr. House spoke on the habits of bees and their various functions, including a description of the various dances they execute to indicate to the other working bees the direction in which nectar may be found. Their value in pollination was described as the case. Introduced by Donald Marett, he was thanked by Dr. G. Hammond.

TELLS OF TRIP TO BRAZIL

Reeve C. H. Bullard of Deloro just back from Brazil was called upon by President Floyd Loveless for a few words on his trip prior to the adjournment of the evening and his remarks proved interesting also. For the rest of the session some reports were given. Alex Fraser gave that of school ground improvements mentioning fine cooperation had taken place between the Home and School Association Committee, the Property Committee and the Public School Board and the Chamber's special committee. The fence near the highway is going in, swings and other pleasures are being taken care of by the Home and School Association, and extra land adjoining the school has been acquired. Ralph Neal briefly reported for the committee on parking and said the council was prepared to give his ideas consideration later.

The president and William Shannon spoke on the visit of the delegation including themselves to Hastings council in the effort to have that body assume its share regarding the paving of the centre of Forsyth street which is in their jurisdiction. Whereas no action has been taken by the county council as yet hope is entertained as a result of the delegation's efforts, there ultimately will be.

REEVE WELLS EXPLAINS

For the Water and Sewerage Committee H. A. McNally, chairman, gave a short report. The committee met the village council as desired and he asked that Reeve Ritchie Wells, who was present that evening express himself on the matter of joint consultations which had been held. The reeve referred to the survey made last year when it was found impossible to do anything. That was what influenced the council to call for an expression from the Chamber. The proper time to start is now" said Reeve Wells.

The municipal council ruled that 2/3 vote of the ratepayers came first to get the matter launched. Difficulty was experienced in getting a true figure of estimates with the present uncertainty of the number favoring the proposal. It is generally felt there was no possible hope of installing both water and sewerage with the tax rate as it was.

Discussing the project Past President Ralph Neal enquired "What harm would it be to have a representative of the department come down and inspect the local situation?"

Mr. McNally suggested that neighboring reeves of municipalities where water was put in, be contacted first. The matter was left for the Chamber's committee to further operate with the council thereon.

The committee on Tourist Development were advised by the president of leaflets ready for distribution. In the absence of the committee's chairman R. G. Walsh reported for the membership stating he believed it was still increasing. The meeting adjourned.

St. Andrew's Church Observes 'Family Day'

MARMORA — Christian Family Day evolved, from Mother's Day, was fittingly observed at St. Andrew's United Church with the Sunday school joining with adult worshippers in the morning service and the special order of service as being issued by the Ontario Council of Christian Education being closely followed.

Decorating the choir stalls and communion table were potted plants and blooms of roses, daffodils, carnations and snapdragons. Included in these were gifts in memory of Mrs. Catherine Reynolds, and Mrs. Abbie McInroy, gifts of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Wells, and the children of the late Mrs. McInroy.

The call to worship was given by the pastor, Rev. K. J. Crawford, B.A., B.D. Robert Sweet took the invocation. The ladies' choir led in the singing of "When Morning Gilds the Skies." Two appropriate Scripture readings followed by Howard Sabine, Jr. A junior of the Sunday School, Linda Meiklejohn, next rendered a solo, "Holy Spirit Hear Us."

The meditations appointed for the service were read by Robert Sweet, as the congregation joined in the responsive prayers and the Lord's Prayer. Following the hymn "I Would Be True," the offering was taken by the following four scholars: Robert Prentice, William Sabine, Frank Marett and James Bateman.

The special story, "All of Life, a Sacrifice," was read by Marian Chrysler.

The service closed with the prayer hymn, "Father, We Thank Thee."

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. K. J. Crawford.

DESIGNED TO "DISPOSE" OF FILIBUSTERS?

Bill Berry, Republican candidate for congress from California, examines the 60-pound gavel, made of California redwood, which was presented to Republican Speaker Joseph Martin of Massachusetts during visit to west coast. The gavel, about the size of a beer barrel, could very easily have been designed to dispose of those filibustering senators. (Central Press Canadian).

Moscow Subway Stations Are Underground Cathedrals

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Compared with the Moscow subway, the one in Toronto looks like a skimpy well-tiled bathroom with trains running through it.

Moscow subway stations are underground cathedrals dedicated to beauty as well as efficiency handling of vast crowds.

As subways go it is relatively young, and still growing. It was started in 1932 and three years later the first line opened—a 13-station route about six miles long between Sokolniki and Culture Parks. Work continued through the war, even during the fighting near Moscow. In less than 20 years the system has grown to 41 stations and about 36 miles of double track.

Four stations were added last February.

125-MILE PROJECT

The whole Moscow subway project is for 125 miles of double-track service. Present extensions are taking it under the Moscow river for the first time to Moscow University, 10 miles outside the city.

The subway in Moscow, a city of 6,000,000 population, is geared to handle crowds far larger than those moved on Toronto's 4½-mile subway, opened last March. Every station has two or more ticket sellers on duty all the time and tickets are available for two or three more at rush hours. In addition there are batteries of ticket-vending machines which take the 40-kopek fare (12½ cents at the official exchange rate), in all combinations of coins—from three to 20 kopeks.

For 50 kopeks you can ride the system all day, but cannot transfer to any bus or street car without paying extra. Two million of the 3,000,000 who use Moscow public transport daily use the subway.

For beauty of construction, Moscow subway leaves far behind every other subway I have seen: London, Paris, New York, Boston and Tokyo, as well as Toronto.

FINISHED IN MARBLE

Even the simplest Moscow station is finished in highly polished marble. Most have specific themes worked out in murals, mosaics, sculpture in stone and bronze, and metal. The stonework is usually marble. In some stations it is lapis, garnet and onyx.

A Canadian in Moscow said: "The Russians used to build churches. Now their churches are underground stations. They lavish the same wealth upon them."

Subway tickets are collected at ground level, at barriers leading to the escalators. There are no turnstiles. A ticket collector at each barrier tears the passenger's ticket so it cannot be used again.

Each station has three or four reversible escalators from ground level to the trains 300 feet below. There are almost 13 miles of escalators in the Moscow subways now. Only a few stations have steps, and none more than 20.

Platforms are wide and there are no advertisements. No whistles blow. Platform attendants signal train drivers by holding up colored traffic indicators. On most lines there is a train every 90 seconds, but on some there is a three-minute gap. A clock at the end of each platform shows when the last train left.

PRECISE REGULATIONS

Traffic regulations, posted in Toronto subway cars merely "forbid" smoking, spitting, creating a nuisance or interfering with equipment. Moscow specifies many more offences and lists the penalties. Intoxicated or sick persons may not be carried nor may anyone wearing clothes or carrying bundles likely to soil other people's clothing.

One child up to five is carried free, two for half fare. Children up to 10 pay half fare. Passengers must pay full fare for baggage over certain measurements. Failure to have the proper ticket renders a passenger liable to a fine of five rubles ($1.25).

Spitting, smoking or pulling open the automatic doors is a 25-ruble offence. Carrying inflammable substances such as kerosene, benzene or motion-picture film brings a fine of 100 rubles.

Pulling the emergency handle when there is no emergency can cost "three years' loss of liberty"—the pilots Soviet term for detention in a camp.

Any subway employee spotting a minor offence is authorized to levy the fine on the spot. If she has to call a state militia man (there are two or three on every platform) the fine may be trebled. If the passenger hasn't the money handy, the bill is sent to his state employer who docks it from his salary—at the triple rate.

Moscow subway crowds are well behaved.

Mrs. Hart was praised for the cool manner in which she acted following the mishap and was not hurt. Damage will amount to around $200 and the plane will be dismantled and taken to Toronto for repairs. The craft, a Cessna 140 had been delivered to the club last Friday and cost $3,000. 6,000 Viet Namese Soldiers Shared in Defence

GENEVA (Reuters)—About 6,000 Viet Namese soldiers took part in the defence of the French union fortress of Dien Bien Phu, an authoritative Viet Nam source said Tuesday.

He added that about six weeks ago, the Viet Namese chief of staff, Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, proposed to Gen. Henri Navarre, French commander-in-chief, that he be given 15 battalions to drop by parachute 100 miles from Dien Bien Phu. These battalions would have tried to cut their way towards the fortress to relieve the French union defenders.

Van Hinh proposed that he him self command the 15 battalions. Navarre, with an exact knowledge of the situation at Dien Bien Phu, declined the offer, the source added.

The French union forces opposed to the rebel Vietminh in Indo-China totalled about 300,000 Viet Namese troops and some 60,000 French.

Long-Term Plan to Check Reds in Southeast Asia May Emerge from Dulles' Talk

Oliver Critical Of 'Commission' Highways Control

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver, in a speech Tuesday on provincial highways department irregularities, said a cabinet minister who can't run his department should resign.

However, he said later he was not asking for the resignation of Highways Minister Doucett. "I am not going to suggest to the premier what he should do with his ministers."

In another development, Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader sent a letter to Premier Frost asking for a royal commission investigation of the highways department. So far 11 men and three companies have been charged with conspiracy in connection with the department.

LIKE COMMISSION RULE

Mr. Oliver told a meeting of the Toronto Liberal Business Men's Association the appointment of a special commission committee to supervise government contracts was taking administration out of Mr. Doucett's hands.

"This makes some semblance of commission government," he said.

Mr. Oliver said: "I believe in administrative efficiency. I believe you should say to a minister: 'If you can't run your department properly, get out of the road and I'll find someone who can run it to the public advantage.'"

In an earlier address in London, Ont., he said the irregularities which caused five men to be charged last winter in Fort William went on "to a greater or lesser degree" in other divisions.

Warrants Tuesday named the three companies as Tomlinson Brothers Limited of Winnipeg and Fort William, Standard Paving Limited of Toronto and Bergman Construction Co. Ltd., of West Hill, just east of Toronto.

SIX CONTRACTS MENTIONED

Six contracts totalling between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 are reported involved.

Ontario Provincial Police at Fort Arthur said W. S. Tomlinson, president of the Tomlinson Company, will report to them on his arrival there from the west coast, possibly today.

A retired highways engineer, Harry Phipps, another of the accused men, was flown from Port Arthur for a court appearance Tuesday at Whitby, near Oshawa, on a conspiracy charge.

Remanded to June 1 along with Phipps were: Walter Bergmann, president of the Bergmann Construction Company; John A. West, the company's superintendent; Cecil H. Nelson, former chief engineer of the highways department; Donald S. Patterson, suspended Huntsville district engineer for the department; William Bredin, highways department instrument man at Huntsville.

Neither Elmer Birdsell, vice-president of Standard Paving Company, nor R. F. Petursson, federal government highways construction supervisor now in British Columbia, have been arrested. They are scheduled to appear in court in Toronto May 18.

Remanded to May 21 in Fort William were C. W. Taylor, a Tomlinson Company official, and Arthur M. Mills, suspended engineer of the highways department's Fort William division.

MORE LOBSTER TRAPS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Newfoundland lobstermen are setting about 50,000 more traps this year than last, when they put out 250,000. Early prices ranged from 20 to 25 cents a pound, with one buyer paying 30 cents.

Works Minister Says No Inquiry Being Made

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Winters indicated Tuesday that the government is making no inquiry into the operations of the works department branch responsible for the trans-Canada highway.

The issue of alleged irregularities in contracts for the trans-Canada highway in northern Ontario was raised in the Commons by Opposition leader Drew.

He asked whether any move has been made to inquire into the operations of the branch of the federal public works department concerned with the highway.

Mr. Drew indicated that his question referred to a charge against R. F. Petursson, federal highways inspector, of conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government. Petursson, supervising engineer of the Victoria district of the trans-Canada highway since June, 1950, was formerly inspecting engineer in the Lakehead area.

NOT INFORMED

Mr. Winters replied that the federal government has not been informed formally of the arrest of Petursson or the purpose for the arrest.

He said it may well be that the services of Mr. Petursson relate to any federal government operation and until the government was notified by the provincial government he could give no further reply.

Mr. Drew asked whether federal inspectors of the trans-Canada highway were responsible only for examining highway plans.

Mr. Winters said the federal government is responsible only for seeing that the completed highway meets specifications established for paying half the cost.

Mr. Drew: The government had stopped payments in areas where there had been questions of corruption or irregularities. Enough money had been held back to pay any deficiency that might exist because of irregularities.

Neither Mr. Drew nor Mr. Winters mentioned Petursson by name. However, he is the only federal employee who has been charged following provincial investigations into highway contracts in northern Ontario.

New Zealanders Said to Have Poor Teeth

WELLINGTON (Reuters) — New Zealanders are said to have the worst teeth in the world and dentists blame the condition on a lack of fluorine in the diet.

Seventy-three per cent of New Zealand's adult population wear false teeth.

Dentists have recommended that fluorine be added to the drinking water to help rectify the deficiency, but their plans have met stiff opposition.

An organization called the Anti-Fluoridation Society has been formed by a group of persons to resist what they describe as "a mass medication scheme which is against all democratic principles."

Excess of fluorine, these people claim, has ill effects on the brain, bones and kidneys.

So far, the only place in New Zealand where fluorine is added to the drinking water is at Hastings where the borough council inaugurated a scheme last May in spite of much local and national opposition from the Anti-Fluoridation Society.

WILL MAKE COMPARISON

Plans have been made for an annual examination of Hastings' school children and their teeth will be compared with those of school children at Napier, a town a few miles away.

The heaviest blows against the Anti-Fluoridation Society's case have been dealt by dental experts from Europe and North America who came to Wellington for a world health organization dental conference.

These dentists said that for prevention of tooth decay, artificial fluoridization, where the natural content of the drinking water is insufficient, has had astounding results in their countries.

Whatever the outcome of the controversy, authorities hope that it will jolt the New Zealander out of his lethargy towards what has become a national problem.

Newfoundland Entry Praised

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — The second-night audience at the Hamilton Drama Festival Tuesday night gave a rousing welcome to Newfoundland's Northcliffe Drama Club that competed in the festival for the first time with the play "Juno and The Paycock."

Adjudicator Hugh Hunt, associated with the Abbey Theatre in Dublin for four years, found the performance convincing. The actors had caught much of the meticulous Irish character.

"Juno" is the tragedy of an Irish Dublin tenement family during the revolution of 1922. It portrays the breakdown of the Boyles, as the son Johnny who has been wounded in the revolution turns traitor and is shot, and the daughter Mary brings disgrace to her family when she is seduced by a villainous Englishman.

Sidelights on Russian Life

Editor's Note: When Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer, returned to Canada after five months in the Soviet Union, he brought with him impressions and sidelights on life behind the Iron Curtain. Here are some extracts which the Russian censor did not see.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Every Soviet education authority I talked to denied there is military training in Russian elementary and high schools. But enough fair-minded observers in Moscow have told me they have seen schoolyard exercises resembling cadet drills to make me doubt the Russians.

Conscription in the U. S. S. R. starts at 18 and is basically for three years though it may be longer or shorter depending on the armed services' need for particular tradesmen.

University students are exempt from conscription but must attend military lectures and drill as officer cadets. They go to military camp for two or four weeks during summer vacations and may qualify as reserve officers.

Soviet citizens to have invented almost everything aren't accepted without question by every Russian.

A student commented that certain practices previously considered "bourgeois" are now reappearing. One is the wearing of a necktie.

"Most people are wearing them now," he said. "Pretty soon we'll have invented them."

(The censor wouldn't let me tell that story when I tried to send it from Moscow.)

If the Soviet Union decided to go to war, Western military attaches in Moscow think they could give eight days' warning to their governments.

But one of them wasn't too sure.

"In a country where they concentrate divisions of troops for anything from a parade or a funeral to the opening of a new store, we'd have to be pretty good to do it."

Because Pravda is official mouthpiece of the Communist party, the phrases it uses to describe reception of Red leaders' speeches is a useful key to those leaders' popularity with officialdom.

Assistant party secretary Posbelov: "Long applause."

Lazar Kaganovich: "Thunderous applause."

Nikita Krustchev: "Thunderous and prolonged applause, everybody stood."

Clementi Voroshilov: "Long and thunderous applause growing into an ovation, welcoming shouts of 'Hurrah' and everybody stood."

Russians love ice cream. Even in sub-zero weather, women streetvendors stand at corners selling cones and ice-cream sandwiches. There are also indoor stands in subway stations, stores and theatres.

But sundaes are unknown.

"You use chocolate syrup with your ice cream here," a Russian friend said in good as ours," said one Russian, which shows the effect of Russian propaganda.

Found Nearly 100 Dead Ducks In Farm Yard

WHITBY (CP)—Stephen Ferron of Toronto appeared in court Tuesday on a charge of failing to provide food for 50 ducks on a farm near Manchester, 18 miles northwest of Oshawa.

He pleaded not guilty and judgment was reserved for two weeks.

John Kusack, an inspector for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said he visited the farm in March and found nearly 100 dead ducks in the farm yard.

Ferron said the farm had been sold to another person last November.

Magistrates to Decide

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario magistrates will soon decide whether speeding motorists trapped by radar-equipped police patrol cars are actually guilty of speeding.

Ontario provincial police officials said the first road tests of two radar screens now being tested at the University of Toronto will be made within the next few weeks.

The first group of motorists caught by the equipment will be used to determine whether Canadian courts will accept the mechanical evidence as proof of speeding, police said.

OPP officials said 20 states in the United States now are using the equipment and that radar has reduced the accident toll wherever it has been used.

Conscience of Parliament Is Troubled Over Plight Of Little Man Needing Loan

OTTAWA (CP)—The plight of the little man of Canada, the one who sometimes must pay exceedingly high rates for a small loan, has struck the conscience of Parliament.

But despite the pleadings of legislators for help, bankers cannot seem to agree on a line of action that would provide the thousands of small borrowers with loans at acceptable rates.

Neil McKinnon, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce banking committee Tuesday a proposal for providing loans for the first time on television sets, radios and other chattel mortgages. The maximum loan would be $3,500.

But the point some parliamentarians found hard to accept was that lending rates would be doubled to 12 per cent a year from six. Mr. McKinnon said small loans companies charge up to 24 per cent a year and that big even bank, despite the Bank Act's six-per-cent lending rate ceiling, have been charging about 10.46 per cent for the last 18 years.

OPERATIONS LEGAL

And Gordon F. Ederkin, inspector-general of banks, assured the committee that the Bank of Canada courts will accept the mechanical evidence as proof of speeding, police said.

OPP officials said 20 states in the United States now are using the equipment and that radar has reduced the accident toll wherever it has been used.

Renowned Architect to Pick Canadian "Home of Tomorrow"

One of Europe's foremost authorities on architecture, Dr. Gio Ponti of Milan, is seen arriving in Montreal from Italy to begin a tour embracing Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal City in connection with his capacity as a member of the three-man jury in the international competition for the Canadian "home of tomorrow," which has $5,000 first prize. The competition, sponsored by the school of architecture, McGill University, Montreal, is open to architects who are members of provincial architectural societies and students of Canadian and European schools of architecture. Its purpose is to select from the more than 5,000 plans submitted, the design of a house for a family of five with the following features: good taste, simple in detail and pleasant in color without being unnecessarily costly to maintain or too costly to build. The house is to be designed for Canada and would take in the climatic problems encountered in Canada. (Central Press Canadian).

Conscience of Parliament Is Troubled Over Plight Of Little Man Needing Loan

Mr. McKinnon said his bank had examined a legal opinion that loans at 10.46 per cent were legal, but counsel to the Royal Bank had given a contrary view.

Farm Granaries Still Bulging With Unsold Grain; Farmers Prepare for Another Big Crop

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Farm granaries still bulge with unsold grain from last year's crop but western farmers are wheeling seed drills back on the land to sow wheat they hope will be another bumper harvest.

Farmers the world over are full of hope at seeding time. Despite large carryovers from previous years, they know that there always will be a demand for grain as long as people have to eat.

As one leading grain man said: "What else can the farmers do? If they turn the land into summer-fallow, it is only delaying the situation one year. There will be double the crop from the summer-fallow the next year.

SEEDING NECESSARY

"They just can't leave the land alone, and not seeded costs the farmer more in the long run than seeding it. Seeding is the cheapest way known to keep weeds down."

So, the farmer is cleaning up his equipment and keeping an eye on the weather, a major factor in all growth.

Across the West, the main requirements for an average wheat yield of 16.8 bushels an acre are normal spring and summer rains.

Farmers do not appear too worried. They've had good rainfall for three successive years and reaped wheat crops of more than 500,000,000 bushels. Two fall moisture on summer-fallow land was above normal in all three prairie provinces.

PROSPECTS GOOD

Maj. H. G. L. Strange, research director for Searle Grain Co., says chances are that the West can obtain an average wheat yield this year if summer rains are just normal. However, coarse grains, usually grown on stubble land, will need better-than-average summer rains to give an average yield.

While an estimated 49,000,000 bushels of all grains still is in store on western farms—backed up by plugged elevators and limited exports—officials say they expect some 190,000,000 bushels will be delivered by farmers by the end of the crop year, July 31. That would leave on farms a carryover of 1954-55 crop year. Of the present total on farms, 320,000,000 bushels is wheat and 170,000,000 coarse grains.

Despite this prospect of a large carryover of wheat, farmers in the three prairie provinces are not expected to change their seeding pattern to any great degree. There may be some switching from barley to wheat which makes finer for white bread, to durum, especially in Manitoba.

Durum is sought by importers in southern Europe. Its flour is used for macaroni and the like.

PRICE ATTRACTIVE

Provincial agriculture officials in Manitoba say 1954 reports indicate that between 10,000 and 18,000 more acres may be seeded to durum than last year, due to the good price—$3.78 for No. 1 amber durum compared with $1.35½ for No. 1 northern—and durum having no delivery quota.

Delivery by the farmer of hard wheat is strictly limited by quotas based on cultivated acreage. However, many farmers will be wary of making the change because the danger of rust, a parasite that attacks grain, is greater in durum than in other wheat.

Weather is another major factor in the seeding plan. If weather conditions delay seeding, farmers may switch to coarse grains. Wheat takes longer to mature.

There is no indication that the Canadian wheat board will use its power under the Wheat Board Act to restrict the acreage from which it will be willing to accept wheat from farmers.

If such a move is made, farmers still will be faced with two big problems: If they put more land into summer-fallow, they will have to contend with double the crop next year. If they plant coarse grains instead of wheat, they would have to look for new markets.

So, authorities say the pattern probably will be much the same as last year when wheat took up 24,000 acres in the West; oats 6,500,000 acres; barley 8,600,000; rye 1,400,000; and flaxseed 1,000,000 acres. About 20,000,000 was left in summer-fallow.

Churchill Believes Big 3 Parley Needed

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill said today he still believes in the need of a Big Three meeting between himself, President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Malenkov.

He told the House of Commons he "exercise of the same opinion" as when he first issued his call for such a meeting 12 months ago. "Unhappily," he added, "my opinion does not rule in every respect." Persistent Labor questioning on the proposed southeast Asia security pact failed to draw any substantial response from Churchill.

If You've Never Used MILK OF MAGNESIA

you owe it to yourself and family to read this!

Medical Facts Prove No Ordinary Laxative In The World Gives Such Complete Relief As MILK OF MAGNESIA!

Milk of Magnesia is more than a laxative! That's why it does more for you—brings you better relief.

It's an established medical fact that when you're suffering from constipation, acid indigestion is frequently present, too. Yes—acid indigestion—a condition that requires relief, but which no simple laxative can even begin to relieve.

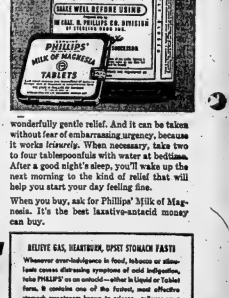
What Is A Laxative?

As your own doctor can tell you, a laxative is a mild cathartic used to cleanse the system of wastes.

Now, note that a laxative is not an antacid. It's simply a mild cathartic. And that's why it has no effect whatever on acidity . . . why it brings you only partial relief when taken for constipation and accompanying acid indigestion.

But there's no need for you to be satisfied with partial relief. For Milk of Magnesia gives you better relief—more complete relief—than any ordinary laxative.

Why Milk of Magnesia Is Better!



Milk of Magnesia does more for you because it's more than a laxative. It's an antacid, too. As a result, it not only relieves constipation, but accompanying acid indigestion as well.

You—and Milk of Magnesia also gives you wonderfully gentle relief. And it can be taken without fear of embarrassing urgency, because it works leisurely. When necessary, take two to four tablespoonfuls with water at bedtime. After a good night's sleep, you'll wake up the next morning to the kind of relief that will help you start your day feeling fine.

When you buy, ask for Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It's the best laxative-antacid money can buy.

RAWDON

Y.P.U. Presents Variety Show

RAWDON — On Thursday evening about 30 members of Rawdon circuit Young People's Union staged a variety show in Mt. Pleasant Church hall under the direction of Mrs. R. R. Bonsteel.

A large number of adults from Rawdon circuit were in attendance with visitors from Hoard's, Carmel, Stirling, West Huntingdon and other points.

The stage was decorated with the sun, moon and silver stars, copies of modern music, and two floor electric lamps, all added to the scenery.

Mr. Gerald Edwards as master of ceremonies welcomed the audience and paid tribute to the work of the late Mrs. R. R. Bonsteel in the preparation of the variety show.

The whole group, wearing blue jeans gathered in mass formation and sang "When We All Get Together." Miss Nan Chumbley gave a monologue, "Tapper on the Telephone," and responded to an encore. Miss Betty McConnell officiated at the piano during the program.

The quartet, Jim Hadley, Ralph Johnson, Gerald Edwards and Craig Watson sang several selections.

FASHION SHOW

A fashion show followed with a number of the boys modelling women's attire, and giving a review of summer fashions. Then came a mock wedding featuring all the usual finery, floral bouquets, bridal attendants and such, with Ronnie Embury as the blushing bride, and Marilyn McConnell as the bridegroom.

Miss Muriel Morton contributed a piano solo. A group from Wellman's and Bethel staged a stunt, "The Old Ford Car," complete with flat tires, hitch-hikers and speed cops, which provided plenty of fun.

Misses Annie and Margaret Dracup sang "Those Faraway Places." Two young ladies from Holland entertained with several selections in duet form on their piano accordions.

Mrs. E. Brick, Petherick's Corners, introduced their one-act play entitled "The Little Red Mare." The cast was: deaf farmer, Gerald Fry; city dude, Earl Fry; horse dealer, Gordon Osborne, and the scene was in a farmhouse kitchen.

Misses Ruth Sharpe and Betty McConnell rendered "Hola," as a piano duet.

The concluding number was a series of selections in western style with the group seated on straw bales around an open fire.

Craig Watson voiced thanks to all those who had assisted in any way to make the variety show a success. Miss Marlene Hadley presented Mrs. R. R. Bonsteel with a gift on behalf of the Y.P.U.

The Y.P.U. members served sandwiches, pickles, pie and social coffee and everyone enjoyed a social half hour.

The event was financially successful and was also good training for the teen-agers.

Central Registry Office Is Suggested

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario legislature's committee on document registrations has decided to study the practicability of establishing a central registry office for the province to help protect those who are likely to be dupes in fast financial deals.

Chairman Robert Macaulay, Progressive Conservative member for Riverdale, told the committee it is easy to cheat people under present legislation.

A central registry office would put an end to the present system of having a registry office in each of the 41 counties in Ontario. Legislation proposed by the committee would require, for instance, a car owner to produce a certificate of ownership on which would be registered all charges, liens, qualifications or conditions which would interfere with giving a clear title to the vehicle.

Railway Bandits Raid Two Cars

TORONTO (CP)—Two cars on the fast CPR freight from Montreal to Toronto were raided yesterday by railway bandits.

Full extent of the loss is not yet known.

Police said they believe it to be the work of an organized gang, responsible for a series of similar robberies.

They suspect the existence of tip-off men in the railway organization.

The police theory is that through leakage the thieves know where freight cars will be stopping. They are able to pinpoint the car carrying cigarets, said police, who blame the gang for the theft of several thousand dollars worth of cigarets from freight cars.

Some of the robberies have taken place in the Whitby area, 25 miles east of here.

Attempt to Make Toronto Port Great Harbor

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto harbor commission officials say that they are advising prospective Canadian shippers that Toronto has port facilities for shipping their goods direct to Europe by sea.

The action is part of the commission's plans to attempt to make Toronto a great export harbor even before the St. Lawrence seaway provides the link to the Atlantic ocean for big ocean-going vessels.

Small ocean-going ships of many foreign nations put into port here but more cargo is unloaded than is picked up for shipment overseas. The commission is hoping to change this. If successful, freight now shipped from New York, Halifax and Montreal will be placed aboard ocean-plying vessels in Toronto to begin the voyage overseas.

So many ocean-going vessels are touching here that the commission now is preparing a regular sailing list of these ships.

Since April 19 when the Great Lakes canals opened for the 1954 shipping season 32 overseas vessels docked at Toronto—a record for the period not equalled by any other port on the Great Lakes.

Last year 286 foreign vessels cleared through the Toronto harbor compared with 190 in 1952. All indications point to the 1953 record being broken.

He finds that he likes it when trusting citizens appoint him sheriff and he clamps the law on those of his former partners who resume their ways of crime.

Others prominently cast are Phyllis Coates, Fuzzy Knight, Rick Vallin, John James, Denver Pyle, Dick Crockett, Harry Lauter and Dale Van Sickel.

A Popeye cartoon and the serial chapter 4 of "The Secret Code" completes the big family bill.

ornate of executive offices for the movie tycoon in the story, portrayed by Stanley Masiell.

The Hollywood studio scenes which play a prominent part in the opening of the film, were actually filmed by an Ealing unit in Hollywood . . . a rare sight for Hollywooders, to see someone filming them! The story takes satirical digs at the starring system but it's all good-natured fun. The film-makers thoroughly enjoyed putting filmland on the screen!

AT THE McCARTHY

Hollywood came to Ealing, London, W.3, when Sir Michael Balcon decided to produce "The Love Lottery", closing tonight at the McCarthy Theatre. This new Technicolor production, directed by Charles Crichton and produced by Mr. Danischewsky, goes behind the Hollywood scenes, though in a lighthearted and satirical manner.

There is no lack of expert knowledge at Ealing. The script was written by the noted Hollywood screenwriter, Harry Kurnitz (writer of many of the "Thin Man" scripts), and his story called for the major role to be portrayed by a British actor who had spent years in Hollywood. The part fitted David Niven like a glove. It might almost have been written for him. Although he has worked in Hollywood for so many years, he has always retained his British accent and outlook on life. Obviously, he was able to give first-hand information about the Hollywood scene.

The director, Charles Crichton, paid a visit to Hollywood before "The Love Lottery" went into production. And for the art director, Tom Morahan, the film presented few problems; he had worked on several Hollywood pictures, and designing the Hollywood-type settings was a comparatively easy matter.

The subject offered great opportunities for the Ealing art department to dream up a luxury Hollywood home for Niven; elaborate movie sets for sequences showing the star at work; the most

APPRECIATION!

The NHL Old Timers' Association, which has raised $60,000 for charity in the last three years, held a reunion last week at the Scarboro Golf and Country Club when former greats gathered from all parts of the province for their first annual golf tournament.

During the dinner meeting which climaxed the tournament's inaugural day, "Ted" Doran, of Detroit, was presented with a handsome silver tray for his long-distance travelling, at his own expense, to take part in charity games.

"Red," who was born in Belleville, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doran, of Toronto, formerly of Belleville. He is a nephew of Miss Mary Doran of this city. He played in his native city for the first time in many years when he appeared with the "Old-timers" here last winter.

DOUBLE TROUBLE!

We do not know if Mrs. Bill Bateman took the old man to task for coming out every night, or whether the wives of the boys who cram the alleys nightly want to know what is going on, but in any event the sprightly William has come up with an idea that should satisfy not only feminine curiosity but will give the distaff side the chance to substitute bowls for rolling pins.

Yup, that's it. A "Mr. and Mrs. Bowling" tournament is in the making. It is slated for Friday, May 21, starting at eight o'clock and the old 10 open to all married couples. The entry fee is three bucks per couple, bowling and criticism included, and the tournament will be run on the handicap basis of four-fifths of the difference between the couples' combined average, bowling, that is, and the scratch point of 475. Read that over carefully. We hope you can understand it, we'll be danged if we can. Couples can bowl only once, but they can argue as long as they likes.

The three highest couples emerging from the tourney will bowl in the regional tournament against other district winners for the Berman Trophy in Kingston, May 22.

So there it is fellas. Take the missus down to the Bowl-O-Drome on Friday, May 21, and let her see for herself what you do on the nights out. At least you can give her an idea. You don't have to "spill the works."

COULD BE!

Declaring that "this is the chance of a lifetime," 32-year old Ezzard Charles will be making second attempt to become the first heavyweight to regain the title, at Yankee Stadium on June 21. The Cincinnati fighter lost the crown to Jersey Joe Walcott by a seventh-round knockout in Pittsburgh in July, 1951, and dropped the decision to Walcott in a return match at Philadelphia in June, 1952.

Charles said he had been active and that he thought he had a good chance to regain the title.

"I may not be as fast as five years ago, but I do things better," Ezzard said. In pointing out that he had been active, Charles added that "in the past, other champions have taken long lay-offs and their muscles tightened up. They didn't have the flexibility I have."

Although he hasn't had any fights this year, Marciano told reporters he was "in good condition and have been working out for the last eight weeks." The 29-year-old Rockton (Mass.) puncher said that "I think I'll be all right by June 17."

It will be Marciano's first title defence since he stopped Roland LaStarza in the 11th round last September.

Each fighter expects to weigh between 185 and 187 pounds for the bout. Marciano scale 186, Charles about 185.

WRESTLING!

They tell me the "horseshoe" Mills boys who pay open the pocketdown season here tomorrow night are just a couple of nice youngsters who would rather chew off the ear or an arm of a fellow human than eat fishing.

One of the big lugs is named "Tiny", probably because of his 307-pound stature. The bigger part of his mug is hidden under a drape-shape foliage. His brother is no better, Nor worse.

But they are up against a Titan from Texas, where the boys grow from the hip and the gals help 'em drink it. He is "Hombre" Montana and is well named. With mus. He tips the scales at something near a quarter of a ton and usually makes paper dolls out of the opposition. The chairman of this team is the well known, well liked Italian youngster, Illio de Paola. Remember?

Then there is our old pal Lee 'The Vicious' Henning. He is back again and will tangle with the popular Pat Flanagan.

A bloke we always liked is petite Ray Villmer. 'The little big guy is back and massive Walt Gerow and Mares Frank Tunney could not have made a better choice. The dynamo from Wisconsin, or is it Oshkosh, Michigan, battled with a beane by the name of Big Bill Eakens. This chappie is five feet nine high and five feet four wide. He has to enter the arena sideways. Looks like a colorful opener.

'Twas A Double' Says One 'It's A Homer' Says Another; Regardless, The Braves Win

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Brooklyn Dodger ball park, graveyard of many National League pennant hopes last season is proving surprisingly friendly to Charlie Grimm's Milwaukee Braves.

They won six of 11 games there last year. Their 1954 edition is trying to do the job even better.

Milwaukee invaded Brooklyn Tuesday night for the first time this season and walked off with a 3-0 triumph. However, they lost one of the most prolonged arguments of the season. A seventh-inning drive by Eddie Mathews bounced off a railing atop the centrefield fence and fell back on the field.

Umpire Bill Engelin ruled it a double. Umpire Bill Summers called it a home run and waved Mathews in. The Dodgers screamed, but the ruling stood. The Braves screamed, But the end Mathews was sent back to second. Despite the ruling, the drive scored Danny O'Connell from first base with Milwaukee's second run.

OTHER GAMES

Elsewhere in the National League New York Giants defeated Cincinnati 5-4 and Philadelphia Phils edged Chicago Cubs 8-7 in 10 innings. The St. Louis-Pittsburgh game at Pittsburgh was rained out.

In the American League Joe Coleman of Baltimore silenced his former Philadelphia team-mates only two hits, both singles, as the Orioles beat the Athletics 2-0. New York Yankees defeated Cleveland 7-3, Chicago White Sox shaded Boston 3-1 and Washington beat Detroit 5-3.

The Giants beat Fred Baczewski for the first time in his career. The Cincinnati lefthander had whipped the New Yorkers five times running.

After calling two runs behind in the eighth because of poor defensive play, the Phils rallied to tie the Cubs in the eighth and won in the 10th as Del Ennis singled home Richie Ashburn.

A double by Virgil Berra with two on and two out drove home the runs the Yankees needed to beat Cleveland for the first time this season. The Indians had won three in a row.

Bob Keegan won his fourth game against a single loss and scored the winning run for the White Sox against Boston after he tripled in the seventh.

Detroit used four hits, including a homer by Frank House, to score three runs in the first four innings against the Senators, but Bob Porterfield slammed the door and he finished with 5 1-3 hitless innings. Porterfield homered in the ninth after Washington had scored the tie-breaking run in the eighth.

Ran to Run In Road Race

UXBRIDGE, England (Reuters) George Oliver, 61, a local construction worker whose hobby is long-distance running, wanted to compete in a 16-mile road race.

But it was 80 miles from Uxbridge to Chichester, where the race was being held and he couldn't afford the train fare. So he ran the 80 miles.

It took him 17½ hours. He panted into Chichester just before noon on Saturday and flopped down on a park bench for a nap.

About 100 runners competed in the race from Chichester to Portsmouth four hours later. George was 50th to finish—but his time won him third prize in the handicap section.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert Andrew Thebo, 63, a printer for the Evening Star since 1919, and former Canadian athlete, died Tuesday from heart disease. Thebo was a widely known hockey player, a distance runner, baseball player and former football and baseball coach at St. Patrick's College in Ottawa.

OHA Asks Allan Cup Champs Represent Canada in Tourney

By DON MATHESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Even Russia expected Canada to win the 1954 world hockey championships, says W. B. George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

He addressed a banquet of the association here Monday night on his observations while attending the world tournament in Stockholm last month.

Earlier, in the first day of full sessions, the CAHA's annual five-day meeting moved jointly through 23 resolutions and financial, playoff and registration reports. The convention opened Sunday with committee meetings.

Approved in principal Monday was a memorandum allowing transfer of juvenile and junior players east and west across a line running north-south through the Lakehead.

RESOLUTION LATER

An actual resolution and wording of the rule change, conforming with negotiations with the National Hockey League, will come before the convention later.

One resolution expected to touch off any conversation Monday is expected to come under discussion today.

It is an Ontario branch resolution asking that the Allan Cup champions represent Canada in the 1955 world tournament.

Toronto East York Lyndhurst lost the 1954 championship in the feature match with Moscow Dynamos in Stockholm March 7. The defeat was described at that time as "a national calamity, a national disgrace."

But president George, of Kemptville, Ont., had nothing but praise Monday for the East Yorks.

He described the 7-3 loss to Russia as a "letdown," after the Yorks had built up to defeat Czechoslovakia two days earlier. The Czechs also lost to Russia but "in political relationships you can come to your own conclusions."

MET IN FINAL

Canada and Russia met in the final game of the tournament. If Canada won, Russia would have had to replay Sweden to break a tie for the European title.

His only objection to East Yorks was that he felt they lacked maturity and stability under the political pressures in Europe.

First vice-president Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg also described the tour of Japan by Kenora Thistles.

In other business Monday, the convention approved Newfoundland as a member of the Maritimes association.

Hockey Fans Like Fishing; Small Crowd Sees TeePees Whip Kings in Second Game

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Western Memorial Cup hopes had dwindled today as the east rested with considerable confidence after tabbing a 3-2 game lead in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior hockey championship.

St. Catharines TeeNees, battlewern but still sharp after a heavy schedule since last fall, turned opportunist long enough Tuesday night to defeat Edmonton Oil Kings 5-3 in a fast-slashing, hard-checking game that had the fans in the stands roaring.

But Tuesday night's story was a different one from Sunday, when TeePees walloped the Kings 8-2 in easy fashion. Coach Ken Hamilton of Edmonton was more convinced that his team will not fold in the minimum of games.

"The boys played a lot better," he said, "and they can play better than that."

PLAY BETTER TO WIN

Coach Rudy Pilous, "happy we got two wins out of it," joined McAuley in saying: "Improvement a lot," but added: "They've got to be a better hockey team to win."

Oil Kings, apparently getting their "hockey legs" again after a three-week layoff between the western and Memorial Cup series, held their own game Thursday night cost them an early lead as TeePees pounced on every opportunity.

Hugh Barlow, a 20-year-old sharpshooter in his last junior year, scored twice in the third period to lead TeePees a game closer to the Memorial Cup championship. Barry Cullen and Hank Cieslo added another pair in the third and Don McLean's second-period marker completed the TeeNee total.

Johnny Bucyk, a sophomore, scored early and late Oilers on goals by Norm Ullman and Ray Kinasewich for Edmonton.

TAKE 4-GOAL LEAD

Bucyk and Ullman scored in third order in the second period, each goal coming on two-man breaks from centre ice, to give Kings a 3-0 advantage before McLean pushed the puck past Al Jacobson from a scramble.

The third period was only 33 seconds old when Barry Cullen backhanded the puck past Jacobson after catching the Edmonton defence out of position. Not two minutes later, Barlow scored from close in when Strate failed to clear on Barry Cullen's easy shot.

Penalties to Billy McNeill and Lionel Repka at 4:57 and 9:25, set up TeePees deciding goals. Cieslo batted puck in from a scramble with McNeill off, and Barlow pushed the puck under Jacobson from the goalcrease with Repka off.

McAuley sent out five forwards when Wimpy Roberts went all for charging late in the third and the ploy paid off when Kinasewich blazed a 25-foot shot high into the open corner behind Marv Edwards.

Thirteen Teams Enter Minor Baseball Loop

At least thirteen sponsors will comprise the Belleville Minor Baseball Association this season according to the entries named at last night's meeting. More are expected to enter before the season opens in early June.

Those entered are: Avon Jewellers, Point Anne (two teams), Deacon Brothers, Flagiboon Oilers, Keyes Supply, Cleaners, Houston Lumber, Robb's Schwabs, C.N.R., Y's Men and Vaughans. Drive-in may enter a team but this is not yet definite.

It was decided at the meeting of the sponsors of the Belleville Minor Baseball Association last night that each sponsor will be charged a $10.00 entry fee.

Eleven were present at the meeting which was called for the purpose of deciding on sweaters or uniforms. After about 90 minutes of discussion, the idea of uniforms was dropped as it brought up many new problems. The lack of a place to change clothes was the main drawback, while Ted Schwab and Lorne Vaughan felt that the boys themselves would rather have a sweater they could keep than a uniform that they would be able to wear only when playing ball and have to give it back at the end of the year.

Aside from the entry fee, sponsors will handle the teams on whatever money they feel like spending, as it has been for the past four years.

Batting—Bobby Avila, Cleveland Indians, had a perfect night against New York Yankees and took over the American League batting lead with an average of .375.

Pitching — Joe Coleman, Baltimore Orioles, allowed only two hits, both singles, in beating Philadelphia 2-0.

CAHA Approves Transfer Of Junior Players

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's hockey executives Tuesday clarified the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's position on transfer of juniors across the east-west zones.

The CAHA Monday approved in principle the transfer of juniors and juvenilles across a line drawn north-south through the Lakehead.

No such transfers are allowed at present, but any team is allowed two imports from other branches within each zone.

Now, one of these imports may be from across the east-west zone line. The player may be a junior or juvenile.

It marks the first time transfer of juveniles has been approved.

Transfers will only be allowed with the player's club and the approval of the home club and both the players' parents.

Actual wording of the resolution has not been passed and is expected to come before the meeting Thursday.

Bannister Will Tell Yankees All About It

LONDON (AP) — Roger Bannister, the medical student who broke the four-minute mile barrier, left for New York by plane Tuesday night where he will tell North American audiences about the race on television and radio. His first scheduled TV appearance is tonight.

Bannister is making the trip at the request of the British foreign office. The 25-year-old athlete said he would be back home Saturday "for the royal homecoming."

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh return Saturday from their Canada-the-world journey.

Two foreign office men, who accompanied Bannister to his plane said U.S. television interests were paying the trip's costs. Bannister will do no running while in the U.S.

It is the shy master miler climbed aboard the plane he had this to say about his great race last Thursday:

"It seems to me the more you try without succeeding, the less chance there is of making it because you're getting discouraged. I had not raced for six months and had forgotten what some of the agony was like."

CAHA Will Send 'Solid' Team To World Hockey Tournament

By DON MATHESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian amateur hockey is going "all out" to recover the world hockey title in 1955.

The decision was reached here Tuesday by the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

The future, 1956 onward, was left indefinite when the best-for-53 decision was reached. It could include withdrawal from the world tournament.

CAHA delegates voted to give the executive the job of selecting a team of "the highest possible calibre" to represent Canada in 1955.

Executives will choose one club that wants to go, then build around it a solid senior club. Reinforcing players would be picked from CAHA branches anywhere in Canada.

The final Canadian team would then be essentially an all-star squad playing under the name of the "sponsoring" club. It would work out a month or six weeks in Canada before going overseas, then play a European tour before the championship.

That will happen in 1956 and later is only conjecture.

But delegates felt they had a "hot potato," and hot potatoes are often dropped.

Before arriving at the final decision for an all-star type club, delegates discussed the world tourney problem for two hours.

"BEST FOR ONE YEAR"

Some of their expressions that left the impression about the future:

"I say don't worry about the expense—let us even resort to the reserve fund to show the best for one year only"—secretary-manager G. S. Dudley of Midland, Ont.

"The crux of the matter is should we get out of what has become a political hot potato. . . or are we prepared to spend money to go all out"—Ed Benson, Kelowna, first vice-president B. C. branch.

"I agree that it's a 'hot potato' but in 1955 I think we should go back to Europe and win back the championship"—Dr. W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, former CAHA president and life member.

Delegates final decision on the team make-up follows the 1952 plan where only eight members of the original Edmonton Mercurites team made the European trip. The other players were selected from top calibre players in other centres willing to make the trip.

Clubs have until July 1 to apply for the jaunt.

MIGHT DAMAGE LEAGUE

Delegates felt that no complete trophy-winning team or runnerup could be selected and sent overseas. The action would possibly break up the league in which it is played. Then, there was no assurance that the same team would be in existence the following year.

The convention also asked that negotiations be started with the National Hockey League, under the NHL-CAHA agreement, to have the old icing-the-puck rule restored.

The change would make players carry the puck over the blueline, rather than shooting it into the corners from the centre-ice zone as at present.

The convention concludes Thurs-day.

Bowling

FRANKFORD—Frankford mixed bowling league ended last Thursday night with Ramblettes took four games to one over the Whiz Kids in Division "B". The Green hornets are the first team to win three cups as they fought their way through and won the championship, the play-offs and the cup from Division "A" for bowling supremacy. Murph's Mutts won the play-offs in Division "A". Both teams will go for the bowling banquet on Thursday, May 13.

Richmond Takes Syracuse 4-2 Without Grant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Their nine-game winning streak has gone by the boards but Syracuse Chiefs are still atop the International Baseball League by a game and a half.

The cellar-dwelling Richmond Virginians, who hadn't been successful against Syracuse in their previous games, defeated the Chiefs 4-2 Tuesday night. Behind the strong-arm pitching of Wimpy Narsella, Richmond broke a tie in the fifth inning on Marty Tabacheck's two-run triple.

Buffalo and the Havana Cuban Sugar Kings battled to a 13-inning 9-9 tie at Havana in a game that went four hours and 20 minutes before being called by the curfew.

Three times Buffalo held the lead, but the Sugar Kings rallied to tie in the ninth, 11th and 13th. In each they were down 9-8 after the Bisons scored three times in the top of the 13th.

Olympics For Canada in 1964 Says Duthie

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada will likely get the Olympic Games in 1964, George Duthie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, said last night.

Duthie would be held in Toronto.

Canada has made a bid for the 1960 games, but it is expected Italy will get the nod.

Avery Brundage, United States Olympic Games czar, has promised to support Canada's 1964 bid. He said the 1960 games will go to Italy "for purely morally obligated to that country," Brundage told Duthie recently.

Duthie, who attended a meeting of the B.C. Track and Field Association, also said that it is possible that the Woodbine race track in Toronto will set aside a day each year with the profits going to Canada's Olympic and British Empire Games teams. He estimated it would be worth at least $100,000 annually.

Penticton Keeps Hopes Alive With 6-5 Win Over Sudbury

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — A switch in strategy Tuesday night paid off as Penticton V's kept their Allan Cup hopes alive with 6-5 overtime win over Sudbury Wolves.

Wolves lead the best-of-seven series 3-2 with the sixth game set for Kelowna, B.C., Thursday.

Penticton had to hold Pemberton within the margin of three goals for 15 minutes to win the game and the cup that goes to the top senior amateur hockey club in Canada.

Playing-coach Grant Warwick swapped the pattern of his team's victory when he reverted to defence, where he and Kevin (Cruiser) Conway played nearly the entire game.

Twice, once in the second period and once in the third, Warwick appparently lured Sudbury players into thinking that paid off with Penticton goals.

COSTLY PENALTY

In the second period, he doked Pete Horeck into a rough cross-check which cost the Wolves' player two minutes, allowing Jack McIntyre to score while the easterners were short-handed.

His master stroke came in the third, when with V's three goals behind, Warwick badgered Gerry Defelice into taking a swing at him.

Defelice turned on Bernie Bathgate, earning a major which kept him off for five minutes and allowed two Penticton goals. RCMP had to restrain him when, under the prodding from nearby fans, the Wolves centreman began to lash out at spectators.

Ed Harrison, Frank King, Yacker Flynn, Nick Tomiuk and Gordie Hess scored the Sudbury goals, with Jack McIntyre for two, Grant Warwick, Doug Kilburn, Jim Fairman and Dick Warwick finding the range for Penticton.

OPENS SCORING

Harrison opened the scoring at 2:30 of the first and within 10 seconds Grant Warwick tied it up. Wolves went ahead when King connected at 8:03 to end the first-period scoring.

Wolves opened fast and first again in the second when Flynn tipped in Mason Kaupp's cross on a relay from Tatter McClellan. Then came McIntyre's goal to make it 3-2.

Sudbury took two early goals in the second period, one by Tomiuk and the other by Hesie to put Wolves ahead 5-3 and then came Defelice's major and a minor to Horeck. Dick Warwick, Kilburn and Fairman scored to make the regulation time score 5-5.

The teams played it close to the vest in the overtime period, the break coming with only 15 seconds to go. Conway launched a rush and fed Grant Warwick. Warwick pulled Wolves' Al Miller to the right on a swerving attack, backhanded to McIntyre and the game was over as McIntyre zeroed in on three feet of vacant net.

2 Branch Lines Will Open Wide Territory

OTTAWA (CP)—Both sides of the Commons Tuesday welcomed the prospect of opening up mineral and timber wealth in northern Quebec and Ontario in two new branch lines of the Canadian National Railways.

Transport Minister Chevrier met no opposition as he introduced a bill authorizing the government to guarantee up to $44,582,500 in CNR bonds for the two lines.

The longer line, of some 294 miles long, will be built into Quebec's new Chibougamau mining area and some 230 miles northwest of Quebec City.

It will extend in an arc from Beattyville, near Abilbi on the Ontario border, northeast 155 miles to Chibougamau and then southeast 138 miles to Lac Felicien, on the west side of Lake St. John at the head of the Saguenay valley.

The second line will run 77 miles into the rich new Manitouwadge mining area in northern Ontario.

It will be built south from Hillsport, on the CNR main line about 200 miles northwest of the Lakehead.

HIGH COSTS

Estimated construction costs are $35,000,000 for the Quebec line and $3,750,000 for the one in Ontario. However, any legislation provides that the CNR can exceed those amounts by 25 per cent and authorizes temporary government loans of up to $45,000,000 to pay for construction to start without delay.

Reaction of opposition members to the railway bill was typified by Howard Green (PC — Vancouver-Quadra), who said he hopes the days of railway building in Canada are not over.

He said that some day Canada will not need for a railway across the northern part of western Canada, perhaps from Lynn Lake, Man., to Lac La Ronge, Sask., and on to Stewart, B.C., at the south end of the Alaska panhandle.

Mr. Chevrier said that the western section of the branch line in Quebec will be built first, from Beattyville to Chibougamau. It would connect Chibougamau's copper mines with smelters at Normanda, Que., and two mines in Ontario guaranteed a daily average of 325 tons of ore concentrates for six years after completion of the line.

The railway also would open up

Exporters Urge Long-Term Credit To Expand Trade

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Exporters' Association proposed today that governments provide the United Kingdom and other overseas countries with long-term credit as a means to expand exports vital to Canadian prosperity.

The association, whose membership some $4,000,000,000 worth of goods a year, urged also that Canada and the United States promote commodity trade pacts, guaranteeing prices and markets for basic goods produced by underdeveloped countries.

These and other proposals to provide tax-free goods for tourists, tax relief on foreign investment profits, lower freight charges to seaports and broader export insurance coverage on export risks formed part of a seven-point program presented to a meeting of the Senate trade relations committee.

The committee, investigating ways to strengthen the economic side of the North Atlantic treaty, received a five-man delegation headed by S. A. MacKay-Smith of Ottawa, association president.

WANT CONVERTIBILITY

Mr. MacKay-Smith, in his brief, said the association agrees with proposals to remove import barriers, ease monetary curbs and hasten the advance towards convertibility of currency.

Most sterling-area countries have said large-scale imports from Canada would injure their delicate financial financial structure. Some of the claims have been exaggerated" but the fact remained that many of the countries are not prepared to enlarge trade with Canada.

To help effect this, the association suggested "Canada should be prepared to grant long-term credits to countries prepared to purchase the list of Canadian products which can be imported on general licence."

These credits would be similar to long-term loans. They would be earmarked for specific countries and specific purposes and thus the ultimate use of the dollars would be under Canadian government control.

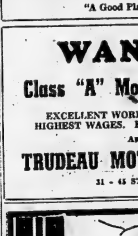
At home, the big problem was to overcome inertia and fear of labor- and production which were pricing many Canadian goods out of world markets.

Government and trade bodies should strive to inform labor unions of the consequences of "continuous and irresponsible production costs and to call attention to the importance of exports to the country's prosperity. Significance which seems to be entirely overlooked by our labor leaders."

Five-Month-Old Child Dies In House Fire

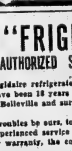
TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP)—A five-month-old boy died Tuesday when fire ripped through a frame house near the Norfolk county hamlet of Frogmore, 15 miles southeast of here.

Donald Wayne Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilson, died when fire destroyed the home. His grandmother, Mrs. Violet Wilson, 45, was admitted to hospital here with face, arm, leg and body burns. Her condition was described as serious.



Coroner Dr. W. J. Nicholson of Langton said the fire, apparently started when a wood-burning stove exploded.

Mrs. Wilson saved 20-month-old Sheila Wilson but was prevented by spreading flames from reentering the house.



The parents were not home at the time.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Outlook brighter, so this can be a gainful, pleasant day. Be your best self and pursue your highest ambitions. Put over your ideas and propositions without force. Good possibilities.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — An auspicious day for new and well thought out plans concerning current problems, public interests. Let your inventive imagination have sway, but be practical. Romance favored.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — This day's vibrations fit your nature, talents and capabilities. Some extra generous rays for personal advancement. Unexpected favors from others may brighten your day and more. Altogether a good day.

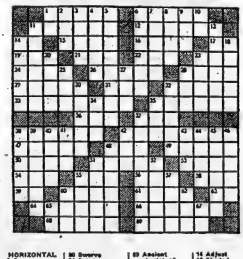
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You will be well pleased with results and yourself by nightfall if you do your best and are true to your best traits. Use that God-given ability rightly.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Not a very easy day but, with a smile and using the Leo type of salesmanship, you can bring home good results. Hours of effort blended with patience and skill is the formula.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Move along with a confident step and don't allow skepticism to dull your really sound thinking. Most problems are capable of solution if properly handled. Remain cheerful and resolved.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — A sort of run-of-the-mill day for so-so people. For the keen and energetic, there's another story. There's always room for new ideas, original propositions, and many will click.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Most professional and artistic pursuits, journalism, public relations highly rated today. The lackadaisical, happy-go-lucky ones will, probably be also-rans. Take your choice.



November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Don't stay in the old rut and don't be too easily satisfied. Your trend is upward now, so it is step by step you would achieve. Avoid antiquated ideas.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Vibrations are not really unfriendly but they are a little on the be-careful side. A day that can be mostly what you make it. Aspects improve as day progresses. That should be enough for you ambitious, thinking ones.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — A period that should appeal to you who are ready to work hard, to think harder than usual in order to achieve. Face facts firmly. Honest endeavors count.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Avoid a pugnacious attitude. Show your co-operative, diplomatic side during this somewhat uncertain period. Press when your actions have been carefully planned but don't overestimate returns.

YOU BORN TODAY are more versatile than you yourself realize. You do not always take time to study details as you should so that, while bright, you may make mistakes through speed or insufficient checking. You can do more than one thing at a time and can concentrate amidst hubbub. Don't become disillusioned if all plans don't materialize. It is often for your good that they do not. Do not be disappointed at setbacks. Don't give in to irritation or moodiness, but keep smiling. Things always work out when we pray and strive. Birthdate of: Maria Theresa, Empress of Germany; Sir Arthur Sullivan, composer.

Contracts Let For Building CPR Branch Line

TORONTO (CP)—Contracts have been let and construction started on a $1,500,000 Canadian Pacific railway branch line north from Havelock to Nephton, Ont., to serve the expanding operations of the American Nepheline Ltd mine at Nephton, it was announced Wednesday.

Contracts for the 16½-mile line have gone to Robindale Quarries Ltd. of Picton and to Quemont Construction Co. of Montreal. Robindale Quarries will build from Havelock north for 9½ miles including a 1,500-foot siding and miles north of Havelock. Quemont Construction will build the remaining seven miles starting at the mine site. Work is expected to be completed on the whole line by April, 1955.

Work on the southern end of the line has begun just west of Havelock.

The mine's production of nepheline syenite, used in the manufacture of glass, glaze fibre insulation and pottery, has almost doubled since the plant was established in 1947 and at the present time is being trucked 36 miles to Lakefield. Completion of the new branch line will allow rail shipments to be loaded directly at the mine site.

Army Counsellor Denies Charges Made by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Counsellor John Adams denied today that Army Secretary Robert Stevens instructed him in any way to halt the McCarthy sub-committee investigation of the Army security risks at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

His testimony bore on two principal charges made by Senator McCarthy and his aides.

The McCarthy camp contends that the present controversy arose from attempts by the Army to end the sub-committee hunt for alleged Communists in the Army, particularly at the Signal corps engineering laboratories at Ft. Monmouth. It also has charged that efforts were employed "for the principal purposes" of persuading the McCarthy subcommittee to abandon its investigation."

Under cross-examination for the second day by special counsel Ray Jenkins in the 16th day of the hearings, Adams said that Army relations with the McCarthy subcommittee, as with other congressional groups, were part of his duties but were not the "primary" reason for his employment.

FRECEDE MCCARTHY

Adams further denied that alleged security risks at Ft. Monmouth were suspended only because of the McCarthy probing. He said seven employees were suspended before McCarthy began his investigation last October.

Jenkins switched roles today to cross-examine Adams on his story that McCarthy and Roy Cohn badgered him for army favors for G. David Schine.

Adams resumed Wednesday in fect examination.

TRADE MINISTER SAYS TREATY NO INDUSTRY THREAT

Howe Explains Pact With Japan to House

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe says Japan expects to sell more goods in Canada during a new Japanese-Canadian trade agreement but that the imports will not seriously threaten Canadian industry.

Mr. Howe made the observation Wednesday shortly before the Commons and opposition parties agreeing, approved the tariff-cutting trade agreement after a three-hour debate.

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) warned, however, his party has grave doubts which may make sure the government carries out its assurance that Japanese goods from being dumped in Canada. Safeguard against dumping in the pact could be a mere jumble of words unless the government has determination to make it effective.

If they are permitted to remain a dead letter, if the kind of occasion contemplated by these safeguards arises, then we will be calling this government to account," he said. "We will call upon the government to make that assurance good 100 per cent."

TRADE PROTECTION AMPLE

CCF leader Coldwell and Social Credit leader Low said they believed the treaty, under which Canada will reduce tariffs on Japanese goods, provides ample protection for Canadian industry against the possibility of unfair competition from Japan.

Mr. Howe said he expects that Japan will increase sales to Canada under the agreement. However the pact also would promote employment and income for Canadian agriculture and industry.

"The Japan legislature expects to sell more in this country.

"For my part, I do not believe we need be afraid of such increases. Under these new arrangements, Japan will be in a position to compete for a share of the Canadian market on a fair basis with other foreign suppliers, such as the United States and Germany. Importers may well find it advantageous to obtain some of their requirements from Japan in competition with their former sources of supply."

TRADE GAP

Mr. Howe said Canada in 1953 sold $118,000,000 worth of goods and purchased only $13,600,000. Canada could not hope to maintain her markets at that rate for long, if she did not grant tariff cuts that would make goods similar to those granted other member countries of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Canada obtained extra concessions under the new agreement since she did not receive in pacts with many countries which had agreement intended to extend the terms of GATT to Japan, but would retain the GATT rates. This was to prevent if impasse of Japanese goods seriously threatened Canadian industry.

Warm 24-Hour Rain in B.C. Sends Streams, Creeks Boiling Over Banks

VANCOUVER (CP)—A warm, 24-hour rain which pelted snow-covered peaks in British Columbia's interior, has sent streams and creeks boiling over their banks and raised the level of giant rivers.

Hardest hit by the unseasonable floods, in melting rapidly. Mill creek, Deadman creek, the Thompson river and other small waterways are over their banks. At Mission, on the B. C. delta, at the end of tidewater, the Fraser river has risen 13 inches in 24 hours.

Mayor Fred Jackson of New Westminster, said the latest word he has received from the provincial government is that a definite change in weather is needed to avert more serious flooding.

"We need warm weather and then a cooling-off period," he said. "It is the hot, dry cool-off caused floods which did $30,000,000 damage.

This year, Kelowna is the first town to report flood damage all through the Okanagan valley. Its residential area in the centre of the city.

Kelowna is about 250 miles east of here.

A bridge was swept out at Rutland, leaving half the village's 140 residents looking at the other half across the swollen Rentala creek which has the only means of communication.

UN Countries Are Deadlocked Over Their Policy on Korea

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP)—The "non-Communist countries attending the Geneva conference "made progress" after a two-hour meeting today perhaps to help them break the double deadlock on Korea.

Delegates said the 16 countries which fought on the United Nations side in Korea were still unable to agree on a united front.

External Affairs Minister Pearson left the meeting when it was half way through, to board the RCAF plane for Canada and the disarmament conference of the five atomic powers. His place was taken by Chester Ronning, who will lead the Canadian delegation during the minister's absence.

Pearson is expected back here Tuesday.

DOUBLE DEADLOCK

After nine plenary sessions on Korea, most Western delegates became convinced that there was no hope of reaching an agreement on this subject during the life of the Geneva conference.

It is felt that the Communist side simply will not agree to even the minimum demand of the UN countries for free elections under international supervision.

The picture was complicated on the UN side by what delegates call the double deadlock. The 16 non-Communist countries were unable to reach a "family agreement."

The main obstacle was South Korea's refusal, apparently on orders from President Syngman Rhee, to consider all-Korean elections.

The smaller UN members, including Commonwealth countries, held private meetings this week to discuss a way out of the impasse.

A possible solution might be that the Communist delegates, the Philippines, will table more-reasonable proposals on Korea "for the record." Then the Communists and these down, as they almost certainly will, the UN powers will at least feel they have done something to demonstrate before world public opinion that they made an effort to reach agreement.

If the conference does end up without agreement on Korea, it is expected interested countries will take another look at the problem in six months.

The Korean meeting took the spotlight today from the Indochina question, which remained deadlocked. The Indo-China peace talks came to a standstill with delegates awaiting the outcome of France's political crisis.

Canadian Navy Has Been Able To Cut Noise in Ships by Half

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy has been able to cut down noise in warships by half.

"We had to or it might have reached the point where we could not have lived in them," says Cmdr. Gerald Farrell, in charge of anti-submarine ship design for the Canadian navy.

"Noise has become a major problem because of the vast amount of electronic gear used in today's ships. The physiologists tell us that a person's effectiveness is lowered as noise around him increases.

"We now are able to keep noise down to 70 or 75 decibels in the living spaces in our new ships. An ordinary office, without the typewriter going, is about a noise level of about 55 decibels."

Lessening noise makes not only a ship's operation effective but also the ship itself, Cmdr. Farrell said in an interview.

NOISE NECESSARY

"We are an anti-submarine navy. Our ships are, first of all listening ships. Therefore, the quieter our ships are, the better.

"In this regard, our main problem is the propellers. We've tried to cut down the noise by reduction of the props by reducing the number of revolutions per minute. I can't tell you by how much because that is secret."

The tall, sandy-haired naval architect, born at Portsmouth, England, in 1919 and on loan to the Canadian Navy since 1949, said noise and the effect of shock and vibration are bound up with that of noise.

Noise has been cut down by putting as much equipment as possible, especially fast-gunning gear, on rubber feet. This includes fans, pumps, gun mountings but not guns or radar.

AHEAD OF OTHERS

Key to putting as much equipment as possible on resilient mounts, Cmdr. Farrell said, is to keep it light. We are at least as far ahead as any other country on this sort of thing.

Resilient mounts also can cut down the effects of shock and vibration. Thus, when the ship's own guns are fired or there is a near underwater explosion near the hull, gear will not be shaken loose.

These ships are built to withstand a shock that would move the hull of the ship as much as 10 feet. The shock would shove everything out of alignment if it were not set on resilient mounts.

The new mountings are being installed in the new destroyer escorts, still under construction, and in destroyers undergoing conversion.

West May Advance New Plan In Effort to End Arms Race

LONDON (CP) — The world's five leading atomic powers gathered for a meeting here today in quest of a way to end the nuclear arms race and outlaw atomic and germ warfare.

There were guarded hints from British and United States informants that the Western powers, jointly or individually, might put forward revised proposals in a bid to break the present deadlock with Russia on the issues.

The decision to take the British government's stately Lancaster House as meeting place for the talks, suspicion. The group is meeting as a sub-committee of the UN disarmament commission.

Recent disclosures of effects of hydrogen bomb explosions have gave new urgency to the task facing the Russian and Western disarmament experts. Revelations stemming from United States tests in the Pacific have aroused fear and reaction of nervousness in many parts of the globe and especially in this crowded island. The call for Churchill government to propose that a new effort at control should be made in London.

LANIEL SEEKS CONFIDENCE VOTE FROM ASSEMBLY

Geneva Parley's Fate May Depend on Result

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS (AP) — Premier Joseph Laniel sought a vote of confidence today from a balky National Assembly. The outcome could decide not only the fate of his shaky government but possibly that of the Geneva conference as well. . . .

The assembly debate was scheduled to start this afternoon with the vote coming at its conclusion, probably hours later.

Politics' experts gave Laniel only a slim chance of surviving.

The issue was the premier's demand that debate on Indo-China be suspended during the Geneva conference. He won a confidence vote on the same question by 311 to 283 Tuesday, but that was before the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

The Laniel's favor, however, Foreign Minister Georges Bidault has been in the midst of negotiations at Geneva for multi-faceted peace in Indo-China. To throw out the government now would be like throwing out Bidault as well. And while much of the resentment in the assembly was directed against the foreign minister, many deputies were hesitant about having France voiceless at Geneva because of a change in cabinet.

WON PREVIOUS VOTES

The general desire to have France fully represented at these national conferences was done much to keep Laniel in office during the last 11 months. He unusually long term for a post-war 3-party government. He won previous confidence votes because of well-coached speeches, first in Bermuda and later in Berlin.

The deputies were generally hiding their feelings about a debate the Indo-China situation at this time. Many also feared that if they left Geneva, in Laniel, their people back home might interpret it as approval of the Dien Bien Phu situation.

Troops in Korea May Withdraw Despite Deadlock

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP)—The deadlock on Korea at the Geneva conference has not ruled out withdrawal of United Nations troops—including Canadians—until true is the peninsula is pacified, it is learned here.

If the present division at the 38th parallel is to be maintained, the most conference observers expect, a UN force must still be placed on the withdrawal of Canadian and other United Nations troops.

It is felt here that a Korean army, now numbering about 20 divisions, should be built up and to hold its half of the peninsula on its own.

Here a trade is made as to when the Canadian forces might be sent home.

Rich Alberta Farm Land Made Ronning 'Accidental' Canadian

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA. (CP)—Some 300 acres of rich Alberta farm land made Chester Ronning "accidental" Canadian out of Chester Ronning.

Ronning will take over leadership of the Canadian delegation at the Geneva conference on Indo-China, to succeeds External Affairs Minister Pearson, off to London for atomic energy talks.

The 59-year-old Ronning, of Nanking missionary stock, is a tall, gentle-mannered man who has spent nearly half his life in China, speaks Chinese as readily as he does English and has intimate knowledge of the background of contemporary Chinese leaders.

He had a ringside seat during the great revolution of 1922-27 when everyone was taken hostage but set Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek firmly in the saddle. He was in Hankow when the revolutionary government was set up there.

If Canada can help to smooth the plunge and recognizes Communist China, the chances are Chester Ronning will be her first ambassador at Peiping.

Ronning was born Dec. 13, 1894 in Fanching, Hupeh, most central of the provinces. His father, Hulbert, a missionary, was in his youth one of the champion skiers of Telemark, Norway.

The process which was to transform the Ronning family from a Canadian diplomat began in 1901. Passing through Calgary during the Boxer rebellion, Ronning senior was advised to buy a parcel of Alberta agricultural land at $3 an acre.

He did, and the tip paid off. The family moved to Canada in 1908 and now has a home at Camrose.

Since those early days the missionary's son has alternated between Canada and the Far East, spending a total of about 25 years in China.

'Work Can Begin On Great Project' Says President

Canadian Ambassador Sees White House Ceremony

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed the St. Lawrence seaway bill in a White House ceremony.

"Now work can begin on the great project," the president declared as he put his signature to the measure which sets in motion United States participation in a plan to bring ocean trade into the heart of the continent.

With more than a score of Congress members and the Canadian ambassador, A. D. P. Heeney, looking on, Eisenhower used pens to sign the bill.

Three of them were made from wood recovered from old Fort Detroit in Michigan, which was the last of the British-held forts in the U. S.

HAPPY TO SIGN

Eisenhower said he was happy to sign it and that he was particularly glad the Canadian ambassador was present.

The president announced plans for the ceremony at his press conference Wednesday. He spoke of it as a major struggle and study that has terminated, in reference to the historic contested American legislation that finally cleared congress last Friday.

The measure authorizes the U. S. to join Canada in building a waterway deep enough to let ocean ships sail from the Atlantic as far inland as Toledo, Ohio, by going up the St. Lawrence river to the Great Lakes.

Engineers figure it will take about six years to complete the project. There is talk among U. S. plan to extend the ocean channel all the way to Duluth, Minn., at the end of Lake Superior, but this will require further congressional action.

The seaway idea has been endorsed by all U. S. presidents from Woodrow Wilson on. Long before Wilson's time, settlers of the St. Lawrence valley dreamed of commerce between the open sea and the Great Lakes.

The seaway will eliminate a navigation bottleneck in the international rapids section of the St. Lawrence which now allows passage of ships with only a 14-foot draught or less. The project would deepen this to 27 feet and add necessary locks and canals.

ALSO POWER PROJECT

The 46-mile rapids, beginning at Cornwall, Ont., and Corn-wall, Ont., will also be dammed to huge construction job of 2,002,000,000 power plant. This is a separate project but one undertaken by the U. S. state and the province of Ontario.

Without the power project, the Expresses Belief In Bipartisan Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower expressed firm belief in a bipartisan foreign policy Wednesday and the Democratic leader willing to go "more than half way" to achieve it.

"As Americans interested in the preservation of our country, I think we should be able to work together in any area of foreign policy where we are in agreement," Senator Lyndon Johnson (Dem. Tex.) told the Senate.

Eisenhower entered the debate over bipartisanship with an assertion at his press conference that the United States was headed on a bipartisan basis as far as possible and practical.

FILE BIG SUIT

NEW YORK (AP)—The Hair Holdings Corp., Inc., Wednesday filed a $5,000,000 damage suit against Serge Rubinstein, international financier in U.S. government is seeking to deport.

seaway would not be economically practical.

The seaway bill passed the U. S. House of Representatives a week ago today. The Senate, which took similar action in January, concurred Tuesday on minor amendments made by the House. Thus it came to and a legislative tug-of-war years in which the seaway plan had always before been defeated.

A legal objection to New York's right to engage in the power project still remains to be resolved, so the final go-ahead is still weeks or perhaps months away.

Some units of the power project may be in operation ahead of the time estimated for the seaway, but the main planning of both projects has been completed.

OVER-TURNED HIGHWAY FLARE CAUSES FIREMEN RUN

An over-turned highway flare that spread flaming oil over the roadway caused city firemen a run to the corner of Victoria Ave. and Pinnacle Street Wednesday evening.

The flare had been set out to protect barricades placed during street repairs and in some way had been upset.

A second run for firemen was to the Cannilton auto wreckers, where a welder's torch had set fire to a car that was being wrecked.

No damage was reported as result of either of the fires.

H.C. Batchelor, CNR Engineer Served 43 Years

A Canadian National Railways locomotive engineer who started his railroading career with the Great Western in England shortly after the turn of the century, today bid farewell to his locomotive cab and fast passenger runs.

He is H. C. Batchelor, 45 Crerview Ave., who this afternoon rolled No. 5 to a stop at the north station in Belleville run. He will go on vacation until May 31st and will then be officially retired.

RESIDENT SINCE 1941.

A resident of this city since 1941 when he was moved here from Toronto he has been on passenger runs for the past four or five years. He started with the Grand Trunk in 1911 at Lindsay as a fireman; four years later was classed as an engineer and went to Toronto in 1926. From then until he was moved to Belleville he "worked" the mainline to Fort Erie and Sarnia in both freight and passenger service.

He preferred passenger service to freight "because the hours are regular," but thinks the diesel power units are "getting to be quite fine". He foresees the time when diesels will be adapted also to passenger service.

BORN IN ENGLAND.

Mr. Batchelor is very much the home type and expects to spend many hours in his vegetable and flower garden in which he takes great pride. He is particularly proud of the two peach tree whihc each fall keep the family in fresh fruit.

Mr. and Mrs. Batchelor have a modern home in the new section of the city. "But you can always find something to do around the house." he says. Painting the basement is one of the chores he has in mind.

He doesn't fish or hunt but he takes keen enjoyment from a game of snooker with "the boys" and also bowls a mean game with club members at the alleys.

MEMBER OF I.O.O.F.

He is a member of the Oddfellows Lodge in Toronto, dating to the B. of L.E., while Mrs. Batchelor is a member of the Grand International Auxiliary of the same organization. They are members of St. Paul's United Church.

Father of four children, two sons and two daughters, Mr. Batchelor is a man sorry that at least one of his sons did not see fit to follow in his footsteps as a railroader. One son actually started work on the railway but quit in favor of a department store.

Two daughters, Mrs. W. (Lois) Brown, and Mrs. Ray (Ruth) Perks, live in Belleville. John lives in Los Angeles, California, and Gerald lives in Toronto. There are four grandchildren.

GEORGE WRIGHT.

Mr. Wright, who came to Belleville fifteen years ago from West Lake in Prince Edward County, had been ill for the past four months. News of his death will cause deep sorrow amongst a wide circle of old friends. His home was at 22 Cornwall Street.

The late Mr. Wright was a native of Essex, England. He was predeceased by his wife, whose maiden name was Eliza Crozier. Surviving to mourn his passing are three sons, George of Point Anne, Harry of Wellington, and Charles of Picton; and two daughters, Mrs. Ann Lewis of Point Anne, and Mrs. Edith Gregory, both of Belleville.

In religion the late Mr. Wright was a member of the Church of England.

Pound Keeper Finds Owner Of Lost Cat

The value of advertising is quite generally recognized and this was proven again yesterday to city pound keeper Charles Thorn who reports he never realized there were so many cat lovers in the city.

Yesterday's edition of the Ontario Intelligencer carried a brief story of a handsome white cat that had been turned in to the pound by an East Hill woman. The cat had apparently become strayed from its home and couldn't find its way back.

But apparently a number of white cats had become lost. At least that is the impression gained by the pound keeper who was flooded with telephone calls.

"I never had so many calls," Mr. Thorn said today." And was

400 District Residents Enjoy Hospital Guided Tours

Close to 400 city and district residents visited the Belleville General Hospital, Wednesday, National Hospital Day, and enjoyed specially-conducted tours of the hospital's many departments, with data on the services and facilities of a community hospital, and a special tea convened by members of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary.

Three special tours of the hospital were arranged for the convenience of the visitors but 85 per cent of the guests were so enthusiastic they took all three tours.

Visitors were greeted in the administrative office by J. N. Yaker, chairman of the hospital's board of governors; Miss Margaret Peart, Reg. N., director of the school of nursing; Mrs. W. Taylor, president of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, and Kenneth Box, hospital administrator.

The first tour included a visit to the kitchen, laundry, central supply office and pharmacy. The work of the kitchen was explained by Miss Scarcrot, the dietitian and department head. The operation of the city's largest laundry was outlined by Mr. P. Philip, while details of central supply service were explained by M. Pelkola. Miss R. Chisholm gave visitors to the pharmacy a brief outline of the supply of pharmaceuticals available and the extent of the work of a hospital "drugstore."

The second tour included a visit to an operating room, the laboratories and the X-ray department.

VASCINATING EXHIBIT

One of the most fascinating exhibits for visitors was the mock operation in the operating room. Students, under the direction of

Selling Customer Adequate Wiring A Tough Job
Selling a customer the importance of installing adequate wiring when building or remodelling a home is one of the toughest jobs a contractor runs across.
But Willis L. Brenton, Corbyville electrical contractor, does more than just tell his customers the advantage of the right type of wiring—he proves it by demonstration.
Mr. Brenton has spent considerable money in setting up demonstrations to show potential customers that they can actually save money in electrical bills by investing in heavier wiring. Not only does heavier wiring save in hydro costs, but reduces fire hazard, he tells them.
"Electrical Contracting and Maintenance," a magazine devoted to the electrical contracting business, in its April edition has paid tribute to Mr. Brenton and his efforts to sell adequate wiring. A three-page article with descriptive photos on the Corbyville contractor's endeavor is carried in the magazine.

Spearing Fish Under Water Thrilling Sport

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bill Thomson, Vancouver sportsman, has substituted a spear gun for the conventional fishing rod as a sure method of catching more fish.

Member of the recently-organized Blue Sharks Spear Fishing Club, Thomson claims the new approach gives him at least one fish every time out.

Wearing an outfit similar to that used by frogmen, the 22-year-old fisherman dives to depths of 75 feet under water in search of his quarry. Recently he was successful in 60 feet down in Horseshoe bay when he spotted a ling cod.

Bill fires the cross-bow spear gun and came up with a 33-pound jettie, a species of the Pacific coast. The fish beat by one pound the mark held by Jim Blanchard of Seattle, a member of the Sound Mud Sharks.

Bill says the under-water sport is the "most thrilling" he has ever tried. But it also costs more than sitting behind a rod and waiting for a bite. A spear fisherman must spend about $250 for a rubber suit, diving mask, air tanks, cross-bow and spear, a weight belt and two suits of woollen underwear.

Thomson admits there is an element of danger in the sport.

"The biggest danger to a spear fisherman is losing control of himself," he said. "The novice tends to get panicky and use up his air too fast." Under normal conditions, however, the diving equipment enables the fisherman to remain under water for periods up to 45 minutes.

Morse Criticizes Foreign Policy Of Eisenhower

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (CP)—Senator Wayne Morse (Ind. Ore.) said Wednesday the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration is "marching straight to war."

Morse, who quit the Republican party during the 1952 election campaign, told the annual convention of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (CIO) the Republican party is becoming a "war party" under the leadership of Eisenhower, State Secretary Dulles and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff.

"Every American should pause and consider the importance of placing a check on the Eisenhower administration in the field of foreign policy," Morse said. The present policy might lead to armed intervention in Indo-China.

Morse, who threw his support behind Democratic Adlai Stevenson in the 1952 presidential campaign, said election of a democratic Congress next November is the only way the Republicans' drive toward war can be checked.

"Then Eisenhower will have to sit down with the committees of the Congress and conduct a bipartisan foreign policy."

Morse said Dulles had lost support in Asia by a "fumbling, bungling policy" of losing India, losing "international policy prestige" and losing face.

Northern Electric Defeats Trenton

Pulling up a strong battle against their more experienced opponents the Trenton soccer club was edged 1-0 by Northern Electric in a scheduled Bay of Quinte Football League game last night at Cathcart's Corners. The only game marked a contest that could easily have gone either way. Carswell in the Trenton goal, was one of the outstanding stars.

Clapps Crowd Alley Cats In Spring League

Clapp Motors put-putted to within a point of the leading Alley Cats in the Spring Bowling league last night following their 7-0 win over Seeley's Barbers. The scores were 3564 and 3300.

Quinte Distributors lost a heart-breaking 7-0 set to Kirkwood's Staples. The Quintes had amassed 3785, their highest score of the season and appeared well on the way to victory, but Joe's Staples were red hot and came up with a 3943 total for the win. In the other games Alley Cats (3296) edged Alerts (3213) by a close count with Canada Cement (3310) trimming Trihards (3160) by similar score.

The standing to date, with two games to play: Alley Cats 37; Clapp Motors 36; Kirkwood Staples 19; Canada Cement 18; Alerts 17; Trihards 16; Quinte Distributors 14; Trihards 13, and Alerts 8.

Wren and Doucett May Both Appear Before Committee

TORONTO (CP)—The possibility was seen today that both Albert Wren and Highways Minister Doucett may appear before the legislature's select committee in its investigation of the expropriation which has resulted in charges of conspiracy against Wren and three others.

Mr. Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the legislature for Kenora, said Wednesday in a statement he has secured "even more evidence of irregularities" in divisions of the department of highways, "outside of Huntsville and Fort William."

He said he wants Mr. Doucett called again before the committee because he is "not of embarrassing questions for him to answer."

Mr. Doucett, who has appeared previously, said he is available at any time to testify before the committee under oath.

OFFICES FEDERAL INQUIRY

He also said there is no need for a federal inquiry into the department of public works on grounds that a federal inspector has been charged in connection with the highways department case.

The inquiry was asked Tuesday by Progressive Conservative leader George Drew in the House of Commons.

It was learned Wednesday night that other members of the committee on highways plan to ask that Mr. Wren, a committee member, be called as a witness, placed under oath and asked to disclose any information he has.

Authorities at Lake O'Park said this procedure would be in order. Although Mr. Wren is a member of the legislature and of the committee, there is nothing in the Ontario Legislative Assembly Act which prohibits calling him as a witness.

NUCLEAR POWER

LONDON (CP)—A forecast that within 10 years Britain will be building nuclear power stations "reasonably competing" with orthodox stations in the cost of electricity produced, was made by Sir Christopher Hinton, deputy controller of atomic energy production.

More Hospital Beds Needed CCF Meet Told

"We are short at least 10,000 hospital beds in Ontario today, adequately care for our people and we need an additional 11,000 mental hospital beds to catch up with the need of our mentally ill", stated Fred Young, CCF organizer, here Wednesday night.

Speaking at a party rally in the Hotel Quinte, Mr. Young scored the failure of the present provincial government to meet the serious situation facing Ontario in the health field.

"Increased Blue Cross rates, higher doctor's fees, and skyrocketing hospital charges are putting medical care beyond the reach of the average person, and when such care must be had, it often wrecks the family budget for years to come," Mr. Young said.

"Industrial medical plans are good as far as they go, but when a man loses his job, as thousands are doing today, the medical plan is lost with the job," continued the speaker.

PROVINCIAL QUOTA

"Dr. Phillips, Provincial Minister of Health, recently stated that the Conservatives would have nothing to do with a provincial health plan, and Farquhar Oliver, in a province-wide broadcast on March 31, said people should have one only in conjunction with the private insurance companies. Only a CCF party will give the people a health plan unless the Insurance companies can profit from it.

In contrast with this, the CCF government of Saskatchewan has had a provincial health plan for eight years and has built hospitals, until today it has enough beds for its needs and leads the nation in the number of beds per capita," said Mr. Young.

"The only way to get a proper health plan in Ontario is to elect a government which believes in such a plan," the speaker declared.

FRANCHISE QUOTED

Turning to the question of unemployment, he quoted Finance Minister Abbott's boast that more purchasing power in the economy so Canadians can purchase the commodities the economy produces. This can be done through better farm prices, and especially in the low wage areas, higher pensions, health services and the like.

Officers elected to the local branch of the CCF party at last night's meeting were: President, L. W. Digby; first vice-president, E. Nelson; second vice president, H. T. Terry; secretary, N. Mossip; treasurer, C. Elliott; membership chairman, A. C. Cole.

Chairman of the meeting was George Elliott.

Graduates of Soviet Schools Must Go Where Sent by Union

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK (AP)—Graduation from universities in Russia, as in other countries, but in the Soviet Union this occasion is often one of weeping as parents hope to prevent their sons and daughters from being sent to Siberia.

Each year as they complete their courses and become specialists, thousands of young men and women are sent to take up work in the less-habitable regions. Their parents don't know when they'll see them again.

A recent issue of Pravda throws light on the complete Soviet system make to keep their offspring from this involuntary exile.

Pravda told about a letter sent by a scientific research worker in the Moscow proletarian to a highly placed friend in the Moscow prosecutor's office. The scientific, Konstantin Shistovsky, asked Peter Petrov, his friend, to try to arrange that Shistovsky's daughter Marina, about to finish the course at the Moscow Juridical Institute, could get work permitting her to stay in Moscow.

REFUSED ASSISTANCE

In this particular case, Pravda reported, the person asked refused the assistance.

But, said the paper, its investigation revealed that many graduates of the Institute had received help in avoiding what are called duties to the state. Ten graduates last year, the paper said, had succeeded in staying in Moscow against the rules.

The government considers that graduates who have benefited during their education from state scholarships—this means the overwhelming majority of students in higher educational institutions—lack the right to decide themselves where they will work.

University graduates before completing their courses are called on for a committee which decides where they will work. The student 1734 has no right to appeal from this decision.

Once he accepts his assignment, in any event, he and some parents and students—find their way around the stiff laws.

Must Answer Questions Says Court of Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Court of Appeal has ruled that three Vancouver men, former directors in a distillery here, must answer pre-trial questions in the $2,000,000 suit of Mrs. Nat Bell of Calgary.

Mrs. Bell, widow of Nat Bell one of the founders of United Distillers of Canada Ltd., is suing George Morgan, Albert McLennan and Isidore J. Klein, alleging fraud in the sale of shares.

The case was indicted in New York Tuesday on charges of failing to pay $17,000,000 in taxes on profits made from the sale of Canadian whisky in the United States.

In the Vancouver case, the court ruled that the pre-trial questions of Mrs. Bell must be answered and that they must disclose documents needed in the case.

Justice Rules Stocks, Bonds Of Firm Valid

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice W. F. Schroder of the Supreme Court of Ontario ruled Wednesday that stocks and bonds held by Canadians in Barcelona Traction, Light and Power Company are valid.

The decision came six years after Barcelona, a Canadian holding company, was declared bankrupt by a Spanish court and new issues of stocks and bonds were approved in Spain.

In a written judgment of more than 60 pages, Mr. Justice Schroder said: "What has occurred in Spain strikes at the fundamental rights of all companies in this country which have made heavy capital investments in foreign countries."

He said the Spanish action was a "course of misconduct which can have far-reaching and disastrous consequences to Canadian investors." The action was asked by the National Trust Company Ltd., owners of capital stock and bonds that were issued by Barcelona.

Mr. Justice Schroeder decided that new stocks and bonds held by Spanish interests are worthless. He refused to grant a final order to National Trust, "notwithstanding the delay in the application for relief is, or could be, claimed."

The Spanish government seized physical assets of the companies in Spain, although Mr. Justice Schroeder noted that it was "rather astonishing that Barcelona, which has never sought the right to do business in Spain, has never carried on business there and has no assets there except bonds." Unions, Newspapers write about it every year and every June some patents and students—find their way around the stiff laws.

Anglican Synods Oppose Gambling

TORONTO (CP)—Three Ontario Synods of the Anglican Church Wednesday opposed gambling at their annual sessions. They elected officers and discussed the extension of church activities.

One of the main recommendations of country separate synods conferring at London (Diocese of Huron), Hamilton (Diocese of Niagara) and Kingston (Diocese of Ontario) was a firm stand against any extension of gambling.

Rev. K. N. Bueton of Arthur said: "Perhaps there is nothing wrong with selling tickets on a quilt, but if the church is going into lotteries, raffles and chances should also serve beer."

The Rev. Mr. Bueton told delegates at the 88th annual session of the Ontario Synod that it would be a good idea if women were permitted to attend the sessions as lay delegates from the parishes. This is not allowed now under synod rules.

Bargain May Prove Expensive

TORONTO — The farm section is an institution of long standing where the highest bidder gets the article at a price he is prepared to pay. In most cases the price paid bears some relation to the true value of the article or animal, but in grass and clover seeds the apparent bargain at an auction may turn out to be a definite liability.

A sample of a 500-pound lot of seed recently purchased at a farm auction was sent in to the Field Crops Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture, for analysis. An official examination by the Plant Products Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture revealed that, in addition to Alfalfa, Red Clover, Alsike, Sweet Clover and Timothy, each ounce of the mixture contained 365 weed seeds or six billion, eight hundred thousand weed seeds for the 200-pound lot.

On the basis of one ounce these were: 308 Night Flowering Catchfly; 90 Curled Dock; 60 Green Foxtail; 45 Couch Grass; 23 Bladder Campion; 23 Rib Grass and 11 Canada thistle. Canada's seed laws are designed for the protection of purchasers of farm and weed seed content of a bag of grass or legume seed is not readily available on visual observation, and the only way to be reasonably sure is to buy these seeds on a test basis.

This particular lot of seed like many others bought on sight at farm auctions turned out to be an extremely doubtful bargain.

PROMOTION A LITTLE DELAYED

"First in peace, first in war and first in the hearts of his countrymen"—is not that what our cousins to the south say about General George Washington?

One would have thought that such a tribute was adequate, even for a man who took the lead in founding a great nation.

Now we learn that there are some members of the U.S. Congress who think that Washington has been snubbed all these years.

Representative John W. McCormack, Massachusetts Democrat, has introduced a bill to promote Washington to the rank of General of the Army. That would place him on equal footing with President Eisenhower and General MacArthur.

But Senator Edward Martin, Pennsylvania Republican, does not believe this promotion is sufficient. He wants Washington made a General of the Armies (in the plural). Only Pershing of First Great War fame has ever held that rank.

Isn't this all rather silly? No promotion will make him a better general—and a new flamboyant title might detract from the historical fact that one of the notable features of the American revolution was that it was achieved by a man who had comparatively little military experience or training.

AN OMINOUS TREND

Britain has a population problem.

That is evident from figures contained in a recent release by the United Kingdom Information Office at Ottawa.

The estimated home population of England and Wales at December 31, 1953, was 44,168,000. This was an increase of 123,000 over the previous year's population at the end of 1952. The increase in itself is not alarming. But a breakdown by age-groups reveals an ominous trend. The increase since December of 1952, for people aged 65 years and over, was 68,000; for children under 15 years of age the increase was 61,000. In other words, there was an increase of 129,000 in the number of persons who would normally be classified as dependents. The number of people on whom they must depend for their maintenance, those in the age-group between 15 and 64 inclusive, declined by 6,000.

The increase in life-expectancy which has resulted from advances of medical science is raising the number in the higher age brackets on this continent, too. Here in Canada, as in Britain, however, the number of those in the middle group, the workers of the nation, is increasing, too. Not only is there a natural increase, but we are also benefiting by immigration. Britain, on the other hand, would appear to be suffering from emigration.

REVOLUTION PLANNED

In case you are interested—and you had better be if you value your comfort—a group of revolutionaries is assembling in Montreal at the end of the month.

These conspirators are coming from continents. They will meet at the Queen Elizabeth, Mount Royal Hotel and alas, there seems little hope that Premier Maurice Duplessis will play the hero and apply Quebec's padlock law to the proceedings. In this instance it appears no reason for harboring even a shred of a suspicion that the Kremlin Kids are master-minding the revolt.

These revolutionaries are members of the International Association of Clothing Designers. Their weapons are design boards, cloth, needles and thread. Their aim is to give modern man's clothing a more "genteel" look.

This threat would be serious enough even if the conspirators were unaided. Unfortunately, there is good reason to believe that the designers already have a fifth column working for them. Women are reported to be interested in the venture.

Action is essential. Men who think they can root out fellow travellers and subversives better act at once. The wise will merely buy their favorite tailor a bottle of Highland dew and hope for the best.

CRISIS COMING

Cool with squalls.

That's our weather prediction for Saturday in many a Belleville home.

Dr. Gallup of the Weatherman fool you with any last-minute counter-propaganda about fair and sunny days. Sunshine at this late stage of the game will just make the inside temperature go lower.

The unhappy truth is that the frost is still on last year's unremoved pumpkin in the back yard, at a time when the pages of the calendar are flipping hastily toward May 15.

And May 15, of course, is the opening of the pickerel and yellow season in this district.

If the Weatherman had been co-operative, an ambitious man might have made quite a dent in the spring chores before Saturday.

But now a cloud of interest is inevitable.

About the only thing the Weatherman can now do to escape the danger of being listed as co-respondent in a flock of divorce actions is to produce a real snowstorm Saturday morning.

Obviously, if it snows, gardening is out—and no sensible man would attempt to wash the windows.

So, of course, he would then be free to go fishing.

THE DAY

This day was never seen before
Dawn, noon and evening tide
Nor will again be seen.
And night,
No man one minute can restore
Pass in and out of town.
Or alter what has been.
Nor will they linger in their flight
For priest, or king, or clown.

As other days have come and gone
So this one comes and goes.
The clock ticks, and it hurries on,
Last night this was tomorrow more;
That is tomorrow may be born
And when it slips away
But whither no man knows.
It will be yesterday.

Paleface Errors

(By C. K. in the Milwaukee Journal),

When Christopher Columbus made his original bonner, mistaking this continent for India and calling its native Indians, he started a long line of misconceptions about the "redskins" — another misnomer.

A new book on Indians, "The Real Americans," published by Putnam, explodes some of these common myths. Author Ruth Murray Verrill, contends that a good deal of Indian lore either originated in wild west literature and the movies or was exaggerated far beyond the truth.

For example, only a few tribes practised the gory custom of collecting scalps, and most of them started after the whites began paying the bounties for scalps of their enemies. The highest bounty was $400 per scalp in Massachusetts, while in 1967 a scalp was worth only $10 in Georgia. Similarly, hunting was a profitable industry until the close of the Indian wars in the 1870's.

The terrifying "war whoop" was never heard or described by the many Indians. The nearest approach to one, according to Verrill, was a Sioux warrior's cry, "Hope-Hookahey," meaning "chasers, go get 'em." Woodland Indians, on the other hand, tried to keep as silent as possible during an attack.

War paint, too, was misunderstood by most white men. Far from attempting to frighten their enemies, Indians used it as camouflage and a means of identification. Tribal designs and colors helped to distinguish friend from foe in a battle between two tribes.

A more proper word for "war bonnet" would be "ceremonial bonnet," according to Verrill. No Indian in his right mind would go into battle wearing the cumbersome headdress made up of hundreds of feathers. The long tailed bonnet was worn only at ceremonial affairs, usually held in honor of a visiting chief.

Furthermore, the size of the bonnet indicated the importance of the wearer's prestige. One or two eagle feathers notched in a certain manner or lipped with red or yellow feathers identified the great warriors and chieftains. Most of the showy war bonnets were strictly ornamental.

Such cruel tortures as burning a man at the stake or having him spread-eagled on a wagon wheel were not original with the Indians. They borrowed these reprehensible customs from the white settlers. The early Spanish explorers thought up the business of burning at the stake and hill and binding his head with rawhide.

Indians cannot accurately be described as redskins; the majority are pale brown, with a much paler hue on their legs and torso, protected from the sun. There are some full blooded Indians with blond or red hair. Some have gray, blue or green eyes. And contrary to legend, Indian babies cry, although they are somewhat quieter as a rule than most white children.

Male Indians could grow beards as easily as a white man, although most of them kept their faces hairless by shaving or pulling out the hair. They were not lazy. The squaws did much of the work around the camp, but the men provided the food and protected the family.

Western movies notwithstanding, there never were princes, princesses or royal families among the Indians. In most cases, the tribal chief was merely an ability. His sons and daughters had some prestige but nothing to rank with the European idea of hereditocracy.

The traditional Indian greeting, "How", was not a question, but a word meaning "I greet you well." It actual spelling is Hau. Also, the Indian term for a white man was not paleface but whitiskin.

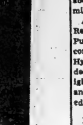
Only a few of the Algonquin tribes referred to their God as Manitou. Most of the Indians who was regarded more as a happy planning ground than a happy hunting ground.

Some famous Indians did not deserve their reputations. Pontiac, nimo, the notorious Apache chief, merely engaged in a few minor massacres and ran away when things looked tough. The reputation of Sitting Bull was much more confused.

He was well known as Jumping Badger and later as Buffalo Bull Who Waits, but never Sitting Bull. He was not a great chieftain but a medicine man who always arranged to be out of the way of the battle the mastermind behind the Custer massacre, he was a religious fanatic rather than a fierce warrior. As chief, who himself died several months before the battle of the Little Big Horn.

Finally, avers Verrill, Indians are not a dying folk, but "a jolly, talkative lot with a keen sense of humor and a great love of jests for jokes." The author includes in his book a number of tales which Indians regard highly. Samples:

"The Civilized Indian" the eastern woman asked a comely Indian woman standing by the railway station in a western town.



"Half Injun", the woman replied. "Pure spirited at a location five, she added: "And half Injuneer."

CHEERIO, OLD CROCKS

On a rainy night three or four years ago I hurried out to get the car off the street before the cops nicked it. slipped on the steps and came up, after two or three tries, with a large lump on right side of my head. A open gash over left eye and Colles fracture of left arm. It was curred to me, as I lay there considering some better way to get in out of the rain, that we might all meet the guy with the scythe in dignified, leisurely fashion but for such mishaps as infection, accidents, murder and execution.

Dr. Brady

What I mean is physical degeneration, which begins the moment after one has attained full growth and development.

Of course one likes to believe one can attain the peak at, say, forty and stay there until the sere years.

Sometimes, when I do my morning rub and six movements of the last Brady symphony, I assure myself I'm going to end up as a genuine column conducting record—if some wild driver doesn't run me off on my way to the bowling green.

As a matter of fact I've been dying for years. But don't let any one deceive you about it. I still have a lot on the ground floor—for some ominous reason one of 'em has turned up this winter. My name is my own and not just a name used by a syndicate or clique of doctors to propagate their ideas. Indeed, if I were obliged to find a group of more than two words to describe my share or approve most of the ideas propagated in this column, I'd say the lock with it and go back to Penn Yan, hang out my shingle (I'm still licensed to practise my art and all branches of medicine and surgery in New York) and start all over again. He might not be easy to find a beautiful scrawl like Troyer and a rubber-lived, patent leather dash, low-sill buggy like the one Mr. Whitfield made for me, but I might persuade the grandchildren of some of my old patients to pay a little something on those bills. I have never burned the books.

When I was 35 I felt sorry for old crocks in their fifties. But my conscience is comfortable. Certainly I have tried with all my heart to teach 'em how to stay young with the blankety-blank.

Take for instance the pamphlet "Young Folks and Old Folks in which I tell in words of one syllable how to supplement the everyday diet and stay ahead of the game the process of physical degeneration. You just feed your body one food a daily ration of the three minerals and the three vitamins a good diet should contain and the ordinary refined diet does not.

Many of the letters report how much good this has done them—but now that they are feeling so much better they have stopped taking the tablets...they don't stop eating bread and potatoes or mixed and potatoes when they feel better, but then, you don't get bread and boiled meat and potatoes with drugstore. Besides, who's afraid of getting fat when pep and better, meat and potatoes hahi!

Yard of Vodka Tests Manhood

(St. Thomas Times-Journal).

A dispatch from Old London states that the first consignment of vodka since the revolution of 1917 has arrived there, and that "the demand for it is terrific."

Ever taste the stuff?

On the principle of being willing to try anything once, we had a shot of vodka once upon a time in a Russian restaurant in New York. The atmosphere in the restaurant was thoroughly Russian. The waiters were attired like Cossacks with furry hats, the first course for dinner was borsch, the main course sturgeon, and for dessert, ice cream fortified, but when the Cossack asked us what we would like to drink with our meal we replied we said "Vodka."

He looked harmless. Just like a small glass of pure water. But the first sip! Wow! It made the water run out of our eyes, and we thought the waiter had given us lysol by mistake. After allowing a period for recovery we tried it again; the tears ran down our cheeks and we choked, but decided that's enough of that.

Later the waiter talked to us, and admitted it was too strong for anyone not gradually broken in to it. "Why, in my town," says a young man in Russia," he said, "you drink it by the yard. You are known as awfully few in number."

It is somewhere near the truth of all those thousands upon thousands of bureaus and chiffoniers in the homes and stores all over the continent, millions of dollars worth of clothing and linen, empty week after week, month after month, year after year. Think of the old ones that hang on the counter for twenty, thirty years in the hotel every day. Solid wood with silk, with formality, an ornament, a conventionality, an empty pretense.

Those bureaus and dressers at home have experienced as full a life as we have; packed with the changing values and contents of our lives are we were young, or grew fat, bulging with the ever changing fashions, even of our underwear. Filled, as with silk, with the trinkety accumulation of our years or more.

But for Solid furniture, how hollow is life.

Car Hunting In Chicago

(Cleveland Plain Dealer).

Think you car is sometimes a headache? Think of the nightmare Herbert Livermore of Chicago experienced.

Police stopped him one night and asked him why he was driving. They looked the car, gave him the slip. He wrote the license down in his driver's license and Livermore went home by bus. He lost his license, forgot the silicosis of names, forgot the street.

After four days of looking in vain and five weeks of frustration because the police department wouldn't help him, he was able because he had no evidence it had been stolen, get a replacement issued for the police who had stopped him.

His wife, hunting on her own, found the car the same day — evidently not stolen.

We hope Mrs. Livermore didn't rub it in too much.

New Canadian Turns a Phrase

(Windsor Star).

Previously we have observed with admiration the ease with a language often hits upon a most expressive word or phrase to describe it. It be one which persons accustomed to the language would not use.

The New Canadian woman was watching a gardener dig fertilizer into a row of beans. She noted the procedure with approval. "Make nice fat ground," she commented.

It was an apt expression. That fertilizer was what the gardener was trying to do, to enrich the soil so that the vegetables and beans to it. "Fat ground" grows fine flowers and grass.

Down the Sink

(Chatham News).

Gifts of good clothing should be used instead of hoarded, women are advised. Except the potent knockout drops variation, this should be poured down the sink.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SUGGESTION FOR BOOK

There are many literary clubs and social gatherings where books are discussed—usually the best sellers (which are not always the best books). I suggest a unique idea for such meetings. Invitations for each member to bring a book that has helped his or hers, not necessarily a current one. Then call on each to tell briefly what the book is and its influence—in a few words. Then donate the books to a local hospital, or other institution, or send them out to shut-ins. That would be a useful, interesting, and inspiring Book Party!

There is a friend like a book, which can be taken up at any time one wishes to do so. With a multitude of friends almost one, no one need be lonely, for there are great books to be with you, for comfort, entertainment, and inspiration. And you can always have this kind of a friend to be with you when you are in the mood, or are lonely for the thoughts of someone who will give you solace or guidance.

Books are really medicine—medicine that is good for the mind, the heart, and the body—with nothing but happy after effects.

Every so often I like to select a book from my shelves that I have never read, but long ago intended to read, and I read it and wonder why it remained for so long as a stranger to me! In my mind I say to this book: "Why did I stay away from you for so long!" I think of how much I have missed. Books are like that though. They wait patiently awaiting your love and selection.

Few books are so soothing to the mind as those on nature - by describing it.

Nursing Cows Checks Crime

(Wisconsin Farmer)

In Wisconsin six people out of every 10,000 are in jail. The United States average is almost twice that much. In fact, of all the states in the union, Wisconsin has the fewest people in the housegow.

This could mean several things. Maybe are are more law abiding. Or maybe our law enforcement is slack. Then, too, it could mean that our criminals are smarter than most.

A Green Lake county farmer had a different idea. "It's that dangled cows" he complained. "A man playing purse said to a bunch of cows just naturally doesn't have time for any devilment."

Enjoy Hard Work

(St. Thomas Times-Journal) ..

Believe it or not, but one way of getting hard work is to enjoy doing it.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Every hotel in the land has a bureau in it, with three to five drawers, and chiffoniers, and chest of drawers that may have five or six drawers, not to mention two or small ones on top.

Does anybody, ever, use these drawers?

Does anybody, even on a four or five day visit, unpack all his or her underwear, shirts, slips and so forth, and disperse them tidily in the bureau drawers, as they would at home?

On a recent country trip on which ye stayed at hotels from two to five days as a rule, my wife and I attempted to prove this on this matter.

"As a rule, never really seen anybody use the drawers," admitted the majority of them. And I've seen pictures, like the one in this paper lining of the drawers being removed, that they are used. If anybody uses them, they are these professional travellers who like to keep everything in order in their travelling bags.

But as a rule, most guests unpack their suits or dresses and hang them in the cupboard and that is all the small stuff right in their bags, sitting on the little luggage benches at the foot of the beds. But these pernickety travellers, these professionals, who do occasionally unpack everything and put it in the drawers, as if to air their luggage. It is almost as if they enjoyed packing and unpacking. But they are awfully few in number."

It is somewhere near to think of all those thousands upon thousands of bureaus and chiffoniers in the hotels and motels all over the continent, millions of dollars worth of clothing and linen, empty week after week, month after month, year after year. Think of the old ones that hang on the counter for twenty, thirty years in the hotel every day. Solid wood with silk, with formality, an ornament, a conventionality, an empty pretense.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

DIVINE PERFECTION

There were many things about our Lord which made Him unique, but nothing so much as His perfection.

It has been the belief of the Christian Church through the ages that Jesus was the perfect Man. He was the only perfect Being that ever walked the earth. He was perfect as all points like we are, yet without sin. Someone has called this "the strangeness of perfection." It was indeed the strangest thing that ever appeared upon the earth.

How necessary it is that the Lord of Life should be perfect. He had been otherwise. He would have been a continually fit example for the whole human race to follow. Greatest of all, however since he was the sin-bearer—it was necessary that He be perfect or the world be Himself without sin. If He had any of His own sin to carry, He could have paid for none of ours. He felt all our sins knocking at the door of His flesh and mind. He was not ignorant of the nature of sin, but He kept the door closed against its intrusion. When He came to the cross, He was able to ask the Father to put the sins of the world upon His heart, and mail and let Him take them down with Him into the grave. Only Jesus could do that. "The first Adam (Eve and Cain and Abel) became a living soul. The last Adam (Jesus Christ) became a life-giving spirit."

Minister of Education Opens Million-Dollar Collegiate

PICTON — Hon. Dr. W. J. Dunlop, M.P.P., B.Paed., LL.D., Minister of Education for Ontario, officially opened the million-dollar Prince Edward Collegiate Institute here, Wednesday afternoon. Also taking part in the ceremony, which drew a huge crowd, was Hon. Ralph Campney, M.P., Deputy Minister of National Defence, who is a native of Picton and who graduated from the former Collegiate here.

The former Collegiate burned two years ago and the interval the classes have been held in the armouries. The new school on Princess and Johnston streets is located on 15-acre grounds which are yet to be landscaped.

Premier Frost, who had earlier expected to attend the opening, was unable to do so as a result of being forced to enter hospital.

EXTENDS WELCOME

Following the singing of "O Canada", Rev. F. J. Whiteley of the United Church gave the invocation. R. Gerald Norman, chairman of the Collegiate Board, extended a welcome to the distinguished guests and others. The Minister of Education was introduced by Norris Whitney, M.P.P., Prince Edward - Lennox, while Donald Baxter introduced the Hon. Mr. Campney. County Warden Donald Walker, Mayor H. J. McFarland whose firm had the contract for the construction of the school, and Principal R. L. Perkin also spoke briefly, while the clergy was represented by Capt. G. Heron of the Ministerial Association and Rev. J. G. Chaney of the Roman Catholic Church. The singing of "God Save the Queen" concluded the ceremony, after which the visitors toured the school, which is claimed to be one of the most modern in Ontario.

SETTING UP SCHOLARSHIP

Mayor McFarland announced he was setting up a scholarship fund to assist worthy students and presented Mr. Norman with a cheque for $50.00. He also presented dollars a year until it has reached $15,000", said the contractor, Mr. McFarland also presented the school with an upholstered chair bearing the legend "Elizabeth the Queen" concluded the ceremony, after which the visitors toured the school, which is claimed to be one of the most modern in Ontario.

"Controversy has focussed attention of our educational system", Mr. Dunlop stated in remarking on a divergence of opinions. "Some say the basic fundamentals, where the stones of civilization are laid. Many parents do not take the responsibility that they should," said the Minister, who stressed the need for hard work, which he felt coupled with common sense, could lead to success. He felt that compulsion should be encouraged. Young people should be taught to understand good citizenship and to play their part in public service, he concluded.

A LARGE ORDER

Hon. Ralph Campney stressed that education for citizenship is a large order. "It means the development of an enlightened electorate which is basic to functioning democracy. It means more than that in this age when democracy signifies equality of social and economic opportunities for all. Not only must the forces of nature be overwhelmed in their recently revealed power, be mastered for man's betterment, but men must learn to live with themselves lest they destroy themselves', said the Minister.

HANDSOME BUILDING

The Collegiate is a handsome building of brick, steel and glass. It contains forty rooms of all kinds, of which 21 are teaching units. Included is a modern cafeteria and a double gymnasium which also serves as a hall for special events and assemblies, a principal's office, a magnificent board room, vocational guidance room, general offices and health rooms. Rooms specialized use are library, commercial rooms, art room, sewing room, home economics room, and rooms for teaching chemistry, agriculture, physics.

The first sod for the school was turned in January 1953 and the corner stone was laid on May 20, 1953, and the building was rushed to completion by the general contractor, the Harvey J. McFarland Construction Co. of Picton.

The school embodies many new features. The beautiful main staircase is of Swedish design and is the first of its kind in Canada. It is known as re-enforced concrete cantilever style, surfaced with terrazzo. The balusters are of chrome tubing with hand rail of polished hardwood.

FLOORS REINFORCED

The corridor floors are reinforced concrete surfaced with terrazzo. The interior walls are finished three-quarter height with cement glaze—a new wall finish, which is blown on with great force. Ceilings are of acoustic tile.

Much of the wall space in the corridors is taken up with steel lockers which are built in walls and each locker has its own combination padlock.

Window sills are pre-cast concrete, terrazzo surfaced. Windows are steel-framed and door frames are metal type.

The twenty-one class rooms are decorated in various color schemes with double drapes to harmonize at the windows. Moderate size boards and tack boards are in each room and the most modern lighting is used.

LARGE GYMNASIUM

The gymnasium is one of the most impressive features, and measures 79 by 59 feet. This room, with a seating capacity of one thousand, has 4 modern stage across one end. It can be divided into two rooms by simply touching an electric button. The electrically operated curtain, costing $17,000, automatically fold or unfold.

Along the sides of the gymnasium are folding bleachers capable of seating three hundred spectators, and for each basketball game there are stacks of plywood and chrome chairs drawn on rubber-wheeled carts from under the stage.

On either side of the gym. there are showers for the boys and girls, drying rooms, where no towels are needed with, hot air doing the job, and wash rooms. There are also rooms for the instructors.

The principal's office is magnificently furnished with a modern-ly styled walnut desk, leather upholstered chairs and book case. The secretary's office is equipped with the latest in office supplies.

The board room rivals exceeds that of the principal's in magnificence. The long hexagon-shaped table is of solid mahogany with matching leather upholstered arm chairs. The floor is entirely covered with biscuit shade carpeting laid over a rubber rug cushion.

ALL MODERNLY FURNISHED

All class rooms are modernly furnished. The domestic science room contains refrigerator, two automatic electric ranges, gas range, washing machine, mixmaster, electric iron, cabinet of silver, four chrome tables, cooking utensils and many other articles used to teach homemaking in its various phases.

The cafeteria boasts of the latest in labor-saving devices. The tables are of chrome with arborite tops and chairs are of chrome and plywood. At present it is being used by pupils for lunches but as yet a staff has not been engaged.

There are two boilers for heating by steam. Air in the school is changed every five minutes by six large ventilating fans, and in this work more than twelve tons of galvanized iron was used in the air ducts.

There are two rooms devoted to the science and physics room are also very modern.

It is interesting to note that this new Collegiate is built in the 120th anniversary year of secondary school education in Picton. First such school was erected in 1834 and continued under the name of District school until 1839. It then became the Royal Grammar school and in 1853 was changed to County Grammar school under a new educational set-up. In 1871 it became known as Picton High School and at that time was part of the present Mary Street Public school. In 1909 a new Collegiate was built and this was called Picton Collegiate until it burned.

NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL

At the present time, a modern public school is being erected on the site of the former Collegiate, which was demolished after being destroyed by fire. In contrast to present day prices, the last school, a handsome structure of brick, was built at a cost of $50,000.

Members of the school board who worked with the contractor, architects, Page and Steele, and Principal Perkin, in making the new school possible are Gerald Norman, chairman; John Mallory, vice-chairman; Harry Hunt, secretary-treasurer; G. T. Walmsley, Q.C., Dr. J. H. Walmsley, Dr. W. B. Lane, E. F. Webster, Robert B. Otto, Gordon Bell, Fred Pollard, Herbert Kerr, Donald Thompson, Keith Reynolds.

There are seventeen members of the teaching staff. R. L. Perkin has been principal since coming to Picton in 1941. There are approximately 500 pupils, comparable to 200 when the former collegiate was built in 1909. Modern buses now cover the entire school area to pick up students.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Sponsored By Junior W.A.

On Monday evening a Mother and daughter banquet was arranged by the Junior W.A. of St. Margaret's church. The theme, "World Friendship", was carried out in the invitations, place cards, decorations and displays.

The tables, which were arranged in a "U" shape, were laid with white cloths. Green and gold streamers added a touch of color, while each table was centered with a world globe surrounded by paper doll cutouts of children of many lands. Also on the head table were bouquets of spring flowers.

At one end of the room were displays of articles from foreign lands. These were of much interest to the guests.

A bountiful dinner was served by the Juniors, who were distinguished by their uniforms which consisted of green skirts, white blouses, and green and gold felt beanies.

MOTHERS WELCOMED.

Mrs. A. L. Welmrier, Junior leader, welcomed the mothers and the members of the Senior W.A. who were guests for the occasion. She regretted that she would be unable to continue in the work next year, but commended her assistant, Mrs. F. B. Clarke.

Miss Pamela Murray proposed a toast to the mothers and Mrs. A. E. Brown made the reply. Mrs. Brown especially mentioned the progress of this newest branch of the church since its organization just a few weeks ago.

The Juniors performed a singing game entitled, "The Seven Capers", which they had done previously at the Junior Festival in Kingston.

Mrs. F. R. Clarke taught several little songs of different countries, and the evening ended in a joyful manner.

Women's Activities

ST. MARGARET'S GUILD.

The closing meeting of St. Margaret's Guild was held in the church hall on Monday evening with an attendance of 19 members. Owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. S. Sillitoe was in the chair.

The usual business was discharged. It was the unanimous decision of the group to discontinue the regular weekly meetings for the summer, and to begin on the second Monday in September for the fall term.

The treasurer, Mrs. R. E. Wood, reported on the finances of the Guild. Most of the Lenten mite cards had been returned and it was felt this had been a most worthwhile project. She also reported on the returns from the recent bridge and euchre.

Mrs. C. Partridge distributed material for basket work to any who wanted it.

Coffee and sandwiches were served by the hostesses for the evening.

Interesting Doll Collection On View at S.A. Citadel

On view at the Salvation Army Citadel, Pinnacle Street, during this week, is a fine collection of approximately 140 dolls of varying sizes, some medium, some small, and one baby size, all of which were dressed by the women of the Salvation Army Home League of the Mid-Ontario division, consisting of 17 centres from Gananoque to Whitby, with Belleville as the divisional centre. These dolls are to be sent to the Salvation Army Leper Colony of Africa.

Dolls, for centuries have been the chief toy of children, bringing to many a lonely, little heart the sense of companionship, and happiness. In the 17th century dolls were made at Sonneberg, in the Thuringian forest of Germany. Some were also made in France and Switzerland, and imported to England and the United States. At one time wearing of the doll was reported from the Netherlands, known as "Flanders Babies."

1000 DOLLS COLLECTION

"Mr. Edward Lovett, of London, England, has a collection of 2000 dolls, one being 4,000 years old, found in an Egyptian tomb, while another of his collection—minus arms and legs—dates back to the Roman occupation of Britain."

The dolls on view are as pretty as a garden of spring flowers in their lovely dresses of varying hues. The first to catch the eye were the two Salvationists in regulation uniform, a captain and his lady; others included a pretty 18th century lady in mauve net edged with pale blue pleated ribbon with matching bonnet; baby dolls with nursing bottle attached to their wrists, one such having a knit bottle cover. There was also a bride with her long white veil, and her attendants gowned in soft pastel greens with elaborate headdresses, and little boy dolls with velvet pants, white frilled blouses and matching tams. A black "Topsy" doll with big eyes was decked out in pink satin with bonnet and ties; the little darky twins were sposeling, one in blue and the other in green; there was the girl and boy twins in yellow jumper dress and vest with green blouses and matching tams, one pink cap.

The Indian dolls were also present, Redwing and Hiawatha, with their tan, fringed coats, plaid skirt and fringed pants, and with pebble cloth white apron and lace-frilled cap. Another beauty with golden ringlets was dressed in crocheted open mesh blue with white border, and matching picture hat, while a lovely doll, with pale blue dress wore a midnight blue velvet adorned with feather stitching on hood and coat. A regular sweetheart of a doll was dressed in a jolly pink cotton coatee and matching hood; a wondering expression was stamped on the piquant face.

LITTLE "MISS COBOURG"

Little "Miss Cobourg" was in mauve organdy with wide, picture hat, lace edged, and "Baby Linda" had a pink knit hood and a jacket worn over a warm, white, flannelette nightie. A cute little ballerina dancer was fitted out with mauve and white swirling skirts, and a golden-brown haired beauty was in blue with black lace over skirt, tiny blue jacket with matching black lace revers, and big wide picture hat with black lace decor.

The housemaid rag doll wore an oriental print dress of many colors, a tribal headband. A little Brownie, too, sat all hunched up amid a bevy of girls, looking quite content; a Highland 'lassie', complete in tartan and velvet jacket, and plaid Scotch cap was already to do the Highland fling.

Little Red Riddinghood was prepared for a rainy day with her telephone cape and bonnet of red, and a jolly Indian rag doll was waiting to be cuddled, in fringed bordered, striped grey, all-over suit, and red shoes.

LITTLE BOY BLUE

Little boy blue was also there, minus the hay stack, in a blue, knitted suit with matching cap, and a winter suits attired in paddy green knit ski outfit wearing a white beret over her golden curls.

And then "Wee McGregor" with his tartan cap was seen to be still eating his mither, why he 'outas git crin the noo', and many,many more, sweet faced dolls all preparing for the long journey across big waters to bring cheer and happiness into the lives of little ones set apart from others because of a dread disease.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IS THE WEDDING MORE IMPORTANT THAN GETTING MARRIED?

When a man and girl who are engaged to wed either find themselves getting into arguments that result in deadlocks, with neither one willing to give in, it seems to me, the two of them had better stop right where they are and think things over very carefully before going ahead with their plans to marry. For if two people do not care enough about each other to want to make each other happy before marriage, it's hardly likely that they're going to change afterward, Hence, to me, a look for marriage isn't a good insurance risk.

For example, a letter from an engaged girl named Pat tells of having reached the end of a dead-lock with her fiance over the kind of wedding they shall have. She wants a big church wedding, followed by an elaborate reception. He is violently opposed to that sort of affair, and wants everything kept just as simple as possible.

So—He has even said that if I insist on a big wedding, I'd better hunt around for some other guy who wants one, too," the girl writes, adding that: "I think if he really loved me as much as he does, he would get married the way I want it. Don't you?"

Well, what I really think is that if these two feel that the way they get married is more important than getting married itself, they had better call the whole thing off. For if there's going to be such a contest of wills at a time when two people ought to be especially close to each other, then it won't be long after marriage when they'll find themselves constantly quarreling over which is going to give in to the other about everything. And a fine life that'll be!

However, perhaps things are not quite as serious as they seem. Perhaps this girl might begin to learn and apply, right now, a little of the tact and diplomacy she's going to need as a wife.

Suppose she asks herself this question: Which attitude am I going to take in the inevitable disagreements that are bound to arise between two human beings who are married to each other? Am I going to insist on having my own way, no matter what the point at issue? Or am I going to yield on trivial issues and work out important ones with intelligence and patience? If this girl has the right sort of stuff in her to make a successful wife, she'll naturally choose the latter.

So, let's take it for granted that this girl really does have the right stuff. What, then, will she do in the present situation?

First, let her remember that almost every prospective bridegroom hates the idea of being a key figure in a formal wedding. It makes him feel silly and self-conscious to be in the center of all that fuss. Most men can't see why they and their girls shouldn't steal off quietly and be married by a nice, inconspicuous justice of the peace.

Next, having made an honest attempt to understand this strange male attitude, let Pat consider very carefully whether this is a trivial matter in which she might yield to her fiance, or whether it is one that she thinks really important. If she feels formal wedding seems so important that she does not want to give it up, then it is time to use that intelligence, patience and diplomacy that she would be wise to learn how to practice sooner, rather than later. Instead of making a great issue of the thing, and telling her young man that if he loved her he'd want to do it her way, let her coax him along, saying lovingly that she knows it's an ordeal men hate, but that a glamorous wedding is something girls are just silly enough to set their hearts on and cherish all their lives.

Her letter says they've waited not take place for another year, so she has plenty of time to work along these lines, and if she keeps at it this way whenever the subject comes up and doesn't harp on it incessantly she'll quarrel about it, it's very likely the young man will eventually yield to her wishes. Instead of trying to make him feel that he's an old meanie if he doesn't do as she wants, she should build him up so that he will feel himself to be a very big-hearted and noble fellow to subordinate his own feelings to make his bride happy.

So—how about it, Pat? Let's see how clever you are in handling this man of yours. If you can swing this successfully, it'll be a good omen for your married happiness!

Wedding Reception

By Mary Moore

(Second Instalment).

After having given you the first instalment on a series of wedding reception guides and foods last week, requests for just this type of information have multiplied.

So I'm glad I started early.

One mother of a bride-to-be, is interested in serving jellied fowl either chicken or turkey. I'm featuring that today, and adding careful instructions for making a Lobster Salad Loaf.

So you will have two moulded main course items to choose from, that may be made 24 hours ahead of serving time and kept icy cold —a wonderful advantage for those hostesses who are attempting to do the food preparations themselves.

Note: If the weather is very warm when you serve gelatine dishes I think it would be wise to increase the amount of gelatin slightly, so that the moulds will hold well even if the temperature soars to 90 deg. F.

FRESSED CHICKEN.
(48 Servings).

Seven and one-half cups strained, skimmed chicken broth, 10 tablespoons plain gelatin, 10 cups sliced cooked chicken, 10 cups cooked fresh or frozen peas, 2 1/2 cups shredded blanched almonds, 2/4 cup chopped gherkins or green relish, 5 cups mayonnaise (not salad dressing). The chicken broth should be strained, then chilled, then skimmed so that as little fat as possible is left. To 2 cups of it add the gelatin and let soak for 5 minutes, then in top of double boiler stir it over boiling water until it is dissolved. Add it to the remaining 4 1/2 cups cold broth. Now add the chicken which it carefully and neatly diced, the barely cooked and chilled peas, the almonds and pickle. When this has cooled to room temperature, gently stir in the mayonnaise. Now pour into 2 2-quart moulds or 5 loaf pans measuring 10 x 5 1/2 x 3 inches. (If desired you have the equipment it may be moulded in 50 individual moulds.) Chill until firm. This would be served sliced on lettuce leaf.

LOBSTER SALAD LOAF.
(50 Servings)

Eight cups soft breadcrumbs, 8 6-oz. tins lobster, 4 8-oz. tins best quality red salmon, 2 cups canned mushrooms chopped, 2 tablespoons grated onion, 16 eggs, beaten, 4 cups whole milk, 1/4 cup chopped drained pimiento (or gherkins), salt pepper. Drain the lobster and pick out any bones and flake it. Do the same with the salmon, removing any skin too. Add the lobster and the salmon to the crumbs and mushrooms. Add the eggs, stir them in, then the milk, onion and pimiento. Season with pepper to taste, and if desired some paprika to boost the color. Turn into greased loaf pans — about 3 — and bake in slow oven of 325 deg. F. until set — when tried with knife inserted at centre loaf is baked if knife comes out clean—it requires about 40 to 45 minutes. Cool at room temperature, then chill. Serve, sliced, on lettuce with garnish of parsley and lemon wedges and tomato wedges. (If desired all lobster may be used, but surprisingly enough the salmon is submerged in the lobster flavor and reduces the cost.)

In the third instalment of this series next week, I will give you quantities for making sandwiches for 50 people.

Please remember to clip this column now even if your daughter isn't engaged at the present moment. You never know when a handsome young man will come along and snap her up—then you are in for a wedding reception.

HOW TO PAY WHEN SHARING A TAXICAB

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Twice lately I've had occasion to share a taxicab with another woman (once from my office, and once from a professional luncheon). I was uncertain just what I was expected to do about paying, or contributing to the fare. Please inform me. — L.A.N.

The woman who arrives at her destination first should pay the fare up to that point, plus the customary tip for that fare-amount. This is better, because more businesslike, than "making a contribution" to the fare.

PLANS FOR INFORMAL HOUSE WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sister is to be married soon. A small informal wedding in our home in the afternoon. Only close relatives are invited. I am to be the only bridal attendant. (1) Should our mother wear a hat? (2) Who should greet the guests as they arrive? (3) Should the women guests remove their hats and coats as they arrive? (4) When introductions are necessary (as will be the case in some instances) should the guests be introduced a they arrive, or wait until after the ceremony? (5) Who should be the first to offer congratulations to the bride and groom—the bride's parents? (6) What would be appropriate refreshments to serve after this type of wedding?

Kathryn

(1) Usually the bride's mother, because she is the hostess of the wedding in her home, does not wear a hat. (2) Sometimes the bride's mother, hostess, greets the guests. However, if she wishes to be with the bride, to assist, she may ask a close relative to take over this greeting responsibility. (3) The women guests should be shown the room where they are to leave their wraps. but they do not take off their hats. (4) This depends on the time available and the convenience. but generally it is best to wait for more leisurely introductions after the ceremony. (5) Yes. the bride's parents. (6) The two necessary items are: the bridal cake (the bride and groom cut and share the first slice, as the guests gather round and sing "The Bride Cuts the Cake," to the tune of "The Farmer in the Dell") and a cold drink of some kind with which to drink the toasts proposed to the couple. Added to these there may be small, slim sandwiches; there may be ice cream, as an accompaniment to the Cake; and there usually is hot coffee and or tea.

Modern Wisconsin Hospital Tribute to Woman Doctor

By JACK VARICK

WOODRUFF, Wis. (AP) — A modern hospital stands on the shore of a small lake in this northwoods community—a tribute to a woman doctor who came here long ago with no intention of practising medicine.

Lakeland Memorial Hospital was built in civic pride for Dr. Kate Pelham Newcomb by the people she served. But the easire country pitched in to help when it heard the story of her self-sacrificing medical career.

The story of Wisconsin's "angel on snowshoes" was told on a television program last March 17. It was mentioned that a debt of $32,000 still existed on the $172,000 hospital "built for Dr. Kate."

In the next 10 days the small post office here was flooded with 15 tons of mail addressed to Dr. Kate. At last count the total was more than $150,000.

Lakeland Memorial, a 16-bed hospital equipped with the latest equipment, opened last month debt-free with Dr. Kate as chief of staff. The donations left over probably will be put into a trust fund to assure the hospital of operating expenses in future years.

REJECTED COUNTRY DOCTOR

Dr. Kate is a city-bred girl who once turned down a marriage proposal from another doctor because he wanted a country practice. She graduated from the University of Buffalo. She interned in a New York City hospital and later worked in a slum area there. Then 2½ miles through snow and cold to treat a patient.

Her own life sometimes was endangered. One time she was found wandering in bitter cold, dazed from carbon monoxide fumes after her auto had stalled in a snow drift.

Dr. Newcomb, a homey woman in her mid-40s, found her life's work and her husband—now a successful guide—found his health in Wisconsin.

"I love it up here," she says. "The lakes and the people are so genuine. Self-sufficient in many ways, they need help badly at times."

She moved to Detroit to practise and married Bill Newcomb, an auto plant worker.

In 1923 the Newcombs came to Wisconsin's northwoods for Bill's health, settling in a back trail cabin along the Rice river near Boulder Junction. Dr. Kate's practice was set aside.

"Then I was a bit sour on medicine," she said. "We had lost our first child and it did not seem that I could pick up the practice of medicine in this new and strange world."

One day in 1931 changed that. Dr. Thomas Torpy of nearby Minocqua, an outspoken country doctor, telephoned Dr. Newcomb and in so many words ordered her to handle an emergency case he could not take.

"What that man said to me for emphasis I can't repeat," Dr. Kate says. But she picked up her bag and made the emergency call. She hasn't set it down since.

DEVOTION EXEMPLIFIED

There are countless examples of Dr. Newcomb's devotion to her profession. One night she trudged

Housewives Should Be Told About Findings

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF Leader Coldwell thinks the Canadian housewife should be told about some of the findings of the National Research Council.

Cleaning products are a case in point, he told the Commons Tuesday night during a debate on research.

Mr. Coldwell said that members of Parliament, visiting the NRC a few years ago, saw various cleaners tested. Some products actually destroyed clothes during extended use.

One wash-day product, which advertised that no rinsing was required, was especially harmful.

"If you didn't rinse it out, there would be no clothes left to rinse," Mr. Coldwell said.

Political Life Of Sen. McCarthy May Be at Stake

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ugly. It's probably the best word to describe what to expect now in the Senate hearing on Senator McCarthy's row with U.S. Army officials.

McCarthy has tried to minimize the importance of the hearing, calling it a burlesque and a circus. Now that it's due to go on to the bitter end his political life may be at stake.

Army Secretary Robert Stevens was willing to put his public career on the block. He refused to agree to shorten the hearing by letting the whole business disappear from public view once McCarthy had testified.

He took the position that not only McCarthy but the senator's two aides in the case, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, should have to face the same kind of cross-examination he did. Stevens was a witness for 14 days.

This meant of course the same treatment for the other two principals on his side of the case, Army counsel John G. Adams and Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defence.

More and more as the days passed, McCarthy has been acting like a man who thought he was surrounded by enemies.

He accused two of the senators —Democrats Symington of Missouri and Jackson of Washington —of trying to obstruct his hunt for Communists.

He turned on a fellow-Republican on the committee, a man he himself had nominated, Senator Dworshak of Idaho, and told him he was sorry he had chosen him.

He repeatedly insinuated Stevens was lying and belittled the secretary's intelligence. Twice he accused Joseph N. Welch, counsel to Stevens and Adams, of breaking agreements which Welch said never existed.

And he tried to humiliate Hensel, who hadn't said a word, by suggesting that army officers slip a bear him were lending him dignity he didn't deserve and should move away.

His tactics have become rougher as the days pass. If he has reached this point while the cards were still all in his hands, what's his mood going to be when he and Cohn and Carr have to stand up, man by man, under army cross-examination?

85-Year-Old Woman Doctor Sees Son Honored

TORONTO (CP)—An 85-year-old woman doctor, whose son was born when she served as the lone surgeon-physician in a remote North China mission, saw the son installed as president of the Ontario Medical Association Wednesday.

Mrs. Robert A. Mitchell watched from a gallery as Dr. R. M. Mitchell of Sudbury took over the seat at a banquet. The association represents 4,000 doctors in the province.

Dr. Mitchell said it was his proudest moment when he called the delegates' attention to his mother, sitting in the gallery. Mrs. Mitchell was graduated in 1895 from the old Trinity medical school in Toronto as Dr. Jessy Hill.

Dr. C. W. Burns of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Medical Association, transferred the president's badge from Dr. Hugo Ewart of Hamilton to Dr. Mitchell.

Dr. M. G. Klotz of Ottawa is president-elect for 1955. Life memberships were conferred on Dr. H. M. Yelland of Peterborough, Dr. Elizabeth Bagshaw of Hamilton, Dr. F. W. Hall of Chatham and Dr. H. M. Livingston of Waterloo.

Western Farmers Plan to Seed As Much Land as Last Year

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PETERSFIELD, Man. (CP)—The wheat that bulges farmers' granaries here in the West is looked on as money in the bank. That's why Charlie Carter and thousands like him are waiting for the land to dry so they can plant more grain.

Mr. Carter, now 54, has worked a farm in this district 25 miles northeast of Winnipeg since his father left it to him in 1928.

"Sure, my bins and barn are full of last year's grain," said Mr. Carter as he looked across his 400 acres in the Red river valley. "But I'd rather see them full than empty."

TYPICAL VIEW

His view is typical of that of thousands of western farmers, who despite the huge carryover from last year, plan to seed as much land as in 1953.

Mr. Carter sowed barley on one-half of his farm last year but hopes to grow more wheat this year. He has 9,000 bushels of grain plugging six granaries and one large barn.

His deliveries to his local elevator are limited by quotas based on his cultivated acreage. Although little grain moved through export channels this spring, Mr. Carter says he is confident the Canadian wheat board will eventually get rid of the surplus.

"They're doing a fine job," he says. "We never had better security. It's nice to know you're getting the same price as your neighbor. That's something we didn't get in the 1930s."

This year he plans to sow Thatcher wheat which often has returned more than 40 bushels to the acre compared with the Canadian average of 16.2.

LEFT STUBBLE HIGH

Last fall, he left the stubble high when cutting the grain crop to give the snow a chance to spread more evenly. Now he's waiting for the land to dry. He said many Manitoba farmers are getting away from the old practice of plowing their land in the fall. Now they cultivate in the spring before seeding.

Besides his barley and wheat crops last year, Mr. Carter raised alfalfa on 35 acres. He gets between three and 12 tons an acre and it returns $14 a ton picked up on the field.

Mr. Carter works from 8 a.m. until dark. His wife, his son and a nephew are his only help from seedtime to harvest.

Before the one-man combine harvester, Mr. Carter had a hired man throughout the season and about 18 extra at harvest.

"I had livestock on the farm then. But I slowly got rid of them. I was keeping them. They didn't keep me."

ECONOMY MEASURE

Now all he gets off his farm beside grain and hay, are eggs from his 250 chickens. He buys his butter and bottled milk from the dairies.

"It's cheaper than raising your own livestock," he says.

But despite the long hours, Mr. Carter says the farm is the life for him.

"Why should I go to the city?" he asks. "We've got every convenience here that city folk have—but I do like to go to Winnipeg once in a while, especially to watch the Blue Bombers."

He laughed at the white-collar workers' belief that all farmers go to Florida for the winter.

"I'll never go south for the winter as long as I can curl," he says. "They'll have to bring California up here."

MONEY IN THE BANK

To many a Prairie wheat grower the unsold grain in granaries is like money in the bank. Charlie Carter (right), Petersfield, Man., farmer, says he would rather see his grain bins full than empty. With his Red River Valley neighbor, C. A. (Pat) Sherlock, farmer Carter handles a bag of rust-resistant Selkirk wheat. The Selkirk seed resists one of the deadliest enemies of the Canadian wheat fields. (CP Photo).

General Captured In Military Dress

HONG KONG (AP)—The Vietminhe radio said today Vietminh troops who captured French headquarters at Dien Bien Phu found Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries sitting in a chair behind his desk in full military dress, including medals.

De Castries commanded the defence of the fallen Indo-Chinese fortress against the Communist-led rebel attack.

The rebel broadcast, heard in Hong Kong, said the French put up a stubborn resistance. It cited one case of a French officer who threw grenades "among our brave fighters but he was killed by accurate rifle fire."

CHEMICAL UNION OFFICERS

QUEBEC (CP)—Philip Lococo of Niagara Falls, Ont., was elected president of district No. 4 council of the International Chemical Workers Union (AFL-TLC) at a week-end meeting here. Other officers: Vice-president, Ray Robinson, Cornwall; treasurer, Wilfrid Hicks, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Canada Not Only Country With National Flag Troubles

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada isn't the only Commonwealth country with national flag and national anthem trouble.

For instance:

South Africa has had a "compromise" flag since 1927. Nobody appears happy with it.

Both Australia and New Zealand have national songs though "God Save the Queen" is regarded as the national anthem.

INDIAN ANTHEM

India wrestled with two songs before finally adopting one of them as the national anthem.

Pakistan has the tune for a national anthem but no words.

So Canadian members of Parliament are not alone as they try to come up with a design for a distinctive Canadian flag.

The Union Jack and Red Ensign are both flown in Canada as national flags. "God Save the Queen" is regarded as the national anthem though "O Canada" is heard almost as often.

The situation most nearly parallel to Canada's is that of South Africa, which started flag discussions more than 30 years ago.

South Africa has two "flags of the Union"—the Union Jack and the national flag.

ADOPTED IN 1927

The national flag is three horizontal stripes, orange, white and blue. In the centre is the "compromise"—three tiny editions of three flags lying cheek-by-jowl. They are the Union Jack and the old flags of the original South African republics, the Orange Free State and the Transvaal. All three small flags are of equal size.

This flag was adopted in 1927 and Wentzel du Plessis new South African high commissioner to Canada, said recently nobody in South Africa is happy with it.

The argument over a national flag went on for years between the English-speaking and Afrikaans-speaking South Africans. Nowadays one section of the population—mostly the Afrikaners—wants to do away with the Union Jack altogether.

The Union Jack, denoting South Africa partnership in the Commonwealth, is flown with the national flag from the Houses of Parliament and from principal government buildings in the capitals of the union and of the provinces. Incidentally, South Africa has three national capitals—administrative in Pretoria, legislative in Capetown and judicial in Bloemfontein.

TWO ANTHEMS

It also has two national anthems: "God Save the Queen" and "The Voice of South Africa." The section which wants to eliminate the Union Jack also wants to get rid of "God Save the Queen." There is a strong movement to stop the playing of the anthem or anthems after movie shows, night club performances and the like.

Both the Australia and New Zealand flags have the Union Jack in the upper corner nearest the staff. Both have the Southern Cross in the fly. This constellation of stars was named "Crux" by the astronomer Royer in 1679.

The New Zealand flag, on a blue field, has four stars of the Southern Cross in the fly. The Australian flag, on a red field, has five stars of the cross in the fly. Under the Union Jack, it has a sixth star. This star originally had six points for the six states but a seventh point was added in 1908 to represent the Australian territories.

Australia became a federation, Jan. 1, 1901. But it had no national flag. So a competition for designs was held. More than 30,000 entries were received and the winning one, adopted in 1902, was designed by a schoolboy.

It was not until late last year, however, that the Australian Parliament officially adopted the flag, a lapse of 51 years.

"God Save the Queen" is the national anthem in both Australia and New Zealand. Australia has a national song called "Advance Australia Fair" but it hasn't the same status as "O Canada" in Canada. It became popular during the war but the majority of Australians apparently are happy with "the Queen."

NOT USED OFTEN

New Zealand's national song is "God Defend New Zealand." It is not used often.

There is no trace of the Union Jack in either the Pakistani or Indian flags. Both flags became official when the countries became republics within the Commonwealth in 1947.

The Pakistani flag is dark green with a white vertical bar at the mast and the green portion carrying a white crescent in the centre and five-pointed white heraldic star.

The Indian flag is three horizontal stripes, saffron, white and green, with a blue wheel in the centre of the white panel.

In Pakistan, "God Save the Queen" is played only on Commonwealth occasions. A competition now is being held for words to the national anthem.

In India, the national anthem is "Janganamana." It finally won out in 1950 over the older "Vande Mataram" but the latter is still used. Theatres are discouraged from playing the national anthem except on special occasions.

One rule regarding the Indian anthem: "In no circumstances should it be played for more than a minute."

Sabotage Taught Japanese Children By Red Teachers

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese legislators were told today that Communist teachers in a Kyoto high school added rousing general destruction and rock throwing to the curriculum.

The school was taken over by a group of Communist teachers this week and anti-Red teachers are holding classes in the city auditorium. The Communists remained in control today.

Yoshinosuke Ishida, chairman of the Kyoto municipal assembly, said the children were organized into "stone throwing squads," "destruction squads," and "fire starting squads" by their teachers. Younger students became members of "crying squads" which go into action if a Communist teacher is arrested or any other time tears might be effective.

Manitoulin Is Haven for Old Deer Says Report

NORTH BAY (CP) — Deer on Manitoulin Island may be dying of old age. They are being "underharvested" says a report of the fish and wildlife division of the Ontario department of lands and forests.

Although crediting 120,000 hunters with a total bag of between 40,000 and 50,000 deer in Ontario last season, the department believes that information fro mchecking stations underestimates rather than exaggerates the kill.

Biologists discovered in Manitoulin Island and extreme western Ontario a relatively high population of deer 5½ years old and older. Three had reached the advanced age—for a deer—of 10½ years.

The report is based mainly on data from 11 deer-checking stations, cold storage locker plants, air bases and similar locations.

Bride Tearful As Hubby Is Led to Cells

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. Lawrence McFarland, of suburban Long Branch, still is "waiting for her" western Canadian honeymoon.

A week ago, her 29-year-old husband left her after the wedding ceremony to drive home and pick up his clothes.

But he was arrested and charged with dangerous driving. Police said he was travelling 60 miles an hour without lights through heavy traffic. Pleading guilty, McFarland said a fuse had blown.

Tuesday, Cookeville magistrate H. L. Langdon dalkyed the honeymoon for at least another week when he remanded McFarland in custody.

The bride, watching in the court room, wept silently as he was led away.

United Church Against All Forms of Gambling, Undecided About Capital Punishment

OTTAWA (CP) — The United Church of Canada is against all forms of gambling, looks to the eventual abolition of corporal punishment and is undecided about the need for capital punishment.

The church, whose membership in the 1951 census was about 2,400,000, gave its views today in a brief prepared for submission to the Commons-Senate committee on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries.

The stand on lotteries and gambling follows similar views expressed before the committee last month by the Canadian Council of Churches. The United church devoted more than half its 347-page brief to anti-gambling arguments. It gave about four pages to capital and corporal punishment.

The church said it regrets the use of corporal punishment and believes the country should look forward to its abolition.

The brief said the weight of evidence on the site of capital punishment as a deterrent is not large. Perhaps only the crafty schemer who plans a deliberate murder would be deterred by the thought of capital punishment. It would not be the case for the insane, the frightened bandit, the one who kills in a moment of passion or the paid underworld gangster.

The United church could not give an opinion as to whether capital punishment should be abolished. The matter was under consideration by its board of evangelism and social service which may bring a report at the United church's general council meeting in Sackville, N.B., next September.

However, it could recommend that if the death penalty—hanging —is to be retained, serious consideration should be given to an alternate method of execution. The death penalty should be used as punishment only for murder premeditated, and in connection with robbery with violence, treason or kidnapping.

The United church objected to all forms of gambling, including raffles held on behalf of charitable and religious organizations. Legalized gambling in any form was a cloak for organized crime and gangsterism.

Thinks Imports May Add To Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator W. Rupert Davies (L—Ontario) suggested today that rather than assisting exporters, the Canadian Trade Fair may be encouraging greater imports, increasing competition against Canada's shrinking textile and other industries.

"Why should we encourage those people who come into Canada to undersell us?" the Kingston publisher asked during a Senate trade committee discussion of exporters' problems.

Some 70 Ontario textile plants have been closed and workers thrown out of jobs, he said. Perhaps it was a problem of high costs in Canada, but how could Canada continue to pay high wages if she allows people to come to offer goods in Canada at low prices.

"Why should we encourage them at the trade fair?" he added. The international fair is conducted at Toronto each summer under government auspices.

S. A. MacKay-Smith, president of the Canadian Exporters' Association, said in some cases foreign exhibitors make deals to have their goods produced in Canada.

R. B. Spiro of Toronto, an association director, said some Canadian producers may not be sufficiently progressive, and foreign competition helps increase production efficiency.

SPURS EFFICIENCY

The trade fair idea is comparatively new in Canada and the Canadian government had been concerned at the outset that there were far more foreign exhibitors than those from Canada.

But the opinion was changing. About 60 to 70 per cent of the exhibitors now were Canadian firms.

Senator A. L. Beaubien (L—Manitoba) said that Canada needs grain markets. There are great opportunities for selling wheat and barley in Japan. But to pay for the grain, Japan must sell her products.

He could not see why Canada should not import textiles from Japan if Japanese prices are lower than those in any other country.

Wide Open Race Is Predicted For Labor Body's Presidency

By JOHN LaBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A wide-open fight for the presidency of the 350,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada is ahead as the result of a meeting of the TLC's executive council.

The closed meeting of the council, governing body of the TLC between annual conventions, took no action toward backing any of the candidates for the job that will be vacated by Percy R. Bengough at the August convention of the congress in Regina.

Mr. Bengough, president for 12 years, recently announced he won't be a candidate to succeed himself in the most influential job in Canadian labor.

Information said the council, made up of top officers of TLC unions, carefully steered away from the question of a successor at a meeting that ended Wednesday.

It could have, as has been done in the past, quietly decided on a leading candidate and then have its members, top officials of big unions, pass the word down to the rank and file who will be sending delegates to the Regina convention.

But the council decided this time to leave the succession open without any pressure from the top.

This seems to deposit three major candidates in the field, none without some special support from the TLC bosses.

Two of them are TLC vice-presidents, Quebec chief Claude Jodoin, a burly and voluble bilingual labor leader, and R.-K. (Holly) Gervin of Vancouver, a quiet but personable officer who prefers to put in most of his hard work in the back rooms of the congress.

The third prospective candidate, and perhaps the strongest on present indications, is Gordon G. Cushing, general secretary-treasurer and former president of the Calgary and District Trades and Labor Council.

Cushing is a redoubtable campaigner. He came up from behind in 1945 to sweep the convention for his job, the only permanent salaried office in the TLC aside from the presidency that pays about $13,000 a year. He has said he will not go after the presidency but will run if he is nominated—a certainty.

Autopsy Confirms Findings Of Kingston Coroner

TORONTO (CP)—An autopsy on the body of 13-month-old Margaret Drapak performed here Wednesday by Dr. Chester McLean confirmed the findings of a Kingston coroner who ruled the death accidental.

The autopsy showed that death was caused by bronchial pneumonia aggravated by choking on food particles.

The girl died Monday in a nursing home at Sydenham, about 15 miles north of Kingston.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, Ontario's chief coroner, ordered an autopsy after the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Symond Drapak of Toronto, said they were not satisfied by what they termed conflicting reports about the girl's death.

The baby was found hanging over a string of toys across her crib at a nursery operated by Mrs. F. Switzer of Sydenham. The parents said there was a bruise on her forehead.

The Drapaks placed Margaret in a boarding home because the landlord of their Toronto flat objected to the baby's crying. A Kingston doctor described the nursery to which they took the child as well-run.

SAYS SHOULD BE SAME

OTTAWA (CP) — Non-Canadian ships using the St. Lawrence deep waterway should be compelled to provide the same crew pay and accommodations as Canadian ships the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada said Wednesday. A decision of the TLC's executive council to this effect was made public in a statement after a meeting.

CALL SPECIAL TERM

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec cabinet Wednesday called a special term of the Perce, Que., Court of Queen's Bench assizes for June 22 to hear the murder trial of Wilbur Coffin, charged in the shooting of three United States bear hunters. It was learned Wednesday night. An official announcement will be made today or Friday.

May Cut Down On Immigration Remainder of '54

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada may cut down on immigration for the remainder of 1954 as the result of unemployment.

The government will be conducting its half-yearly survey of the immigration outlook this month, and informants Wednesday said the 1954 program could be affected by unemployment that reached a post-war peak at two weeks ago.

The question the cabinet will consider, it was stated, is whether Canada can continue to take in immigrants at the current rate when there is more unemployment than normal in the country.

The unemployment, which reached a top of 370,000 job-seekers in late March—Wednesday the executive council of the 500,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to call on the government to cut off immigration altogether for at least the remainder of this year.

The major governing body of the TLC between annual conventions—said thousands of workers are unemployed while immigrants are coming in and "it now must be recognized that many unemployed workers may not be re-employed even during the peak employment season this year."

Treasurer Reports Steady Increase In Church Funds

KINGSTON (CP)—Prof. P. G. C. Campbell of Kingston was re-elected honorary treasurer of the diocese Tuesday at a meeting of the 96th synod session of the incorporated Synod of the Diocese of Ontario of the Church of England in Canada.

Prof. Campbell reported a steady increase in the amount of money deposited in the various funds the synod has set up, bringing total holdings of the diocese to $622,870, an increase of $9,073 over last year.

Canon H. K. Coleman of Augusta, convener of the committee on evangelism said that the committee was continuing to study the "ways and means" of evangelism but was convinced that nothing "could take the place of day to day hard work on the part of each parish priest." He recommended that the synod request the general synod of the Church of England in Canada to study the possibility of a "year of evangelism" for the whole of the church.

St. Paul's United Church, Stirling Pays Tribute on 'Mothers' Day'

By Mrs. Percy MacMullen.

On "Mother's Day" St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, paid special honor to "All Mothers" in sentential year. Those who have crossed the "Valley of the Shadow of Death", were affectionately remembered and a large percentage of these in the audience wore a white flower in memory of "Mother."

There in many instances, sons and their mothers sat in the same pew in the sanctuary and colored flowers were worn as a tribute to the mothers who were with their families and loved ones.

FLOWER OF BEAUTY.

The church was a bower of beauty with a large array of potted blooming plants loaned by Mrs. Charles Conley, St. Paul's flower lady.

The memorial flowers were from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Philip, and Mr. Bryce Philip in loving memory of their mother, the late Mrs. Harry Philip.

A large basket of snapdragons was placed as a tribute to Mrs. Arthur Vandervoort, who had a birthday anniversary on Friday, May 14; they were a gift of Dr. Ralph, and Mrs. Vandervoort, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vandervoort.

A vase of cut flowers graced the piano, sent by Dr. Earl F. Baker, Toronto, as a tribute to his mother, Mrs. A. E. Baker.

A large congregation was in attendance and they overflowed to the gallery. The pastor, Rev. A. E. Baker, graciously welcomed everyone including the visitors and conducted a baptismal service, when Keith Gordon Richardson, born May 22nd, 1953, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Richardson, was baptized and Mr. George Carlisle presented the certificate.

SPECIAL MUSIC.

Mrs. A. E. Baker presided at the organ and rendered selections from Mozart, King, and Rheinberger.

Three vocal selections were given by Douglas Wilkins, Sandra-Weet, and Margaret Johnson. The Royal Junior choir sang "Mother", The senior choir sang "Dear Land of Home", and a trio, "Hear our Prayer," was sung by Mrs. William Wilkins, Miss Marlene Moorcroft, and Mrs. Harry E. Brown.

A large array of gifts was received and dedicated as follows:

"A revised copy of the Word of God" for the Holy Table, a gift of Mr. George Carlisle, clerk of session in memory of his mother, the late Mrs. William M. Carlisle, formerly Miss Elizabeth Weaver.

A large print hymnary, with music, a gift of "Charlotte", Mrs. George White, in loving memory of her mother, Mrs. G. B. Hagerman, formerly Margaret Patterson, who died in 1948.

Two large print hymnaries, donated by Mr. Clayton Tucker and Mrs. Mabel Weaver, in memory of Mrs. Clayton Tucker.

Two copies of hymnaries donated by Miss Gertrude Beresford, Toronto, in memory of her mother.

TRIBUTES.

A large hymnary—a love gift to Mrs. George Carlisle, from her children, Marlene, Donna, Rose and Ralph.

A large hymnary—a love gift to Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Baker, from their son and daughter in Toronto.

A large hymnary with music, a love gift from Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Brown, to Mrs. A. E. Baker, organist, and choir leader of St. Pauls; name plates for the Endowment Board, in memory of Sarah Ann Bradshaw, who died August 7th, 1853, by her son, Mr. Guy Bradshaw, in honor of his aunt, Audrey Elliott, who has been his second mother, by Mr. Bryce Philip.

Rev. A. E. Baker gave a brief history of Ann Jarvis, and her institution of mother's Day. A period of silence for Mothers everywhere was followed with: "Near to the Heart of God."

ROLL CALL OF MOTHERS.

Mr. Baker based his address on the theme, "Roll Call of Mothers". First, he spoke of those early pioneers, the mothers of 100 years ago who now rest from their labors. These people built homes churches and schools and left a great heritage. They planted Christianity and worked in the name of God to make their country a worthwhile spot in which to live.

Mr. Baker read a poem as a special tribute to the sons and daughters, who have gone on before, especially the boys who paid the supreme sacrifice. Mother is left in these cases to carry on without her children. Another appropriate poem, published years ago in "The Northern Messenger", aptly pictured "The Tired Mother," who found the cares of the day with a small family taxing her strength, but reward came as the children grew older.

Mr. Baker also spoke of the invalided mothers, in homes and institutions, of the blind, deaf, and lame and contrasted different families and their ideas of how to show their love for her who once cared for them. Then followed a message for the distant mothers, especially those who are serving in the frontier mission fields. Surely it is a great privilege to honor good mothers wherever they may be.

The pastor spoke of the mothers who have forgotten their obligations, those who do not care for their offspring and read that lovely old poem, "The Sheep Astray" Surely if the sheep go astray, it will not be long until the lambs do wrong and that is a terrible cost so it is necessary to keep the sheep in the fold.

Mr. Baker gave a vivid story which pictured a Mother's Love and quoted a portion of Kipling's poem, "Mother O Mine."

He concluded with true messages from mothers and one was, "I want to live so that my children won't be ashamed of me", and another, "it's a great relief to me to know that my children are active in the church."

The service closed with the Bible text "Let Her Own Works Praise Her" and "Faith of Our Mothers."

The centennial services continue on Sunday, May 16th, when Dr. Victor Mooney, treasurer, United church of Canada, will address the morning service at 8 p.m. Rev W. E. G. Dewey, and choir of Sidney circuit, will take their festival visit. They will be supported by Rev. K. J. Kersey and the Plainfield pastoral charge. This group will furnish a quartet. There will also be a delegation from Marsh Hill, and Halloway, on the Foxboro charge, and this service promises to be most beneficial to all who attend.

PICTON

Nurses Present $1,000 Cheque To Hospital

PICTON—Prince Edward County nurses set one thousand dollars as their objective in the Prince Edward Memorial hospital campaign. Today, Wednesday, they presented a cheque for this amount to J. D. Baxter, chairman of the campaign. They will continue to work for this fund.

At their annual meeting this week the nurses elected the following officers: honorary president, Mrs. Mabel Lovell; president, Mrs. Alice Kennedy; vice president, Mrs. Agnes Walmsley; secretary, Mrs. Isabel Allen; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mary Pierson; program convener, Mrs. E. Hilland; Good Cheer secrtary, Mrs. Nora Biddle; treasurer, Miss Vivian Rykolt.

Car Turns Over 6 Times, Fails To Make Curve

PICTON—A car driven by Silas Brant of Tyendinaga Reserve turned over three times when it failed to make a curve at the top of Mountain View hill, between Picton and Bellevile. A passenger in the car, Robert Green, also of Tyendinaga, suffered a severe injury to the left shoulder bone and is in Bellevile hospital. Brant was released from hospital, having escaped with a shaking up. The 1953 model car was badly wrecked.

Robert Taylor, 18, is in Prince Edward County hospital, suffering from a severe shaking up as a result of his car crashing into the back of a truck owned by James Turner. The accident occurred on Main street. Turner had stopped to make a left-hand turn and Taylor drove his car into the rear of it. The front of the car jammed under the truck's platform. Police state Taylor was lucky to be alive.

Regatta Will Not Be Held This Summer

PICTON—The Powerboat regatta which has been held on Picton Bay for the past twelve years will not be held this year. Decision to cancel the event was made yesterday at a meeting of the directors of Prince Edward Yacht Club. The problem of financing and lack of interest are chief factors in arriving at this decision.

The club sent letters to 27 business men, summer resort owners and others asking if they wished to see the regatta continue and if so to what extent they would assist financially. Only a very small portion of those polled replied and the financial backing offered was inadequate.

While no plans have been made it is expected that a local regatta will be held, featuring outboards.

Costs of operating the powerboat regattas have increased each year and the club has found it difficult to collect admissions since the races can be seen from many vantage points along the high shore road.

During past regattas, several world and Canadian records have been established at these regattas of which has been described by drivers from many parts of the continent as the best in North America.

"Rebecca" Launches 21st Dominion Drama Festival

Daphne Du Maurier's "Rebecca"—in which John Fryd, above, played the maleliead was used by the Hamilton Players' Guild to launch the 15th Dominion Drama festival at Hamilton, Ont. And in the estimation of a man whose opinion counts in matters dramatic, the team opened the batting on the home ground jolly well indeed." After allowing himself a few quotes, Mr. Hugh Hunt, at right, the English director who has come to Canada to pass judgment on her amateur acting talents, said there would be no more advance flashes on his favorites. For he still has to examine seven more plays—including "Alice in Wonderland" in which Claudia Sweeney, above, will star—from as far away as Grand Falls, Nfld. and Trail, B.C. After that there will be 11 trophies to distribute. (Central Press Canadian Photos).

TRIBUTE TO GOOD MOTHERS.

Rev. R. R. Bonsteel first paid tribute to the good mothers and spoke of the cares and opportunities that go with the job of motherhood. He also spoke on the theme "Opening Our Homes to God", as suggested by Christian Family Day. In the Festival of Home both mother and father should be remembered. The motto, "Christ is the head of this house" is only one way to have a God-centred home. Family worship, Grace at table, teaching the children to pray at the end of each day, and above all, taking the family to church for Sunday worship; being kind to each other in the home and teaching the children to respect their parents and the love and consideration for other people in the neighborhood and for away places." Material assistance and love will help these people to realize the meaning of Christianity.

The service closed with a prayer hymn of thankfulness and a wish to grow in grace.

BASEBALL!

The schedule-makers of the newly-formed Viaduct-Ontario Senior Baseball League of which the Belleville Bntas are part, must be having some difficulty ironing out the dates for the six-team loop. Thus far no document has been received by this department or Peterborough and the only information we have to date includes the mere opening dates.

According to second-hand information from Toronto the loop officially gets under way this week-end at Millen Stadium, Toronto, where the Toronto Oil Burners play hosts to the Oshawa Transporters with the Toronto Dependables clashing with the Oakville Oaks in a night till at the Broadview-Danforth Park.

The Peterborough Petes pay off the official bid with a Sunday game in Toronto, starting at 2.30 p.m. against the Oil Burners. It says here the Belleville club will not see action until the following week-end.

Secretary Drury Denyes of the Bntas, informs us that he "was told" by the league moguls that the Bntas will open in Peterborough on May 24 with the inaugural game for this city taking place on May 29 against the Toronto Dependables. Also we given to understand, is subject to change. Oshawa and Oakville will open at home on May 24 against the Toronto squads.

Each club, we are informed, will play a 30-game schedule with the Toronto clubs playing their home dates at Millen Memorial Stadium on Tuesdays, Saturdays and alternate Sundays. Harold Barnes, league proxy, feels the entries from Belleville, Oshawa and Peterborough, along with the strengthened Toronto clubs will make for keener competition and for better baseball all the way along the line.

Meanwhile playing coach Vern Goyer is giving the Bntas plenty of work with the weatherman permitting. It is stated the Bntas will not go afield too far from home, especially in view of the fact, as we understand it, American imports are barred from the loop.

MAKING GOOD!

Speaking of baseball, Keith Wesse, Centreville-born right-hander, now with the Kitchener Panthers of the newly-ful Intercounty League, is living up to all earlier promises The youngster who pitched his first baseball for a peewee team in the small village north of Napanee, now is an impressive start in the Intercounty. He won his first effort in an exhibition game and yesterday hurled one-hit ball for six innings in a 10-0 victory.

• • • •

Wesse, now slightly over junior age, hurled the Shadow Bake Jacketers and Intermediates to three titles before going to a Western Ontario Intermediate club last year. He practically hoisted the club by his boot-straps to the Ontario final, and the Kitchener authorities lost little time getting him on the dotted line.

Last season he worked 17 games four in relief. He won ten and lost four, giving up 34 runs, only 34 of them earned. In all he worked 188 innings, striking out 119, walking 44, balking once and hearing one wild pitch. Apparently he has picked up things where he dropped them last year, and his auspicious start in the Intercounty marks him as one of the outstanding rookies of the season.

BAD BOYS!

A derrickian gentleman who tips the scales at 325 pounds on the hoof, makes his debut in a Belleville wrestling ring tonight. He is Hombre Montana, a cowpoke just a few shades smaller than his native state. The Hombre is a massive cuss and teams up with that handsome youngster who, from sunny Italy, Illio Da Paolo, who made a tremendous hit here last season.

But the "Ombre and Illio" had better not be silly. For they face some mayhemic opposition in the Mills Brothers, who have been known to try tearing an arm off the opposition and using it to cool off train fans. They are two tough roughies, said to be the meanest pair of cusses ever in grace a Belleville ring. One story goes that the larger of the two long-haired gentry became so incensed during a bout, he bit a large chunk out of a steel girder, chewed it and spat it in the general direction of the faithful. That's a tough one to swallow, but these stories do get around.

Popular Ray Villmer, who meets Big Bill Eakins, another gargantuan of the squared circle, and Pat Flanagan, always an idol of Belleville fans, who tangles with Lee "The Leer" Hemming, rounds out a topflight card.

Don Johnson, Lew Burdette Turn in Starry Mound Jobs; Bucs Rookie Hits Homer, Four

By BEN FELDGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Yankees have some fresh ammunition to use against the critics who have blasted them for hoarding talent during their pennant rampages of the last five baseball seasons.

Exhibits A and B are Lew Burdette and Don Johnson, a pair of 27-year-old right-handed pitchers who once toiled in Yankee livery.

Burdette, now a front-line member of the Milwaukee Braves' mound staff, mowed down Brooklyn Dodgers on one hit Wednesday for a 5-1 victory. Johnson gave up only two hits in pitching Chicago White Sox to a 2-0 verdict over Boston.

Detroit held on to first place in the American League by .27 percentage points despite Johnson's victory by beating Washington 4-3. The Yankees edged Cleveland 5-4.

Philadelphia replaced Brooklyn at the top of the National heap by downing Chicago Cubs 5-4. New York Giants defeated Cincinnati 2-1 and St. Louis slugged Pittsburgh 13-5.

ELAYS FIRST

Lefty Ted Gray pitched his first complete game and scored his first victory for the Tigers this season as he subdued the Washington hits. Jim Busby reached him for a home run in the ninth.

The Indians kayoed Eddie Lopat with a four-run uprising in the eighth inning to take home the game and saved Lopat's fifth straight triumph. The victory, the Yanks' second in a row over the Indians, deadlocked the two teams in third place, a game and a half behind Detroit.

The only hit off Burdette at Brooklyn was a home run by Gil Hodges in the fifth. Burdette kept the Dodgers pounding the ball into the dirt and first-baseman Joe Adcock made 17 put-outs.

Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati had a two-hit shutout working at the Polo Grounds until the ninth when with one out and one on Bob Hofman slammed his second pinch-hit homer of the season.

Rookie Wally Moon of the Cardinals got five hits in six tries against Pittsburgh and Red Schoendienst went four-for-four as the Redbirds battered Pirate pitching for 21 hits.

SLAUGHTER HURT

Browns Drop Charges Against Ottawa, Kissell

OTTAWA (CP) — Cleveland Browns of the National Football League Wednesday moved to drop charges against the Ottawa Football Club and John Kissell, star lineman.

Browns sued when Kissell last year allegedly jumped a contract with them and signed with Riders all season. Kissell signed a two-year contract with Riders, but this year went back to the Cleveland fold.

Royals Take Two From Ottawa; Wings Trim Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Veterans Ken Lehman and Tom Lascola of Montreal Royals in the International League are making strong bids for another trial with Brooklyn Dodgers.

The two southpaws hurled five-hitters Wednesday night as the Royals evened their season record to 8-8 by defeating Ottawa Athletics twice, 3-1 and 4-3.

In other games, Rochester Red Wings moved to within half a game of first place by outlasting Toronto Maple Leafs 13-8. Meanwhile the league leaders, Syracuse Chiefs, were blanked 1-0 by Richmond. Havana Sugar Kings nipped Buffalo Bisons 3-2 in Cuba.

Dick Whitman and Lascola hit home runs, accounting for all the runs in the first game at Ottawa. It was Lascola's second win against one loss. Walt Dubek's outstanding sacrifice fly drove in the winning run in the nightcap as Dick Young and Chico Fernandez contributed homers in Ken Lehman's fourth straight victory.

Jocko Thompson limited the Chiefs to three hits as the Visitations won their second straight game. Richmond scored the only run in the last of the ninth when catcher Harry Taborsky squeezed home Joe Lutz with the bases loaded.

Rochester broke their game wide open with four runs in the sixth inning on three doubles and two walks. Rookie reliefer Jack Knight, who entered the last six hitters in order, was given the decision, his first of the season.

Paul Smith singled home Angel Scull with the winning run in the eighth inning to give the Sugar Kings their victory over the Bisons.

Keith Wesse Hurls Panthers To Victory

GUELPH (CP)—Pitchers Keith Wesse and Ken Nagel held Guelph-Waterloo Royals to three hits Wednesday night as they led Kitchener Panthers to a 10-0 victory in an exhibition Intercounty Baseball League game.

Wesse allowed the Royals only one hit in six innings. Nagel gave up the other two in the remaining three frames.

Six Guelph errors helped the Panthers score three unearned runs. Pat Hilker's bases-empty home run in the seventh was the only extra-base hit in the game.

The Panthers finished strong, scoring five runs in the eighth and three in the ninth. They got singles in the first and seventh.

Will Try To Force Cockell Walls Fight

LONDON (CP)—Harry Levene, British agent for Earl Walls, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion Wednesday posted £200 with the British boxing board of control "in an effort to force British and empire champion Don Cockell into an empire title fight."

The sum is the "first instalment of a side bet of up to £2,000 we are willing to place," Levene said. The boxing board confirmed the step but said it was unable to force Cockell to meet the Toronto boxer in an empire match.

Cockell's manager, John Simpson, was unavailable for comment Wednesday but has said recently that he is not interested in Walls at the present time.

"We're too close to (world champion Rocky Marciano after beating Roland La Starza to worry about him," Simpson said.

Cockell fights Harry Matthews in London June 1. He defeated the American in their first fight last year.

Pilous Says Kings Easiest Foemen, Edmonton Coach 'Fully' Confident

TORONTO (CP)—The coach of the east, won't predict it of the coach of the west certainly will deny it.

But it appears that it is only a question of "how long" before St. Catharines TeePees win their first Memorial Cup in 12 years of junior hockey competition.

And tonight the TeePees can come to within one game of that goal when they meet Edmonton Oil Kings in the third game of the best-of-seven finals for the Canadian junior hockey championship. TeePees won the first game 3-2 and came from behind for a 5-3 victory in their second meeting.

But despite the two-game deficit coach Ken McAuley of the Oil Kings thinks Edmonton will come back.

"We improved 100 per cent for the second game and we're going to improve even more," he said. "I still don't think TeePees are any better than we are."

SEASON OF REVISION

Rudy Pilous, coach of the eastern champions, won't go out on a limb but he does admit that Edmonton is the easiest opposition that TeePees have faced in the play-offs.

Both coaches, however, agreed on one thing—skating.

McAuley said referees Paul Rozak and Ike Morrison, both of Moose Jaw, were imitated by Pilous. Said Pilous: "It's news to me." Somewhat wistfully he added: "I've never scared a referee in my life."

But Pilous said he was hoping for more accurate refereeing in future games.

"They've been ignoring too much interference and slashing," he said. "I don't say Edmonton is a rough club but they get away with a lot of chippy stuff. My players are covered with bruises."

McAuley countered:

"Pilous started to scream after the second period in the second game. Then the referees gave us the business. But we'll still win despite the referees. We're only starting to go."

OVERCOME BY RECEPTION

Although he wasn't too impressed with St. Catharines' play, he was overcome by the city's civic reception Wednesday.

The Oil Kings were tendered a civic banquet by the city of St. Catharines and then were taken on a tour of the Niagara Peninsula and Niagara Falls as guests of the Canadian Canners, a St. Catharines manufacturing company.

"We had a wonderful time," McAuley said. "The boys really enjoyed every minute of it."

And Lee Leclerc, manager of the Oil Kings, chimed in:

"The warm reception given us in St. Catharines has changed our views completely on the hospitality of Canadians."

"In Toronto we were given a chilly reception and not even the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association had a representative present to meet us. Apparently they were all too busy getting ready for that trip to Sweden. I'm sure that CAHA annual meeting."

OIL KING'S HOPES HIGH HERE UNTIL ST. KITTS CAUGHT FIRE

Edmonton's Norm Ullman, farthest from camera, raises the puck—and western hopes—high as he beats St. Catharines' Mary Edwards to give the Oil Kings a 3-0 lead in second game of Memorial Cup finals at Toronto. But Oil Kings hopes were soon flattened when Teepees roared back for four goals in the third period to take the game, 5-3, and a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven junior championship series. Calgary Stamps Edge Quebec Aces, Move Within Game of Edinburgh Cup

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampeders moved to within a single game of the Edinburgh Trophy and the professional hockey championship of Canada when they downed Quebec Aces 2-1 here Wednesday night before a crowd of 5,267—smallest of the series to date.

The victory gave the Stampeders a commanding 4-1 bulge in the best-of-nine playoff series. The sixth game will be played here Thursday night with a seventh, if necessary, in Edmonton Saturday night.

Stampeders, playing it just as hard as they had to, were held in check over most of the distance by the eastern champions. The Calgarians' goal-scoring opportunities were few and far between but they managed to make the most of them against substitute goaltender Jean Marois.

The diminutive Quebec custodian replaced Lorne Gellhorn at the start through with a brilliant display. He had no chance against the shots which eroded him.

At the other end of the rink, Bill Brennan was the standout as he kept Stamps on top.

Pompeii was back in check throughout. Referee Eddie Powers handed out five penalties—three to Calgary.

Selke Backs Effort For Canada Title

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League, tossed in his support Wednesday to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's plans to bring the world title back to this country.

"Since we criticized the CAHA so vigorously for sending a poor team to the last world tourney overseas we should be just as ready to back the organization in its plan to send a good team for 1955," he said.

The CAHA, holding its annual meeting in Vancouver, has decided to interview a club, picked by CAHA executives, with capable players from the organization's branches throughout Canada.

Asked if he thought league powers and club owners would part with valuable gate-attractions, Selke replied: "As far as I am concerned, the answer is yes, providing it's for the good of Canada and not advertising some product."

Would Selke part, for instance, with Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard, brother of the immortal Maurice and high - scoring sparkplug with the Montreal Junior Canadiens?

"If he is willing to go and the CAHA wants him, it would be worth any gate loss to see him teaching those Russians a few things."

Self Training Is Essence of Sport Roger Bannister Tells Reporters

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Bannister, who flew to New York to appear on television but instead ran into a hassle over his amateur status, said Wednesday he doubts if he will maintain condition enough to appear in the 1956 Olympic Games.

"This year I become a doctor, the world record-holder for the mile said in an interview shortly after his arrival at Idlewild airport.

"That means I will work all hours, will be subject to calls at night and will find it very difficult to maintain condition.-After this year my track activities will be materially shortened."

The 25-year-old medical student, who ran a tremendous 3:59.4 mile at Oxford last week, had quiet, professorial answers for the barrage of reporters' questions.

Q. Do you think you have reached your running peak?

"No, I am sure I haven't. I imagine my peak would be around 28 or 30 years old. After that, the world's greatest runner, Emil Zatopek, is around 32. It's a pity that I must taper off training but I have my work to think of. It's only a sport, you know."

Q. Do you expect to make any more tries this year at breaking your record?

"I have two more objectives primarily in mind. They are the British Empire Games at Vancouver and the European championships at Berne, Switzerland. That next two months after that I will be devoting almost entirely to my medical work."

Q. In these races will you go out to break your own record?

"My first obligation, I think, is to run for my country. You can't go into a race with a divided mind —that is, concentrating on both the stop watch and the competition. That would be courting disaster. I will be trying to win the races."

Q. You think your record will be broken?

"Records are ephemeral. They are made to be broken. No one can reach the ultimate. It's just that the increments of the ones will be shortened."

Q. Who is responsible mainly for helping out?

"I coached myself. While I have been indebted to others for their help, I have felt that an athlete is responsible only to himself. I have trained myself. That is the essence of sport."

King Maple, Short-Priced Favorite for Plate in Years

(EDS: This is the first of a series on the leading candidates for the 95th running of the Queen's Plate.)

TORONTO (CP) — King Maple, the shortest-priced winter book favorite in the 95-year-history of the Queen's Plate, didn't set hearts aflutter when he made his debut at the Woodbine track June 29, 1953. He finished a languid seventh in a field of seven-year-olds and, in the argot of the turf, he "didn't run fast enough to beat a fat man."

He goofed again in his second start—at Fort Erie July 10—finishing eighth. Six days later, also at Fort Erie, he came to life, beat a field of maidens and paid $43.10 for $2.

From such an inauspicious start, King Maple finished the season in a blaze of glory and now is an 8-to-5 choice for the 1¼-mile plate classic June 22 at the east-end Woodbine track. Before then, he either will show in the six-furlong plate trial May 22 or the mile-and-70-yard second plate trial June 2.

As a juvenile, he won seven of his 11 starts; finished second twice and earned a total of $41,075. His crowning effort of breaking the record for purses won by a Canadian-bred juvenile, a record set a year earlier by Canadians.

King Maple must be cleared with the Queen's Plate committee. Mrs. Gordon McMacken of Toronto bought him for $3,500 from his breeder, D. G. McClelland, and McClelland tossed in another yearling colt as a bonus. The son of Fairarig and Noon Maid was a rugged individual but, initially, there was nothing in his appearance to indicate that he would be voted Canada's "horse of the year" in 1953.

When John E. Campbell, handicapper for the Jockey Club in New York, ranked North America's two-year-olds at the end of the season, he assigned 118 pounds to the Canadian champion.

The big Mickleham colt has trained faultlessly although memories of the "knock-down-the-favorite club" are quick to point out that his speed trials have been surpassed by some of his plate rivals.

US Television Coverage of Football Tremendous Thing for Canada

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The deal that sends Big Four football games over the NBC's television network throughout the United States is a tremendous thing geographically and politically for Canada, Lew Hayman said today.

"This unlimited publicity won't cost Canada a cent," said Hayman, general manager of Montreal Alouettes and chairman of the Big Four's TV committee.

"It will astonish four of our major cities, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and Hamilton, in the minds of American TV viewers and this area of eastern Canada will become as well known as southern Texas or South Dakota or Alabama.

"The NBC will romance, these games in 15-minute prologues about the city, the stadium, the individual players and the Canadian Rams itself."

At the same time Hayman said he felt that U.S. players signing with teams in the western Canada league "will lose all identity and potential publicity."

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (CP)—Charleston Senators of the American Association Wednesday obtained outfielder Bob Addis on option from Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League.

Canadian Wins First Race At Buffalo

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP)—Bud Gilmour, youthful Canadian driver, brought home the first winner on the opening card of Buffalo Raceway's 1954 season.

Ronnie Doo, a trotter, was clocked in 2:18 4-5 on a slow track after rain during the day. Ronnie Don and Belvin Chief, winner in the second, paid a daily double of $56.30.

Mr. Galvez, owned by J. Russell Miller of Dutton, Ont., won his first start of the season, with Johnny Chapman in the sulky.

BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN

"THE LEMON DROP KID"

Bob Hope, known as the Lemon Drop Kid because of his fondness for that confection in his a jam. He has touted Andrea King on the wrong nag, and she has lost $10,000 for her gangster boy friend, Fred Clark, who gives Hope until Christmas eve to pay up. The pendicament of Jane Darnell, elderly news vender, who is trying desperately to get accommodation at an old people's home for herself and her ex-convict husband, gives Hope an idea. He and his cronies start soliciting funds, ostensibly to establish such a home, but Hope's real plan is to use the money to pay off Clark. A gangster, Lloyd Nolan, muscles in, and Bob, accused by his girl friend of being a heel, undergoes a change of heart; successfully disposes of Clark and Nolan; and the old folks' home is launched.

"THUNDERBIRDS"

(2nd Feature)

The town of Green Hill, Okla., is proud of its national guard trainees in the summer of 1940, and proudest when, by an act of Congress, the unit becomes part of the regular army. Shipped off to Fort Sill for training are such youngsters as John Derek and John Barrymore Jr., who are both in love with the same girl, Eileen Christy, and Gene Evans, leather-lunged sergeant. During training they become involved with Ward Bond, a sergeant with a West Point background. Then the unit goes overseas and the "Thunderbird Division" suffers many casualties. Wounded at Casino, Barrymore learns—after Bond is killed—that the latter was his father, who had been court-martialed in World War I, changed his name and enlisted in the national guard. The surviving members of the unit return home as heroes when the war ends.

AT THE BELLE

"HELL AND HIGH WATER" ACHIEVES TRUE REALISM WITH CINEMASCOPE

CinemaScope moves on to greater and revolutionary few channels of entertainment as witnessed in the fifth and latest Technicolor-DeLuxe production now showing at Century-Fox, originator of the new process. "Hell and High Water" opened last night at the Belle Theatre, with a gold-crested cast headed by Richard Widmark, Bella Darvi, Cameron Mitchell, David Wayne, Victor Francen and Gene Evans. While each impressive venture since the brilliant "Robe", the studio has successively experimented in various approaches to the expansive outdoor spectacle.

There is plenty of action and suspense in this chilling spy drama which is the adventurous story of a self-sacrificing group of individuals out to thwart a conspiracy to start World War III through an atomic incident which will be blamed on America. This is a panoramic theme in both thought and scope. There silent underwater battles between enemy submarines, Arctic raids and an awesome atomic explosion.

On this two-fold adventure, Samuel Fuller directs 29 men and a woman through tense, fast, significant action in these cramped quarters, recording every harrowing of a drama of worth of tension in the exciting journey to a communist base in the Arctic. What comes off proves that CinemaScope stacks up for intimate drama as well as for panoramic.

"Hell and High Water" is also noteworthy for the uniformly high calibre acting the cast turns in. Richard Widmark who is at his best in raw-boned tough characterizations brings authority and believability to the role of "Jones", the modern day soldier of fortune who gambles his life for fame a fancy buck. Bella Darvi, a French import, is mysteriously appealing in this her debut as an actress in the role of "Dr. Gerrard", which she executes beautifully, Cameron Mitchell, David Wayne, Gene Evans give clear, colorful interpretations of the various crew members and Victor Francen excells as an atomic expert. These veterans as is Widmark, of the legitimate theatre, were well chosen.

"TOURNAMENT OF THE ROSES"

Extra short subjects include "Polovetsian Dances From Prince Igor", "Tournament of Roses", showing the annual New Year's day Pasadena Parade and Football game in the Rose Bowl, one of the most beautiful. Technicolor subjects seen on a local screen in some time.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You probably know how the other half lives. But of the millions of bridge players, less than 500 have attained the rating of life masters. Do you know how that 100 thousandth do?

The series you are currently reading here is telling you. It is a record of what the highest rated players in the nation did in their 36 table national match last summer.

NORTH
♠3
♥A Q 2
♦5 5 4
♣Q J 10 8 5 2

WEST — EAST
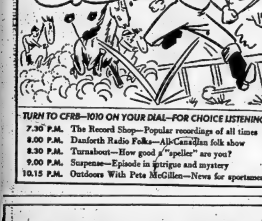
♠K Q J 6 — ♠8 7 2
♥K 10 8 3 — ♥9 7 6 4
♦J 9 8 — ♦A Q 10 3
♣9 — ♣7 4 3

SOUTH
♠A 10 9 5 4
♥J 5
♦K 7 2
♣A K 6

Almost two-third (22) of the tables were in no-trump contracts. Two stopped at a bid of one no-trump and made four. One reached and made four no-trump. Overall the first two have been asleep?

Three no-trump was the ending at 19 tables. North was declarer in 11 of them; south declarer in the other eight. It seems to have been a question as to which should stick in the no-trump first.

Of these 19 at game in no-trump, one took 12 tricks, a dozen of the declarers gathered in ten tricks, five took nine tricks. Maybe the opening lead had something to do with their trick taking.



At three tables west was permitted to play it in two hearts at doubled contracts, down. At one table north made a brilliant pass that left south in a silly spot of two spades, down.

Only 16 tables went to five clubs and both took 12 tricks. It was at eight tables that the contract stopped at three clubs. One of these took 12 tricks; the other seven taking 11 tricks.

Even for such experts as these it is too much to expect them to reach a slam in clubs. But you would certainly expect more of them to be in a game contract of some kind.

Regardless of which contracts were correct, the point is that the notables are at bidding odds. But it might be interesting to work out how 12 tricks can be made in clubs. Go to it.

FOR FRIDAY, MAY 14, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Friendly rays on the whole. It may not be just the day to seek a raise in salary or unusual favors but you can benefit through good work and close attention to essential duties. Personal affairs favored.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — This should be an opportune, favorable period for you and your interests. Don't become discouraged over setbacks or obstacles. Your work and family relationships can be pleasant, helpful. Do your share.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Diversified interests and activities under splendid star influences. But don't think you have it all down pat. Take sound advice, helpful suggestions. New opportunities now.

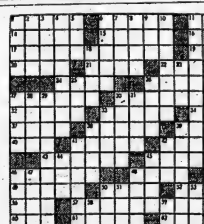
June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — A good day for advanced study, starting new undertakings, or just finishing incompleted matters. Much is up to you. Banish worry!

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Not a day for aggressive action but one that can pronounce you victor for the steady effort and thought you put into it. Avoid a too forceful attitude. Graciousness will win more.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—A full, generous day although you may not be as mentally alert as usual. Go along with carefully planned schedule, without anxiety; doubt, you will have a happy, productive period.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Artistic, scientific, religious and family interests most highly favored. But you can succeed in any worthwhile endeavor. Children's community's affairs okayed.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—If possible try to finish incompleted matters but where new tasks or projects are immediately urgent, have no qualms about getting at them. Day will yield the "mostest" to those who work the mostest.



November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Head high, big grin on! There are good tidings for those who strive. Don't be reckless with money, health. Be loyal to family.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Saturn's position suggests attention to health and personal needs; warns against overindulge: Otherwise the day is promising, stimulating for essentials and pleasant activities.

NOW EVERY WEAK, RUNDOWN MAN OR WOMAN CAN TRY SYNTONA

This Great Herbal Medicine Has Brought Relief to Thousands — Widely Used — Highly Recommended — It Has Become a Favorite Remedy for Stomach Disorders, Constipation, Rheumatic Pains, Backache and Run-down Condition.

HOW IT ACTS!

Made from 12 of Nature's Finest Herbs and Roots, Syntona acts gently, and effectively on the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels. It promotes better assimilation of nourishment and helps to remove poisonous waste and impurities from the system. Assimilation of food is improved thus helping the entire system to take on a new feeling of health, strength and energy.

THIS MAN TELLS HIS EXPERIENCE

Mr. G. Evans, 131 Grange Street, London, Ontario, recently told of his experience with Syntona in the following words:

"I first found out about Syntona 7 years ago when I was in a bad way with stomach trouble. For a long time I hadn't been right. Night after night, or most of them, the stomach trouble would keep me awake, and food remains in my tummy for hours and hours. I couldn't sleep at night and I'd often get dull headaches and dizzy spells.

"Syntona was so effective in overcoming my trouble that I've kept on using one to get me through. Now I've used it as a "standby" remedy ever since. There's always a bottle of it in our house and if ever I have a recurrence of stomach upset, or feel low and not right I take it for weeks and soon feel like a new person."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan The Druggist.

Same Sentiment Seems to Prevail Among U.S. Men

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—During the American revolution a considerable number of Frenchmen, following Lafayette's example, came over here as volunteer fighters. Many of these stuck likewise, however, were sadly disillusioned by the treatment they received in frontier America. They wrote long letters of complaint back home to France, the gist of which was roughly as follows:

"What a crude and unpraiseful people these Americans are! Here we have crossed an ocean to help them fight for and with their independence.

"And how do they show their appreciation? These farmer 'patriots' refuse to give us hay for our horses unless we pay in advance. The American storekeepers are all robbers—every one. As soon as they find out we are French, they immediately double the price on everything. They even think that every Frenchman is a millionaire."

MODERN DAY VERSION

Thousands of Americans who, more than a century and a half later, served as GIs in the Second World War were equally disillusioned on the same score point. They felt more like victims than liberating heroes.

The same sentiment now also seems to prevail among some American service men stationed in Great Britain. A poll of 5,000 U.S. soldiers and airmen there by a London newspaper showed that more than eight out of 10 believe shopkeepers, landlords and cab drivers are gouging them merely because they are Americans.

Taken at its face value, this poll might be viewed as indicating a serious rift between the men in uniform and their hosts.

It is unlikely, however, that the poll really proves any such thing. Soldiers—ever since the Romans have always been inclined to be convinced that, wherever stationed, the civilian locals are out to get them.

Looking at the other side of the picture, it must be realized that it is difficult for a people to have their troops quartered among them, even though they are allies

80 Publications, Girlie Variety Banned In Que.

MONTREAL (CP)—Eighty publications, most of them American, now are banned throughout Quebec.

The publications, mainly of the girlie variety, are banned on the grounds they contain objectionable material.

The Quebec censorship board imposes the ban after examining material brought to its attention by the attorney-general's department or by police.

When he board decides a magazine is objectionable a notice is served on the publisher and copies are sent to his distributing agents in the province. A similar notice is sent to police forces who see to it that newsdealers remove all banned material from newsstands.

The board is empowered to impose the ban under terms of a Quebec act which describes as objectionable "any illustration which offends moral or fictitious scenes of crime or of the habitual life of criminals, or morbid or criminal situations of a nature, tending to corrupt youth and pervert morals."

The board may repeat the ban if the publisher agrees to eliminate objectionable material from his publications and gives proof that he is serious.

and speak roughly the same language, Britain, it has always seemed to me, meets this problem with more success and hospitality than any other nation. One measure of this hospitality is the fact that between 1946 and 1950 American service men returned home with 33,469 British brides.

Divorce Actions For Que., Nfld., At New Record

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate divorce committee has recommended that Parliament dissolve a post-war record of 385 Quebec and Newfoundland marriages at this session.

Senator A. W. Roebuck, committee chairman, reported today to the upper chamber that this figure exceeds the 350 divorces granted by Parliament at two sessions in 1949, the record year for divorce from these two provinces which are the only ones without divorce courts.

The divorce bills are at various stages in the Commons and Senate. The committee's recommendation to dissolve a marriage is rarely rejected by either chamber. However, at least one—a case to which CCF members objected earlier in the session—is likely to be rejected.

The recommendations at this session exceeded those of the previous session by 100. This was the fourth year since the Second World War that the number of divorce cases has exceeded 300. In 1947, 348 divorces were granted and 313 in 1952.

THREE PETITIONS DENIED

At this session, the divorce committee heard and rejected three petitions for divorce. Fourteen were withdrawn and 43 not proceeded with. The latter may be considered at the next session.

Wives outnumbered husbands in seeking divorce by more than two to one, totalling 263 against 119. Eight divorce petitions came from Newfoundland and 374 from Quebec.

Fees paid to parliament jumped to $80,220 at this session.

LANIEL GETS VOTE OF CONFIDENCE BY SMALL MARGIN

Only Victory in Talks Can Save Government

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel and his top military advisers faced up today to major questions on Indo-China policy, supported only by a two-vote majority in the National Assembly.

The vote of 289 to 287 by which Laniel won an assembly vote of confidence Thursday night indicated that the deputies might have booted the cabinet out and they not feared the political crisis would suspend the Geneva talks with the Communists on Indo-China and Korea.

It appears that only a major victory over the Communist - led Vietminh rebels, at the conference table in Switzerland or on the battlefield in Indo-China, can save Laniel and the Geneva talks are secret. Neither victory is expected.

The major item on the government's schedule today was a meeting of the committee on national defence, made up of high military and civilian officials. Laniel warned the assembly that the committee will help to consider the making of important decisions.

Laniel gave the Assembly most of the nature of these, but informed sources say they involve proposals to send more troops to Indo-China and possibly to extend the 18-month conscription period for certain categories.

WOULD RAISE HOWL

Up to now no conscripts have been sent to Indo-China in the seven years of war against the Communist-led rebels. Any decision to send them there is sure to raise a howl throughout warweary France.

In theory the government has the right to send conscripts to any non-combat area, to Saigon, for example, but not to Hanoi. Draftees sent to non-combat areas would free professional troops for the fighting fronts.

But in reality no government could risk such a move without consulting the Assembly and that many deputies are more interested in peace than in maintaining the unpopular Indo-China war. Laniel warned in the despatch Thursday that they must decide on ap "strong measures to assemble new effectives" for the Indo-China war-area.

Laniel told the assembly that more troops, parachutists, bombers and tanks are being sent to Indo-China, and that two cruisers have been dispatched to the gulf of Tonkin.

Decide Later If Balcombe Can Appeal

OTTAWA (CP) — Mr. Justice J. H. G. Fauteux Thursday reserved judgment on a motion for leave to appeal the murder conviction of Lieut. Peter E. R. Balcombe to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Lieut. Balcombe was convicted of the murder of Marie Anne Carrier of Blenville, Que. He was sentenced to be hanged May 25.

M. P. Kelly, Balcombe's lawyer argued that the court which tried Balcombe had no jurisdiction to hear the murder charge.

Mr. Kelly said that the theory that Miss Carrier was fatally stabbed in Cornwall provincial is consistent with the facts of the case as the theory that she was killed in Ontario. Balcombe was tried in Cornwall before Chief Justice J. C. McRuer and an Ontario Supreme Court jury.

U.S. FIRES FINAL H-EXPLOSION IN '54 TEST SERIES

Tests Successful In All Departments

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has fired a final hydrogen explosion in the 1954 test series at the mid-Pacific proving ground.

A joint Atomic Energy Commission-defence department announcement Thursday night said the series has been completed and "the tests were successful in the development of thermonuclear weapons."

This was much like the language used in the end of previous test serigs and, like the previous announcements, it did not specify how many bombs had been set off. However, three previous explosions had been announced, a mighty blast March 1, another 26 days later and a third April 6, leaving open to speculation whether one or more than one detonation occurred after that time.

"Thermonuclear" is the scientists' term indicating a hydrogen explosion.

Announcement of the end of the series, which drew foreign protests from Russia and Red countries, showered well outside the test area, came on the same day that the first explosion was announced in London aimed at ending the arms race and outlawing nuclear weapons.

There is active speculation of a connection between the timing of Thursday's announcement, continuing problems at the Atomic Energy Commission. Besides the usual laconic statement that a test series had been concluded successfully, the joint announcement by AEC chairman Lewis Strauss and Defence Secretary Charles E.Wilson added, said of the 1954 tests:

TESTS SAID ESSENTIAL

"They were essential to our national interest and have contributed substantially to the security of the United States and the Free World. The AEC and defence chiefs, with a few days sea and air traffic in the safety zone around the test 'warning 'area' which was set up for safety purposes for the time when the tests were taking place. Official notice to airmen and mariners will be published.

This could have been an indirect reply and assurance to the AEC and defence chiefs, with diplomatic guidance, to the conference participants abroad.

Although the only foreign nations actually affected by radioactive matter drifting from the test area have been Japanese fishermen, there has been much criticism of the tests has come from within Britain.

Two Are Killed, Three Injured In Head-On Crash

Accident Occurs Just West Of Hamilton City Limits

HAMILTON (CP) — Two persons were killed and three injured in a head-on automobile crash early today on Highway 2 just west of the city limits.

Killed were Ronald Davis, 21, of Hamilton, and Jean Blasdale, 17, of Brantford.

Injured in and hospital are Mrs. Evelyn Blasdale of Brantford, mother of the dead girl; Raymond Quinn, 43, of Windsor; and Leonard Graham of Hamilton.

Mrs. Blasdale is the most severely injured of the three. She suffered fractures of both legs, fractured ribs, a broken left arm and head injuries. Hospital authorities described her condition as "very fair."

CURVE CAUSED TROUBLE

Provincial police said a late-model car driven by Graham with Davis as a front-seat passenger was bound for Hamilton. It missed a sharp turn near the city limits, went out of control and collided head-on with a Brantford - bound car driven by Quinn, police said.

The Graham car rolled over and landed in a ditch at the side of the highway.

Davis' mother said her son had been in Brantford at a meeting held by the automobile dealer for whom he worked.

There is active speculation of a connection between the timing of Thursday's announcement, continuing problems at the Atomic Energy Commission. Besides the usual laconic statement that a test series had been concluded successfully, the joint announcement by AEC chairman Lewis Strauss and Defence Secretary Charles E.Wilson added, said of the 1954 tests:

TESTS SAID ESSENTIAL

"They were essential to our national interest and have contributed substantially to the security of the United States and the Free World. The AEC and defence chiefs, with a few days sea and air traffic in the safety zone around the test 'warning 'area' which was set up for safety purposes for the time when the tests were taking place. Official notice to airmen and mariners will be published.

This could have been an indirect reply and assurance to the AEC and defence chiefs, with diplomatic guidance, to the conference participants abroad.

Although the only foreign nations actually affected by radioactive matter drifting from the test area have been Japanese fishermen, there has been much criticism of the tests has come from within Britain.

Dutch Vessel Gets in Dutch With Royal Navy

LONDON (Reuters)—A 900-ton Dutch coastal vessel nearly got in Dutch today with 17 British warships escorting Queen Elizabeth's yacht Britannia through the English channel.

The Dutch vessel suddenly appeared out of the morning mist and headed curiously through the ranks of warships straight to the royal yacht.

The intruder immediately swung away at 90 degrees and scurried to safety.

Admiralty Slaps Arrest Warrant On Russian Ship

LONDON (AP)—The admiralty slapped an arrest warrant today on the Soviet freighter Novorossisk, halting her scheduled sailing to Leningrad.

As a result, two Russian embassy air attaches expelled by Britain on charges of spying may have to look for another way home.

The warrant was issued on behalf of the owners of the 300-ton Dutch ship Marvic, who claim the Russian owners of their 2,916-ton Beloostrov owe them for damages the Marvic suffered when the two ships collided in the Kiel canal in October, 1952.

The Russian ship arrived in London earlier this week. The attaches, Lieut. Col. Yevgeniy and Andrei Gudkov, were due to travel home on it.

JONES KETALIATE

The Russians in turn banned the move to Moscow of Maj. Charles R. F. Landon, an assistant military attache in the British embassy there, on charges he engaged in espionage.

Britain denied the charge and asserted it was in retaliation for the ouster of the two Russian attaches. London is now vacationing in Britain.

The attaches can be cleared of an arrest warrant and leave port when a bond satisfactory to the claimant is posted.

Russia Proposes Neutrals Supervise Indo-China Peace

GENEVA (CP) — Russia proposed today that any settlement of the Indo-China conflict be carried out under the supervision of a neutral nations supervisory commission. This represented a major modification in the Communist position.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov made his proposal to the nine-party Indo-China conference.

Molotov insisted that the earlier proposal of Communist - led Vietminh did not provide for adequate supervision and then submitted his own proposal as a supplement to the Vietminh plan.

There was no immediate word from the Western powers as to whether the Soviet proposal would satisfy them on the question of supervision.

WITHDRAWAL OFFERED

Molotov made his proposals a few minutes before French Foreign Minister Bidault announced that France will withdraw her forces from Laos and Cambodia if the governments there approve of the invading Vietminh forces are also withdrawn.

Bidault said France has recognized the independence of Laos and Cambodia. This question was independent of the problem of Viet Nam—largest of the three associated states and main battleground in the war.

"Once peace has been restored, the French government does not intend to maintain its forces in Viet Nam against the will of the legal government of that country," Bidault declared.

ASKS SUPERVISION

Bidault again called for international supervision of the cease-fire in Viet Nam.

He announced the Communist-Vietminh proposals for a political settlement "as assuring the total domination of Vietminh over Viet Nam before elections."

He also declared that a political settlement should not delay a military settlement in Viet Nam.

Before today's session, Britain urged Russia and Communist China to agree on private meetings on Indo-China next week.

Foreign Secretary Eden made the proposal on visits on his own initiative this morning to the Chinese Communist delegation, Chou En-lai, and Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov.

Eden, who has stepped up his trouble-shooting activities at the conference in an effort to break deadlocks on both Korea and Indo-China, conferred with Chou for 40 minutes and with Molotov for only 10 minutes.

FRENCH ASK ARMED AID

At the same time, conference sources said France has made a new request to the United States for immediate military aid in Indo-China, where Vietminh rebels are threatening the French defence line on the Red river delta. It is understood President Eisenhower now is studying the request with the combined chiefs of staff.

The sources said the U. S. is also pushing its campaign here and in Washington for creation of a southeast Asian defence pact on the lines of British steps outside it for the time being. Many interested countries are reported eager to go ahead without Britain.

Western Western powers met with the non-Communist Indo-China peace delegates this morning to prepare for today's session on Indo-China.

Meantime, the nine-member Allied Korea committee met for over two hours without finding a new formula to present to the conference.

South Korea's refusal to accept all-Korea elections under United Nations supervision has knocked out the Allied plans.

Two days ago, Eden urged the conference to consider Indo-China in its world fincendiary speeches and get down to the business of practical settlement. Thursday he submitted a similar proposal to the 18-country talks at Geneva.

SEES INNER VIEWS

His key schedule this morning came before the day's session devoted to Indo-China. In his meetings with Chou and Molotov, he sought to get their answers to a series of carefully prepared questions he asked two days ago.

Say Russian Guards Killed 56 Prisoners

BONN, Germany (AP) — The West German Socialist party said today Russian guards killed 56 prisoners and wounded 180 others during a revolt last year in slave labor camps near Vorkuta in Siberia.

The arrest of Soviet police boss Lavrenty Beria touched off the revolt, the party said in a report based on the questioning of former German prisoners who have returned from Russia. The Vorkuta prisoners blamed their detention on Beria and demanded their release when they heard of his arrest, the party said.

Five-Power Talks Start Under Malik

LONDON (Reuters) — A five-power conference seeking to break the East-West deadlock over proposals for world disarmament began today started serious work here under chairmanship of Jacob Malik, Soviet ambassador to Britain.

The conference, attended by delegates from Canada, Britain, the United States, the Soviet Union and France, is meeting as a sub-committee of the UN disarmament commission. Canada is represented by General Alfred Lansing Pearson.

Business meetings are being held in strict secrecy and a spokesman said no information will be issued during the agreed formal communique each day.

Execution Delayed Again for Author Sentenced to Death Six Years Ago

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — Death, which Caryl Chessman admits he richly deserves, remains for him as "a funny feeling . . . a tightening of the belly," has passed him by again.

The ex-year-old author of "Cell 2455, Death Row" Thursday night was given a lengthy lease on life less than 24 hours before his scheduled execution on a charge of rape-kidnap.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Merin county, where San Quentin prison is located, granted the condemned murderer a stay of execution. Chessman's counsel asserted that the transcript of his Los Angeles trial, as prepared for an appeal to the state supreme court, was faulty.

Judge Keating also ordered warden Harley F. Teets of San Quentin to bring Chessman into court at San Rafael Monday and show cause why a writ of habeas corpus should not be issued.

The stay of execution probably will prolong Chessman's life at least 60 to 90 days. Whatever happens to the show-cause order, the case will have to be sent back to the Los Angeles judge who tried him, and a new date of execution set.

Chessman thus dodged another date with death in a series of legal manoeuvres that has blocked his execution since he was sentenced to die six years ago.

He was convicted of kidnapping a 17-year-old girl and a woman in 25 for forcible sex perversion. Under California's "Little Lindbergh" law he was sentenced to die for abduction with bodily harm.

Shortly before Keating stayed the execution, Chessman told a reporter:

"I'm all ready. . . . I'm a million miles away. It's difficult to explain, but I feel sort of nebulous."

Told of the stay, he said:

"I'm speechless. I would have been far less surprised if you'd told me there was no further avenue open."

Prime Minister To Board Yacht Off Southampton

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill hurried from London this afternoon to accept a surprise invitation from Queen Elizabeth to join her on her triumphal journey the rest of the way home.

The Queen and Prince Philip go aboard the royal yacht Britannia off Southampton this evening, and it is expected the Britannia will then sail through the English channel at the mouth of the Thames.

An announcement at the prime minister's residence at 4:16 p.m. said Mr. Churchill will come aboard the yacht and be taken the last few miles of the six-month, round - the - world tour with her and the Duke of Edinburgh.

He will dine aboard the Britannia with the Queen and the Duke, and will sail around the southeast corner of England into the Thames with them, but will come ashore a few hours before the royal family disembarks and return around to Westminster bridge, at the Houses of Parliament, to attend an official welcome to the Queen.

As the Britannia moved majestically up the English channel, escorted by 28 warships and watched by thousands of Britons lining the shore, the whole of the rest of the world held much of the time watching the naval and air display.

The Queen Thursday had thundered a mighty 21-gun salute as it neared the royal yacht, due in Southampton.

A light wind blew white smoke from the saluting guns over the assorted collection of yachts, trawlers, pleasure craft and even arrowboats off the shore.

Overhead, RAF planes and helicopters darted in the skies.

RISE BEFORE DAWN

Thousands of Londoners had risen before dawn and travelled by special buses to the south coast to view the homecoming.

They stood on the shore or crowded into gaily-decorated steamers for a closer look.

New Ferry Will Be Launched On Saturday

PICTON — The new ferry being built for the Glenora-Adolphustown service will be launched at Kingston Saturday, Hon. Frederick Gardiner, M.P.P. for Edward-Lennox, and Mrs. Whitney will attend the ceremonies.

It is expected the ferry will be put in service here next month. It will be the largest of the three present "Quinte" ferry, thus giving faster service as the ferries will operate from opposite shores and provide an almost continuous service. The ferry is gaining in popularity and crossings at the ferry are very heavy.

Start Fortnight-Long Airlift Of 450 Wounded in Fortress

By LARRY ALLEN.

HANOI (AP) — The French today began airlifting their seriously wounded troops from Dien Bien Phu, and the Vietminh rebels indicated they will release at least 450 of the casualties from the captured fortress.

That figure was 250 less than previous French estimates of the number of wounded prisoners. The Communist-led rebels had reported they captured 3,000 wounded in all when the Indo-China fortress fell a week ago.

The first contingent of the most gravely wounded arrived about noon today at Gia Lam airport, capital of Luangprabang, 115 miles northwest of Dien Bien Phu, and were stood by to rush them from there to Hanoi and other points with Red Cross planes.

Since only helicopters and small planes can land on the fire-battered, shell-pocked Dien Bien Phu airstrip, the French expect the airlifting of the 450 men to take at least two weeks. The planes can carry only six to six passengers each.

Because of the condition of the first evacuees, the French said they would allow no reporters to interview them for at least 48 hours.

Here in the Red river delta, meanwhile, the French counted new casualties suffered besides the attack by 2,000 to 3,000 rebels Thursday, only 20 miles south of the major city.

The French admitted "serious losses" in repulsing the assault near the town of Phuly. It was the biggest attack of the week in the delta, major Vietminh target since the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

Reliable sources said Dr. Pierre Huard, Red Cross medical field dean who flew to Dien Bien Phu Thursday to arrange the airlift with the Vietminh, did not obtain any information on the fate of Maj. Jean Pierre de Castries, heroic commander of the garrison. Castries' wife and Geneviève, a French Air Force nurse who was the only woman in the battles during the siege.

Roger Bannister Heads Home Again After Red Tape Blocks TV Show

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Bannister who — it turned out — made a 3,000-mile round-trip from London to New York to give out some interviews, headed back today to his Oxford University medical studies.

The great 3:59.4 miler arrived here Wednesday morning, was confused and reconfused by the edicts of British and American amateur authorities and wound up making some tape recordings before rushing to Idlewild airport for a plane for home.

He probably was more tired and certainly more bewildered than the day last week when he became the first human to run the mile in less than four minutes.

Originally he came to appear on some television programs at the request of the British foreign office. It was to be a good will gesture. The trouble was that the foreign office apparently forgot that Bannister is a strict amateur and sored in the United States and amateurs jeopardize their standing by appearing on such programs.

So while Roger was winging his way over here, the idea was vetoed "over" some hurried transatlantic telephone calls.

Bannister brushed off the entire snafu with the observation that he didn't want to come in the first place.

Robbers Slash To Death Two Men in Cafe

MOULTRIE, Ga. (AP)—Robbers slashed to death two men in an all-night drive-in restaurant on the outskirts of this south Georgia city early today.

E. T. Norman, about 40, attendant at the drive-in, and Broome Croft, about 42, night watchman at a nearby plant, were found with their throats cut.

Police chief C. R. Ranew said the motive behind the double murder was robbery. He said the cash register had been rifled and cigarettes—hardly more than $15.

He said the killer(s) could expect to find a large sum at the drive-in, "but they'll kill you for little or nothing nowadays."

Billy Foulds, Referee-in-Chief Of Big Four, Dies

TORONTO (CP)—W. C. (Billy) Foulds, referee-in-chief of the Big Four and long-time member of the Canadian Rugby Union rules committee, died suddenly in hospital today.

Mr. Foulds was quarterback of the University of Toronto Grey Cup winning team of 1909 and 1910, later coach of Varsity and was president of the CRU in 1929 and again in the mid 30s. He had been connected with football since 1909.

POLICE CONTINUING DRIVE AGAINST SPEEDING MOTORISTS

Provincial police are continuing their drive against speeders and against motorists violating other sections of the Highway Traffic Act.

Seven charges of speeding were listed on the docket of the county magistrate's court Thursday. Five of the offenders paid fines and costs out of court ranging from $8.50 to $13.50, while personal services summonses will go out to two others.

Other charges listed on the morning docket ranged from improper passing; operating without required equipment and operating without a licence.

Police Blotter

City police were given a busy time Thursday night rounding up persons for infractions of the Liquor Control Act. Three men were picked up for drunkenness and another three were charged for "having".

A transient found himself charged with vagrancy after he had gone to a local restaurant, ordered a meal and ate it, then informed the proprietor that he had no money. A call to the police station brought officers, and William Bigelow, no given address, was lodged in the police cell on a vagrancy count.

In city magistrate's court this morning three local youths appeared on theft charges and were remanded until Tuesday.

Obituary

MRS. J. W. VAN VOLKENBERG

MARMORA — After an illness of over a year's duration, Mrs. Sarah Ann Van Volkenberg passed away at her home in Marmora township on Tuesday, May 11, in the 81st year of her age. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Reid and was a native of Huntingdon township. Over sixty-two years ago she was married to John W. Van Volkenberg, who predeceased her on November 18, 1951. Nearly all of their married life was spent in Marmora township, near Cordova Mines. The late Mrs. Van Volkenberg was a member of Cordova Free Methodist Church for many years and was always interested in the community. In recent years, due to advanced age and failing health, she was confined to her home most of the time, but was known as a kindly woman ready to help others in time of need.

She is survived by four daughters and three sons, as follows: Mrs. Jessie Bridge (Alice), Marmora township; Mrs. W. Magee (Theda), Oshawa; Mrs. Wilson Rowe (Ethel), Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. John (Vera), Oshawa; Harry, Oshawa; Arthur, Marmora township and John, Marmora.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon, May 13th, from the residence for Cordova Free Methodist Church, where service was conducted by Rev. N. Perry. Interment followed in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

Girl Suffers Broken Jaw, Fractured Arm

Two Belleville persons were injured and a third escaped with shaking up, when their panel truck left the highway near Bayside about midnight last night, rolled over several times and struck a telephone pole.

Injured and in Belleville hospital is Audrey Knox, 20, of 30 Chatham Street, who suffered a broken jaw, fractured arm and facial lacerations and Morley Langman, 37 St. Charles Street, with lacerations.

Miss Knox and Mr. Langman were passengers in a late model panel truck being driven by Beverley McTaggart, 42 Fox Street. McTaggart told police, that as he rounded a curve near Bayside, the trailer of an approaching highway transport swung onto his side of the road and he was forced to take the ditch. The vehicle rolled through the ditch and crashed into the telephone pole and was extensively damaged.

Provincial Constable J. McNutt investigated the accident.

Number of People Working For 'Y' Insufficient

"The past year has been one of growth in our membership and our activities" declared General Secretary Lloyd Skaff at the Y.M.C.A. annual meeting yesterday evening.

The figures which you have before you and which were published in the newspaper last Saturday, are really quite impressive. However, impressive figures are not necessarily the best to read. Those statistics printed indicate the number of persons who put something out of the 'Y' program. There is very little indication of the number of people who put something into the 'Y'. If we had such records we could perhaps measure the effectiveness of our program. A true 'Y' membership only derives genuine benefits when he contributes his time, his effort, his interest to the Y.M.C.A.

"Although we undoubtedly accomplished much during the past 11 months, there were not enough people to make building adequate, who 'put in' to the purpose and program of this Christian character building organization. Unless there are more men and boys, women and girls willing to make the Belleville Y.M.C.A. their first interest and to work for it, then we can count on some very difficult days in the future.

"I want to take this opportunity to thank the handful of Board members, committee members and leaders for the support and encouragement which they have given to the staff and to say we are pleased with every one of our members who work for the Young Men's Christian Association and tell that it can mean in the lives of the people of Belleville.

Mixed Bowling League Holds Enjoyable Party

Walter Moore, veteran kegler of this city added another championship feather to the bowling cap last night, when he accepted the championship honors for his 10-pin winning team the Old Timers, 1953 sling pins of the Quinte Mixed Bowling League.

The league wound up its season in a blaze of banquet glory at Tripe's County Gardens, topped off the evening with dancing and a "general good time."

Handsome prizes took the places of conventional trophies with outgoing president Ray Lennox doling the presentation honors. Mr. Moore and his champion Old Timers naturally had the top spotlight. The champion team includes besides its leader, Jean Murdoch, Frank Mulvihill, Jack and Lil Bennett, Edna Moore and Pigor and Dot Latchford. They received a fine ovation.

Individual prizes went to Cec. Hardwick, men's high average, 236; Ray Lennox, men's high triple 885; Cec. Seeley, men's high single, 368; Jean Mulvihill, ladies' high average, 215; Peg Ronsky, ladies' high triple, 784 and Thora Ward, laugh, ladies' high single, 313.

The presentation followed a delectable turkey dinner with all eight teams of the league being represented. Those were Old Timers, Hiowouts, Champs, Zombies, Head Pins, Seeley's Barbers, Tack Heads and Punks.

Next year's executive includes Murray Ritchie, president; Mrs. Moore, secretary and Hugh Sullivan, treasurer.

Outgoing president Ray Lennox voiced his appreciation of the teams and their co-operation in what was termed a highly successful season.

The party was a gay one with Presey Lennox proving himself an outstanding master-of-ceremonies. A number of spot and novelty dances were held with "puck" prizes going to the winners. It was one of the best get-togethers in the history of the league.

Must Develop Citizens Able To Solve Crises

"We must rededicate ourselves to the task of standing on guard for Canada and our society and to the job of developing citizens capable of dealing with the modern crises", declared J. Malcolm Robb, guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Y.M.C.A. yesterday evening.

"We hear very few people today saying, as many did years ago, that they are the masters of their fate and captains of their soul. It isn't possible because we are all involved and affected by the tremendous world conflicts. Confronted with the dangers of Communism and the horrors of the atom and hydrogen bombs we face problems which we can't solve as individual citizens", he said.

We are speaking for a reason, a purpose, for something.

"Since we as adults have failed in our attempts to achieve peace we must turn to our children and develop them to handle things better. That is what we are doing in Belleville in youth work conducted by the Y.M.C.A. and the Recreation Commission," stated Mr. Robb.

The speaker then went on to describe the work done by the Minor Hockey and Baseball Leagues and to pay especially glowing tribute to Mr. Lloyd (Red) Dodds. "Belleville could not have found a better man in all Canada" he declared.

"Since the end of World War II most of us have seen the world while contributions to guarantee a lasting peace. We have done little to face facts and act in a Christian fashion. This is absolutely necessary if our city and our civilization is to survive."

Mr. Robb was introduced by Mr. Lloyd Skaff and members of the audience were expressed by Mr. N. A. Beach.

VICTIM WATCHED

TORONTO (CP) — Police found a pair of shoes and a coat on the Lake Ontario waterfront Thursday and started dragging for the victim. Nearby 100 persons watched, including 15-year-old Shirley Ghinn. Police finally noticed that Shirley was coatless and barefoot. She had dropped the clothes on the shore before taking a canoe trip.

Teachers Will Make Tour Of Moira Watershed

In order that they may learn at first hand what the Moira River Conservation Authority is doing by way of conservation, 33 public school teachers from Sidney and Thurlow townships will make a tour of the Moira River watershed on Wednesday, May 19th.

The teachers will leave from Belleville by bus in the morning and will visit various points of interest along the waterway. They will visit proposed dam sites; properties recommended for development as recreational areas and the Authority's forest in the Actinolite district.

Later they will visit the site of the old O'Hara Mill in Madoc township, the new Authority dam at Deloro and end up with a conducted tour of the Bethlehem Mine and Marmora.

The trip is being sponsored jointly by the Moira River Authority and the South Hastings Educational Association.

Public Relations director R. H. Macklem noted the tour would give teachers first hand information on what the Authority is doing and would enable them to give pupils better instruction on conservation.

48 Agricultural Students Plant Number of Trees

Forty-eight agricultural students at Belleville collegiate turned foresters on Thursday when they made a safari to Potter's Settlement in the Actinolite area and planted trees in the Moira River Conservation Authority forest.

The group, headed by agricultural teacher Robt. Phillips and M. J. Musgrove, guidance director, planted red pines under the supervision of W. E. Edwards, zone forester, and Don Bell, fieldman for the authority.

At noon the group had lunch on the banks of the Moira and a few of the boys took advantage of the opportunity to take a dip in the still rather chilly river.

In the afternoon the boys were shown the recently constructed Deloro Dam and were told how the fireplay at the dam would provide water for operation of the Deloro mill during the dry summer months.

Later the students were taken on a conducted tour of the Bethlehem Steel open pit workings at Marmora where they saw the giant electric shovels and dump trucks in operation as rock overburden was taken off to bare iron ore ore—60 feet below the surface.

The group travelled by bus and arrived back in Belleville in time for afternoon school closing.

Old O'Hara Mill Purchased As Historical Site

Purchase of the old O'Hara Mill in Madoc township by the Moira River Conservation Authority for development as a historical site, has been announced by Bruce Smith, chairman of the Authority.

The executive committee of the Authority at a meeting early this week voted to purchase the old O'Hara Mill property and a program for its development as a historical site and picnic grounds is being lined up. The property purchased includes the old mill and approximately 35 acres along the creek on which it is situated.

Early this year the Authority voted money for the purchase of the property but additional funds will be required for the development of the site. A special committee has been set up with A. H. Richardson, chief conservation engineer, as chairman. Other members include Authority chairman Bruce Smith, Earl Sager and Authority secretary Col. Roscoe Vanderwater. The committee will have power to add.

ONE OF FIRST

The old O'Hara Mill, said to be one of the first water-powered sawmills of its type in the Moira watershed, was recommended for purchase by the Authority as a historical site in the time the watershed was surveyed by the Department of Planning and Development.

With the passage of years, the old mill group has deteriorated rapidly and as a safeguard against further damage, the mill building has been torn down and stored.

Plans call for its restoration and also the restoring of the mill pond which provided the power to operate the mill. The mill pond would provide about 15 acre feet of water and the land about the pond will be developed as a picnic site.

Authority officials stated it was unlikely that any work on the restoration of the mill property would be done this year.

26 Years' Study Brings Diploma

The physical director of the Belleville Y.M.C.A., Fr. Diamantides is recognized by the National Council of Y.M.C.A.'s of the United States and Canada, as a fully certified Y.M.C.A. secretary," stated Mr. Sheaff.

"Actually it means a great deal more than that," declared the General Secretary. "From a brief background history will help us all to realize what this means to Mr. Diamantides and we may also catch a glimpse of the true significance of the Young Men's Christian Association.

"Mr. Diamantide's first experience with the 'Y' was a boy member in Turkey and Greece. In 1925 he became a member of the staff of the Y.M.C.A. in Salonika. Five years later he went to the United States—to a country whose language he could scarcely speak. There he began his studies with only a few dollars and seven years of college expenses ahead of him. His struggle to learn the world he was crazy to go. Maybe he was; perhaps he had a purpose and inspiration gained from the Y.M.C.A.

"Seven years later he returned to Greece with the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Master of Education. He went home in royal fashion—as a deck hand on a cattle boat.

"He was for the next six years physical director of the Salonika Y.M.C.A. and director of the National Boys' Camp of the Greek Y.M.C.A. In 1939 he was forced to leave Greece because the government dissolved all youth agencies. He was then employed by the Cyprus Mines Corporation as the director of physical education and recreation. It is worthy of mention that when 'D' left Cyprus he came to Canada II took the corporation two years to find a man capable of succeeding him.

"From 1948 to 1952 he was the physical director of the Edmonton YMCA. In September of 1952 he entered a theological course at our association. The things he has done here are testimony to his ability.

"During the past two summers while on vacation 'D' went to summer school in order to obtain courses which in time would become a certified YMCA secretary eyen though he had two college degrees. Then after 26 years after he started on his path he finally achieved certification, and from now on he will continue his dedicated work in the YMCA for another 26 years.

"I therefore ask you to pay tribute to the achievements of Dr. Diamantides and to the ideal which he so ardently supports, the Young Men's Christian Association," concluded Mr. Sheaff.

In his response, Mr. Diamantides stated that the award was a tribute to others besides himself.

"My immediate family deserves considerable mention for their unceasing loyalty and encouragement throughout these years. My professional colleagues have given me constant support and inspiration, particularly an American physical director in Greece who influenced my boyhood greatly and personally persuaded me to take up a YMCA professional career."

Crozier Mill Cooperage Plant Gutted by Fire, $15,000 Loss

TRENTON (Special) — Firemen were still standing by late this morning while smoldering sawdust piles on the Trenton Cooperage property burst into flames at intervals, providing a new threat to the other buildings on the premises.

A spectacular early morning blaze that could be seen for miles in the sky swept through the Crozier mill in a matter of minutes. Smoke from the fiercely burning inferno rose hundreds of feet in the air and blotted out the early morning sun.

Persistent calls from taxi driver Fred Ellis sent firemen racing to the waterfront outbreak at 4.45 a.m. The fire had gained a good start by then and was raging out of control. Hundreds of bundles of dry staves stored in the central shed added fuel to the surging flames. Other nearby sheds filled with finished barrels and barrel making materials were saved because firemen wetted them down with water.

A complete lack of wind favored the firefighters. A strong gale from the east or west might have run the property loss into much higher figures.

Today records are being checked to estimate the machines and materials lost in the fire. A tentative estimate by owner Senator W. A. Fraser places the loss between $10,000 and $15,000.

The cooperage mill is one of Trenton's older industries. It was badly damaged by fire 40 years ago.

Cause of the fire has not been detected. One theory is that a transient or transients stopping overnight in the shed, dropped a lighted cigaret butt or a glowing match into tinder dry sawdust. The Crozier plant, where the fire is believed to have started, had not been in operation since Wednesday.

Magistrate Will Give Decision In Two Weeks

Judgment was reserved for two weeks by Magistrate T. Y. Wills Thursday afternoon on a drunk driving charge against Malcolm Sine of Wallbridge. Three other charges, dangerous driving, careless driving, and assaulting a police officer, were enlarged until that time.

The drunk driving charge against Sine took up practically the whole morning session of the county magistrate's court and was adjourned for the noon hour with argument by counsel being heard in the afternoon.

Provincial Constable Robertson said charges had been preferred against Sine following an accident on No. 2 Highway near Shannonville on April 2nd. Sine was westbound and was rounding a curve at the east end of Shannonville when his platform truck was in collision with an eastbound vehicle.

Sine told the court that he had been on his way home after delivering a load of cattle to a centre in New York State. He admitted having been at Watertown on his way home, but denied he had been intoxicated. After the accident he said he had gone to a pay phone to call his father and when he found the line busy had entered the Shannonville hotel to get warm. While there he had had a bottle of beer before completing his phone call and returning to the scene of the accident.

Assistant Crown Attorney S. Gordon Robertson presented the Crown case, while Sine was represented by J. D. O'Flynn of Belleville.

RECORD YEAR

EDINBURGH, Scotland (CP)—Official reports show more than 250,000 overseas visitors came to Scotland last year. The actual figure of 262,200 compares with 231,500 in 1952 and officials estimated the tourist trade was worth about $25,000,000.

Woodbridge Man Convicted For Impaired Ability

Convicted for impaired ability following an original charge of drunken driving, John Cannon, of Woodbridge, Ont., was fined $200 and $21.50 costs by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in county magistrate's court Thursday afternoon.

The charge of drunk driving was laid by provincial police April 14, after Cannon's car had been followed for three miles on No. 2 highway during which time it crossed over the centre line three times and on one occasion barely missed a transport.

Constable L. Pellissero stated Cannon was unsteady on his feet, smelled of alcohol, that his eyes were bloodshot and his speech was not normal.

He said that Cannon was a "borderline" case and to a question by the magistrate said he would not have arrested the accused for intoxication had he been walking on the street. Constable McKenna corroborated this evidence.

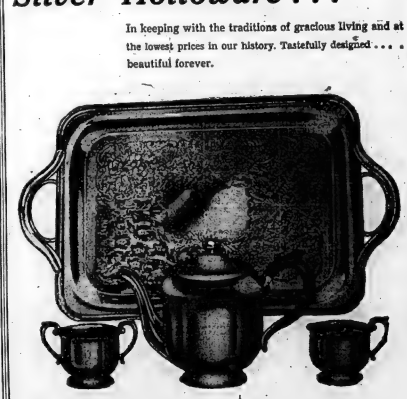
GIVEN WEEK TO PAY

On the request of defence counsel Robt. Temple, Cannon was given one week to pay the fine and costs.

"This is the 14th time the accused has been to Belleville," stated Mr. Temple as he requested the court to allow his client time to pay his fine.

"But not on this charge," returned Magistrate Wills.

Mr. Temple observed his client had just completed paying a substantial fine on another charge.



"He still has his car, hasn't he?" asked the magistrate. "Any man who can run a Buick and pay all the expenses of keeping a car on the road, can surely find enough money to pay out of his car."

"The accused will be given a week to pay, he definitely owes days."

Early in the year Cannon was charged with indecent assault of a Rosmore girl and was sent up for trial by Magistrate Wills. The case was tried before County Judge J. C. Anderson who acquitted Cannon on the indecent assault charge and found him guilty of common assault, assessing $100 fine and costs.

BELLEVILLE HELPS MAKE AUTOS

Oshawa citizens, we suppose, labor under the delusion that General Motors cars are made in their city.

This is only partly true. Last year industrial firms in the Belleville area supplied $1,289,624 worth of goods and services to General Motors of Canada. Other Canadian cities, of course, also made their contribution towards the production of one of Canada's most important industries.

"Materials from Belleville plants," says General Motors President William A. Wecker, "contributed substantially to the production records set by our assembly lines during 1953. They have continued to do so through the first quarter of this year."

That's good business for Belleville—and good business for Canada. Moreover, the true figure for Belleville's contribution is probably higher than that quoted by Mr. Wecker. Besides supplying goods and services to General Motors itself, industrial firms in this district almost certainly also supplied goods and services to industries in other cities, which in their turn sold their products to General Motors.

Of course it is also true that General Motors suppliers here obtained materials from companies in other centres. It would be a major chore, if not an impossible task, to accurately trace the threads of the economic influences of this single industry throughout the warp and woof of the nation's industrial life.

What is true of General Motors is true of other industries too, great and small. In our eagerness to see new industrial plants located in our own areas we sometimes forget that, though we may be successful in claiming such plants for our own, we shall nevertheless share in the benefits.

And, of course, there is another side of the story. Besides supplying General Motors with goods and services to enable the firm to manufacture cars and trucks, Belleville residents absorbed much of the firm's finished products, too.

It is rather pleasant to have Mr. Wecker announce Belleville's partnership in a great enterprise. We hope Oshawa does not mind.

CHECK YOUR CAR

Had your car checked yet?

This is not just another spring chore, which can be postponed indefinitely with no greater penalty than being considered a lazy cuss by your more energetic neighbors.

Upon the mechanical condition of your car may depend not only the lives of others but your own life, too.

In selecting May for a National Safety Campaign, the Automobile Manufacturers' Association is placing emphasis on the need for a periodic check of all automobiles. The Belleville Automobile Dealers' Association has pledged its full support to this campaign and all their mechanics are ready to carry out the necessary work with a minimum of delay.

The modern automobile is a reliable machine. Relatively few of the accidents which take such a heavy toll of life and limb are primarily the result of mechanical failures. But there is little doubt that comparatively minor defects, while could be quickly and inexpensively remedied, are often contributory factors.

Some "defects" are just the result of normal wear. First there is an uneasy feeling that your car is not stopping as quickly as it used to do. Then there is a suspicion that the brakes are faulty. Finally this suspicion becomes a certainty and the car is taken to a garage. But not until it has come out again that the brakes as good as new, does the driver realize the full extent of the deterioration in the brakes. When his nose bangs against the windshield it is brought sharply to his attention that something new, and needed, has been added.

Steering that is just a little "rough" may not trouble the driver suddenly, a crisis occurs. Hundreds of oncoming cars may safely squeeze by a vehicle with high lights, but finally some half-blinded driver makes a mistake.

The Hamilton Spectator, in an editorial on the subject, points out that in last year's 500-mile Memorial Day race at the Indianapolis Speedway, 25 of 33 cars failed to finish. "And these were specially built cars, built to take the strain of racing," it says, "cared for by experts and driven by professionals who knew their limits."

The lesson seems to be obvious.

"The ordinary family sedan today," says the Spectator, "is a well-designed vehicle, built to perform safely for years. But under the strains of the stop-and-go of city traffic and the hustle of the open highway it will stay safe only if it is serviced regularly and properly, if a careful watch is kept over its condition and any deterioration is caught at once, and if the owner knows its limitations and drives always well within them."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

MAY 14, 1934.

Mr. Wilmot A. Lane, Moira Street west, celebrated over the week-end his 45th anniversary of his birth and received the congratulations and good wishes of many friends. He was born in Sidney township, but for some years now he has lived retired in this city. He takes a great interest in church work and for a considerable time was a member of Bridge Street United Church choir. His wife is one year younger; last year they celebrated the 41st anniversary of their wedding.

Miss Ethel Adams of the Corbyville district, and Mr. Sterling Ireds at Deloro.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gallagher, of Syracuse, N.Y., spent the week-end here with the former's father, Mrs. A. Lafferty and Mr. Lafferty.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Arnott have returned to the city after a motor car trip to Quebec.

Mr. Claire Countryman is home from Queen's University, Kingston, to spend the summer vacation.

Miss Margaret Chant is home from Queen's University, Kingston, to spend the summer vacation.

30 YEARS AGO

MAY 14, 1924.

Ken Colling, popular young man of this city, is now an umpire in the New York-Pennsylvania League and he has already handled several big games with approval all round. From umpiring on sand lots and school games to the Central Ontario League and then to the New York-Pennsylvania League is the story of Ken's rapid rise in his chosen profession. Teams in the following American cities compose the league: Williamsport, Binghamton, New York, Harrisburg, Wilkesbarre, Scranton and Elmira. Ken will eventually run across Jack Williams, formerly of this city, who is playing with the Binghampton team.

Mr. Fred Woodley, a graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, Toronto, has accepted a position in Latimer's Drug Store. He is a Belleville boy and will be with Mr. A. Wood's force.

Mr. George Rutlan has resumed work at his blacksmith shop and will be pleased to see his old customers and friends.

40 YEARS AGO

MAY 14, 1914.

Members of "E" company, 15th Regiment, held a smoker at the armouries last night, and it was an enjoyable affair. Capt. Cook is justly praised of the men in his company.

Mr. Addison Wease, who collects the mail from the street letter boxes in this city, had a drove over the railway crossnarrow escape last evening. He ing at Geddes Street after waiting for a west bound train to pass, but he failed to notice that the east bound express train was approaching at the same time. He managed to get the horse and a section of the conveyance clear of the track, but the engine struck a rear wheel of the rig and smashed it to pieces. Mr. Wease was fortunate to escape with his life.

50 YEARS AGO

MAY 14, 1904.

Mr. William Latimer has arrived home from the Ontario College of Pharmacy, Toronto, to spend the vacation.

The old grey charger "Battlefordt", which was ridden through the North West Rebellion in 1885 by Col. Montizambert died today of old age. For the past five years the old horse has been the property of Lieut. Col. W. Nonton, Toronto.

Miss Lula Chalaupka, the well known local pianist, is now engaged as clerk in Mr. W. B. Riggs' music store on Front Street.

Mr. E. H. Farrow, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company, announced today that a new telephone directory will be issued soon.

The County of Hastings will spend $25,000 on roads during the coming summer. One third of the cost will be contributed by-the government.

Item from our file copy of this time in 1894. "The new log drive is being pushed forward as fast as low water will permit. The Moira River is filled with logs from the boom in the harbor to some distance beyond the lower bridge."

Lesson In Economics

(Portland Oregonian).

A second-hand book store is not a normal setting for a lesson in economics. It is the reverse of an exception.

We found on a shelf a copy of a translation of Xenophon's "Anabasis". It was marked to sell for a dollar, and we looked on the fly-leaf that this was precisely the price asked when published new by Harper in 1888. English translations of the "Anabasis" are by no means rare, and the book itself seemed to have no special distinction as a collector's item.

"Why no depreciation in 65 years?" we asked the proprietor. "Oh, that's been considered," he explained. "The same book today would cost $3 new. You're getting that at a third the price."

We left the shop a little there. But we may buy it yet as a curiosity. Maybe it's the last firm link between the dollar of 1889 and that of 1954.

Canadians Fortunate And Do Not Realize It

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

Your lead editorial on "Dairy Industry Statistics" made interesting reading, and especially the opening note, intimating that a perusal of the bulletin issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture presents a maze of statistics, and contents, "Wandering through it, the observer quickly becomes convinced that Canada is a land flowing with milk and money."

When I ponder the nutritional standards in the diet of the rank and file of the Canadian people, somehow, I am constantly reminded (by the fact that suffering faces particularly in the major centres of population, are the exception rather than the rule), of the Biblical warning that 'man does not live by bread alone.' It really seems as though our people, having been accustomed to eat well, over in and from Europe, tend to forget that more than half of the whole human family suffer from under-nourishment and live with a seldom-satisfied 'hunger' from cradle to grave.

So far as I can make out from our general press, North America's so-called "food surplus" is mainly concerned with the problem of what my neighbor terms 'too much of a good thing'. In other words, our under-supply is a continuing headache—although happily emerging from the days of no food and the farmer in peace or war. To us, the question of producing all this nutritional access from the viewpoint of economics and the marketing of it, is simply blasphemous reference to "the curse of Adam" that the poor farmer comes the age old productive thought, as he plans new projects, and as we watch at the spring of the year. This latter, of course, is all to the good, but were otherwise, the wheels would soon slow down in the secondary industries.

From this latter position, there would be only one direction and it doesn't call for an economist to assert that it would not be the way most Canadians want to travel.

Why Not Uranium For Monetary Standard?

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

In 1933, the U.S. government increased the price of gold to create monetary inflation to stimulate business. Today the government has adopted an easy money policy to offset the current business recession but there seems to be no inclination to again increase the price of gold. Perhaps the past decade has shown that gold reserves are unnecessary; perhaps recent sales of gold by Russia have caused alarm. Russia secures badly needed machinery and supplies in return for gold which will be buried in bank vaults to serve no useful purpose other than currency backing. But periodically, there comes a rumor that Russia has rich and limitless deposits of yellow gold which will be used to flood the world markets whenever it can cause the most embarassment.

But whatever the situation for gold increase, the gold dollar is little more than fiction at present. At various times economists have proposed a commodity dollar as more workable than gold. There is only a uranium dollar which can be equated to units of work and human power reaction. Here is a possible monetary standard for the future. Uranium is rarer than gold and is useful into the bargain.

The idea of using uranium for currency backing may not be feasible at present but a beginning could come for other reasons. The government now pays $5 per lb. for the uranium content of mine concentrates. But refined uranium is worth $40 per lb. and up. If the concentrate price were doubled or tripled, it would have little effect on the refined price. However, the effect on uranium mining would be far reaching. A ten dollar uranium would place half a dozen mines in profitable operation in Hastings county alone and bring to the northern area a badly needed new industry.

Biological Clock

(Scientific American).

Is man equipped with a built-in clock? Probably. Frank A. Brown Jr., a Northwestern of the department of biological sciences at Northwestern University, offers the biological clock theory to explanation of many curious facts of animal behavior which appear to be synchronized with the earth's cycles.

"Everyone knows that there are individuals who are able to awaken morning after morning at the same hour, within a few minutes," said Dr. Brown. "Are they awakened by sensory cues received unconsciously, or do they possess 'biological clock' that keeps them informed of the passage of time? Students of the behavior of animals have long been interested in the biological clock question.

"Most animals show a rhythmic behavior pattern from one day to another. For instance, many animals are active by night and rest during the day.

"Other animals show rhythmic behavior cycles which are repeated with the ebb and flow of the tides, each cycle averaging about 12 1/2 hours in length. Great numbers of animals are living in the seas have seven-day lunar or lunar-month cycles.

"Finally, all the members of a species within any given region of the world are able to reproduce synchronously; this insures a high percentage of fertilized eggs and for the maintenance of the species.

"My own interest in the general problem of time sensing and time measurement mechanism was aroused some years ago by certain findings which suggested that the 'clock' was more or less independent of temperature, and I undertook a series of studies in which I was assisted by graduate students. We found an ideal animal for experiment in the common fruit fly, which develops a striking daily cycle of variation in body color.

"By placing a large group of animals in a homogeneous darkroom at constant temperature and then sampling the group from time to time, it was possible to follow the persisting daily variation in the pigment cells.

"In two months of observation the rhythm of color change faithfully followed the day-night cycle, whether the temperature was kept at 60, 70 or 80 degrees Fahrenheit. If, however, the temperature was changed by as little as one degree, the clock could be set back.

"In other words, the clock appeared to stop or slow down during the cold interval but when the temperature was raised it would resume its normal rate. By such treatment we found we could set the clock back by any desired amount.

"The clock can also be reset by changes in illumination at sensitive times in the daily cycle, storm seah and wishing you hadn't.

Tinsley Tigers Lick U.S, Navy

(Minneapolis Tribune).

Well, the international marbleshooting championship was taken by Tinsley Green in Sussex, England, three games and goes. We got licked again.

It wasn't so bad this year, though. The American navy team whanged out 16 points against 33 for the Tinsley Green Tigers. The boys showed plenty of drive, but the Tigers came through in the clutch.

One thing, they had us on aggressive hair play. Pop Maynard is away up in his 50s; some of the village say he is 60. But he can learn a lot about marble shooting in 80-odd years. His opponents were mostly 20-year-olds.

Next year it may be different. Then again, it may be worse. The Tigers' power shooter, Jim (Atom Bomb) Green, can knock a beer glass at seven feet, but he can't hit a barn at 20 feet. Spring he may have settled down. If he has, the competition will be rough.

Personal Health Talks

WARTS AND MAGIC

Dr. Brady.

The greatest problem I had when compiling Little Lesson in the Ways of Health, was how much space to give to remedies for warts. There were a enough letters in my files—reports of cures received from readers—to fill the book let. I finally decided to select three or four by the same-animal, mo process and go right along to months, notes, testimonials and liver spots. But before I got rid of warts I had used up an eighth of the available space. I should have taken a piece of pork from grandma in the dark of the moon and buried it in the graveyard.

Aw! Amazing! You don't say so! Huh, that's nothing—just like a string . . . You ought to patent it. That beats anything . . . Go 'way jump in the lake—I'm busy.

The foregoing comprises everything I shall say about wart remedy, treatment or cure for warts or kindred skin growths. Some of the other day to express her thanks for the first of the wart remedies I recommend in the booklet, apply a drop of fresh castor oil to each wart daily. The lady said two unsightly warts on her daughter's skin disappeared within a week or two and left the skin perfectly soft and smooth.

Another homely treatment for multiple warts is painting the warts and skin around them with tincture of iodine once a week, not oftener, for three or four weeks.

Wart on the sole of the foot (plantar) is usually painful and difficult to cure. If it is covered by callus the callus should be softened and wiped away first—by a daily application of the old reliable corn collodion—by grains of salicylic acid dissolved in one-half fluid ounce of flexible collodion. This is a standard formula and real druggists generally have it prepared in quantity to dispense on call for corn collodion.

After a week or so of this, wipe or scrape away the softened callus, apply a ring of several layers of adhesive plaster or a felt ring around the wart, and continue daily applications of the corn collodion to the wart for several weeks.

If the wart does not disappear by this time, a course of careful relief of pressure upon it (by the ring) it should be fulgurated (destroyed by electro-surgical spark), or electrodessicated (surgical diathermy) or subjected to x-ray or radium treatment once only.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

FOR ALL OF US!

How few of us realize how much is done and sacrificed to give us comfort and pleasure, and how little credit we give to those who become our benefactors. In the midst of laboratories thousands of researchers and scientists are forever at work, and they are devoted to problems that shall mean hope and health to millions.

We reach for our telephone, listen to our radio and TV instruments, and read our newspapers, while they lived, but to become immortal after death, and most of them literally wrung out their souls to give comfort and pleasure to all. Only a few of them ever think about the intimate and personal life of William Shakespeare, but what a monument he left in his plays, tapping every phase of human life.

When you sit in the theatre, or instructed and entertained, do you think of the long wait and struggle that many had before being selected to perform as stars. How much we owe to it all for what they give us!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

On the downtown corner, a dejected expressionless Indian man is playing the concertina thinly.

Behind his legs, and huddled against the wall of the building, stood an extremely small, elderly, grizzled squaw. She was not a squaw in a cat. It had a snipey, pinched nose, its head was drawn right into its shoulders. It never moved.

Into the tin cup pinned to the concertina player's coat front, the coins clinked. My wife was ahead of me. She dropped a dime into the musician and took a dime from her purse and dropped it. I was next. I hastily fished up a coin and dropped it.

"Was that chap blind?" I asked, overtaking my wife.

"Why, I didn't notice! 'She said.

"It was that little dog I saw—"

I told my wife I had noticed her later and meet her in the book department of the store we were heading for. I went back and stood a few yards up street from the concertina player.

One in five of those who passed him dropped a coin in his cup. Some went past and then returned and dropped a contribution. The number who contributed was about the same whether he was playing the concertina or standing still, the instrument held soundless before his chest. I would look at every one who dropped a coin looked at the grizzled forlorn little face behind the bead his master's ankles, motionless, patient, unseeing, unhearing.

He was not a particularly appealing dog. In fact, he looked a little like a cranky small dog that might snap at you if you reached down to pat him.

When I left my observation post, I overtook the last contributor to the tin cup and asked:

"Was that chap blind back there, with the concertina?"

"Say, I didn't notice," replied the stranger." It was the little dog caught my eye. . . .

What is it about the association of a man and a dog, especially the association of a poor man and a rotten dog that, in combination, tugs some particular cord to our hearts?

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A STITCH IN TIME

Recently a pipe broke in a closed theatre in New England. For two days the water poured out unnoticed, and when some one finally discovered what was happening, it was sixteen feet deep in some places. Repairs to the theatre cost about ten thousand dollars.

All that damage came from a single small hole in the many hundred feet of pipes in the theatre. All the rest of the piping was sound. But one leak was enough; the damage was done.

I know a man just like that theatre. In most respects, he is admirable; he is intelligent, educated, successful, wealthy, respected — or, at least, he was respected. But he has one serious weakness, one that was hidden for a long time but now at last has grown too great to hide: drunkenness. And through this dulled, single break are gradually pouring his position, his success, his money, his happiness, his health, and no doubt, in the end his very life itself.

What is the answer? Well, it is the same for the man and the theatre. If the plumber had come soon enough, the damage could have been prevented. If that man in question had sought—and accepted—help from his clergyman, his doctor, his employer, his friends, he could have been saved.

The time to stop the leak is when or even before—it starts.

HAPPINESS

He builded his happiness out of these;
Birds and blossoms and friendly trees,
Books that stood on a little shelf,
Three or four neighbors, much like himself.
The wife and children who bore his name,
And he asked no favors from fortune's game.

He found delight in his garden plot,
Knew marigolds and forget-me-not;
He walked the hills and he fished the streams;
With friends he trusted he shared his dreams.
He was sometimes merry and sometimes sad,
But he made the most of what fate had.

He found his thrills in the lesser things;
The cry of a blossoming peony brings;
The merry songs and the kindly words
Of the gentle women and men of birds.
He thanked his God for the right to live,
And he never asked more than life could give.

Seekers for happiness wander far,
And, oh, how faded and tired they are.
Forever pursuing the strange new thrill;
They never have caught and never will!
But he found friendships and flowers and trees,
And builded his happiness out of these.

St. Michael's Academy Art Shown at McCarthy Theatre

A small, but interesting exhibition of art work by the pupils of grades six, seven, and three B, of St. Michael's Academy, has been on display in the foyer of McCarthy Theatre for the past week. Among the items shown were those in pencil work, spatter work, colors, and cut out handwork.

Grade six showed a farm scene rich in detail, consisting of a nicely drawn white pony being fed an apple by a little boy in red overalls. Near by a bandsome Dalmatian dog is stretched full length upon the flower-bedecked grass, leisurely watching the proceedings, while in the distance a red brick farm house beside the descending road, nestles against the hillside. The dark blue water of the little pond adds color and interest.

"The Gypsies," depicted a wide open space, backgrounded by dark hills, while in the immediate foreground were the covered cookhouse wagon and the covered travelling wagon of the gypsies. The gentle horse is seen grazing near the well, thus denoting his care and plenteous supply of his daily needs.

"RELAXATION".

"Relaxation" by grade seven was nicely drawn and pictured a young girl resting on the verandah steps, books in hand. Her red tam made a nice touch of color, contrasting with the grey of her suit, against the white of the most realistic pickets of the porch. The snoozing cat on the railing added to the effect of 'repose'.

"The Flight," also by grade seven, showed a mallard duck rising for the take-off in early morning from the marsh resplendent with cat-tails. Distant hills are reflected in the calm surface of the lake.

Grade three showed "The Strike", which pictured the trout fisherman in red plaid shirt, leather jacket and belt with pouches for his necessary tackle as well as creel for the fish, in a tense attitude. A black squirrel adds life to the scene, while the hills and trees made for seclusion.

The "Lady of Shalott," one of Tennyson's lovely poems, depicted a grey stone castle atop a promontory. Reflected from the mirror in her room the Lady of Shalott sees the knight upon his charger. One can vision the rest of the story, and the Lady of Shalott's fateful ride to 'many towered Camelot". An appealing little picture, showing imagination, and good drawing.

The "Little Brother's Night Prayer," was also interesting and realistic. This depicted a small child, in striped pyjamas, kneeling upon a pinkish rug, with devout expression, repeating his prayers. A toy truck is one corner of the room, and the dark night as seen through the window, all add interest, heightening the subject.

"THE BLOSSOM FAIRY".

A pretty bit of color and cutout work, which was both whimsical and imaginative was that of the "Blossom Fairy", in his red attire with tall pointed cap; which it seems fairies only are permitted to wear, as well as pointed, red shoes. This particular fairy was poised on tip-toe on a branch of apple blossoms, paint can in hand, from which, no doubt he touched the blossoms with their lovely pink and white tones. This was remarkably well done, especially the attitude of poise maintained by the blossom fairy, as if he had just alighted, by means of his butterfly-like wings.

The cluster of four maple leaves toned spatter work, was soft and by grade three, done with grey appealing.

An interesting exhibit, nicely done.

The study period was in charge of Miss Mary Mackintosh. Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. Baragar and Mrs. Powell. But soon the Communists had taken over all the schools and hospitals and the young people were being systematically indoctrinated with Communism. But religion has not been forbidden and the native Christians are still able to keep their churches open.

A third stop was made in Bombay where the travellers met Mr. Lal, a former Moslem, but now a Christian worker. From him they heard about the noted world conference at Travancore in 1952. And how the Indian Christian young people used their holidays to go in groups through the villages teaching the people and giving medical aid. He also told of the great need for more missionaries in India. The plane had reached Geneva when the trip broke off to be continued at the next meeting.

A solo, "Jesus Lover of My Soul" was sung by Mrs. Ivan Rollins.

The president, Mrs. Craig, took the chair for a short business period. The treasurer reported that $301 had been sent to the Presbyterial treasurer this year. Miss Marion Williamson, working among the Bhils in India, was named for prayer this month.

Miss Wardaugh rendered a solo "Bless This House"; Mrs. Skinner gave an instrumental on the piano and Mrs. Juby a reading.

Business was discussed; catering at Scott's the end of the month was planned.

Miss Watt invited the ladies to meet at her home for the June meeting. A solo was much enjoyed, rendered by Miss Barrie. Mrs. Johnston gave a paper on "What I'd Like to Say Sometime" taken from "Our Record".

A Bible contest was much enjoyed with Mrs. Fred Campbell being the winner.

A vote of thanks was given the hostess for a delightful evening.

DILLON — STARK

Tall standards of snapdragons, pastel tinted tulips, and Shasta daisies, interspersed with ferns, formed a lovely background on Saturday, May 8th, at 2.30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, when the Rev. J. G. Hornsby, minister of the church, united in marriage Thelma Jean Stark, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stark, to Donald Allan Dillon, also of Belleville, son of Mrs. W. A. Dillon, and the late Mr. Dillon.

Mr. Egerton Boyce, church organist, provided the nuptial wedding music and accompanied the soloists, Mrs. A. Jordan, who rendered "The Wedding Prayer," and Mr. William McKenzie, who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her gown of white nylon net over white slipper satin fashioned with fitted, lace bodice having a sequin-trimmed Queen Anne collar, and long sleeves, pointed at the wrists. The graceful, floor-length skirt was accented by a band of embroidered sequins and white sequins. Her finger-tip veil of embroidered tulle illusion was held by a matching satin headdress, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink carnations and stephanotis, tied with white lacelon ribbon.

Miss Jean Stark, of Peterborough, cousin of the bride, as maid of honor, was gowned in apricot nylon net over satin in floor-length, with matching feather headdress, and carrying a semi-cascade bouquet of blue pompoms, tied with blue lacelon ribbon.

Miss Fay Bruce, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore pale blue nylon net over satin, with matching feather headdress, and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of apricot pompoms. Both gowns were fashioned with fitted bodices, and sleeveless boleros. The skirts were full and floor length. They were long, matching nylon net mitts.

Mr. George Tanner, of Toronto, was groomsman and Mr. Garry Bruce, of Bancroft, cousin of the bride, was usher.

The reception was held at the bride's home, which was appropriately adorned with baskets of Shasta daisies and pink and white snapdragons, for the occasion. The bride's mother, assisted in pale blue with pink accessories, and medium pink corsage of feathered carnations received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore navy blue with white accessories, and pink feathered carnation corsage.

For travelling to Ottawa, and the United States, and Niagara Falls, the bride chose brown printed silk with yellow accessories, and corsage of yellow carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Dillon will reside in Belleville upon their return.

Guests were present from Peterborough, Brantford, Toronto and Pembroke, from the bride's grandmother, Mrs. H. Bruce, of Bancroft, and Mrs. W. Cabeld, also of Bancroft, grandmother of the bridegroom.

Previous to her marriage the bride was honored by showers and a presentation, Mrs. F. Sherman, of Belleville, entertained at a pantry shower, and Mrs. George Womacott, of Belleville, at a miscellaneous shower. The staff of the Royal Bank of Canada made a presentation.

WRIGHT — SUTHERLAND

St. Andrew's United Church, Oshawa, was the scene of a wedding at 7 o'clock Friday evening when Gwendoline Dolina (Gwen) Sutherland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gwynne Sutherland, of Oshawa, was united in marriage to William Malcolm Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manley Maracle, of Belleville and the late Mr. William Wright of Minden, Ont.

Baskets of pink and white snapdragons banked with ferns and illuminated with two seven branch candelabra formed an effective setting for the double-ring ceremony conducted by the Reverend George Telford Bill, D.D.

Mr. Robin Nicholson, of Whitby, presided at the organ and during the signing of the register played "The Chimes", Mrs. Willard Cook, soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Through the Years."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown of cloud white nylon marquisette and satin. The slim bodice was designed with a portrait neckline enhanced with white lace flowers centred with fluorescent beads. The long sheath sleeves were pointed over the hand, and the billowing crinoline skirt which swept into a full circular train was accented with two front accordion pleated panels of nylon tulle. A shell cap of lace over satin studded with beads, held her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion, and she carried an all white cascade of gardenias and stephanotis with satin ribbon and enhanced with white lace flowers.

The bride's matron was maid of honor. The other attendants were Mrs. Peter Bowes, sister-in-law, of the bride, and Miss Elizabeth Cook Reg. B.N., of Toronto, a friend of the bride. They wore identical gowns of deep turquoise tulle taffeta. The strapless bodice was complemented with a short jacket buttoned up the front to the high round neckline, which was accented with a stand up collar pointed at the front. The short, bell-crinoline skirts fell in soft folds to the floor. They wore matching mitts and headdresses matching skirt. Lace which was repeated in the lace, accented the jacket and trimmed their wide bandeau hats. They carried creamy Johanna Hill roses with fern sprays.

Mr. Lyle Fiske, of Bronte, performed the duties of groomsman. The ushers were Mr. Keith Sutherland, brother of the bride and Mr. Douglas Fiske, of Bronte.

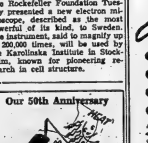
The reception was held at Adelaide House, Toronto, the home of the bride's mother chose a gown of rose beige faille taffeta; jeweled bodice with sweet heads accenting the bodice, and the skirt featured soft drapery at the back. Material similar to her gown fashioned her small close fitting hat. White gardenia completed her corsage. The bridegroom's mother, who assisted in the duties of receiving with lace accents, a white straw hat and a corsage of deep pink roses.

The bridal table was laid with a cut-work linen cloth edged with lace and centred with a three-tier pedestal wedding cake and softly lighted with white tapers in crystal holders. Pouring tea were Mrs. Nicholson, Mrs. Leslie Ward, great aunts of the bride. Serving the guests were, Mrs. Neil McLeod, Burleton; Miss Norma Sheldrick, Colborne; Miss Doris Cook, Colborne; Mrs. George Kerry, Oshawa; Miss Barbara Brent, Raglan; Miss Evelyn Brenton, Raglan, and Miss Gordon Duff of Raglan, all cousins of the bride.

Mr. Keith Sutherland as master of ceremonies, voiced good wishes to the bridal couple. The toast to the bride was proposed by Dr. J. J. Cook of Brooklin, uncle of the bride, which was responded to by the bridegroom, who in turn proposed a toast to the bridal attendants, which was responded to by the best man.

Following the reception, the guests were entertained at the home of the bride's parents, Hillcrest Street.

For the wedding trip the bride donned a powder blue linen dress with matching jacket; navy blue ribbon trimmed her powder blue straw hat, and completed her ensemble.



On their return they will reside in Oshawa.

Guests were present from Marmora, Bonarlaw, Belleville, Bronte, Thomasburg, Toronto, Columbus, Brooklin, Regian, Colborne, Whitby and Burleton.

'Citizenship' Topic At W.M.S. Meeting

The May meeting of Tabernacle Church W.M.S. was held in the church parlors with the president Mrs. W. Lee presiding, and Mrs. M. P. Duff at the piano.

Mrs. May read a poem dedicated to Mrs. French, a life member. The hymn "Nearer my God" was sung, followed by silent prayer and a prayer in memory of Mrs. French by Mrs. Archibald.

There was a business meeting with reports from some of the secretaries. Announcement was made about the "Maytime Tea" to be held at the manse, next week, under the auspices of the afternoon and evening auxiliaries of W.M.S.

Miss Johns and Mrs. Archibald gave reports on highlights from the recent Presbyterial which was held in Napanee at Grace United Church.

The worship service was taken by Miss Johns, the theme was "Brotherhood."

"We must show compassion to others; who can say one race is better than another; each race thinks of itself as of his own color. We are all one family with one father, and the world is drawn closer together. If we do not stand together we fall together. The Cure of God, and a passionate love for His fellowmen, that is a true Christian."

GUEST SPEAKER

Miss Horton then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Stevenson, who spoke on "Citizenship." He explained how Canada got its name. "Canada" is in Psalm 72: 8, "We are citizens of no mean city". Acts 21: 39 we read of Paul saying he was a citizens of no mean city, and we are proud to ourselves of Canada. We are protected no matter what country we go to, so we should owe allegiance to our country for that reason We should say "What can I do for my country?" not "what can my country do for me?" A citizen is not puts God first, country second. "We are proud of being Canadians, Canada is the finest country in the world. It leads the world in morality," said Mr. Everson.

Mrs. Fisher thanked the speakers.

"Mountain Climbing," Elizabeth Finkle; story, "What Will Fill a Day," Elaine Lindenfield; solo, "Birds are Singing," Marilyn Finkle.

Mrs. Harold Dellor then gave the chapter from the study book, "On Safari." Mrs. E. R. Finkle spoke to the children on "Prayer."

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T EXPECT TOO MUCH OF A FIRST MEETING

Dear Miss Fairfax:

At a dance I recently attended, I met a boy I've heard very much. He was 17, a year older than myself.

He seemed a nice fellow, but because later that evening he asked me for a date. When I accepted, he then asked me to suggest where we should go, and I suggested the theater, which he said would be swell.

I never saw or heard from him again, and I've been wondering if he didn't like me as much as he said he did, or if the suggestion I made about the theatre was something he couldn't afford.

Can you think of anything I could do about it, because I liked him very much and would like to see him again. — Peggy Jane

You've certainly brought the two most likely reasons why this boy didn't follow up his first approach in a friendly manner. Either the theatre may have been beyond his means, or he was eager and he was too embarrassed to say so, or asking for a date may just be one of his many ways with girls, in which case he probably forgot all about it as soon as the evening was over.

In either case, you'd better let things alone unless he makes some attempt to look you up himself. Not everybody is at ease and like is going to become a real friend. Many times it's just a case of "shake that pass in the night," as the saying goes. So just enjoy new people when opportunity presents, but don't expect too much of them. Then you won't be disappointed at ones who "click" immediately as friends, you'll both know it.

HAD A FEW DATES—THEN HE DROPPED HER

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 22, and have had a few dates with a fellow I like very much.

After these dates he did not get in touch with me, and he told my friends that, although he thought I was the nicest girl he had ever taken out, he couldn't see me because he wasn't working. However, I know he is working now but he still hasn't tried to get in touch with me.

How can I get him interested in me again? — S.L.

Dear S.L.:

Perhaps if this young man was out of work for some time, it will take him a little while to get on even keel again, financially speaking, so he may not feel able to start spending money yet on girls.

In the meantime, however, you might invite a few people, both men and women, to your home some evening and include him among the guests. This wouldn't make it quite as obvious that you were trying to attract his attention as if you invited him all by himself.

If he accepts your invitation, then it will be up to him to return your hospitality by inviting you on a date, relatively soon, and if he doesn't do this, then you'd better drop the whole thing right at that point and make no further moves in his direction.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

GOOD GROOMING

Fastidiousness and good taste! There you have the formula for a smart appearance. Look epic and span, fresh as the lilacs in spring and you have the world licked. Look scruffy and that's the way you feel. Self-respect and feminine pride demand that a woman take care of every little detail of her get-up. For it's the "little things" that combine to make the pleasing, charming combination that is You.

The young lady who knows that her hair needs a shampoo and a wave set, but postpones her visit to the beauty shop, makes a mere mistake. That very day she may meet Prince Charming and he will size her up as one who does not measure up to the girl of his dreams. A man notices the hairdo first thing when he comes across a "New Number."

The prettiest frock ever designed is out of the sartorial picture if the neckline is soiled; if the artificial flower on the shoulder has seen better days, if the hem line of the skirt sags or pleats are out of press.

Among other beauty misdemeanors are run-over heels; also soiled handkerchiefs pulled out of sleazy purses ruin in stockings. As for slip that hang below skirt hem, they make men see red. It's easy enough to cut them the right length before they are worn.

When a woman gets to the point where she doesn't care how she looks, it is likely that she doesn't care much about anything. Self-respect has vanished. And that's bad!

Wise mothers will make it their special occupation to see that little daughters get started right. They should instruct them in cleanliness, the first law of beauty. Little girls must take a bath at least once a day, at least, in keeping their hands clean. They should have their own toiletries and be taught how to use them. Fastidious habits will then continue as long as they live.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

Here I am at last after being a fan of yours for over a year. Thank you so much for help and enjoyment your column has been with its almost Pat and Marianne, and most of us have children ourselves.

. . . It makes you one of us and not a stand-offish "efficiency expert." You sound like a happy family. . . . I have a few little hints to pass along. . . . being on a low-cost budget, I wonder how many mothers do prunes my way. . . . Get a quart size jar (2-3 full of prunes, a few shavings of orange or lemon peel and juice, and fill jar with water to the brim with boiling water and seal. Then jar is left in cupboard for 2-3 days so it can be given a good shake to loosen the prunes and allow them to absorb more of liquid. (Or boil up leftover juices from canned fruits and cook over prunes.) They become plump and soft and come clean from stones. I chill them before serving . . . about wheat germ . . . now mothers in our neighborhood have been wondering how to give it to their family. . . . Other than in porridge I'm sure they saw your two recipes the other night and will make good use of them but here are a few ways. . . . my fussy family approves. 1) I replace the bread crumbs (or rolled oats) in meat loaf with the same amount of fresh wheat germ. 2) Replace 1-2 cup of bran called for in bran muffin recipe with the same amount of wheat germ. 3) when making two of our favorite desserts, apple or rhubarb crisp, my topping is made thus: 1-2 cup flour, 1-3 cup wheat germ; 1-4 cup quick oats, 1-2 cup brown sugar. Cut in 1-3 to 1-2 cup margarine and a pinch of mace, nutmeg or cinnamon. Also try 1-4 cup molasses over the apples instead of sugar for a different but delightful flavor and a handful of raisins or chopped dates in with the rhubarb for richness and again to help cut down on the amount of sugar. . . . some lady wrote to us using wheat germ as a baby liquid in pastry for nourishment. An English trick that is, I wonder how many of your readers have tried using lemon juice as their pastry liquid when making lemon or apple pie, or your delicious cottage cheese pie? Orange juice for raisin, mince date or chocolate pie pastry. There's a few more vitamins—and do they bake away in the oven. I hope not. . . . would you please tell your readers once again that fresh wheat germ is mild in flavor and odor without any strong or rancid taste or smell . . . a neighbor of mine was unlucky enough to get a package that was far from fresh and it has put her and family off wheat germ "forever" . . . I have to keep my sugar and starch consumption to a minimum . . . not allowed pastry . . . if I made graham-cracker crust for gelatin-fruit pie what is the minimum in sugar and butter I could use and still have it tasty for my family? Do graham crackers have as good food value as whole wheat bread? . . . please tell Marianne another "pie" recipe—mama wishes her all the happiness possible, she and her future husband both, as it takes two to make a marriage. —Mrs. J. R.

ANSWER:

Now what can I tell a gal like you about cooking? I can safely say this. . . . I really blushed to receive your complimentary letter and thank you for your good wishes to Marianne and Herbie. Prospects of a happy marriage are top. One of my recipes for graham crust uses a little as 1-4 cup each sugar and melted butter or margarine to each cup of the graham cracker crumbs. You could try cutting that down to 3 tablespoons each sugar and butter to 1 cup crumbs. If it is ice cold when cut I don't think it will crumble. No, weight for weight, graham crackers are not as good as whole wheat bread, but I think you are splitting hairs. A two-inch piece of graham cracker crust, fruit gelatin pie, three times a week instead of an allowed slice of whole wheat bread, should not adversely affect your diet routines. Write again. You give me a wonderful lift.

Toronto Becoming Fashion Modelling Centre of Canada

By PAULINE KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Three top fashion model experts, Dorothy Fleming and Eleanor Fulcher, agency directors, and Margaret Morton who employs models for a department store (Eaton's), took a long, hard look at modelling in Toronto.

Their conclusions:

Toronto is fast becoming the fashion modelling centre of Canada in the opinion of all three. Stimulation has come from advertising, television demanding for commercial models and trade fairs and exhibitions which lean heavily on fashion shows.

For the first time a market has opened up here for high fashion models, those exaggeratedly slim, tall and elegant clothes horse typical of New York.

The city has a limited number of top-notch fashion models and many more are needed.

LACK AMBITION

Eleanor Fulcher says Canadian models have what it takes to compete with the most sophisticated in New York, but she criticizes them for lack of ambition.

"Canadian girls don't take modelling seriously enough — they should train more and work harder," she said. "Then they would not find fashion photographers importing models from New York right under their noses."

Mrs. Morton said that New York's John Robert Powers likes to train Canadian girls. He says they have that "wholesome glow" ing look."

Qualifications for the job are two parts the result of nature and one part of training. A girl just better stick to her typewriter unless she is at least five-foot-five or taller, slim as a willow reed and finished with a face of the finest structure; preferably with high cheek bones.

MUST BE PHOTOGENIC

To get into the more lucrative photography end of the field she must be photogenic too. Another essential is an adequate wardrobe for appearances at special functions. No particular education is necessary.

Being a glamor gal is remunerative if you're good. Rates vary but fashion show work is usually set at $20 a show, with $10 an hour for rehearsals, and $2.50 an hour for waiting. Top girls get as high as $10 for the first hour, and $7.50 for each succeeding hour. Experienced store modelling varies from $60 to $125 a week.

A really scarce commodity here is the mature model, that handsome-looking older woman, trim of figure with fresh white hair.

For older women who are interested, the prerequisites are pure white hair, a size 16 to 18 figure and height ranging from five-foot-seven up. She should have a fresh, youthful face and weigh about 130 pounds.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

A MOST IMPORTANT RULE OF HOSPITALITY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Until last evening I had never heard of this rule: that when my husband and I invite a newly-met couple to dinner, or to any other occasion at our house, we must also invite the couple at whose house we met this couple. About two weeks ago my husband and I were invited to dine at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. We went, had a wonderful time, and were delighted to meet the other two guests, Mr. and Mrs. B.

Last evening, when my husband and I were chatting about future entertainment plans (we were married several months ago, have recently moved into our new home, and are having fun entertaining) I suggested that I'd like to invite the charming couple, Mr. and Mrs. B., together with Mr. and Mrs. C. who were best man and matron of honor at our wedding. My husband agreed, but then explained to me that the first time one invites acquaintances one has met in a friend's house, one must also invite the friend or friends with the case Mr. and Mrs. A. Was my husband making up this "rule," or is it true? — Nancy W.

Your husband is so right! This is a most important rule of etiquette . . . should not be broken. Think this over and you will realize the social graces and courtesy and basic idea-of-hospitality you must, as your husband so rightly said to Mr. and Mrs. A the first time you invite Mr. and Mrs. B to your house. In this way you will never have the occasion to be hurt by a hostess unaware of rule, not inviting you when she invites to her house for the first time the couple she met at your house.

TABLE CLOTH OR PLACE MATS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Before I was married I never had the opportunity or the time to entertain luncheon. But now that I have my own home (married last November) I'd like occasionally to invite three or four friends to luncheon. But we don't own one table cloth of any kind—only place mats. Is it correct to use place mats on a luncheon table?

Fran

Indeed correct to use place mats on a luncheon table. . . .and indeed customary.

HOW TO SAY AND SIGN HER NAME

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When I telephone my doctor should I say, "This is Mrs. Pratt," or "This is Mary Pratt? Also: Is it necessary to add the word "speaking," as I hear so many people doing? For example: "This is Mrs. Pratt speaking"?

2. When writing a note to my son's school teacher, should I sign the note "Mrs. John Pratt," "Mrs. Mary Pratt," or "Mary Pratt"?

ABC

When you telephone your doctor you should say either "This is Mrs. John Pratt," or, if you are sure that your last name is enough identification, you may say, "This is Mrs. Pratt." And when you say "this is ——" it is not necessary to add the word "speaking."

2. In the first place, dear lady, you should never sign any kind of note or letter with a title before your name . . . Never "Mrs. John Pratt". . . . Never "Mrs. Mary Pratt."

Your note to your son's school teacher should be signed like this:

Sincerely yours,
Mary Smith Pratt
(or Mary Pratt)
(Mrs. John Pratt)

ON WITH THE SORORITY DANCE!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My sorority is to give a June dance, and each member is to invite a boy. I have three questions about this. (1) When I invite the boy, should I say, "I'd like to have you be my escort to the dance my sorority is giving." I can't see how he'd understand from this word "escort" whether or not I expect him to be my guest. Please advise. (2) I am supposed to pay for his ticket as well as my own—true? (3) Is he supposed to pay any of the expenses?

Julie S.

(1) Best to use the word "guest" . . . that makes the idea clear: Tommy, I'd like you to be my guest to the dance my sorority is giving." (2) True. . . since he is to be your guest, you pay for his ticket as well as your own. (3) He pays for (or provides) the transportation, whatever is the plan, to and from the dance; for any entertainment after the dance; and if your school or college or sorority doesn't forbid corsages (some do), he may, probably will, present you a corsage.

AUNT WANTS TO WEAR A CORSAGE TO THE WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A very dear niece of mine is to be married soon, church wedding. Would it be proper for me, her aunt, although not a part of the wedding group, to wear a small corsage? My husband says that he would very much like to have me do this. (The corsage would probably be only one or two flowers.)

Of course have the joy of escorting a corsage to the wedding if you wish to, and since your husband would like to make this "beau" gesture. It's entirely proper for any woman to wear a corsage to a wedding, even though she is not directly in the wedding group. And your aunt has a choice: She may wear a small corsage. . .much smarter, and in this case more appropriate, than a large one.

PRESENT FOR MOTHER RATHER THAN FOR BABY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I hear friend of mine is going to have a baby soon, I'd like to plan to send a present while she is in the hospital (instead of going to visit her, which I think can be onerous, and instead of sending flowers, which can be too much for a care-in-a-hospital). Her baby shower seems to have everything. But I do know of one or two items which I'm sure my friend would need and welcome. Would it be proper for me to send a present for the mother, rather than for the baby?

Emelie W.

What a friendly and sensible letter! Yes, do send the mother a present for herself, rather than one for the baby. That's entirely proper, and a welcome circumstance, more practical.

WANTS TWIN SISTER AS ONLY BRIDAL ATTENDANT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have a twin sister whom I dearly love, and we are identical twins, and we have always been inseparable since. Our mother died when we were four years old, and our wonderful Dad has been both father and mother to us. We three: . .Dad and Beatrice and I . . . are "the family," and in my wedding I want to make a special feature of this family closeness. That is, I want to have my twin sister as my one-and-only attendant and maid of honor. I would very much prefer not to have any bridesmaids. Just Beatrice. . . nothing alone, to be followed in the Processional by Dad and me. But there's the problem of others. . . . Wedding is to be a large, formal church wedding, and there will possibly eight ushers (my fiance has already invited six). With this type of wedding, would it be proper for me to carry out my wish to having only one bridal attendant, or must I have as many bridesmaids as ushers? I've been told by several relatives and friends that my plan is not correct, as it would make an unbalanced, Processional and Recessional. But if you find that you can approve of my plan, please tell me how the Processional and Recessional would be formed. — Katharine.

Your plan is entirely correct, dear Bride-to-be. And it just couldn't help being extremely effective, very appealing and touching, too, to have your little family group so close and significant as the Processional goes up the aisle. Even though your wedding is to be a large, formal church wedding there is no need to throw the rule-books, if you don't want to. And there is no problem at all about the Processional and the Recessional. Procession: first, the ushers two by two; next, your sister, maid of honor, last you, with your father. Recessional: you and your bridegroom; your sister (preferably alone, though she may walk with the best man); and last, the ushers, two by two, as in the Processional.

The only problem about your plan may be that, if there is to be a bride's table, you will have to decide which of your friends will have the honor of being invited to sit at this table. . .with six or eight sisters, you will be clamoring to be invited!

Self-Portrait of Sir Winston Contains Many Quips, Talks

By PEARCE WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—A British editor has built up a self-portrait of Sir Winston Churchill based on his most telling speeches, maxims and pronouncements.

There are more than 1,300 quotations in this pattern of words, which ranges over most of the prime minister's long career. The chirpiness of the fledgling Churchill jostle for position with the wartime leader's historic exhortations to the British people; Sir Winston's reflected in its sombre and gay sides, its alternating pugnacity and humility, and its inexhaustible variety.

The book "Sir Winston Churchill —a Self-Portrait" (Eyre and Spottiswoode, London) was compiled by Colin R. Coote, editor of the London Daily Telegraph, with the approval of the prime minister.

Appropriately, it quotes in the first few pages a statement which Churchill made to Parliament nine years ago:

"I have no intention of passing my remaining years in explaining or withdrawing anything I have said in the past, still less apologising for it!".

READILY ACCEPTED TASKS

A chapter devoted to the prime minister "on himself" is studded with examples of acute self-analysis.

For example: "Looking back with acknowledgments and increasing years, I seem to have been too ready to undertake tasks which were hazardous or even forlorn."

"I have a tendency to against which I should, perhaps, be on my guard — to swim against the stream," he admitted when accepting the leadership of the Conservative party in 1940.

A random dip into the self-portrait yields philosophies on subjects ranging from drink to daring, love to hate, valor to cowardice.

"Courage is rightly esteemed the first of human qualities . . . because it is the quality which guarantees all others," Churchill said in his book "Great Contemporaries."

NOT A GOOD HATER

"Hate is a bad guide. I have never considered myself, at all a good hater," he told the House of Commons some years ago.

His philosophy on drinking was compressed in a sentence of his book "My Early Life," in which he said: "I have been brought up and trained to have the utmost contempt for people who get drunk."

But when, at luncheon one day, he asked his doctor, Lord Moran, whether he could have a colonrau, and Lord Moran inquired whether he "wanted it or needed it," the prime minister could not resist this quip:

"I neither want it nor need it. But I should think it pretty meritorious to interfere with the inexcusable habit of a lifetime."

The Sir Galahad and the 'wag alternate in his reference to women: "It is hard, if not impossible, to snub a beautiful woman. They remain beautiful and the rebuke recoils," he said in his novel, "Savrola."

When, two years ago, an American feminist asked him what the role of women should be in the future, he beamingly replied:

"The same, I trust, as it has been since the days of Adam and Eve!"

SCIENCE TAKES KNOCKS

Science has taken some knocks from the prime minister. He once wrote: "Science buries its inexhaustible in the filth of slaughterhouse inventions."

On idealism, he says in his war memoirs: "The human race cannot make progress without idealism, but idealism at other people's expense, and without regard to the ruin and slaughter which fall upon millions of humble homes, cannot be regarded as its highest or truest form."

On personal habits, he describes unpunctuality as "the thief of time."

And this is his recipe—included in his war memoirs—for ordering one's day:

"When one wakes up after daylight should normally be allowed two hours after that. luncheon. Six hours after luncheon, dinner. Thus one becomes independent of the sun, which otherwise meddles too much in one's affairs and upsets the routine of work."

IS THE MAKER PREPARED?

Of death, he told friends on his 75th birthday four years ago, "I am ready to meet my Maker. Whether my Maker is prepared for the great ordeal of meeting me is another matter."

Acknowledged "grand master" of the English language, he has said these things about it:

"Personally, I like short words and vulgar fractions."

In a preface, author Coote says Churchill's claim to greatness is "that he has achieved a towering eminence in spite of a usually pronouncing and always latent unpopularity."

SELDOM SHOWED DISPAIR

"Only twice, I think, in his career has any cry of despair escaped from him. The first was when he was hounded from office after the Gallipoli failure; the second was when he heard of Mr. Anthony Eden's resignation" (from the post of foreign secretary) in 1937.

"The first was wrung from him by blatant injustice, not so much towards the one fertile strategic idea which emerged from the First World War. The second was prompted by the knowledge that Mr. Eden was the only prominent member of the Chamberlain government who shared and strove for his conception of the German danger."

INDIANAPOLIS — National recognition in his field of business was accorded Donald G. Williams, CLU, this week through the publication of an article by him in the leading trade journal in the field of life insurance sales.

Mr. Williams, Belleville, Ontario, Canada, representative of Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada, wrote under the title of, "Success Doesn't Happen; It Is Planned." The article takes the reader through a complete sixteen programme sale, and uses the actual sales talk Mr. Williams gives.

Little Benny's Note Book

I had to stay in the house on account of the sky being all shades of dark looking as if it would break out into rain any minute, and I said, Heck, ma, it aint actually raining yet.

No, and you're not actually wet yet, and you're not actually going to be, and it's not a subject that admits of any discussion, so please dont start in with any long mess less string of arguements, ma said, and I said, Well jiminniee, ma, I aint argueing, am I?

I dont know, but if you're not, it's the first time in the history of man, ma said, and I said, Well G rasalem, ma, why should I argeue when I agree with you?

That's a very sensible viewpoint and I congradulate you heartily, although I can scarcely believe my ears, ma said, and I said, Sure ma, if you say it's bum weather for me to be out in, I realize you're right.

Well really, I mean well, this is almost too much, I must be waking in a dream, ma said, and I said, if you want to know the truth I feel you're always right, what's the use of argueing?

I sure feel well! ma said, and I said Sure, ma, but you told me not to argeue, so I thought I'd try it for a change, and if it don't work this time I can always go back to the old style and keep argueing again. So it's up to you ma, whichever way you want it to have me. I mean in case you want to compromise by just letting me stay in front of the house so I'll be ready to duck in any minute, I said.

Which just then the rain started, so I'll probably never know how it would of ended, unless I try it all over again.

When radio first came along, the newspapers forgot printing news for interest' sake. They will soon forget printing TV news just as soon as the novelty has worn behind, and no one will want to read newspapers any more. And there's the story of the little cat's whisker on the crystal they won't have any time to read, and they wanted to.

Second familiar? That's what a lot of people started saying when TV came along. So why want to read any more.

I was impressed the other day with the words of Reginald Clough, editor of an advertising trade publication. This TV owners, he said, don't stop reading the minute they look up their great Cyclops eye in the living room.

"People have as much interest in newspapers as before, and TV makes them better readers," he said. "Publishers who have made their products vital, serviceable and useful will have nothing to fear."

As a matter of fact, he said, TV will help newspapers and magazines improve. They have to compete for their reader's time, but TV will worsen the interest of millions of people.

TV itself is improving all the time, too. The programs are getting more engrossing and reception has made remarkable strides. The latest series of radios are all in the new 1954 Electrohome which we have right now at Hitchon Radio and Television Electrohome has a new picture tube which gives a picture in a clear luminized picture tone and its important to notice its distinctive Scandinavian styling room. Radios are outstanding, designed by Dellcraft.

Sunday School Lesson:

High Cost Of Hating

By ROY L. SMITH

It has happened so many times in history, as it has happened so many times in the lives of individuals, that men have been deceived into thinking their weakness was their strong point. The hatreds and prejudices we entertain toward other nations and men may be represented as bold stands for virtue whereas they are, actually, evidences of our own self-deception.

There can be no question, for example, of the exceedingly high cost of the enmity which is entertained between India and Pakistan. Certainly the doctrine of "the other cheek" could not possibly be as expensive as the present state of feeling between these two unhappy states.

BUT I HATE HIM

The king of ancient Judah had appealed to the king of Israel to join him in an expedition of war against the neighboring kingdom of Syria. There was some doubt between the two monarchs as to the success of their venture and it was decided to consult the fortune-telling prophets, about 400 of them, as to the possible outcome. Those brethren were cautious. They knew full well which side of their bread was buttered, and with one loud voice they assured the ambitious rulers that they were sure to win. But it sounded just a little too easy, and the prophets spoke just a little too confidently. Besides, one of the kings had an uneasy feeling down deep within him. Therefore he insisted upon pursuing the matter a little further. "Isn't there another prophet we might consult?" he asked, as though he distrusted the professional optimists.

"Yes," they told him, "the'er is Micaiah."

"But," added the king of Israel, as though to warn him, "I hate him." As though that were enough to discredit whatever truth the old seer might teach them.

LEARNING FROM CRITICS

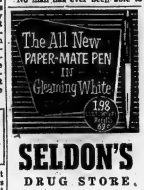
He is a wise man who has learned to learn from his critics. He often finds them of greater value to him than his friends.

There should be no relenting in our defence against Communism, of course. But it should also be said that the democracies could learn some valuable lessons even from Communists. They have, for example, managed at least to put up a pretence of having erased the color line from their thinking and their philosophy. And that erasure has attracted the color races of the world in such a fashion that Russia has been able to represent herself as the champion of the underprivileged.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for May 23: "Micaiah Withstands False Prophets," I Kings 22:1-40.

It is extremely unfortunate at this stage of the world's affairs that the Christian Church has not been able to so present its message to the world that it is accepted in that redemptive role.

Perhaps the situation might have been otherwise, had it not been for the shortsightedness of the Church in failing to see the full implications of Jesus' message on the subject of brotherhood. The Roman Catholic priest who said, "God have mercy on the church when the poor cease knocking at its doors," spoke a very great truth. And the poor of the earth are asking for so much more than mere food, in this modern world.



HOW HATE BLINDS

The hatred the king of Israel entertained for the prophet robbed him of the wisdom and guidance the prophet was ready to give. That is the effect hatred always has. The hatred never suffers as severely as those who hate.

No man has ever been able to hate another man intelligently, long. There is something about hatred, whether it is individual or national, which always beclouds the judgment.

For the honest-to-goodness facts on big-car value...

ask these questions:

Q. Will you be charged extra for an automatic transmission?

A. On most cars, yes—maybe as much as $200 extra! But on all Chrysler models, including the moderately priced Windsor De Luxe, the automatic transmission is standard equipment at no extra cost. What's more, Chrysler PowerFlite is the newest and finest of all fully-automatic transmissions.

Q. Are you paying for a "big-car" name, but getting a "small-car" body?

A. Many luxury cars include one or more models with "small-car" bodies. These bodies are either the same, or practically the same, in interior size as those of the smallest cars in the manufacturer's entire line!

The beautiful Chrysler Windsor De Luxe, on the other hand, is one of the biggest cars on the road. It measures more than seven feet (85") from instrument panel to back of rear seat —longer than any other Canadian car of comparable price! Check this point before you buy.

Q. Are you getting the quality you should expect in a big car?

A. In the luxurious Chrysler Windsor De Luxe, you'll find quality features such as foam rubber seat cushions in both front and rear, back-up lights, horn ring, wheel covers, oil-bath air cleaner, oil filter, etc. You'd be surprised at some of the cars in which many such items cost you extra.

For another quality test, tap your fingers against the Windsor roof lining and feel thick insulation all the way to the back seat where many manufacturers leave it out. And also notice the beautiful, long-wearing baked enamel body finish.

Q. How many important safety features do you get for your money?

A. Electric windshield wipers that never slow down under acceleration, Safety-Rim wheels that help prevent an accident in case of a blowout, rivetless Cyclebond brake linings and two hydraulic cylinders at each vital front wheel brake are safety features that every family man should insist upon. Make sure you get them.

Q. How can you be sure of the smooth performance and the smooth ride that are the mark of a truly fine car?

A. Only by getting behind the wheel, can you really appreciate the wonderfully smooth performance of the thrifty Windsor Spitfire engine, teamed with the new PowerFlite fully-automatic transmission. Only then can you appreciate the difference that a really long wheelbase, a big box-section frame, Oriflow shock absorbers and extra-long springs can make in riding comfort.

Compare the Chrysler ride with that of any other car. It will spoil you for anything less!

Navarre's Indo-China Plan Abandoned Because Vietminh Able to Wage Modern War

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navarre plan upon which the United States and French governments once based their hopes for winning the Indo-China war now has been quietly written off by authorities here.

French authorities indicate that their thinking is along the same line, that what was known as the Navarre plan prior to the fall of Dien Bien Phu has little pertinence to the kind of war which French and native forces have faced since that fortress was overrun.

The program, developed about a year ago by Gen. Henri Navarre, French commander in Indo-China, was made the basis of enlarged U.S. aid.

It has been swept away chiefly by the Communist's action in recent weeks making the Indo-China war into what is now regarded here as a new kind of conflict. It is no longer simply a huge guerrilla conflict. The Vietminh rebels demonstrated at Dien Bien Phu that they have the training, equipment and will to fight standard military operations on a relatively large scale.

WEAKNESSES REPORTED

U.S. officials familiar with the Indo-China fighting say Chinese Communist military supplies and training, reinforced by Russian ideas, technical assistance and equipment, changed the nature of the fight. In addition, they are concerned over certain reported weaknesses on the French and native side.

French Pioneer In Lake Shipping Sees Fine Future

PARIS (Reuters)—French shipowners are looking forward to the completion of the St. Lawrence seaway.

Most enthusiastic is Gabriel Villars, 39-year-old traffic manager of the Fabre Line, founded only four years ago at Marseille and the first French line to send cargo into the heart of the American continent.

"Until the seaway is ready, our special fleet of nine shallow-draught 2,500-ton vessels will remain the service which we started in 1950," he told Reuters. "But when ocean-going ships can penetrate into the lakes, we shall start building 10,000-ton ships.

"Other French lines, which now have to transfer their cargoes from ocean-going ships to barges at Montreal, will then be able to compete with us on equal terms.

"But our initiative in building ships which can sail right through to Lake Michigan will have won us the advantage of 4 years' unrivalled experience in the Great Lakes trade."

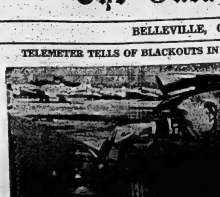
GIVES RATES

Villars stressed that, although Fabre Line freight rates for lake-bound cargoes were 40 shillings (£5.60) a ton-month compared with 31 shillings (£1.34) for ocean-going vessels, their customers do not have to pay transhipment charges at Montreal.

"Moreover, our small ships, built specially for the Great Lakes trade, are uneconomical for other operations during the 8 lost months of the year that the lakes are frozen over. But, when we can bring big ships into the lakes we shall be able to use them on other routes during the North American winter."

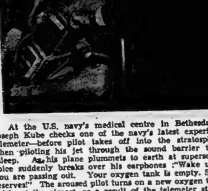
Villars said that the present flow of cargoes will probably be maintained in both directions when the seaway opens. Tractors, cars, steel, synthetic rubber, and aluminum form the bulk of eastbound cargoes. French wines, Italian pasta and marble, and Spanish olives are the most popular westbound merchandise.

"But we shall also probably be able to ship grain and iron ore straight from the lakes for the first time instead of loading them at Montreal," he said.



LONG-DISTANCE SPAN

SUDBURY (CP) — The longest single span of lead-sheathed cable in Ontario, 835 feet long, was strung Thursday between Bell Telephone Company poles at the Northern city limits. The cable contains 1,818 strands of fine wire and weighs about two tons. Supporting it is a half-inch braided steel cable. Standard wooden telephone poles were used with guy wires added.



SMASHES WINDOWS

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Plate glass windows in 15 stores, banks, factories and restaurants were shattered Wednesday night by a 22-calibre rifle. Police are looking for the smash-happy gun-wielder. Car windows, street lamps and traffic lights also came under fire.

TELEMETER TELLS OF BLACKOUTS IN SKY

At the U.S. navy's medical centre in Bethesda, Md., Chief Joseph Kobe checks one of the navy's latest experiments — the telemeter—before pilot takes off into the stratosphere. Often when piloting his jet through the sound barrier the flier falls asleep. Then his plane plummets to earth at supersonic speeds, a voice suddenly breaks over his earphones "Wake up, lieutenant! You are passing out. Your oxygen tank is empty. Switch to your reserves!" The aroused pilot turns on a new oxygen tank and lands safely at the airport, as a result of the telemeter strapped on his body.

The telemeter, connected to the pilot, sends back electrical waves which the brain and body give off during flight. The waves, magnified 80,000 times, are reported back to earth over UHF radio frequencies. Meanwhile, on the ground, physicians check the pilot's condition by watching the telemeter, above, ready to alert him if necessary. (Central Press Canadian Photos.)

Gambler F. Costello Convicted Of Evasion of Income Tax

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Frank Costello, convicted of federal income tax evasion, faces a possible maximum penalty of 15 years in prison and a $30,000 fine.

Costello appeared on the verge of collapse Saturday night when the jury foreman intoned "guilty". The 63-year-old defendant, who allegedly heads a national underworld syndicate in the United States for years, turned pale and buried his face in his hands. Trembling, he lighted a cigaret.

Costello had been out of jail less than seven months when the threat of bars struck him again.

He was released last Oct. 29 from the federal correctional institution at Milan, Mich., after serving 14 months on a three-year sentence for contempt of the Senate crime investigation committee when he refused to answer several key questions and twice stalked out of hearings.

FACES DEPORTATION

The Italian-born Costello, whose gravel voice grated the ears of millions during the televised crime hearings here in 1951, also faces deportation proceedings.

The federal jury of seven men and five women, which deliberated eight hours, found Costello guilty on three counts of income tax evasion. The figure involved was $39,015.

Judge John F. X. McGohey set Monday for sentencing and raised bail from $5,000 to $25,000. Costello had been free in bail throughout the case.

Defence counsel Leo C. Fennelly announced he would appeal.

UNAFRAID

R. F. Petursson of Victoria, says he is not afraid to return to Ontario to face charges of conspiracy to defraud the Ontario government in connection with the province's highways probe. Now supervising engineer for the transCanada highway in British Columbia, he is one of 15 men who were convicted and fined. A highway construction in the lakehead who was charged. He says there must have been a "mixup" and that he has "nothing to be ashamed of and nothing to be afraid of." (CP Photo).

Defence Counsel Bases Appeal On Judge's Charge

TORONTO (CP)—Decision on an appeal against the murder conviction of 68-year-old Harry Reece of St. Catharines was reserved by the Ontario Court of Appeal Thursday.

Reece was sentenced last March by Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson to be hanged June 8 for the knife murder of Mrs. Florence Ricker last Oct. 31. The woman's body was found in a pool of blood after a wine-drinking party at St. Catharines.

Defence counsel W. C. LaMarsh based his appeal on the grounds that the trial judge misdirected the jury to the prejudice of the accused.

Evidence at the trial last March was that a high alcohol content showed in the blood of the accused and of two other women in the house at the time of the murders. The other women were Mrs. Evalena Embury, 38, and the landlady, Mrs. Rose Martin, 44.

RECOMMENDED MERCY

Thursday Chief Justice R. W. Gale, Mr. Justice Aubrey Roach, Mr. Justice R. A. Laidlaw, W. D. Roach, J. A. Hope and J. C. Morden appeared concerned about the extent of drunkenness of the accused and the possibility of intent to murder.

Mr. Justice Laidlaw said he was struck by the way the trial judge had repeated during the trial that "the case for the crown is that this man did what he was doing."

Mr. LaMarsh said the term should have been that Reece was "capable of forming an intent." Crown counsel W. C. Bowman said the terms were synonymous.

Mr. LaMarsh also said the statement Reece gave to police was indefinite and in places could have referred to Mrs. Embury as much as to the deceased. He said the accused was not capable of making a proper statement and of appreciating what was going on.

CLAIMS NOT OBSERVED

He said the doctor called to assist the accused had not properly observed Reece's behavior.

At the time of the trial the judge described defence counsel as having made a "fanciful, far-fetched" argument that Mrs. Embury could have committed the crime. He said it was "verging on the ridiculous."

Mr. LaMarsh also said the trial judge skimmed over the arguments of the defence counsel when he was charging the jury.

His final criticism was that prosecutor Crown Counsel Bowman said the terms were synonymous.

"The general tenor of the charge throughout," Mr. LaMarsh concluded, "was such as to lean toward the prosecution and not give fair play to defence evidence."

Strange Viruses Found by Toronto Research Group

TORONTO (CP) — A research doctor says there is the possibility that polio viruses exist and have not been identified as being in the three known types for which a vaccine has been developed.

Dr. Ruth Sabin of Toronto, director of the Research Institute at the Hospital For Sick Children here, said Thursday a gift that of 105 viruses recovered by the institute, 93 could be classified as among the known types. The others were a mystery.

Dr. Sabin spoke Thursday at the annual convention of the 4,000-member Ontario Medical Association. She is a retired professor.

Delegates elected Dr. Frank Mills of Toronto as president of the association's surgery division. Dr. Archie Grace of London, Ont., was named president and Dr. William Magill of Guelph was elected secretary-treasurer.

In another speech Thursday, Dr. H. G. Hall of Toronto said the greatest opportunities for medical research lie with the general practitioners.

He said that "doctors in training are being taught research methods but the early phases seem every day by the general practitioner are not being studied extensively."

Dr. Lloyd Payne of Dresden, Ont., warned that drugs containing barbituric acid and tonic or laxative pills containing strychnine should be kept out of children's reach.

In 1952 there were nine accidental deaths attributed to barbiturates in Ontario and 11 in quite probable that most of these were children."

HURT FELLOW DRINKER

KINGSTON (CP)—For wounding a drinking companion with a revolver shot April 3, Frederick Knapp, 37, Wednesday was sentenced to one year definite and six months indeterminate in reformatory. The court was told that the victim, Sam Gerber, was deafened in one ear.

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. To Be Given Permit for Export Of Alberta Gas to East Canada

By GRAHAM TROTTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

EDMONTON (CP) — The provincial petroleum and natural gas conservation board was to issue a permit today to Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. for export of Alberta natural gas to eastern Canada and the said-west United States.

The green light for the eastern flow of 4,350,000,000,000 cubic feet of southern Alberta's gas reserves over a 25-year period through Trans-Canada's projected $300,000,000 pipeline was given Thursday night, when Premier Manning announced his government's approval.

The gas is to start moving across the Alberta border no later than December 31, 1955. N. E. Tanner, Trans-Canada president and former Alberta mines minister in charge of oil and gas development, indicated previously that pipeline construction will start early in 1955.

The long-awaited cheap utility is expected to be feeding Winnipeg by late 1955. Toronto and Montreal are to be hooked up the following year. When the pipeline reaches Montreal, stretching in length to 2,240 miles, it will be the world's largest.

SERVE U.S. TOO

Besides servicing the big eastern Canadian markets and intermediate points, the sprawling line will branch south from Winnipeg to tap the Minneapolis area of the U.S.

Including distribution systems in the east and gathering lines in Alberta, the over-all cost of the export project will approximate an estimated $500,000,000.

Word of Alberta's approval of gas export to the east was "good news" to Trade Minister Howe, who played a leading role in making the project possible.

But he reiterated at Ottawa a previously-expressed stand that the federal government will not allow the export of gas to the U.S. until it is sure that the all-Canadian line to eastern Canada has been financed and-is on the way to construction.

Asked if the federal government would let gas go to Minneapolis once the main line reached Winnipeg, Mr. Howe said that would have to be decided at the time.

Bruce MacLean, To Stand Trial On Murder Count

WELLAND (CP) — Bruce M. MacLean, 23, today was committed to stand trial for murder in the "perfect crime" death of his wife Aug. 22, last year.

His committal came after Sylvia Davies, 20, testified at a preliminary hearing that MacLean had threatened her and had told her that he had committed the "perfect crime" in the death of his wife, Elizabeth, who drowned in the Welland river last summer. Her body was found a quarter mile at the time.

Miss Davies, who began keeping company with MacLean after the drowning of his wife, testified that he told her he had tipped the canoe in which he and his wife were boating and it swam ashore while he, the wife, a non-swimmer, drowned.

BODY WAS EXHUMED

The body of MacLean's wife was recently exhumed, examined by medical authorities and returned to its grave.

Magistrate T. George Street committed MacLean following a hearing lasting about an hour. He will probably come up for trial at the next Assize Court sittings here in September.

Police took action in the case after Miss Davies' testimony was brought against MacLean for recovery of $1,000 she said she loaned him.

It was at the hearing of the suit that Miss Davies first told of MacLean's alleged threats and recounted how she said he told her about the drowning of his wife.

Labor's Net Gain In Council Votes Is 509 Seats

LONDON (CP) — The Labor party swept Greater London with a net gain of 509 seats in returns from local elections throughout England and Wales. The Conservatives suffered a sharp setback, losing a net loss of 385.

Results of hursday's balloting showed the Labor has wrested control of 13 borough councils, including York, Northampton, Reading, Coventry and Ipswich. All 13 had previously been dominated by Conservative or independent.

The count showed Labor gained 346 council seats while losing 34. The Conservatives picked up only 60, and lost 445.

There was a similar swing to the Labor party in borough elections held last week in Scotland.

Despite the sharp swing, the local elections do not necessarily herald a big change in national political situation. Nationally the Labor party's moderate leadership of the Conservative government's "pro-American" foreign policy.

The local turnover still leaves Conservatives and independent groups ruling fully 70 per cent of Britain's local governments.

Two Montreal Lawyers Are Sent to Trial

MONTREAL (CP) — Charged in connection with an alleged black market in babies, two Montreal lawyers Thursday were committed for trial.

Judge Gerald Almond ruled that Herman Buller and Louis Glaser must stand trial on charges of falsifying civil birth certificates but he disallowed charges of forgery and conspiracy to commit forgery in both cases.

Myer Gross, counsel for Buller, said during the press that the alleged baby selling racket, first reported in mid-February, was not a $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 scale was "entirely false".

Court of Appeals Upholds Validity Of Padlock Law

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Court of Appeals in a 4-1 decision Thursday upheld the validity of Quebec's controversial padlock law. The law permits police to padlock premises used for Communist activities.

The court ruled that the law deals with property and civil rights, matters coming within provincial jurisdiction. The court held the law does not encroach on federal jurisdiction over crime and punishment.

The law's constitutionality was questioned by John Switzman, whose rented premises were padlocked in January, 1949. Mrs. Freda Elting, owner of the padlocked building, is suing Switzman for $22,170 on the grounds that Switzman was premises for the rent until May, 1950.

APPEAL ALLOWED

STRATFORD (CP)—An appeal by Elma township and other municipalities on the Maitland river, including the town of Listowel, against a river improvement scheme within Huron county has been allowed by the Ontario municipal board. A provisional bylaw for carrying out the Cattle project was passed. The watershed affects more than 109,000 acres in this area.

FOXBORO

W.M.S. Hears Address On Alberta Indians

FOXBORO — Foxboro Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Jos. Daniels with a goodly number in attendance.

Theme: "The Gospel According to You," was carried throughout. Mrs. W. Wickett and Mrs. Daniels conducted the worship period.

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. Giffin introduced Mrs. Downe, of Calgary, as guest speaker to the ladies. Mrs. Downe told how she became interested in the welfare of the Indians in Alberta province after hearing the propaganda which Hitler was using to show how Canadians were treating the Indians who were the first settlers of this country.

Determined to learn the facts for herself, Mrs. Downe visited and studied the Indians of the province of Alberta. Here she found much of the propaganda was true. Through sincere and earnest efforts on the part of a few interested people, who formed the "Indian Association," conditions began to improve and now in Alberta, the residential schools are graduating young Indians and today there are 43 day schools for Indians, and they are receiving an education such as all children are entitled to have. These schools are government schools on the reserves and soon there will be enough schools for all children to have the privilege of education.

The older girls are now accepted in hospitals to learn nurses aid duties and they have proved excellent students.

Boys are attending technical schools and learning trades, while illicic now conduct T.B. surveys once a year, and hospitals are provided to care for any tuberculosis patients.

BETTER WAY OF LIFE.

Missionaries first showed the Indians the better way of life, and now it is the privilege of today to encourage and uphold them in their struggle to improve conditions and privileges for their young people, so that in days to come the Indians will be able to take their place as true loyal citizens of the country.

Governments Set No Limit On Amount of Fusel Oil in Spirits But Consensus Is It's Low

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Provincial governments which administer liquor sale in Canada set no limit on the amount of fusel oil in spirits, but the consensus is that it's low.

Fusel oil, the stuff of which hangovers are said to be made, came into the news when Ontario's Health Minister MacKinnon Phillips told the legislature liquor sold in the province contained up to 10 per cent of it. He called it a "deadly poison."

Premier Frost later said Mr. Phillips had been wearing his bifocals and got the decimal point in the wrong place. But by that time distillery interests and Ontario's chief liquor commissioner, Arthur Welsh, had come to bat for the purity of liquor.

LOW CONTENT

Carl T. Carson, a vice-president of Hiram Walker and Sons, claimed Mr. Phillips was 1,000 times wrong that Canadian whisky contains only 10 to 17 parts of fusel oil in 100,000. Mr. Welsh said the highest fusel-oil content of liquor is about 80 parts per 100,000.

On the basis of Mr. Carson's figures, a 26-ounce bottle of Canadian whisky would contain less than a small drop of fusel oil.

The Encyclopaedia Britannica labels fusel oil—often present in some drinks made in distilled alcohol—as a poison.

Chemists call it "higher alcohol," meaning it is a more complicated member of the family of which ethyl alcohol—the kick in liquor—is one. Unlike drinkable ethyl alcohol, fusel oil has a strong taste and enough of it can poison you.

LITTLE TO FEAR

A cross-country check of provincial liquor commissions indicates drinkers have little to fear from fusel oil. Neither the provinces nor the federal government have laws restricting the amount of it in liquor but the provinces that check the beverages say the proportion is low.

The Quebec liquor commission, which since 1932 has been checking the liquor it sells, states fusel oil and other by-products of fermentation and distillation, in their "natural proportions," actually give character, body, aroma and taste to liquor.

Quebec's figures, based on analysis of every shipment, show that dry gin has the lowest average proportion of fusel oil—just traces. Cognac and Jamaica rum, averaging 72 and 70 parts per 100,000 respectively, have the highest. Canadian whisky averages 20 parts.

Ontario, which checks suppliers' samples and tests bottles from liquor-store shelves periodically, gave the figures: Canadian whisky 20 parts per 10,000, Scotch 34, rum 37.

Saskatchewan, whose provincial analyst makes occasional spot checks, had figures available only for Canadian whisky, 10 to 17 parts per 100,000.

CHECKED BY CHEMIST

Alberta, which employs a consulting chemist to check its beverages, gave as "a very approximate estimation" these figures in parts per 100 of absolute alcohol: Canadian whisky 50, Scotch 110, rum 80 and gin 30.

On the basis of the actual bottled liquor which in Canada is only 40 per cent alcohol Alberta's figures work out to: Canadian whisky 36 parts per 100,000, Scotch 44, rum 32, gin 12.

British Columbia merely said a recent check showed the proportion of fusel oil in liquor sold in that province is "very low."

Other provinces, although they may check the products they bottle themselves, leave detailed analyses largely to the federal government or depend on the distilleries' for quality.

The federal government sets no limit on fusel oil, although the Food and Drug Act allows no harmful ingredients in food. For purposes of the federal act liquor is listed uods.

Federal officials say, however, that the proportion of fusel oil is "extremely small."

One food and drug official had a word for old-time drinkers who shake their liquor in the idea that it will get the fusel oil off the top and spread it through the bottle. It's useless, he said, because what fusel oil is there is always evenly distributed through the liquor.

RUST-RESISTANT WHEAT

says!

"There's nothing that can take the place of Selkirk in my estimation."

Mr. Sherlock says he sowed his 40 pounds last year in a 1 1-3-acre plot of summer fallow, surrounded by a 60-foot wide isolation strip. He found it was not touched by Race 15-B stem rust which crept into his other wheat.

The 66-bushel yield was much higher than other varieties—the average is 18.2 bushels an acre—but experimental farm officials say any farmer who receives six bushels of Selkirk seed this year can be assured, given reasonable weather, of getting about 160 bushels of seed grain this fall.

The Peterfield farmer is reseeding all 66 bushels this year, although he was offered $25 a bushel from a man believed to represent United States interests.

Showing the large kernels to neighbor Charlie Carter, Mr. Sherlock remarked:

"If I had wheat like this all over my farm, maybe I could go to California this winter."

The seed is being sold at a government-established price of less than $5 a bushel, although officials report there have been instances where as much as $100 a bushel has been offered by American buyers.

FOXBORO
Sunday School Honors Former Superintendent

FOXBORO — Sunday, Foxboro United Church Sunday School held a special "Mother's Day" service.

The superintendent, Mr. C. Wilson, assisted by Mr. F. Prindle, was in charge.

Following the usual opening service, two of the younger members, Donald Priest and Ronnie Bamber, read the Scripture. This was followed by a story, told by Marie Hollinger, entitled "He Lived Next Door to Jesus," and a chorus by the junior choir.

The guest speaker, Mr. G. Chase, student at Albert College, gave a fine address on "Mother," after which Mrs. Rombough and Lois rendered a pleasing duet.

At this point, Mr. Wilson requested Mr. Tummon and Mr. S. C. Gay to come to the front. Mr. Tummon spoke briefly, calling attention to the first and great commandment, placing God first in the life, and referred to many national leaders, who have been honored by having their portraits hung in the national halls of fame.

There are other leaders, though not of national fame, who are deserving of this signal honor, one of whom is Mr. Gay, who for 22 years has been superintendent of the Sunday School. Though he faced storms and discouragements, he held firmly to his high standard of living, and was an inspiration to all who knew him. Six years ago he retired from the position of Sunday School superintendent, and today the Sunday School wishes to honor him by hanging his portrait on the wall beside that of his predecessor.

At this point Mr. Wilson unveiled the portrait. Mr. Gay, although taken completely by surprise, expressed his deep appreciation for the honor bestowed upon him.

This service will linger in the memory of those present for some time.

Farmers Start Annual Battle With Old Enemy, Stem Rust

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Nearly 23,000 western farmers move into the front line this year in a battle with an old enemy that has been a scourge to North American grain fields for years.

The enemy is a deadly variety of stem rust, a fungus that withers plants in the middle of the growing season. It cost western farmers about $20,000,000 worth of wheat in 1951.

In the rust war, farmers will be sowing small quantities of the new rust-resistant Selkirk wheat. This fall's harvest should produce thousands of bushels of seed for further distribution.

PASSED ALL TESTS

A. R. Mason of the federal laboratory of cereal breeding here says 172,000 bushels of the new variety is being distributed in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Selkirk was licensed last December under the Canada Grain Act as a variety which farmers can plant [illegible] The milling and baking tests which proved it equal in quality to Marquis wheat—used as a standard—climaxed a story that started 25 years ago at McConnell in southwestern Manitoba.

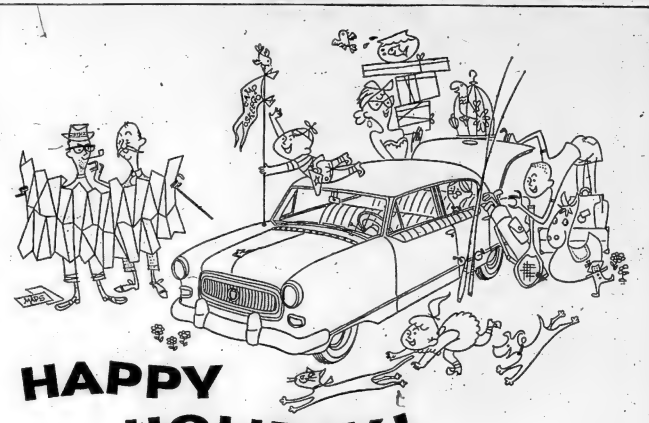
Malcolm S. McMurachy was harvesting wheat in a field heavily infested with rust when he spotted a single stem that looked free from rust. He plucked it, found about 30 kernels and placed them in an envelope. But when spring came only 11 kernels were left. Mice had eaten the others.

PRECIOUS ORIGINALS

Mr. McMurachy sowed the 11 kernels, nursed them along slowly. The following year he sowed the resulting seed in the shelter of a bluff. But prairie chickens ate most of the wheat and he salvaged only a fistful.

The wheat was improved in the next few years. In 1938, when the stem rust now called Race 15-B first became known in the United States, Canadian cereal breeders began looking for rust-resistant wheat. The McMurachy wheat showed it had such resistance.

The rust-resistant Selkirk strain was developed by crossing Mr. McMurachy wheat with two other varieties.



The new strain was multiplied at experimental stations and 700 bushels were available by 1952. That fall, to speed up production, 150 bushels were sown in California. The harvest from this crop, brought back to Canada in May, 1953, provided 6,000 bushels of seed.

SELECTED GROWERS

Last summer, this was increased to more than 170,000 bushels by growing it on government-irrigated land, on experimental stations and by selected seed growers, who agreed to return the product and any unused seed if it was not licensed.

One selected grower was C. A. (Pat) Sherlock, who farms a quarter-section in the Peterfield district, 25 miles northeast of Winnipeg. He nursed 40 pounds into 66 bushels last summer and now

HOW TO PREVENT BACK CRAWL IN HEAVY TRAFFIC

If stopped for more than a few seconds, pull on hand brake.

- Shift into first gear, press accelerator and let up on clutch as in normal starting.
- Release hand brake as you let up on clutch. This transfers force smoothly from brakes to engine without interruption.
- If you are stopping for only an instant, use clutch to brake your car. Shift into first gear, let clutch out partly and press accelerator slightly.

Lyons, Daniels Make Comeback

LONDON (AP)—Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, once Hollywood topliners, have made what looks like a brilliant screen comeback at the age of 53.

British film critics have tossed all their superlatives into rave notices for "Life With the Lyons," an 81 minute shoestring - budget comedy based on their British radio show of the same name.

The radio series has been delighting 10,000,000 listeners a week, by official figures, since November, 1950.

In the film as on the radio Bebe and Ben play momma and poppa, teaming with their 22-year-old daughter Barbara and their 18-year-old son, Richard. Altogether, they're the zaniest family this side of the Atlantic.

Older film fans recall Bebe as the star of "Rio Rita," and Ben as the star of "Hell's Angels," among many other American films.

The film strains no intelligence. But it does what it was meant to do—get laughs.

STOCK RACES!

Dick Burrowes, the "hard-luck" stock car racing impresario as far as the weather is concerned, will send his stocks jocks off to a roaring start in the Exhibition Grounds tomorrow night providing the weather bleke has a change of heart and blesses the city with decent weather.

Four times Burrowes has had his charges at the post, so to speak, and four times the weather has turned them back with rain or near freezing temperatures. However Dick hopes for the best, and says the cream of the district drivers will be on hand when the starting guns roar at eight o'clock.

PICKEREL'S RUNNING!

You can have your brook trout, (if you don't want 'em we will gladly relieve you of the burden) lakers, speckles, Wawaitays, browns and rainbows, but on Saturday there is a certain class of the species home sapiens, a hook and line addict, who finally steps into his own.

He is Mr. Pickerel, who has waited patiently for what seemed a year of restriction to angle for his favorite piscatorial delicacy.

Appetite and opinions may differ. There are some red and real blokes who would walk a mile for a seven-inch brooker, three miles for a grey laker or perhaps ten for a muskeat. Others prefer the succulent smelt, while yet some, believe it or not, love bone-chasing over the carcase of a husky pike.

Others will drain the crankcase of a luscious eel and parboil the wiggler, yet others love to chew on the flaky chunks of a freshly-caught carp. The tasty whitefish is a general favorite and the lowly rockfish or sunfish comes in for the voice of not a few lovers of this type of food.

But by and far, and this is one man's opinion that is shared by many, the golden brown fillet from a three-or-four pound pickerel is the pinnacle of epicurism of the ambrosia that tickled the palates of the gods of Olympus. Man, what a dish!

Others prefer the tasty dinner that a black bass can produce. It runs second in our estimation to the pickerel, but a nice, sautéed bass is acceptable at any time. You can have the "swampers" or largemouth variety. A trifle too "muddy" for this delicate palate.

During that free ride overseas at the expense of the government when Sidney Bill was attempting an Alexander repeat performance, we ran into several nautical delicacies. The best fishing at least with the least effort came one day when we were parked with a bevy of long-eared mules took in three days to haul eighteen-pounder guns and whatnot, we were invited to a fishing trip. We went along for the ride and found ourselves near the Hilkeka Road in Belgium, a few kilometers from Dickiebuch. The fishing was easy. All the bombardier did was toss a mills grenade into the Bund, and presto, there they were. So what, if the Number One did catch us in the act? He got most of the fish. They were not bad to the taste. In fact a delightful change to "McConachie, plum and apple and bully beef."

Back in London you could get the cockles and mussels with the occasional wilk. We ate shrimp taken from the surf at Hastings, and blooters which bore a Yarmouth brand. Then the old reliable was always in evidence. "One and one, mum, plain and don't forget the vinegar." Another English fish and chips always made for a delightful afternoon snack. If you carried a pin, the winkles came in handy on occasions.

Back home again in the maritimes. Ah, me buckos. You do not know what prime fish eating is until you have sampled some of those grand Canadian products off the banks, or off the shore. A steak of flaky fresh white cod is a food for the gods. The haddie, fried to the right brown-ness, is another tickler. You can take the mackerel and the herring. There is plenty for all.

• • •

And for real down-to-earth good eating nothing can beat a two-pound lobster if you put bibs on the heeler while he is still kicking. There were clams, too, some as big as your fist, which steamed and sauced properly made fine eating. And oysters. Man, what those Malpeguan chefs couldn't do with a few dozen of these succulent babies. And what we couldn't do with a few dozen on the half-shell with hot sauce.

However be that as it may. Tomorrow morning the pickerel seekers will be out in force. It is their day to howl and according to governmental reports, the "take" should be a good one.

BACK TO "A"

Sometimes sports writers get their "A's" and "B's" slightly mixed as was the case in the Commercial "A" Bowling League get-together. We're promoting them back to "A" in this edition and also putting Ed Bowers in the presidential chair, taking over from the amiable "Scotty," and giving Warren Soule, the treasurer's job. So solly, boys.

A.M. SENT THIS ONE!

When Winston Churchill visited Stalin in Moscow, the two statesmen went fishing on the bank of the River Moskva and sat there for some time, a little apart from each other.

Churchill caught seven big fish, but Stalin had not success at all.

When Churchill bagged his eighth catch, Stalin shouted: "I cannot understand why they do not bite!"

"Try taking off your badge, Joe," said Churchill dryly. "They are afraid to open their mouths!"

Mound Ace Yields Home Run Then Retires Next 27 Men Without One Reaching First

By Ken Philegar
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will a present-day pitcher ever pitch a perfect game?

This old baseball debate was revived again today after the latest feat of near-perfection by Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies. Roberts gave up a home run to Bobby Adams, who led off for Cincinnati Thursday night, and then retired 27 men without another reaching first base. He won 8-1.

Except that it was a home run instead of a single, Roberts' game was virtually a carbon copy of one heard a year ago this week by his buddy, lefty Curt Simmons. Simmons worked the Milwaukee Braves in order through nine complete innings after Billy Bruton singled as the lead-off batter.

Neither Roberts nor Simmons was born when Charles Robertson of Chicago White Sox beat Detroit in April, 1922, in the majors' last perfect game—no hits, no hits, by base runners. Only three others were have been recorded in the modern majors, none of them in the National League.

Two months ago Roberts pitched his first one-hitter, against Mil waukee. That time he walked three.

PHILLIES HOLD LEAD

The Phillies, maintained their half-game first-place lead over Brooklyn Dodgers, who beat St. Louis 10-3. Milwaukee defeated Pittsburgh 4-3 and New York Giants whipped Chicago Cubs 6-3 in other National League action.

In the American League New York Yankees edged Detroit 5-4 in 10 innings on Yogi Berra's two-run homer; Boston beat Baltimore 9-1 Philadelphia Athletics defeated the White Sox 3-2 and Cleveland shaded Washington 5-7 in 11 innings.

The Cardinals lost in Ebbets Field on the 12th straight time in two seasons, this time to southpaw Johnny Podres who won his fourth in a row.

By beating Pittsburgh, Milwaukee moved ahead of both Cincinnati and St. Louis into the first division.

HOME-RUN BARRAGE

The Giants laid down a home-run barrage that left the Cubs staggering in the Polo Grounds. They hit five, including two by 'monie Irvin.

Home runs by New York ruined the evening for baseball's largest crowd of the season—50,316 at Briggs Stadium in Detroit. Trailing 3-1, the Yankees caught up in the eighth on Irv Noren's two-run homer and then won in the 10th when Berra slammed a round tripper with one aboard.

The Indians beat Washington although they didn't take the last of the ninth trailing by six runs. Al Rosen touched off the late spree with a home run and doubled in the winning run in the 11th.

Olympics Hold 'Peaceful' Meet

ATHENS (AP)—The International Olympic Committee today considered 10 minor questions on the last business session of the most peaceful meeting in years.

After that is out of the way, a party of 40 to 50 IOC men and their wives will make a pilgrimage to Greece's Peloponnesus peninsula where the Olympics were born and the first revival of the festival was held in 1896.

The party will return here Sunday and then disperse to homes around the globe to meet again in Paris a year from now.

See No Reason For Changing Grand National

LONDON (AP) — Bosses of British steeplechase racing have rejected suggestions that the Grand National—toughest steeplechase in the world—be made easier.

Four horses were killed in the race last March.

In Thursday's issue of the "Racing Calendar" the National Hunt Committee stewards who govern steeplechasing said they met Monday and failed to find any reason for altering conditions of the historic race run at Aintree course, Liverpool, every spring.

Bannister Trip Athletics Foul-Up Say Newspapers

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers today heaped hot coals of scorn on the foreign office for plunging Roger Bannister, England's wonder miler, into an international athletic foul-up.

The Daily Mail said the great runner's "good relations" visit to the United States, which was beset with threats to his amateur standing because of his promise to appear on sponsored television shows, had turned into a "wreck of a mission."

The Daily Mirror demanded to know who in the foreign office "spiked the fastest man on earth by grossly mismanaging his goodwill trip to the States."

The diplomatic brain centre "has made a perfect fool of itself" was the way the Daily Herald put it.

Western Canadians Waiting To Score First Plate Victory

TORONTO (CP) — Western Canadians, perennial sporting optimists, still are waiting to score their first victory in the Queen's Plate, the continent's oldest established racing classic. This year, their hopes are pinned chiefly on Hi Laude, a handsome colt from Vancouver.

The West will have other representatives at the big race at Woodbine race track June 12 but Hi Laude's greatest performance as a two-year-old entitle him to be ranked first among the horses which will invade Ontario. He now is being quoted at odds of 8-10-1 in "future books" and there are indications his price will be reduced further.

Even eastern horsemen would be delighted to see a westerner win the plate. One prominent Ontario trainer said: "A western victory would be the finest thing that could happen to Canadian racing. Those fellows take all the worst of it. They ship their horses hundreds and even thousands of miles. They have a break coming to them."

APPLEBY ENTRANT

Accordingly, there will be widespread applause if Hi Laude carries Dr. L. H. Appleby's colors home successfully. Dr. Appleby has been trying to win Canada's greatest race since 1944 when he sent Cum Laude to Woodbine. Hi Laude is a son of that same Cum Laude, which finished fifth in 1944.

Hi Laude was Canada's second-ranking juvenile last year. He won three of 13 starts and only once did he fail to take home a piece of the purse. His earnings for the season totalled $12,767.

Dr. Appleby shipped Hi Laude to Woodbine early this month and only a few days later the youngster breezed a half-mile in 50 seconds. Since then, he has trained up to a mile in 1.46 under stout restraint.

Montana, Three-Man Circus, Floors Trio, Loses Decision

By GEO. R. CARVER.
Sports Editor.

"Ombre" Montana, a western cowpoke with a Lariat Hill drawl, a accent and a skin foliage from the Black Forest ti 's three-man circus as far as ring packwormolics are concerned.

The portly 223-pounder who wears a pronounced spare tire on his midriff, and is a reasonable facsimile of one Yukon Eric practically stole the show at the "raslin" inaugural in Memorial Arena last night.

As a matter of fact, he huffed and he puffed and he brought the house down in a cyclonic finish that saw two villains and a human being dressed in white, stretched on the canvas listening to a spring birdie chorus.

It all happened at the finale of a hair-pulling ring drama that saw the "Ombre" teamed with handsome Jillo Da Pazzo and the vine-clustered slopes of Italy against the hairy-knotted Sam Mills, part of a brother act, and Fred Atkins, the Australian from down under who wears his halo on the south side of his torso.

CLEANED HOUSE.

The Ombre, who when he wants a laugh, has only to wad and tickle his tummy with the pointed fringe of his facial spinach, was in his glory as he scanned the house he "cleaned house" even if it did cost him a fast early dismissal of the match.

As a matter of fact he created something of a record when he licked three men and lost the fight.

Ombre was called upon to do his iron thing after Jillo and Papallo was knocked colder than a two-week-old deserted followering his attempt to gouge a large chunk out of the arena floor with his curly coiffure. Jillo, who looks, had smashed the hated Atkins to the mean with three bone-crushing tackles. Came the fourth and Jillo's sights fooled him. He missed the Aussie dodger Mills politely separating the ropes to facilitate passage, he soared out into the ring blue yonder with the artful Alberta

Radio Program To Commemorate Work of Navy

TORONTO — A special program commemorating the part played by the Royal Canadian Navy in the Second World War, will be broadcast nationally over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's trans-Canada network on Sunday. The half-hour program begins at 10.30 p.m.

Entitled "Tell Your Children," the program is woven largely around events that occurred ten years ago, in 1944, a year in which Canada's Navy shouldered a major share of the North Atlantic convoy work, took part in the Normandy invasion and fought in other theatres as well.

Highlights of the broadcast will be an excerpt from an address given by the late Angus Lewis Macdonald and the address made to the officers, men and women of the Royal Canadian Navy on VE-Day by the then Chief of the Naval staff, the late Vice-Admiral George C. Jones.

There is also an account given by the then Lt.-Cdr. Charles Peterson of Victoria of the rescue operations conducted by his ship, HMCS Clifford, following the torpedoing of the frigate Valleyfield, almost ten years ago to the day. The Valleyfield went down on May 6, 1944.

A vivid description of a storm-battered corvette is given by Joseph Shuil, well known Canadian writer, who was in the ship at the time as a lieutenant.

The broadcast generally is a swift resume of the amazing growth of the Royal Canadian Navy and its remarkable achievements in the Battle of the Atlantic. The narration takes the transcriptions, many of which possess historic value, was written by Captain (SB) William Strange, Director of Naval Information, and will be given by Austin Willis and Lloyd Bochner, both of whom served in the navy during the war.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Time somebody told the highest rated bridge masters that their bidding shouldn't smell so much from herring. Clever they certainly are. But not in a manner that assures accuracy.

Too often is their bidding inconsistent, irrelevant. Frequently it has nothing whatever to do with the case. And what they do with one hand does not seem to be fitting for the next similar hand.

But when it comes to the play of the cards, oh boy. They take the cake with all the frosting, sprinkled with cocoanut. A joy to behold is their brilliant deductions and clever planning.

In the national masters pairs was this deal:

WEST	EAST
♠K Q J 6	♠8 7 2
♥K 10 8 6 3	♥J 9 5
♦9 8	♦K Q 10 3
♣9	♣7 4 3

SOUTH
♠A 10 9 5 4
♥5 4
♦7 6 5 2
♣A K 8

Only ten of the 35 tables ended in clubs. Of them stopped at three clubs six and three went at five clubs. Of these, three took 12 tricks; enough for a small slam if they had bid it.

North is declarer in clubs. If east cashes the diamond ace pronto and lends another diamond, only 11 tricks can be had. South dummy, then lacks entries enough to establish spades in time.

If a heart is the first or second east lead, north wins. South's ace takes a spade and north ruffs a spade. South is then entered with a trump and another south spade is ruffed for north.

South gets in with another trump lead taken by dummy and north wins a second heart. A third heart is then ruffed by south, dummy's spade is ruffed high by north who pulls the last east trump.

A diamond from north will let south get "set" with the king. On the last south spade is sluffed a north diamond so that the only diamond loss by declarer is in the east suit.

In this way the opponents get the diamond ace for their only trick. The club contract takes 12 tricks. It may not seem difficult now. But you have to hand it to players of it. They're good.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look to the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, MAY 15, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — If your plan carefully, your day should be fairly productive. Personal affairs can be more satisfying. Read between the lines and observe.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — A day for some reflection. Do you put back into the world what you take out? Like the soil, we must feed, back, fertilize to protect our future, our children. Give this thought.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — You may have to scrap some ideas and past procedures which you have thought good and worth following. For real progress, new methods should be followed.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Make plans constructively and follow through consistently; let there be, no letdown in ambition. With proper management, sensible manipulation of affairs, returns should be favorable.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Don't neglect "little" things — some of those you assume are insignificant. Manifest sincerity of purpose as well as will power.

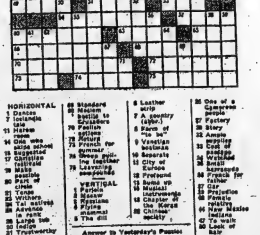
August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Planetary influences are generally favorable. It may take some extra work and thinking to put over day's projects properly but chances are excellent if rightly applied. Romance favored.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—You may be asked to lend a helping hand, to devote some time to another's cause. Be wisely generous, but not overindulgent.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Scorpio natives are noted for remarkable critical ability; also for grit and determination. These qualities can be cast rightly or wrongly so think before choosing your course.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—You have foresight, generally are jovial, but may be too outspoken at times. Count ten this day or all might not go well. Possible handicaps can be overcome, so try smartly.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Today may test your calculating mentality. There are no unfriendly aspects, but it won't be an entirely easy day either. Give attention to economy of time and material, but don't worry.



January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—A steady pace, with proper thought and attitudes will help you to achieve now. Think of likely outcomes before acting. Think before speaking.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—If urged to make changes investigate the purposes of such proposals. True values are not measured in dollars. Work and seek spiritual attainment as well as worldly goods.

YOU BORN TODAY are wholesome, broadminded, practical and usually deliberate. If true to your better instincts you will overcome tendencies toward obstinacy and inertia. You have great inner power and organizing ability; can command the respect and affection of others. You should keep actively occupied, but not to the extent of harming health or neglecting loved ones. Associate only with those of fine character. Sound education, religious services are your paramount forces for good. Don't keep worries to self. Avoid unyielding tendencies. Birthdate of: Florence Nightingale, famed nurse.
